It is not safe to buy land or to lend money and accept land as security without first investigating the title of the land. Often there are unpaid mortgages, judgments, or other liens affecting the title, which an abstract would set out. Therefore, when buying land or lending money thereon, it is important that an abstract of title be furnished. A few dollars spent for an abstract is cheaper than going ahead and having a law suit a little later on.

TO VOTERS OF THIS SECTION:

A. L. Kimbrough of Montgomery (formerly of Tallapoosa County) is a candidate for Conservation Commissioner of Alabama in the primary of May 11. He was reared on the farm; has been a practical farmer for thirty years, and is farming now; was demonstration agent of Tallapoosa County for eight years, and was secretary of the State Board of Agriculture for four years. His opponent, John H. Wallace, has been in office for fourteen years.

It is impossible for Mr. Kimbrough to see all the voters, but he earnestly solicits your support.

MACEDONIA

After two failures to hold a Sunday school Convention at this place on account of bad weather, last Sunday was the third time set. So Sunday morning we thought we would be rained out again, but after all we had a pretty good convention. Prof. J. L. Johnson and Ex-Sheriff Harris with girls, came all the way from Clanton.

The little girls entertained us with reciting several long chapters of the bible, which was enjoyed by all present. Then Prof. Johnson gave us a splendid speech on, "How to Win and hold our Big boys and girls." In the afternoon we had a short song service, after which Mr. Harris gave us a splendid talk. And last but not least, Rev. W. H. Connell of Stanton gave us a timely lecture. So all in all, we had a nice time together and we hope much good was accomplished.

Come again, Prof. Johnson and bring sheriff Harris with you, and don't forget to bring the little girls. The same invitation is extended Bro. Connell.

R. M. HOBBIE

Late Food Administrator for Alabama, Replies to Personal Attacks Upon His Character.

To the people of Alabama:

Sam P. Kennedy, having attacked my veracity in his campaign documents, I am availing myself of my right as an individual citizen to protect my good name.

Mr. Kennedy alleges that I mis-stated facts when I charged that he did not defend Alabama rates in the Meridian cases. The records show that Mr. Kennedy did not appear at any of the hearings and that the case WAS lost before the referee who has prescribed the advanced rates.

Mr. Kennedy avers that the opposition to him comes from "a few selfish Montgomery shipping interests." As a Montgomery merchant and shipper, I deny this and as evidence of its untruth submit just one letter which speaks for itself.

GLEE CLUB RECEPTION

The members of the Howard Glee Club and their friends enjoyed one of the most delightful parties of the season when the high school teachers and girls of the high school gave a brilliant reception at the home of Mrs. W. A. Reynolds on Saturday night, after the Glee Club performance at the high school auditorium.

Beautiful wild flowers, ferns and roses made a pretty sitting for the evening entertainment. Music was furnished by the Glee Club orchestra which contributed greatly to the pleasure of the afternoon.

Punch was served throughout the entertaining hours by Mr. and Mrs. Billie Holmes.

All the young people of the city enjoyed this happy occasion. The guests were received by Mrs. Reynolds and her lovely daughter, Miss Lessie.

The friends of Mrs. O. O. Roper will be glad to learn after her fall that she is rapidly improving.

MRS. JOHNSON ENTERTAINS

Mrs. Napoleon Johnson was the lovely hostess on Tuesday, when she entertained the Sewing Club at a spend-the-day party. At the conclusion of the days works the sewers reported twelve garments completed. Those accepting this enjoyable feature were Mrs. Hugh Simpson, Mrs. McSwain, Mrs, Armstrong, Mrs. Macy Jones, Mrs. Moore, Mrs. Luckie, Mrs. Clyde Jones and Miss Stewart.

Charlie Harren of Anniston and Fred Smith of Montgomery were the guests of Mrs. W. A. Reynolds Saturday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Roper, formerly of Montgomery, enroute to the new home in Greenville, Texas, are spending a couple of weeks with relatives in Clanton.

Dr. and Mrs. V. J. Gragg returned home from New Orleans Sunday, where they went to attend the medical association there.

Dr. C. C. Daniels, President of the Birmingham-Southern College, will preach the Commencement sermon for the high school on May 9th, at 11, a.m. Dr. Daniels is among the strongest educators and preachers of Alabama, and Clanton is very fortunate in securing the service of Dr. Daniels. He will be the guest of Rev. Mr. Maye while in Clanton.

The music pupils of Mrs. Elna Roberts will give a piano recital at the grammar school on Thursday evening at 3:30 o'clock. All parents invited to come.

THE VICIOUS CIRCLE

The striking bricklayers of New York City have been awarded an increase of wages to $1.50 per hour for an eight hour day. Without discussing the reasonableness of the wage, it is at once apparent that if the wages of builders go up, the cost of new buildings must advance, and the value of present buildings goes up to a corresponding degree, all of which means increased rental charges. At the same time that tenants are unable to find places in which to live, the cost of houses as advanced by the men who build houses. In this case the circle of increasing cost of living is quickly made. Because of higher wages of bricklayers, rents go up, and because rents go up the bricklayers must have higher wages. And that is practically the whole story relative to many increases in the cost of living.

LETTER FROM MR. J. Z. MIMS.

Gentlemen:

It is only a short time until the primary, and I insist that every voter makes his own decision as to whom he wishes to vote for and go to the polls on next Tuesday, May 11 and cast his ballot accordnigly.

I have tried to see every voter in the county and intend to continue work until Monday night, but then I shall have not seen them all on account of the short time that I have had to canvass and the bad weather we have had.

I have made the race fair and tried to show you that I will appreciate your vote. If I have not spoken to you personally it is because I have not seen you or thought that you would vote for me without it, if you thought I was the man.

During the two campaigns that I have made I have not insisted on any voter pledging himself to support me because I think to do so would be infringing on a free thinking man. If you vote for me do it because you think I am the man for the place, not because you told me, even, before I announced or before all the candidates were in the field, that you would.

Gentlemen, I am lined up with no man or set of men. I am not relying on any political tricks or promises for my nomination. I promise nothing except to perform the duties of the office in a business-like way, treating all alike. I also believe in the man elected doing his own work or as much of it as can be done by one man.

I have always voted the Republican ticket and have never been asked for anything by the party that was right but what I readily responded. This is the only office that I have ever asked for, and I am asking for it now the second time.

I have given, at a great financial sacrifice, fourteen of the best years of my life to the children of this county as a teacher, and now as conditions over which you nor I have no control forces me to quit teaching for a season, I wih appreciate it beyond expression if you can see fit to give me the position of being your Tax Collector.

If I am nominated, I will do all that I can honestly to be elected in November.

These are some of my views, gentlemen, and if you can, help to nominate me next Tuesday.

Yours truly,
J. Z. MIMS.

Secy to the Committee.

MR. A. L. COLLINS

Clanton, Ala., May 3, 1920.

Editor Union-Banner:

Just a few words to the voters of the county as the primary is drawing near and I have not been able to meet you all on account of my farm work, but will appreciate the vote and influence of those I have not seen just as much as that I have met. All who can't vote for me as their first choice will be glad to have your vote on second choice.

Yours for the right,

C. REESE MULLINS SAYS FRED L. BLACKMON FAILED

To Answer Accusations of Major Lamar Jeffers.

Clanton, Ala., May 4, 1920.

Editor Union-Banner:

I suppose you are aware of the fact that on last Thursday evening Congressman Fred L. Blackmon came all the way galloping down from Anniston, and spoke at the court house here to defend himself of the accusations made against him here the week before by his opponent Major Lamar Jeffers.

Soon after Mr. Blackmon arrived here he was escorted to the court house by Wm. M. Adams, and introduced by his referee here, A. C. Smith. Notwithstanding, that it was a beautiful moonlight night, at first it began to look like he was not going to have any crowd at all, but finally there came in a few from Verbena, which made up in all 76 men, boys and women. Mr. Blackmon had only five right hand bowers over in the amen corner to offer refreshments during his feeble attempt to answer and criticize Major Jeffers.

I had the privilege of hearing his talk and he did not refer to but one accusation made against him by Mr. Jeffers, and that was that he had never been put on but one committee during his many long years in congress, and to this he admitted was true.

Mr. Blackmon failed to mention that Major Jeffers had accused him of having a full fledged Catholic for his private secretary in Washington, and campaign manager in Anniston. I suppose he thought best to let this lie low and pass off E. Z. He also failed to answer Mr. Jeffers' accusation against him that when the national prohibition question came up in the District of Columbia where it is a well known fact that if any question should be left to a vote that the negro would dominate, there in Washington, D. C., on this great question it was agreed to be left to a vote of Congress as to whether or not this should be left to a vote or continued to be controled in the same old way, by a committee of congressmen. Mr. Blackmon voted to leave this important question to a vote of the people. This looks to me like sacrificing white supremacy for liquor.

I suppose Mr. Blackmon thought best to also let this accusation lie low and pass off E. Z. So he did not make any defense of these two grave charges. Mr. Blackmon attempts to criticize Mr. Jeffers for having in his platform that he was not only for highways but that he was also in favor of feeders to them. that is roads leading into the rural districts. And then in his next breath he explains why he preferred to serve in congress on only the one committee, that of post office and post roads, was that he wanted to build up the rural districts. So you see he fell down on this.

As Mr. Blackmon went on he further attempted to criticize Major Jeffers and compared him to a six year old boy, and then before closing his remarks he tells us thtat he recommended him for Captain in the army, and then later on to to the War Department to be retained by them as a major. So you see he falls down on this. I supposed when Fred made his last recommendation of Mr. Jeffers that he had an idea that Jeffers had congress on his brain. I suppose if Major Jeffers had been content to stop with the majorship that Mr. Blackmon would still think him a wonderful fellow, but Jeffers won't stop. He is going to congress, and Fred sees it.

Mr. Blackmon denies flatly that he had anything to do with or knew any thing of the article in the Anniston Star about his and Jeffers' visit to Clanton on April 10th to which I replied. Mr. Blackmon also attempted to criticize the Majors in the army for offering themselves for representatives in congress, which I am sure will not be appreciated by our people, for we all know that to be a major in the army takes the most competent, brave, sober and levelheads of the country. Mr. Blackmon knew that Major Jeffers was a man of this type when he recommended him, and Jeffers made good.

Now, since these majors went over there and won for us the greatest victory in the history of the world, why should they not be entitled to a seat in Congress?

Mr. Blackmon, in his losing remarks further attempted to criticize Jeffers for having his picture displayed in public places for voters to see together with his platform, and suggested or intimated that unless Jeffers appeared or looked betten than he does, that if he were him he would not want to be so publicly displayed. I am satisfied that Major Jeffers is beginning to look awfully ugly to Fred, but I can only see one thing that mars the intelligent look and honest face of Major Jeffers, that is a scar on his right cheek put there by a minnie ball while leading his army as captain, and facing death on the battle fields of Europe, in the defense of this our God-given country, proving true to his country and to his position to which Mr. Blackmon had recommended him. Major Jeffers has made good and he will make good in congress where the voters of Chilton County and the Fourth Congressional District are going to send him on May 11th, 1920.

W. H. GILLESPIE WRITES

Clanton, Ala., May 1, 1920.

Editor Union-Banner:

Please allow me space in your paper to say to the Republicans of Chilton county, that the primary campaign is nearing its close and we have several important offices to be filled. We have a lot of good men in the race for the different offices, asking the people for their support. And in addition to the different county officers to be elected we have also got to elect a new county committee and two delegates from each Beat to the County Convention to be held at the court house on May 14th. Now I know that the farmers are all badly behind with their work, but I want to appeal to every Republican in Chilton County to take the time to go out and vote for the men of your choice for all of the different offices, and after you do that every Republican ought to be satisfied, and I feel sure that they will be. Then we will all get behind our ticket and elect it by our usual majority.

In conclusion, I want to commend our county candidates for the nice clean way in which they have conducted the present campaign. Again let me appeal to every qualified voter to turn out on the day of the primary and vote.

Yours for the success of the Republican party and its ticket,
W. H. GILLESPIE.

Confederate General's Nephew Discharged From the Army by Underwood for Spite Appointment "Personally Offensive to Me" Wrote Underwood, Then Put Own Kentucky Nephew in Alabamians Place.

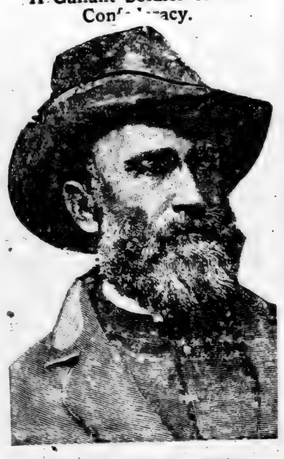
UNDERWOOD DID THIS MEAN THING

General Jubal A. Early, C. S. A. A Gallant Soldier of the Confederacy.



General Jubal A. Early
Immortal Southerner who won eternal fame as a soldier of the Confederacy.

General Early ranked near Lee and Jackson and holds a place dear to the memory of every man and woman who followed the fortunes of the Confederacy. A dashing, fearless and often victorious cavalry leader, he became one of the great figures of the war, appealing to the imagination and the hearts of the people by his devotion to the Southern cause and by the heroic nature of his service.

This hero of three wars is an uncle of Phil Painter, the young editor of The Advance, who was kicked out of the United States army after having earned a commission, for no other reason than that he was "personally offensive" to Senator Underwood.

When one considers the treatment given General Early's nephew by Senator Underwood, one can but speculate upon what the distinguished soldier of the Confederacy would say could he but speak. Were he here today, instead of being "over the river, resting in the shade of the trees" with the Confederate dead there is not the slightest doubt but he would be heard from. He would be going up and down the state of Alabama calling upon his old comrades in arms to rebuke the senator for his mean and spiteful conduct toward a young man whose only ambition was to serve his country in time of war, and whose only fault was that his paper opposed Mr. Underwood in his race against Capt. Hobson.

And if the heroic old general were here, and could speak to his old comrades about the outrage to his nephew, the son of his niece, bone of his bone and flesh of his flesh, what would be the attitude of these old comrades? The answer is obvious. They would rally to him as a man and would join him in rebuking the insult that was given his nephew and in resenting the wrong that was done him by Mr. Underwood, whose people were on the other side in the war between the States, and a man who today is more Northern than Southern.

Gen. Jubal Early's Niece

Mrs. Sarah Early Painter, niece of brave Confederate general, whose son was dismissed from the army because Underwood wrote the War Department, "His appointment is personally offensive to me." Mrs. Painter lost four brothers in Confederate army while the Underwoods fled north as Union sympathizers.

But Jubal Early is gone. That voice which was raised so often in the turmoil and heat of battle, encouraging his men to go forward, will be heard no more. Yet his spirit lives, and will live forever, and today it calls to the comrades and friends of the old, heroic days, to use their influence to see that the gross wrong which has been done his nephew be corrected, so far as it is in the power of his old companions and friends to correct it. Read the details of th's wrong: of this amazing act of spite and littleness on the part of Mr. Underwood, and decide for yourself whether he is a fit man to represent the people of Alabama in the Senate of the United States: a position made venerable by the lives and services of Morgan and Pettus. Could you imagine either of these men kicking the nephew of a hero of the Confederacy out of the army for no other reason than that he had failed to support them for the Senate? No, a thousand times no! Yet this is exactly what Underwood did, and now he is asking that his course be endorsed.

Mrs. Sarah Early Painter, mother of Phil Painter, a niece of General Early, who lost four brothers during the war between the States, is living and she looks to the patriotic citizens of Alabama, and especially to the old soldiers of the Confederacy, to pass judgment upon the wrong that has been done her family by Mr. Underwood and to show their attitude upon the subject of fairness to youth by leaving Mr. Underwood at home.

L. B. Musgrove, who opposes Mr. Underwood for the Senate, is the son of a brave Confederate soldier who gave his life to the "Lost Cause."

Mr. Underwood's father, a Union sympathizer, took his family to Minnesota during the sixties while you

THIS SOLDIER "PERSONALLY OFFENSIVE TO ME," WROTE UNDERWOOD

Lt. Phil Painter, Editor Birmingham Advance 15 years, who was "Honorably" discharged from U. S. Army, October 19th, 1918, at instance of Senator Underwood, because "HE IS PERSONALLY OFFENSIVE TO ME," wrote Underwood to War Department. Senator Underwood later secured a commission for his own inexperienced nephew who took Lt. Painter's place in the same Unit and Division.

Extracts from An Article Entitled "OSCAR W. UNDERWOOD - NEW LEADER FROM THE NEW SOUTH"
By Burton J. Hendrick
(In McClure's Magazine, February, 1912.

Boosting Underwood for President)

"If you should meet Oscar Underwood in the lobby of a metropolitan hotel, you would take him for a rather prosperous Wall Street broker than for what he really is—a Southern Democrat. * * * There is little about Chairman Underwood that suggests the old-fashioned Southern statesman. He does not clothe himself in the traditional habiliments of public life of the South—the long-skirted black coat, the soft slouch hat, the white expanse of shirt bosom and black string necktie. Instead he wears a carefully pressed 'business suit' of the latest fashion.

"Even when Mr. Underwood speaks there are few suggestions of the South. Only the faintest traces of the Southern accent remain and he never indulges in the high-flown speechifying for which Southern leaders were once distinguished.

"Underwood's Unionist Ancestry"

"This well-capparisoned statesman is thus a representative of the new South. * * * It was, indeed, by narrowest margin that he became a Southerner at all. He barely escaped being a Northerner, a Republican, a protectionist. All his ancestral tendencies incline him in that direction. His grandfather and his father were Kentuckians, but Kentuckians of decided Unionist leanings. His grandfather, Joseph Rogers Underwood, was an old-line Whig, and naturally a protectionist. * * * All during the war Underwood's grandfather was a leader of the Unionist forces in Kentucky, and was constantly consulted by Lincoln on questions of policy in the border states. Underwood's father * * * was also a Northern sympathizer. In the Early Sixties he moved his family to the frontier state of Minnesota, and for ten years did not set foot on Southern soil. * * *

"Protectionist Sentiment in Birmingham"

"Nearly all of the most influential people (in Birmingham) had come from the North. The Woodwards were Unionists and Republicans and nearly all of the largest manufacturers had the same political leanings. The district early established close affiliation with Wall Street."

"Woodward's daughter, Bertha, is now the wife of Oscar W. Underwood. * * *

"GREAT" SENATOR "BUSHWHACKED" CONFEDERATE GENERAL'S NEPHEW AND PUT OWN SON IN SAFETY ZONE

UNDERWOOD WROTE THIS

Washington, D. C., Oct. 2nd, 1918.

Ask him whether he wrote this to the War Department: "Beg to confirm the oral protest made against the appointment of Phil Painter to any office in the Army. He is absolutely unfit from every standpoint. His appointment would not reflect credit on our army, but would bring it into disrepute where he is known. His appointment would be personally offensive to me.

(Signed) O. W. UNDERWOOD.
United States Senator.

NATION'S PRESS DENOUNCE UNDERWOOD

"Lt. Painter of the United States Army was dismissed because his presence in the army was personally and politically objectionable to Senator Underwood." . . . "The report of the Intelligence Division was submitted to Secretary of War and was most favorable to Lt. Painter. This was admitted at the secretary's office."—Philadelphia North American, Nov. 4th, 1918.

Congressman Johnson Would Investigate

From the New York World, Oct. 10, 1919.

Whether politics entered into the commissioning and dismissal of civilians as officers in the army would be investigated under a resolution introduced today by Representative Royal C. Johnson (Rep. S. D.). One case brought to his attention is that of Lieut. Philander Knox Painter, of Alabama, dismissed from the service because his presence in the army was personally and politically objectionable to Senator Underwood. Rumor intimated that the liquor interests of Alabama were opposed to his retention.

CITIZENS OF ALABAMA:

It was my great privilege to begin my career in Bessemer and for a number of years reside there and during this time I had the honor to be a member of the famous Bessemer Rifles, getting my training under that splendid military master and World War hero, Capt. Lacey Edmondson.

Having received training of this character, and knowing our government's need for trained men, I applied for a commission when the United States entered the war. I was put through a MOST RIGID EXAMINATION BOTH AS TO MY PHYSICAL CONDITION AND MY KNOWLEDGE OF MILITARY MATTERS, AND PASSED THE EXAMINATION, SUCCESSFULLY. Moreover, because of false and malicious allegations made about me by Mr. Underwood, MY PRIVATE CHARACTER WAS SUBJECTED TO AN INVESTIGATION BY SPECIAL AGENTS WHO DELVED INTO EVERY ACT OF MY LIFE, VISITING EVERY PLACE WHERE I HAD WORKED, AND GOING OVER MY WHOLE CAREER WITH A FINE-TOOTH COMB. The result of this most unusual investigation was to FULLY VINDICATE MY CHARACTER, and when the Army Intelligence Agents made their reports, THE COMMISSION WAS ISSUED TO ME IN SPITE OF MR. UNDERWOOD'S OPPOSITION.

However, instead of accepting defeat and premitting me to go on and serve my country, as I had been shown in every way qualified to do, Mr. Underwood WAS SO BITTER, SO FULL OF PETTY ANMIUS, SO DETERMINED TO PUNISH ME FOR DARING TO OPPOSE HIM, that he refused to accept the situation, and went BEFORE SECRETARY BAKER AND APPEALED TO HIM TO GET RID OF ME.

Confronted on the one hand by a highly influential Senator and on the other hand by an Alabama boy without pull or influence, Secretary Baker met the Senator half way and gave me an HONORALBE discharge instead of applying the boot and kicking me out as the Great and Unparalleled statesman would have had him do.

Because of this amazing smallness on the part of the "big man" who is now asking for re-election, I was denied commission and poured out the bitterness of his defeat by going to the Secretary of War and as my forefathers did during the Spanish-American war and as my forefathers did during the Civil War. In reply to this, he will say that I ought to have gone on as a private when he, the mighty one, ruled that I should not have had the commission which I was found qualified to hold. If he makes this suggestion, ask him why the same thought did not occur to him while he was trying to get a major's commission for his inexperienced son and did get a commission for his young nephew. The facts are, however, that the fight he made on me lasted as long as it took our boys to whip the Germans, and the war was practically of War and having me discharged not dishonorably as he would have preferred, but HONORABLY. Not even his great influence was sufficient to accomplish my dishonorable discharge in the face of the record I made upon examination and the honest findings of the most excellent bloodhounds he put upon my trail in the vain effort to draw something ugly out of my private life.

Citizens of Alabama, I place these facts before you because, since I have lived among you, I feel that you are entitled to the facts. They are EXACTLY AS I HAVE STATED THEM HERE and they will be sustained by the records in Washington. In the light of these facts, you are asked to determine for yourselves the fitness of Mr. Underwood for the high and honorable office he is again seeking. He went far out of his way to punish me, and what he did to me he would do to any other unfortunate Alabama boy who happened to offend him. Do we want a man who can be guilty of such small things in a position so great and so honorable as that of United States Senator?

Sincerely and respectfully yours,
PHIL PAINTER.

ASK SENATOR UNDERWOOD WHY HE SHOT IN THE BACK A SOLDIER WHO ONLY WANTED TO SERVE?

Mr. Underwood:

"Did you, on your fight to prevent Phil Painter from getting into the army, make charges reflecting upon his character that were NOT SUSTAINED after the most rigid investigation by the Military Intelligence Division of the U. S. Army?"

"After these charges had been investigated and were found to be untrue, and after a commission had been given Painter, did you not get him discharged from the army upon the sole ground that he was 'personally offensive' to you?"

"Was Painter 'personally offensive' to you for any other reason than that he opposed you in your race against Capt. R. P. Hobson?"

When these questions are asked the Great and Mighty Oscar he may try to dodge the issue by saying that "Painter was not qualified."

If he dodges the issue in this way, as he has done in the past, ask him if he did not know that Painter was FOR FOUR YEARS A MEMBER OF THE WORLD-FAMOUS BESSEMER RIFLES and received part of his military training under that brave and skilful soldier, CAPT. LACEY EDMUDSON?

Ask the shining and illustrious statesman, who went out of his way to grossly injure an Alabama boy, who sought merely to serve his country in a time of peril, if he, the Gigantic and Thrice-illustrious Senator, did not use his influence to get commissions for his political friends, WHO HAD NO MILITARY TRAINING WHATEVER.

Ask him, also, IF HE DID NOT TRY TO GET A COMMISSION FOR the redoubtable MR. HUGH ROBERTS, whose knowledge runs more to highballs than to cannon balls?

Ask the Honorable Oscar to step down from the towering pedestal upon which he has been placed by the liquor interests and the representatives of corporate greed and tell the people of Alabama if, in his uncalled-for and undignified fight upon a former Bessemer boy, he DID NOT SUBJECT THE WAR DEPARTMENT TO THE CHARGE OF PLAYING POLITICS, and thereby caused the administration great embarrassment?

Texas Lady Storekeeper, Who Carries Black-Draught in Stock, Has Found It "Best Liver Medicine" Obtainable.

Barker, Tex.—Relating her experience with Thedford's Black-Draught, Mrs. A. L. Fromme, of this place, says: "I had for some time used . . . and other liver medicines, which would nauseate and make me feel bad. We have a store, and our customers called for Black-Draught so often that I decided it must be good, so thought I would try it myself.

"I began its use and found it just fitted my case. It neither griped nor nauseated me, was an easy laxative and not hard to take.

"I had had headaches a great deal, no doubt from torpid liver. The Black-Draught would cure them. The best way I find to take Black-Draught is to take one or two good sized doses until the liver begins to act, then taper the doses to just a pinch after meals.

"It will insure good digestion, do away with the gas or bad taste in the mouth, and is without doubt the best liver medicine in the market. I have found it so. I can recommend it to my friends, for I believe it will do them good."

"It does," replied the jeweler.

"Then where does your profit come in?" asked Jones in amazement.

"In repairing them," the jeweler informed him bluntly.

Underwood Representatives Enjoined By Circuit Court

"Courts are not impairing or infringing right of free speech by enjoining publications which are incidental to or in aid of UNLAWFUL CONSPIRACY"—says opinion of court.

Parties enjoined, according to bill and finding, are the following:

Lloyd Hooper as Chairman of the State Campaign Committee of Oscar W. Underwood, Jelks H. Cabaniss as Chairman of the Underwood Campaign Committee of Jefferson County, Alabama, A. B. Tucker, Publicity Manager for the Underwood Campaign Committee of the State of Alabama, Sparrow Advertising Agency, Age-Herald Publishing Company, Montgomery Advertiser Publishing Company, Mobile Register, Dispatch Printing Company, H. J. Coxwell, H. G. Hudson and E. A. Thompson.

Underwood and his representatives who are responsible for the most reprehensible effort at political chicanery ever attempted in Alabama must bear the responsibility of their contemplated action, and receive the public condemnation which is incident to their exposure.

Their former mud-slinging is insignificant when compared to their abortive effort which has been stayed by the hand of the Chancery Court.

The story is as follows:—

Late last Saturday evening the Musgrove management learned that the Sparrow Advertising Agency (which handles publicity for the Alabama Power Company), had arranged to have certain "plate matter," which means type set up solid which could be sent to all small newspapers and printed as set, made at the Western Newspaper Union's plant and distributed over the state to the smaller newspapers so that it would be printed in these small papers throughout the state on Friday and Saturday of this week, two or three days before the election, so that the falseness of the statements could not be contradicted—until after the election on May 11th.

This was on behalf of Oscar W. Underwood's candidacy and against Musgrove.

The statement or article to be thus circulated, too late for correction, if even partially believed, would turn the people of this state against laboring men and destroy the strength of Musgrove throughout the parts of the state where circulated.

The article is headed: "Allied Labor Blacklist. Democrats of Monroe County Issue Address."

The statement says that there was a mass meeting of Democrats held at Monroeville April 30, 1920, and that the parties whose names appear at the end of the paper, namely, H. J. Coxwell, H. E. Hudson and E. A. Thompson were appointed by the alleged mass meeting "to inform the press and the public of the action of the mass meeting."

The statement winds up by indicating that the said parties named publish and have paid for the publication of the article as a political advertisement.

We are informed that no mass meeting was held. That these men did not even contemplate paying for the publication of the article in the numerous papers to which it would have been sent but for the intervention of the Chancery Court.

The statement declares that the "Farmers' Union and certain labor organizations" have "blacklisted" (Underwood's word) "candidates for the United States Senate, both long and short term, candidates for the Democratic Convention, judges of the Court of Appeals and Supreme Court, etc." It complains that they have blacklisted Mr. J. Lee Andrews, of Sheffield, an attorney for the Alabama Power Company and a member of Underwood's State Central Committee, and Judge B. M. Miller. The statement is untrue.

And further, that they "vigorously blacklisted Ray Rushton and Emmet O'Neal and partially blacklists J. Thomas Heflin." This statement is untrue—in fact, many of the men whom they accuse and who are complainants in the Bill of Complaint will vote for these very men.

The citizen will readily see the ingenious attempt to cause the supporters of all men who are named in the "mud" article to be prejudiced against the laboring men and against Musgrove—Musgrove, the person they are making their drive against.

The statement further is to the effect that they have "blacklisted" J. Lee Andrews, Judge J. J. Mayfield, and others; a palpable effort to arouse the enmity of the friends of the gentlemen named.

But after this exposure the public will not be fooled into prejudice and misunderstanding, by the Underwood people.

Unconscionable Statements.

The statement says that certain local unions and officials have "repeatedly endorsed black and white suffrage." This is not true.

That "Its officials have made speeches urging negroes to leave Alabama and the South because they are not qualified as voters under the law." The falseness of this statement is not even equaled by other false statements issued in their so-called "Bulletins" against Musgrove.

That "They desire to abolish the barriers between social and business—familiarities" of the whites and blacks. Language will not permit the proper denunciation of this statement; but every white man in Alabama, who has a boy or relative working in the shops, in the mines, on the railroads, and in great plants of this State—will be able to properly condemnn that statement and the people and campaign committee responsible for its proposed publication.

The following statement is also made: "At a meeting of the Allied Labor Committee which selected a slate in Birmingham—a labor slate to be voted in a white Democratic primary—negroes were present and participated. This alliance is now reaching out for the Farmers Union. Does the Alabama farmer want to endorse the principle of organizing negroes on the farm and putting them into the same union with white farmers?" This statement is so repulsive to the instincts of the real men of Alabama as to bear on its face its badge of shame and falseness. We know that the Alabama farmers and all white men of Alabama, and all citizens who believe in decency and fair play, will stand by the honest, intelligent and hard-working men of Alabama who are thus abused, maligned and insulted.

We know that Mr. A. B. Tucker, of The Montgomery Advertiser and Underwood's publicity manager for the state, who was one of the parties enjoined, was interested in getting this "plate matter" up for distribution to the country newspapers (whom he has charged in the past certain commissions on advertisements furnished them by him), and of seeing that it went to the places in Alabama where the false statements, insinuations and innuendoes would likely do the most harm to Mr. Musgrove.

The people of Alabama will not tolerate this last convulsive and abortive effort at mud-slinging.

It is easily seen that the entire scheme was cunningly contrived and timed, but for the interference of the court, so that the blackness of its falsity could not be uncovered until too late to rectify and remedy the great wrong which good people of this state might unintentionally do, being misled by falsehood into prejudice against the candidacy of L. B. Musgrove.

When men in the "eleventh hour" of a political campaign stoop so low as to be guilty of this conspiracy—there can be but one course for honest people, and that is to so act as to so condemn such conduct as that no such thing can ever happen in our state again.

We submit truth against falseness, right against wrong; we have conducted a clean campaign, and we do not and will not attempt to win on prejudice or false and malicious statements. We have confidence in the judgment, fairness and decency of our people.

BREAKFAST is too often eaten as a duty rather than a joy. The success of the day may depend upon the spirit of breakfast. The Royal Educational Department presents some breakfast dishes that will send the children to school with a hip hip hurrah and his majesty man to his daily duties with the "up and doing" feeling which knows no discouragement.

Muffins

2 cups flour
2 teaspoons Royal Baking Powder
1 tablespoon sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
1 cup milk
2 eggs
1 tablespoon shortening

Sift together flour, baking powder, sugar and salt; add milk, well-beaten eggs and melted shortening; mix well. Grease muffin tins and put two tablespoons of batter into each. Bake in hot oven 20 to 25 minutes.

Eggless Muffins

2 cups flour
4 teaspoons Royal Baking Powder
2 tablespoons sugar
1 teaspoon salt
1 cup milk
2 tablespoons shortening

Mix and sift dry ingredients, add milk and melted shortening and beat until smooth. Bake in greased muffin tins in hot oven 20 to 25 minutes.

Corn Muffins

1¼ cups flour
4 teaspoons Royal Baking Powder
½ teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons sugar
1 cup milk
2 tablespoons shortening
1 egg

Sift together corn meal, flour, baking powder, salt and sugar; add milk, melted shortening and well-beaten egg; mix well. Grease muffin tins and drop two tablespoons of mixture into each. Bake about 35 minutes in hot oven.

Popovers

2 cups flour
½ teaspoon salt
2 cups milk

Sift together flour and salt. Make a well in flour, break eggs into well, add milk and stir until smooth. Pour into hot greased gem pans and bake 35 to 35 minutes in a very hot oven. If taken out of oven too soon they will fall.

Welcome Relief From the Tortures of Rheumatism

Can Come Only From the Proper Treatment.

Many forms of rheumatism are caused by millions of tiny germs that infest the blood, and until the blood is absolutely freed of these germs, there is no real relief in sight.

The most satisfactory remedy for rheumatism is S. S. S. because it is one of the most thorough blood purifiers known to medical science. This fine old remedy cleanses the blood of impurities, and acts as an antidote to the germ of rheumatism.

S. S. S. is sold by druggists everywhere. For valuable literature and advice address Chief Medical Adviser, 107 Swift Laboratory, Atlanta, Ga.

L. H. REYNOLDS
CLANTON, ALA.

To the Democratic Voters of Alabama.

For sixteen years I have been honored as a representative in Congress, and I have given to the people and their interest the very best service that I have been capable of rendering. No man ever had more loyal supporters than I have had and I can say truly that the people's interest has been uppermost in my mind and heart always, and I feel that my humble efforts have resulted in some benefits to the people, at large and generally.

On the 11th day of May, I feel confident that I will be nominated by the Democrats of Alabama to the United States Senate, and I am counting upon you, who by your unfailing support and loyalty to the principles of government which I have fought for, to nominate me as Senator and as successor to the lamented Senator Bankhead.

The time between Senator Bankhead's death and the primary election was so short that I could not reach all the counties of the State, so I have only been able to go in as many of them as I possibly could. In doing this, I have been unable to make a single speech in some of the counties, to those that I have been unable to see, I trust will understand the situation and take care of my interests. I expect to carry 50 counties out of the 67, and I shall be grateful beyond measure to my supporters who have made it possible for me to gain the approval of a large majority of the Democrats of the State to now lead in the battle of the ballots in winning for me the office of United States Senator.

In this upper branch of Congress, the opportunity to serve the whole State will be greater, and with the training and experience that I have had, I shall be able in this new field of action to accomplish more for the people generally.

With deep appreciation for your steadfast and loyal support, I am,

Yours faithfully,
J. THOS. HEFLIN.

J. A. WOODWARD IS OUT FOR JEFFERS FOR CONGRESS

Lamar Jeffers of Anniston, Calhoun County is a candidate for Congress from this district to be voted on in the primary to be held on May 11th, 1920.

Let it be thoroughly understood that Mr. Jeffers is not running on his war record, and in citing the following incident I am doing so on my own responsibility, without his knowledge.

"On the night of 10-11 October, Captain Jeffers reconnoitered a badly damaged bridge and early in the morning of the 11th he supervised its repair, being continuously under intense machine gun fire. He later led the leading company of the batallion over this bridge and across the open and level terrian, where all his officers and almost two-thirds of his men became casualties and he himself was seriously wounded. He continued to lead his company forward, however, until he fell, shot through the jaw with a machcine gun bullet."

The above is from Official Record. This is a splendid tribute to one responding to the command of his country and in behalf of universal peace, and is reproduced here, that the people may know what manner of man they are called on to consider.

Mr. Jeffers was not reared in affluence, and his life has been one of industry, his life has been one of industry, and always self-sustaining. He stands before the people clean and upright. Having nursed an ambition that is lofty and noble, with a character unstained, whose integrity is absolutely unimpeachable he now asks at the hands of the people an honor that we feel he deserves.

Mr. Jeffers is a young man, yet a man of family, who has reached the maturer side of life. Well poised and true, men like him are the salvation of the people's cause. If given an opportunity his intelligence and common sense will doubtless make him capable of great service to the people.

No man, young or old can step into congress and forthwith do the work and make the speech of a Morgan or a Pettus, but Mr. Jeffers knows right, will speak right and no doubt will vote right in the interest of American institutions and all who live and labor under the stars and stripes. I am fully persuaded when our hour comes he will be as true to the people's cause as he was obedient to his country's command when he braved all danger and stood unflinchingly, on the field of battle.

It is the opinion of Judge J. C. Wilson, formerly of Lincoln, Talladega County, now of Anniston, who many of us know and esteem, that Mr. Jeffers will carry his own county of Calhoun. Should we not give him a handsome vote in Talladega?

Genius darts, flutters and tires, but with the industrious, honest and true, perseverance wears and wins.

CLANTON BAPTIST CHURCH

Owing to the Commencement Exercises at the High School next Sunday morning, and the absence of the pastor from the city while attending the Southern Baptist Convention at Washington, D. C., there will be no preaching services at the church until the Fourth Sunday in May, 23rd. The Sunday School will be held as usual at 10 a.m. Prof. J. J. Pickens, Superintendent.

All members of the church are requested to remember that a date has now been set by the church to begin work on the new building, and as far as possible conserve their money and energy to help further this very worthy and necessary local enterprise. If we build a church in Clanton this year it will be impossible to support every outside cause, however worthy that appeals to us. There is nothing needed worse in Clanton today than a new church building. When that is erected we may then be able to help other worthy causes and enterprises.

While the pastor is away it will be a good time for those who so desire to return the courtesy shown to us and worship with the Methodist brethren.

Rev. P. G. CARTER, Pastor.

SHOULTS

Everybody is glad to see this warm weather, and the farmers hope that cool weather will stay away so that the plants in the fields and gardens can grow. Everybody is busy when the weather is agreeable. So many people have left the farm and gone to the cities that the few who are left must put in every hour and minute possible. As long as the people desert the farm, so long will the price of everything be high, and they are getting higher.

Fishing seems to be the main sport here when it rains. Mr. John Mitchell carried a wagon load to the creek last Tuesday to fish; also Mr. Cleve Latham carried a load.

Mr. Harvey McGee, Mr. Crit Oden and Mr. Fred Oden went to the creek Tuesday to fish.

Mr. Fred McGee and family spent the night with his brother in law, Mr. W. P. Hicks, last Tuesday night. They went fishing that night, caught a string of nice eels and cat fish.

Miss Fay McAfee and Miss Allie Walker spent a few days of last week in Centreville visiting Mrs. T. C. Snead, sister of Miss Allie Walker.

Mr. Martin Lawrence and sister, Miss Drucilla Lawrence spent the night with relatives at Lawley Saturday night, and they attended the preaching service at Rehoboth Sunday.

Mrs. John Mitchell and Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Hicks and Mr. Hort Walker attended the preaching service Sunday at Rehoboth.

Miss Fannie Lawrence gave a singing Sunday afternoon. Everyone reported a nice time.

Mrs. Jennie Hall and daughter Etta Mae spent the day with Mrs. C. T. Walker Monday of last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Hamrick visited Mr. Jim Crow last week.

Mr. Wheeler Walker, who got bruised some time ago was able to return to his work last week.

Sunday School is progressing nicely, but not enough older people go. If more of the older men would go it might cause the young men and boys to go in the house and become more interested in Sunday School than they are.

Sheriff Gore was in this community last Saturday night, and arrested a boy for carrying a concealed weapon. Boys, if not for the sake of your father and mother, who tried to bring you up right and your sisters and brothers whose delight it is to see you be upright and honorable, if not for their sake, do, for our dear Savior's sake, take warning and do better. It is so dangerous to carry pistols, and gambling so degrading to your character. Sheriff Gore may be in this community any time.

If a picture of what is going on could be put in print it would be a shameful sight, and so many would be ashamed at the condition of this and other communities. We are not alarmed at the cyclones, wars, earth quakes and hail storms.

"Bring your children up in the way they should go, and when they grow old they will not depart from it."

SHOULTS.

We were glad to see so many at Sunday school Sunday. Hope more will come next Sunday. Most all the pupils had white flowers in honor of their mothers, it being "Mother's Day."

Mr. Clarence Latham, who has been working in Texas, went to Montana on a short visit, and is now spending a few days at home with his father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. N. W. Latham. His friends are glad to see him back at home.

Miss Myrtle McAfee, who is the organist of Pleasant Grove church, gave a singing Sunday afternoon, everyone present enjoyed the good singing.

Mrs. T. C. Snead and two children from Centerville, spent a few days of last week with her mother and father Mr. and Mrs. C. T. Walker. Mrs. Snead is pleasantly remembered by her friends as Miss Lena Walker.

Miss Ruby Shoults from Lawley is visiting her sister, Mrs. Cleve Latham.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Bearden from Maplesville motored out to Mr. C. T. Walker's Sunday and spent the afternoon.

Mrs. Oliver Rhodes from Selma spent a few days of last week with her mother, Mrs. Nettie Bearden.

Mr. J. H. Shoults and little granddaughter, Daisy Latham, spent the day with her daughter, Mrs. Bessie Lawrence, last Sunday.

Mrs. Celia Hicks and grandson, Dalton Hicks, spent a few days with her son, Mr. W. P. Hicks, last week.

Miss Nora Wallace spent the day with Miss Eva Hall Sunday.

Mrs. Sanford Kelley, who fell and broke her hip some time ago, is improving gradually. This will be gratifying news to her friends.

Mrs. Sam Shoults, who has been living some time in Selma, is at home now with her mother, Mrs. C. T. Walker. Her husband has a position in Montgomery, and they will make their future home there.

Mr. Howard Oden, the Superintendent of Pleasant Grove Sunday School, is finding something new all the time for the teachers and pupils to do; so look out boys, he may find something for you to do later on.

Some young men don't imagine that elder men or business men are keeping their eyes open for competent young men, and they know more of the acts of the boys than they think.

A FAIR WARNING.

The little stunt pulled off by Mr. Guy Deshazo with his "grasshopper" flivver last Sunday morning should serve as a sufficient warning to him and a lesson to several of the other boys here who seem to find a peculiar pastime in making speedways of our main streets every Sunday. Guy went up the highway at a daredevil speed and as he made the "shoot the shoot" down the hill behind Reese Mullins's she left the track, turned a couple of somersaults and landed over in the ditch at the bottom of the fill. As luck would have it the driver came out uninjured.

But it will not happen that way every time. About one in a hundred will come out like Guy did. Better take the lesson now boys and slow down. It is too much danger to yourselves and other people to turn those "grasshoppers" loose at full speed on our streets.

County Commissioner W. T. Herrod of Plantersville, was in Clanton on Tuesday of this week.

Mr. John Martin of Wetumpka was a visitor to Clanton Sunday.

IN MEMORY OF REV. BICE.

Whereas, God in His own perfect wisdom saw fit to pluck from this world and transplant in "the city not made with hands," Rev. F. W. C. Bice of Billingsley, Ala., on Feb. 26, 1920, a committee of Thorsby Baptist Church, through authority vested in them by the church in conference, beg leave to submit the following resolutions:

Be it resolved: First, that in the death of Brother Bice the Baptist cause, as well as all interests looking towards the betterment of humanity in Thorsby and in Chilton County, have sustained an irreparable loss; that in the "going to sleep" of such an influential and noble character and gentleman, the list of faithful Baptist ministers in Chilton County has decreased one; and as we learned to esteem and love him highly while pastor of our church, we deplore his early death in the prime of his manhood and usefulness.

Be it resolved: Second, that we bow in humble submission to the will of a divine Father who erreth not, and who doeth all things well; that we extend our sympathy to the bereaved members of his family and relatives, with those of his friends who come to esteem and love him through his ministrations; that we will pray that immense quantities of the abounding grace might be their portion in such an hour of need and of grief.

Be it resolved: Last, that a copy of these resolutions be sent to The Union-Banner and the Alabama Baptist for publication, a copy spread on the minutes of the Thorsby Baptist Church, and a copy sent to the family of the deceased.

Respectfully submitted,
W. J. BILLINGSLEY,
FELIX EILAND,
MISS NOLIA ROBINSON,
Committee.

MINOOKA.

Health in this community is fine with the exception of a few cases of mumps.

Our Mothers Day program was a great success and I think those who attended were well paid for their coming. At noon a good old fashioned dinner was spread and no one went away hungry. There was singing in the afternoon. Mr. Akins Collins was the leader.

There will be an all day singing at Shiloh Church, near South Calera, on the Fifth Sunday in May. Everybody come and bring your song books and let's make it a day of joyful songs unto the Lord.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles DuBose spent Saturday and Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Martin.

Mr. and Mrs. Orlin Busby from Talladega Springs spent the week-end with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Busby.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Klinner of Helena motored down Sunday and spent the day with home folks.

Mr. Oldham has as his guests his three sisters .

Mr. and Mrs. Eric Sims from Talladega are visiting their father and mother.

A RIPPLING STREAM.

I sat beside a rippling brook
That sang so low 'neath the shady nook;
I heard its never-dying sound,
And from whence it came I never found.
But as I watched and wondered then
Its tiny waves that seemed to blend
With mossy banks and bending trees,
A song was wafted on the breeze.
The breezes stirred, the brook ran on Toward oceans deep and the sandy foam.
The while I sat and wondered there
How could anything be made compare
With such a low sweet murmuring voice—
If it were mine, how I'd rejoice!
But quite content, I sat right still,
With thoughts supreme my mind did fill,
For it was grand to sit and think
Of nature's great—from her cup to drink—
Such happy thoughts, though 'twas not a dream,
For true, I sat by a rippling stream.

BOSWELL CHILD DEAD.

Early last Thursday morning, May 6th, the three months old baby of Mr. and Mrs. John Boswell died of whooping cough. Burial was made in Chestnut Creek cemetery Friday afternoon.

THORSBY ITEMS.

Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Marcus are on the sick list. Otherwise the health of the people seems to be good.

Puite a large bunch of our young folks attended a singing at Mars Hill Sunday and reported having a real nice time.

Miss Leona Burnett and Miss Zema Collins spent the week-end in Birmingham visiting relatives.

Mr. Arthur Sunberg and family moved to Birmingham Monday.

Mr. J. J. Stanley of Birmingham was in town Friday.

Mr. R. L. Carter is putting up a new residence.

Mrs. James B. Hutchinson is visiting in Birmingham.

The excessive rains are damaging our strawberries as well as the other crops. But since old Sol has shown his shiny face not veiled by clouds, you see more pleasant faces than before.

Postmaster Walter Parnell and sister, Miss May, visited Birmingham last Monday.

Mrs. Monroe Benson gave an entertainment Saturday night in honor of her brother, Hiram Hays, who is here from Chickasaw for a few days among old friends.

Mr. Freeman's store seemed to be less attractive than usual, and upon investigating we found that Miss Essie Parker, his charming little clerk, was away spending her vacation with relatives in Birmingham.

Mr. S. E. Norton has built a new front porch to his residence.

Mr. Phil Parker is visiting in Ensley for a few days.

Mrs. Amr Eiland and daughter, Mrs. Julizzie Littlejohn, are visiting relatives in Birmingham, Sylacauga, and Blocton.

We are glad to note that Mr. Henderson Hays, who sold out and moved to South Alabama last Fall has moved back.

Mr. Hurley Mims of Chickasaw is visiting his parents near Thorsby.

Operetta at Thorsby Institute and Miss Turnquist's Reception.

The final number of the series of entertainments given so successfully this season at Bates Hall, was the Chinese Operetta, "Little Almond Eyes," by Marttens and MacFarlane.

The title part was very nicely sung by Miss Mabel Craig while among others in the cast were: Miss Marie Flummer, Miss Naemi Turnquist, Miss Agnes Leary, Miss Ruth Gerald, Miss Mary Ella Gerald, Mr. C.R. Foss, Mr. W. Parnell, Mr. Orrville Mastin, and Mr. A. W. Aleck.

Miss May Hastings Nottage trained the chorus, doing the work in an admirable manner while Mr. C. Bice conducted the orchestra in a way to arouse much favorable comment.

The audience was one of the largest ever assembled in Bates Hall, not only in numbers but in enthusiasm as well. Many had to be turned away

On Tuesday evening Miss Naemi Turnquist gave a very successful reception in honor of the cast at her home Her hospitality was delightful and greatly appreciated by the guests

ORDER OF PUBLICATION TO NON-RESIDENT.

The State of Alabama, Chilton County. No. 229, Circuit Court in Equity, May 10, 1920. Lee Roy Davis, Complainant, vs. Leola Davis, Defendant.

In this cause it is made to appear to the Register by the affidavit of complainant, Lee Roy Davis, that the Defendant is a non-resident, and her place of residence and post office address is unknown, and that such address cannot be ascertained after a reasonable effort; and, further, that, in the belief of said affiant, the defendant is over the age of 21 years:

It is, therefore, ordered by the Register that publication be made in The Union-Banner, a newspaper published in the county of Chilton, once a week for four consecutive weeks, requiring her, the said defendant, Leola Davis, to plead, answer, or demur to the bill of complaint in this cause by the 10th day of June, 1920, or, in thirty days thereafter, a decree pro confesso may be taken against her.

Done at office in Clanton, this the 10th day of May, 1920.

JAMES A. MIMS DEAD.

Mr. James A. Mims died at his home Monday morning, May 3, at about seven o'clock. He left a wife and seven children at home. He was 61 years old and had been sick for a long while. His funeral was held Tuesday at 11 o'clock at Maple Springs, conducted by Rev. Hughes.

FAMILY REUNION

Rev. J. T. Williams and his family came home on the first day of May. It was rather interesting to see the Williams boys coming home from the various parts of the state, J. O. coming from his home in Athens, T. E. from Albany, J. H. from Guntersville, and H. G. from Tuskaloosa, and J. D. from Birmingham. The rest of the family lived near Clanton.

The assembly call was blown at an early hour at the home of A. L. Williams and their mother, and from this hour till almost time to have dinner the various members of the Williams bunch continued to assemble. After the roll was called all answered present except J. O., wife and son, who were kept away on account of sickness. In the morning hour the natural thing took place, that is, physical exercise in physical culture. This was put on in the form of wrestling, boxing, foot races, and all manner of old family stunts such as the Williams boys were guilty of in the earlier days. After this each one had to give an account of himself and all his family. There being two without families the whole company acted as an investigating committee to find out why they were not married. After discussion from various ones it was all smoothly settled when "Judge" said to his only single brother, Griel, "If you are of the same mind that I am there will still be two single ones at the next reunion seven years from now." This was passed off that way, but you had better not depend on it.

By this time A. L.'s pulse was beating fast, and some thought that he had fever, but it was just nearing dinner time. His condition grew better when his wife asked him to only remember that fatted calf he had prepared for the feast. This calf, with all manner of other good things to eat composed the best dinner that the boys had experienced since they left home.

The afternoon was given over to talke made by the missionary and his wife. After they had explained many many things about the good collection of curios and had answered all manner of questions, the others present had something to say. It was a wonderful thanksgiving service.

After the day was over they all began to scatter to the various places where they are located. J. T. and his wife went to Georgia where Mrs. Williams' people live. They will spend the greater part of the summer in Alabama and Georgia.

It is hoped by all that they may be together when J. T. comes back from his next trip to the field.

LIFE & CASUALTY COMPANY LOCATES AN AGENCY HERE

The Life & Casualty Insurance Company of Tennessee has established an agency in Clanton, at the head of which they have placed their special agent, Mr. Alonza A. Poole. Mr. Poole's headquarters is in Montgomery, but he is going to live in Clanton, and will spend quite a bit of his time here.

Lonza is a Chilton County boy, a son of Mr. Walter M. Poole. For the past six or eight years he has been located in Tennessee and Georgia working in the insurance business.

We are glad to have Mr. Poole and his company here, and we especially wish to extend a welcome hand to him and his family, who will make their home here with us.

FORD TRUCK FOR SALE—Light Truck, in good condition. Call on T. M. Taylor, Clanton, Ala.

WHEN FENN JONES LANDED IN CLANTON.

Eighteen years ago the first day of this month a young man walked into the Peoples Savings Bank in Clanton and told Mr. John A. Thomas that he wanted to make a little deposit. When he had completed his business transaction and put his bank book in his pocket with seven hundred dollars credited therein, the young man told Mr. Thomas that he had come to Clanton to open up a hardware store, and inquired further as to a good place to board. Mr. Thomas informed the young man that Uncle Billy Wilson was running a boarding house over on the hill, and as he had a fine garden and some good milk cows he thought it might be a good place to board.

The young man went straight to Mr. Wilson's and hung up his hat. He that day began to call Clanton his home, and such is the story of the coming of C. Fenn Jones to Clanton.

That was eighteen years ago the first day of this month, and during that time and up to now the record of C. Fenn Jones has been a valuable part in the growth and upbuilding of this town. In fact his activities are so well known that it is useless to try to acquaint the people with what he has done.

Mr. Jones has so enlarged upon his original purse of seven hundred dollars until to-day his intetrests reach out into the thousands. He has by his persistent devotion to business, made for himself an enviable position in the commercial realm of the state and county. And not only has his wealth grown in dollars and cents, but perhaps even a greater wealth than that is his positioin of eminence as a progressive citizen, and his large circle of friends.

There is but one thing we can see in which Mr. Jones has fallen short since he came to Clanton. He has never yet married. He has mixed and mingled for these eighteen years in the social and business life of the town and county. He has seen many a worthy young lady come and go, but he has always chosen to let them go with the other fellow, rather than assume the duties of life-pilot for a fair one himself. But maybe he will make up for that neglect yet. He is not a very old man even now, and we hope that ere it is too late he will choose to take upon himself the responsibilities of a life that are a far greater pleasure than all the successes of business.

MEXICO IN HANDS OF NEW FACTION

ARREST OF CARRANZA BY THE REVOLUTIONISTS IS CONFIRMED.

MANY ARE PUT TO DEATH

Stories Of Wholesale Executions Of Mexicans Are Now Coming In.

El Paso, Tex.—All of Mexico except the states of Yucatan, Campeche and Chiapas and the northern part of the territory of Lower California is in the hands of the revolutionists, according to a bulletin given out by the local consulate of the liberal constiutional party. The bulletin confirmed the report of the capture of President Carranza near Apizaco, Hidalgo, and gave details.

"It is also confirmed," the bulletin said, "that Generals Murguia, Urquizo and Barranga, the latter the famous chief of the staff of Carranza, were executed," and that Gen. Candido Aguilar, son-in-law of Carranza, and Manuel M. Dieguez, lost their lives in a fight in the state of Vera Cruz, in which Gen. Alberto Salinas, nephew of Carranza, commander of an aviation school, was wounded and captured.

Mexico City officially reported to Luis Montes De Oca, "consul" for the revolutionists there, that the entire convoy escorting Carranza from the capital was captured with him near Apizaco.

"Carranza left Mexico City Friday," the bulletin said. "He was accompanied, besides the general reported killed, by his official family, including Luis Cabrera, Manuel Aguirre, Berland Ignacio Bouilias, Luis Manuel Rojas, Gov. Ruedo Magre, Manuel Lucio Blanco and others, and to complete the catastrophe of the Carranza regime he was captured with all his remaining elements at Apizaco.

"Gen. Alvaro Obregon has ordered Carranza returned to the City of Mexico, with all consideration, ordering all commanders not to kill or mistreat any one of his company.

"The City of Mexico is quiet.

"Orders have been issued by Gov. Adolfo De La Huerta, executive of the liberal constitutional government, in compliance with all his statements that gambling be stopped in all territory controlled by his government, which, practically is the whole republic, for only three states had failed to recognize the movement headed by the state of Sonora.

Gen. Ramon Iturbe from Sinaloa, bottled at Mazatlan, has joined the Sonora movement, and likewise, General De Santiago of Nayati."

Consul De Oca, in a statement, expressed the desire to co-operate with all authorities on both sides of the international boundary for the "welfare of citizens on both sides of the river."

Vera Cruz.—An official bulletin received here from Mexico City announces that President Carranza's train is on the Mexican railway between Apizaco and Esperanza. It adds that a commission has been dispatched from the capital to approach Carranza and offer him guarantees.

The legislatures of San Luis Potosi and Duraugo have recognized the plans of the government at Agua Prieta. Many additional generals have given their adherence to the revolt, principally Casaro Castro, who has placed himself at the disposition of General Obregon with the forces that control Torreon and the whole Lakuna region. All the principal towns of the country are controlled by the Obregon movement.

Washington.—The destroyers Putnam and Isherwood have arrived at Tampico, Secretary Daniels announced, and quiet was reported to prevail there. The destroyer Case has reached Vera Cruz and the Dale is en route to Tuxpam. The cruiser Dolphin also has reached Tampico, where there are now ample accommodations to take off Americans in necessary.

The department has ordered three additional destroyers to accompany the battleship Oklahoma from New York to Key West in readiness for duty in Mexican waters.

Capt. B. A. Long, commanding the division of six destroyers arriving at Mexican ports, is aboard the Putnam at Tampico.

A Natural Position.

"Why hasn't the head of the house of lords as much chance as the head of the house of commons to cut a figure in British politics?"

"I suppose it is because the head of the house of lords can never become a peerless leader."

Dictionaries.

Dictionaries are like watches, wrote Johnson. The worst is better than none, and the best cannot be expected to go quite true.

ALABAMA COAL IS SHIPPED TO ITALY

SOMETHING OVER 7,000 TONS HAVE ALREADY BEEN SENT VIA PENSACOLA.

FRANCE ALSO AFTER COAL

Car Shortage and Other Difficulties Stand In Way of Accepting Much Export Business.

Birmingham.—Alabama coal, mostly from the Cahaba vein, is being shiped from the Birmingham district to Italy, something like 7,000 tons having been sent via Pensacola. In addition to a rate of $1.60 per ton freight to Pensacola, a steamship rate of $18 to $20 is being paid. France is also after coal from this district, but car shortage and other difficulties stand in the way of accepting much export business.

Inland Waterway Society Planned.

Birmingham.—An inland waterway association for Alabama, suggested by W. D. Nesbitt, president of the Port of Birmingham Company, is to be organized within the next few weeks. The object of this association will be to join in all movements which seek appropriations of Congress for rivers and harbors improvement throughout the country.

Heads University Student Government.

University.—In the final run-off election for student government officials, Paul T. Sessions, of Birmingham, was elected president of the student body for next session by a small majority over Willard McCall, of Montgomery. Mr. Sessions will succeed Joe Sewell, of Titus, who has held the office this year.

Labor Councils Meet.

Florence.—The Labor Councils of all the trade unions of Alabama will meet in Florence the later part of this month. More than 200 delegates will be present, and the Central Trades Council of the Muscle Shoals district is planning a big reception, and an elaborate entertainment program for their guests.

Merchants Form Association.

Birmingham.—Complete organization of the Retail Merchants Association of Alabama will be undertaken at once. The new association was formed at a meeting of representative merchants from over the state in the Chamber of Commerce, and Joseph Loveman, was made president.

40 To Be Graduated.

Talladega.—Commencement exercises of Talladega College will begin Saturday, May 22, the school closing the 26th, it is announced. Rev. E. Bonar Allen, of Chicago, will deliver the baccalaureate address before the graduating class, which numbers about 40.

Mobile Port Is Busy.

Mobile.—The number of vessels arriving in the port during the month of April was 73, and the clearings were 50, which shows there was considerable activity along the river front during the past month. The total tonnage of ships arriving here was 98,167.

Bridge To Be Built.

Huntsville.—A new steel bridg will be erected by the board of revenue over Flint River on the Taylorsville-New Hope highway to replace the bridge that toppled over during the last big flood, it is announced.

Distillers Are Caught.

Gadsden.—Kyle Jackson and Henry Gamling were caught operating a distillery in Warrior beat. They entered pleas of guilty when arraigned before United States Commission Rickard.

Plans For Tennessee River Bridge.

Decatur.—At a rousing meting held here in the interest of the new bridge to be constructed across the Tennessee River 33 prominent citizens pledged themselves to take stock in the enterprise.

Crops Are Delayed.

Tuscaloosa.—Wet weather and scarcity of labor is putting farmers so far behind, it will be impossible for them to make anything like an average crop this season.

Two Cities Over Top.

Decatur.—Decatur and Athens are already over the top for the highway bridge to be constructed across the Tennessee River here, Decatur subscribing over $100,000 and Athens over $75,000.

Lookout For Alleged Imposter.

Montgomery.—National headquarters of the American Legion at Indianapolis, Ind., has notified Capt. Thomas M. Owen, acting adjutant of the Legion for Alabama, to be on the lookout for a personage, who calls himself Albert N. Depew, or Gunner Depew, alias Van Loan. This individual is declared to be a clever imposter who makes a practice of imposing on welfare organizations. He was last reported seen in Jacksonville, Fla.

Georgia Wins Debate.

University.—The University of Georgia won over the University of Alabama in the debate here on the subject of, "Resolved, That the United States should adopt some system of military training for all males between the age of 18 and 21 years for a period of not more than 12 months." The affirmative side was ably defended by Robert E. L. Spence, Jr., and W. H. Stephens, of the Georgia school, while Hugh Bradley, of Troy, and LeRoy Hodges, of Tuscaloosa, championed the negative side.

Enforce Sugar Law.

Birmingham.—Frank Spain, chairman of the Fair Price Board of North Alabama, has received a telegram from Attorney General Palmer at Washington, calling his attention to and urging him to enforce certain rules concerning sugar dealers, stating that after he had found violations of the law had been committed, licenses should be revoked. Mr. Spain also was instructed to use criminal prosecution as well.

Seamen Make Escape.

Mobile.—After a trip which was made eventful by the killing of a member of her crew while on the high seas, the steamer Lake Glitedge of the Windward Island Steamship Company, returned to Mobile. Three members of the crew, who were taken off the vessel at Key West and locked up, cahrged with inciting mutiny, which resulted in the death of a seaman, later made their escape from the prison.

To Improve Roads.

Moulton. — Arrangements were made at a meeting of the board of revenue for the employment of a road engineer to take charge of the work begun last Summer on the Moulton-Hillsboro road. With this completed in the Spring and Summer, and work done on the state highway from Decatur to Russellville by way of Moulton, the county will begin to have a fairly good road system.

Large Plantation Is Sold.

Dothan.—Announcement has just been made of the sale of the B. B. Parson's plantation on the Chattahooche River, consisting of 1,200 acres, to a North Alabama farmer. This makes four of the large river plantations to change hands within the last few months.

Nestor At Birmingport.

Mobile.—Martin Nestor, junior United States engineer, left here for Birmingham to make an inspecspection of the work being done on the turning basin at the port of Birmingham. The reports from the work show it is about 80 per cent complete.

To Choose Highway Route.

Gadsden.—A meeting of the executive committee of the Florida short route, which runs from Huntsville to the west coast of Florida, was held at Talladega May 13, to name a committee of seven to se'ect a permanent route for the highway.

To Build New "Y"

Selma. — A new Young Men's Christian Association building for Selma was practically assured here when a number of leading citizens underwrote the purchase price of the Farmers' Warehouse property for this purpose.

Terry Is Fined.

Moulton.—J. D. Terry was fired $10 and costs in all amounting to $35, in county court here for failure to comply with the compulsory attendance law during the school session just closed.

Schools Are Congested.

Gadsden.—The council has named a special committee to confer with the board of education in an effort to relieve the crowded condition of the public schols until bonds can be sold to advantage.

No Bids For Paving.

Gadsden.—Not a single bid was received for $76,000 worth of paving in Alabama City when the time arrived for letting the contract.

Bonds Easily Sold.

Talladega.—Local citizens eagerly and quickly subscribed for all of the $35,000 sewer refunding bonds recently issued by the city.

Girls' Clubs Make Perfect Record.

Auburn.—In Madison County the work of the home demonstration agent is meeting with enthusiastic response. During the week just past Miss Evelyn Peyton, of Huntsville, who has charge of the work on behalf of the Alabama Extension Service, reports live meetings at five different points in that county—Riverton, Toney, Monroeville, New Hope, and West Huntsville—at all of which places there was an average attendance of nearly 40.

Rates Are Reduced.

Montgomery. — Col. William P. Screws, president of the Alabama chapter, Rainbow Division Veterans, has been advised that round trip tickets will be provided for delegates to the national convention of Rainbow men, which is to be held in Birmingham in July. The Southeastern Passenger Association has decided the sale of these tickets on the basis of fare and one-third for the round trip, in lieu of the certificate plan previously authorized.

BIG ULCER ALL HEALED

"Here is another letter that makes me happy," says Peterson, of Buffalo. "One that I would rather have than a thousand dollars.

"Money isn't everything in this world. There is many a big hearted, rich man who would give all he has on earth to be able to produce a remedy with such mighty healing power as Peterson's Ointment, to sell at all druggists for 60 cents a large box."

Dear Sirs:—

"I was an untold sufferer from old running sore and ulcers. I had tried most everything without any relief from pain. A friend told me of your wonderful ointment and the first box took away the pain that had not left me before in years, and after using just nine dollars' worth of the salve I am cured. The ulcer was 9 inches by 6½ inches, is all healed and I can walk. Never, never will I be without Peterson's again.

"You may use this to recommend your ointment, if you wish. I cannot say enough to praise it." Yours truly, Mrs. Albert Southcott, Medina, N. Y. Mail orders filled by Peterson Ointment Co., Inc., Buffalo, N. Y.

Unqualified Indorsement.

"Are you in favor of votes for women?"

Honey Yield Higher.

The average yield of surplus honey in 1919 was 50 pounds to a colony of honey bees, as estimated by the bureau of crop estimates, United States department of agriculture. This is considerably above average of 45 pounds in 1918, and of 41 6-10 pounds for the five years 1913-1917. The relative proportions in which the honey of the last two years was marketed are indicated by 59 for extracted honey, 31 for comb honey and 10 for bulk honey. About one-third of the product goes to "outside" markets.

Wild Beasts' Toll in India.

Not a day passes of your own life but somewhere in India some 50 people have died through the action of wild beasts. It is not to be supposed that efforts are not made to destroy these monsters. Standing rewards are offered by the government for the killing of all the more dangerous types. But so wild and impenetrable are their sanctuaries that it is impossible to do anything except to keep their number within bounds in the more populous territories.

Highway Improvement

KEEP ROADS IN GOOD REPAIR

Farmer Can Make Much Improvement by Dragging Highway in Front of His Property.

Every farmer should feel his dependence upon good roads. Whether or not one lives on a public highway he should take an interest in the nearest one to his farm or the road he must use to market his farm, orchard and garden products.

There are many times when a day's work can be spared on the road. After heavy rains the road may need certain repairs or improvements when the overseer is not ready to call out the hands. Why not individual farmers donate a day's work on the road at such time?

By keeping a road drag and dragging the road along one's land after heavy rains the road may be greatly improved. It is an easy matter to have an agreement so each farmer will drag the road in front of his farm. This would maintain the road till the regular hands could be called out at stated intervals or till the commissioner could make the necessary repairs.

The time has come when we must consider the roads an asset, indispensable to the well-being of the farmer and his family. This being true, is it not every man's duty to do all he can to keep the roads in good condition? The individual as well as the county is responsible.

RECORDS PROMISED IN 1920

Millions to Be Spent in Improving Public Highways and Transportation Facilities.

The year 1920 promises to develop a revolution in America's two great problems—highways and transportation.

All over the country great interest is being manifested in better roads and improved transportation facilities.

The coming of the pneumatic-tired motortruck has given an impetus to the movement for a national highway system that is sweeping everything before it.

State after state has passed, without noticeable opposition, appropriations for millions of dollars to build and improve main market and intercounty highways.

What these activities portend can be visualized in some measure when it is said that of the 2,000,000 miles of roads in this country only 200,000 miles are improved.

Motor transports work at highest efficiency on good roads, although the pneumatic truck tire is rendering conspicuous service in transporting heavy loads over swamp ground and the sandy soil of fruit groves.

GOOD ROADS AID APPEARANCE

Farmstead Buildings on Improved Highways Found in Better Shape and Fences Kept Up.

Have you ever compared the farmstead on an improved highway with one on a dirt road? Why in the former are the buildings in so much better shape, the fences up and in a state of repair, the fields spick and span, the house grounds well kept and hedges trimmed, while in the latter the buildings are unpainted? Strange as it may seem, the difference is caused by the road.

VARIOUS KINDS OF HIGHWAYS

Each Community Should Select Type That Can Be Built and Maintained at Lowest Cost.

There are various types of roads that last, and each community should choose the type that can be built and maintained at the least expense. For some communities it may be gravel for others concrete, for others sand-clay roads. But in every community there should be good roads every day in the year.

ALFALFA ENEMY IS DRIVEN BACK

Effective and Cheap Method of Stopping Injury by Pest Has Been Found.

CROP TREATED BY SPRAYING

Net Saving on Demonstration Fields of 4,263 Acres Totaled $41,371 at Cost of $1.50 Per Acre—Power Pumps Used.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

The alfalfa weevil in some sections not only causes financial loss but even threatens actual ruin. Heretofore the control methods were only partially successful. Flooding the alfalfa fields, cultivating them when dry, and dragging them with a brush harrow seemed to check this pest only in a measure. Also, the growth of a second cutting was so delayed and often so short that the crop as a whole was much reduced.

Stop Destructiveness of Pest.

Work by the Salt Lake City office of the bureau of entomology showed that best results came from spraying the alfalfa fields with a solution of arsenate of lead when the larvae of the weevil were doing the greatest amount of damage on the first crop. Demonstrations were held in various sections of the Great Salt Lake valley in cooperation with the county agricultural agents. During 1919 this work was extended and the demonstrations carried forward by the county agents indicate that an effective and cheap method of stopping the destructiveness of this pest has been found.

Save by Spraying.

During the past year 4,263 acres of alfalfa were treated by spraying, and it is estimated that the net saving on these demonstration fields totals $41,371. By this method the first crop of hay is saved. The cost is only about $1.50 an acre, as but two pounds of arsenate of lead are mixed with 100 gallons of water and applied at this rate to an acre of alfalfa. Power pumps which force the spray through extension nozzles make it possible to apply a fine, driving spray over a wide strip quickly and effectively.

The demonstrations proved a considerable increase in the production of hay to the acre. This sometimes amounted to from 1,500 to 2,000 pounds. In Sevier county, Utah, demonstrations conducted on 1,700 acres showed an average increase of 800 pounds an acre. At the prevailing price of alfalfa hay, $20 a ton, the resulting saving should total $13,600 in that county alone.

County agents and farmers in other counties in Utah also report that when normal conditions prevailed last year the spraying of alfalfa proved to be cheap, practical and effective.

FARMER IS MORE EFFICIENT

Average Corn Yield in Last Half Century Is 14½ Bushels Per Farmer's Workday.

Corn production averaged little more than two bushels per farmer's workday of ten hours in the middle of the last century, when he husked and shelled by hand and turned the crank of a fodder cutter. The average rose to 14½ bushels half a century later when he used a gang plow, disk harrow, corn planter, self-binder for cutting, husker and fodder cutter, and a shelling machine, says the United States department of agriculture. Besides, there has been improvement in agriculture. If the corn was husked from standing stalks and these left in the field, and the corn was not shelled, the gain in production per day of farmer's labor was from 10 bushels in the earlier time to 26½ bushels in the later.

PROPER FEED AT FARROWING

Thick Slop of Ground Oats and Little Oilmeal Is Preferred by Many Hog Raisers.

Many hog raisers who use corn as the main part of their feed most of the time, do not feed corn just before or just after farrowing. "The last two months before farrowing I don't feed any corn, but give a thick slop of ground oats and a little oilmeal," says one man. "I cut down the feed just before farrowing and do not feed any more until the pigs are about a day old."

HURT ALL OVER COULDN'T SLEEP

Suffered So Much and So Long, Indiana Lady Became Discouraged, and at Times Cared Little to Live.

Leavenworth, Ind.—Mrs. Hannah Peru, of this town, writes: "About six years ago I began the use of Cardui for female weakness. I suffered such fearful bearing-down pains at . . . It seemed like something was just pressing on the top of my head and it burned like fire. I was, indeed, a nervous wreck.

"For four years I couldn't do my housework. I was in bed most of the time. . . . I got so discouraged, and at times I wanted to die, I was in so much pain. At times I hurt all over. . . . At night I was restless and couldn't sleep. I had no appetite, in fact was a misery to myself and every one else.

"I continued in this condition until finally I began Cardui . . . Took Cardui regularly until I took a number of bottles. It cured me. I cannot say too much for this treatment, and highly recommend it to others."

For more than forty years Cardui has proven beneficial to suffering women.

HARLEQUIN CABBAGE BUG INJURES CROPS

Attacks Cauliflower and Various Other Vegetables.

First Appearing Insects Should Be Killed Before They Have Chance to Breed—Clean Up Old Stalks and Rubbish.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

The cabbage crop of many states suffers severe losses from the ravages of the harlequin cabbage bug. The affected plants wilt and die soon after attack as though swept by fire, hence the name "fire bug." This bug, which also is called "calico back" and "terrapin bug," also injures cauliflower, kale, turnip, radish, and other cole crops, and after destroying fields of these, attacks various other vegetables. Several generations are produced each year.

Cleaning up the cabbage stalks and other remnants as soon as the crop is off, preventing the growth of weeds and the accumulation of rubbish, using trap crops of mustard, rape, or other early crop, burning over infested patches and fields, and destroying the insects by means of a hand torch and other mechanical measures, are the best methods of control, according to Farmers' Bulletin 1061, "Harlequin Cabbage Bug and Its Control," recently issued by the United States department of agriculture.

The first appearing bugs should be killed before they have a chance to breed, or if the fields become infested later the bugs should be destroyed late in the season so as to leave fewer to survive the winter.

Co-operation with others who grow cole crops is an absolute necessity in dealing successfully with this pest.

The new bulletin may be obtained free, as long as the supply lasts, on application to the department.

RIGHT TIME TO APPLY LIME

If Badly Needed It May Be Spread on Winter Wheat in Spring and Lightly Harrowed.

The best time to apply lime is when land is being prepared for wheat in fall. It should be spread on the plowed ground and harrowed in. Liming corn land that is to be followed by a grain crop with clover is also good practice. If lime is badly needed it may be spread on the winter wheat in the spring and lightly harrowed in. It will not be as effective as if it had been put on last fall but it will help some. If clover is to be seeded with a spring grain crop, lime can be applied when preparing the land for this crop.

The precise amount of lime to use in each case can be determined only by chemical means, and the various methods for determining the lime requirement of soils do not always yield uniform results, says the United States department of agriculture. For the farmer the response of the clover crop is the best test. By liming a field at two or three rates and leaving a strip unlimed the farmer can get clover to tell the story itself. As a general rule, which is useful as a starting point, two tons of ground limestone or one ton of burnt lime an acre will put most land in shape to grow clover.

DEVELOPMENT OF MARKETING

Improvement Must Continue to Come Through Better Methods and Procedure.

Marketing machinery is a product of evolution; any improvement must continue to come gradually through better mthods and procedure and not through setting up instantly a perfectly efficient and automatically operated new marketing machine. Market experts in the United States department of agriculture point out that the worker in the field of marketing can assist in the development of better marketing practices just as the worker in the field of production has assisted, and is now assisting, in the improvement of general practices.

"A printer informed me recently what the 'Evansville Bar association' really is," said Joseph H. Igleheart, secretary of the Evansville association.

Mr. Igleheart recently ordered printed a number of licenses to be granted to members of the association. When a copy of the proof was shown him, he discovered that the words "Evansville Bar association" were in unusually large type.

"What do you think these licenses are for—saloonkeepers?" inquired Igleheart of the printer.

"Why, certainly; what else does the word 'bar' mean?" was the printer's response.—Indianapolis News.

A Clean Sweeper.

Frank A. Munsey, who has now added the Gordon Bennett newspapers to his long string, is a very critical employer, and many a clean sweep occurs in his various offices.

It is said that a visitor called at one of Munsey's offices and asked the office boy if Scribbs, the reporter, was in.

"I dunno," said the boy. "I ain't seen today's reporters yet."

Allot Land to Eskimos.

It is announced from Ottawa that the Canadian government has decided to reserve for the remnant of the Eskimos a small part of the territory over which they formerly ranged at will in the varying pursuits of fishing and hunting. The reservation is to consist of Banks and Victoria islands, north of the vast region, wide as the continent, known as the Northwest territory, and far north of the arctic circle.

From this reservation, and apparently the waters immediately adjacent to it, the white hunters are to be excluded; and those who have begun operations on Banks island will be ousted. Thus the resources needed to sustain Eskimo life will be reserved for the Eskimo.

He will say to you "Take home a box of Hunt's Salve and if it is not successful in the treatment of itching skin diseases, I will promptly refund to you your 75 cents."

Hunt's Salve is especially compounded for the treatment of Itch, Eczema, Ringworm, Tetter, and other itching skin diseases.

The General Manager of the Lida Valley Railway Co., Goldfield, Nevada, A. D. Goodenough, writes: "At one time I had a very bad case of Eczema, which troubled me for seven or eight years, and although I tried all kinds of medicine and several doctors, I got no relief until I used Hunt's Salve. It finally cured me.

Thousands of such letters have been received, testifying as to the curative merits of this wonderful remedy.

Don't fail to ask your druggist about Hunt's Salve, formerly called Hunt's Cure. Show him this ad, and ask him if the statements herein made are not correct.

Sold by all reputable druggists everywhere at 75 cents per box, or sent direct on receipt of stamps or money order.

SOME MORE ABOUT THE PRESENT POLITICAL SITUATION

There has been a letter circulated throughout the county in the past week by J. B. Atkinson in regard to his candidacy for Delegate to the National Republican Convention from Fourth Congressonal District of Alabama. We presume Mr. Atkinson intended that the people should take his letter as an explanation of his position in matters of recent political developement in the county; but his real purpose was TO KEEP THEM FROM KNOWING his position, and his letter was intended to help draw the veil over his actions and associations during the time he has been working in the interest of his candidacy.

Mr. Atkinson says he was approached by me and that I asked him to withdraw his candidacy, etc. I did approach Mr. Atkinson in regard to the matter just as I did many other Republicans, and my purpose was to try to talk the situation over with him and see if some conclusion could not be reached whereby the ranks of the party might be drawn together and the contentions over the matter in question eliminated. I did not ask Mr. Atkinson to get out of the race, and I did not care whether he got out or stayed in, so far as I was personally concerned. I did not care whether he was acceptable or objectionable to other Republicans. I did not care who might be a candidate for Probate Judge two years from now.

What I did really care for was the unity, and perpetuation of the best interests of the Republican party, without personal consideration of myself, Mr. Atkinson, Mr. Harris, Judge Reynolds or Mr. M. D. Foshee or anybody else.

But I had not talked with Mr. Atkinkson very long before I found that he was solely interested in his own advancement in the ranks of the party and not caring what became of the rest When I had gone over the situation as I saw it and given my honest opinion, the only answer he gave me was that all Reynolds and Marion Foshee wanted was some way to beat him. He did not manifest any consideration of my appeal to get him to help me preserve the harmony of the party.

I told him then (early Monday morning) that Judge Reynolds had been petitioned to get in the race for delegate, but would decline because he had reached the conclusion that it would be for the best interests of the party for him to stay out. I did not ask Mr. Atkinson to get out of the race; but as Judge Reynolds had been willing to place the interests of the party ahead of his own and decline to allow his name to be used and cause any division, I did think then and I yet think that if Mr. Atkinson had cared more for the interests of the party than he did for his own advancement he had the chance of his life to show it. Mr. Atkinson knew when I was talking to him that he did not have the endorsement of the solid Republican party of Chilton county in his aspirations. But he chose to hold to his few followers and make the supreme effort to force his election on the Republicans of the county whether they wanted him or not.

Now, in conclusion, a word in regard to my candidacy for delegate to the national convention. My reason for getting into the race was announced in last week's paper. The names of the men who asked me to offer my services to the party in that respect were published. Again I say that if I can be of service to the party, I am ready for you to use me in any way that I can serve. When my name goes before the convention here Friday I want to assure you that it means that I offer myself for the interests of the Republican party of Chilton County, with even consideration for all the members of the party. I am not any one's candidate. I am not pledged to any man's interests. I am for the whole party, and nothing but the party, all of us alike and on an even basis.

I trust that the Republican Convention here next Friday will do what is best for the Republican party, whether it endorses me for delegate to the national convention or not.

W. M. WYATT.

DO YOU KNOW WHY?

We would like to know why it was that several Republicans throughout the county did not get their copies of The Union-Banner last week. Can you tell us?

We have heard of Democrats and Catholics throwing papers out of the mails to prevent the circulation of things that were objectionable to them, but we never dreamed of Republicans doing such a thing.

RESULTS OF THE PRIMARY

At the time of closing our forms for the press late Wednesday evening, we were able to secure only indefinite returns from the primary election Tuesday. The latest figures showed that J. T. Rockett was leading the race for Tax Collector with Mims close in second. Culp was third and Collins fourth.

Mr. Wiley Littlejohn seems to have been nominated over his only opponent, Mr. Vinson, for Commissioner of the Fourth District.

Mr. C. T. Walker was leading the race for Commissioner of the Third District with Abbott coming second and Herrod third.

The vote in the primary was probably the lightest the Republicans have polled here in years. The cause of the light vote was that it was a good day for working on the farms of the county and the people took advantage of it owing to the fact that they are already away behind with their work.

Figures for the official count will be published next week.

SALVATION ARMY DRIVE

The people of Clanton have come to the front in the drive for the Salvation army by raising a good sum for this noble organization. You may may hear some criticism of other agencies in the recent World War, but it is very seldom that you ever hear one word against the Salvation Army.

Let those who are engaged in the drive keep up their work until May 20, 1920. Much work is being done for the drive in Verbena, Mt. Creek, Cooper, Jemison, Maplesville, Stanton, and Macedonia Community.

Let those who are in charge of the work in their respective communities send their amounts in next Monday, May 17th to Mrs. F. B. Collier, Clanton, Ala.

Charley Reynolds of Birmingham was here Monday taking in the closing scenes of the Primary campaign. Charley stays out of Chilton county most of the time but he keeps up his interest in our politics, and always comes back here to cast his vote.

W. T. Womble of Mt. Creek was a visitor to Clanton Monday.

THORSBY ITEMS

Chas. A. Peterson was a Birmingham visitor Friday of last week.

Strawberry season will be very short here this year. The late frost killed many of the blooms. Also a recent heavy rain caused many of the berries to rot in the field. The outlook for a good price is bright.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Anderson and boys spent a few days last week with Mrs. Anderson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. A. Peterson.

The Thorsby Cotton Mill site has about been decided upon. The directors, after considering different locations, prices of land etc., decided to have the new factory built on the J. M. Pate property about 50 rods south-east of the depot. This location was the most desirable to at least 70 per cent of the stockholders.

The following are the officers and directors of the Thorsby Cotton Mill:

Chas. A. Lucas, President; G. L. Foshee, Vice-President; E. W. Butler, Secretary and Treasurer; Lloyd Shinn Manager. Directors, W. H. Goodgame, G. W. Freeman, Dr. Sterling G. Wood, M. J. Soberg, J. R. Martin, J. M. Mims, Robert Johnson.

Our local garage has changed hands. Joe Littlejohn and Son being successors to Sundburg Brothers.

Quite a number of Thorsby people took in the all day singing at Minooka Sunday.

Ivy Horn spent Sunday with his family here. Mr. Horn at present is employed in Birmingham.

George Horslay and family of Boyles visited friends and relatives here Sunday.

State Bank Examiner Strange, was with us a few days last week looking over the books and finding out the condition of our bank. From reliable sources we learn that he found the bank in No. 1 condition, and was well pleased in the manner in which it was being conducted. Our directors and cashier are to be congratulated on the fine showing the bank has made.

Oscar Farrington and family were visiting friends and relatives here on last Sunday.

Miss Essie Parker and Mr. Phil Parker left Sunday morning for Birmingham to meet their brother, James Parker, who has been recently discharged from the army.

Mrs. Sam Adams at the present writing has somewhat improved from her fall of some weeks ago.

Dr. Sterling G. Wood went to Birmingham Monday and purchased himself a nice new flivver.

Father Coyle of the Saint Paul Catholic Church of Birmingham was a visitor to Thorsby last week. We do not think anyone sent for him, and we are quite sure the majority of the people would be pleased if he had stayed away from here entirely.

Dr. McNeil of Jemison was a visitor here Tuesday.

At a mass meeting held here Tuesday, Republicans elected D. H. Gentry and L. E. Diefenderfer to represent Beat 9 at the County Convention May 14th.

ADAMS NEWS.

Health here is very good. The people are almost done planting.

Mr. Tom Houston and wife from Birmingham have been visiting his mother, but have returned home.

Mr. and Mrs. John Ramsey are the proud parents of a big baby boy, whom they have named Woodward.

The musical entertainment at Mr. W. H. Foshee's Saturday night was enjoyed by all, both young and old. Mr. Kelley from Fremont made the music.

Women!

Here is a message to suffering women, from Mrs. W. T. Price, of Public, Ky.: "I suffered with painful...", she writes. "I got down with a weakness in my back and limbs...I felt helpless and discouraged...I had about given up hopes of ever being well again, when a friend insisted I

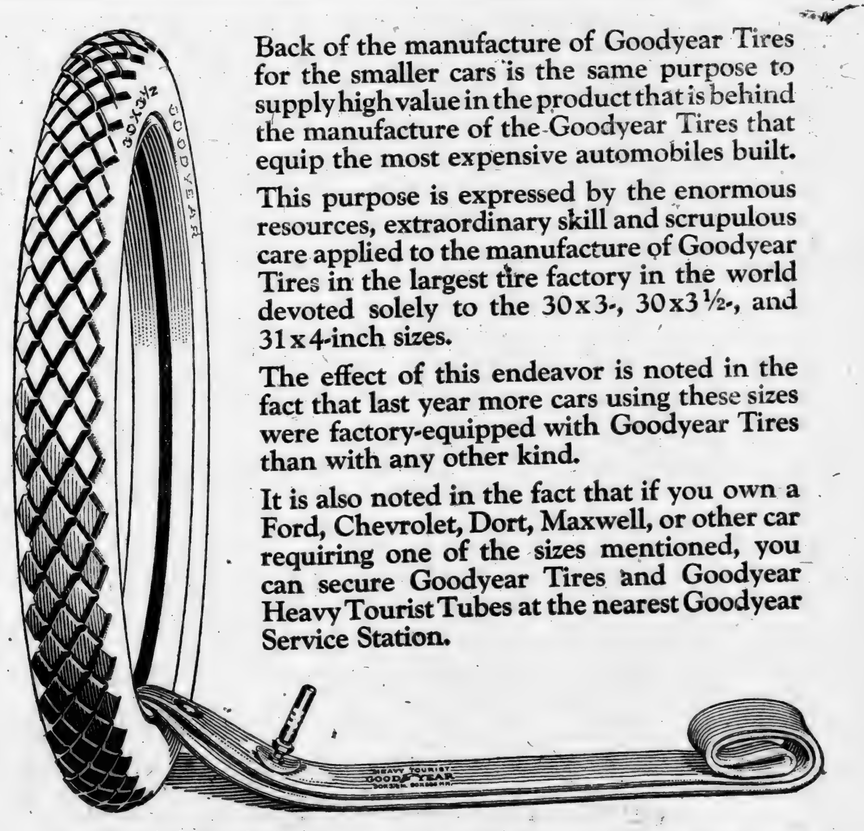
Big Value in Tires for The Smaller Cars



Back of the manufacture of Goodyear Tires for the smaller cars is the same purpose to supply high value in the product that is behind the manufacture of the Goodyear Tires that equip the most expensive automobiles built.

This purpose is expressed by the enormous resources, extraordinary skill and scrupulous care applied to the manufacture of Goodyear Tires in the largest tire factory in the world devoted solely to the 30x3-, 30x3½-, and 31x4-inch sizes.

The effect of this endeavor is noted in the fact that last year more cars using these sizes were factory-equipped with Goodyear Tires than with any other kind.

It is also noted in the fact that if you own a Ford, Chevrolet, Dort, Maxwell, or other car requiring one of the sizes mentioned, you can secure Goodyear Tires and Goodyear Heavy Tourist Tubes at the nearest Goodyear Service Station.

30x3½ Goodyear Single-Cure Fabric, Anti-Skid Tread..... $21.50

Goodyear Heavy Tourist Tubes are thick, strong tubes that reinforce casings properly. Why risk a good casing with a cheap tube? Goodyear Heavy Tourist Tubes cost little more than tubes of less merit. 30x3½ size in waterproof bag..... $4.50

INTERNAL REVENUE NOTICE

Birmingham, Ala, May 5, 1920

Hon. J. L. Gore, Sheriff of Chilton County, Ala., Clanton, Ala.

Dear Sir:—No internal revenue licenses have bee n issued in your county this month.

I hereby certify that I have carefully examined the record of the Collector of Internal Revenue and the above is true and correct.

Yours truly,
SAM P. JONES,

Sworn to and subscribed before me this first day of May, 1920.

J. B. MOSLEY, N. P.

Things change in Clanton just as they do everywhere else. If you do not believe it just ask Fenn Jones. Mr. Jones came here just eighteen years ago the first of this month, and he says there are only two business houses here now that were here when he first put up his hardware store in Clanton. They are The Peoples Savings Bank and J. R. Broadhead.

Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Williams, and Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Williams, and Mr. Ernest Williams spent the day with their sister, Mrs. Vera Parrish, out at Lock 12, last Wednesday.

IT FELT LIKE MY BACK WOULD BREAK

Dull, Aching Pains over Kidneys, Pains in Joints and Muscles made Life miserable for this Anniston Man.

"I've stayed on my job many a time with my back aching like it would break," said Mr. C. T. Morris, the well known Machcinist of South Anniston, Ala.

"I think my kodneys were at fault but no medicine I ever took helped me much. Every turn or movement gaev me pain, and bending over or lifting anything heavy was especially painful.

"I also had a bad case of stomachc trouble. After eating I'd have a full heavy feeling and would belchc gas. My bowels were constipated and my liver lazy, which gave me a tired, dull feeling every morning, making me grouchy. I was often dizzy and could see spots dancing before my eyes. My tongue was coated and my breath foul.

After taking Dreco I am happy to a great change in my feeing. I cant eat anythingI want with no fear of gas or bloating as my stomach digests anything perfectly. Iknow my liver has been cleaned off thoroughly for those headaches;dizzy sfells, tired dnll grouchy feeling of mornings have gone, and I get up fresh and full of energy, ready for bi work. The back ache has been entirely relieved and the soreness in the joints and muscles gone. I believe in Dreco very strongly and have induced several friends to take it on account of what it did for me."

All good druggists now sell Dreco and it is being especially introduced in Clanton by Upchurch Drug Co.

"Ziron Did Us Both Good," Writes Mr. Gentry, of Norene, Tenn.

It is a well-known medical fact, that iron is a necessary constituent of the blood, and that blood lacking iron is the cause of many troubles that only iron will cure.

Ziron, a scientific compound of iron with other valuable ingredients, is the remedy to take when your blood needs more iron, and your system requires a tonic. Ziron is mild and harmless, does not stain the teeth, and is good for children as well as adults.

Mr. P. G. Gentry, of Norene, Tenn., writes: "Ziron Iron Tonic has made good in my family. I have used it to a very great advantage to myself and my 14-year-old boy. It did us both good. I think it is a good medicine for what it is recommended."

If you are pale, weak, tired, feel down and out, take Ziron. It will put iron into your blood, and should help build you up.

Get a bottle from your druggist today, and give ZIRON a fair trial. Sold by him under a money-back guarantee.

Ask him about it. He will tell you.

Sure, we have the Linoleums and Mattings you need.

Mrs. Homelover:—

Half of the work of the home, you know is in the kitchen. Then have on your kitchen floors our new, bright linoleum and lessen your labor. This will be worth more in comfort and cleanliness than the cost.

And we have for you the mattings you need. They won't cost you much in our store, because—Our QUALITY is always HIGH; our PRICC is always LOW.

ASPIRIN

Introduced by "Bayer" to Physicians in 1900

You want genuine Aspirin—the Aspirin prescribed by physicians for nineteen years. The name "Bayer" means the true, world-famous Aspirin, proved safe by millions of people.

Each unbroken package of "Bayer Tablets of Aspirin" contains proper directions for Colds, Headache, Toothache, Earache, Neuralgia, Lumbago, Rheumatism, Neuritis and for Pain generally.

Always say "Bayer" when buying Aspirin. Then look for the safety "Bayer Cross" on the package and on the tablets.

Handy tin boxes of twelve tablets cost but a few cents. Druggists also sell larger packages.

Aspirin is trade mark of Bayer Manufacture Monoaceticacidester of Salicylicacid

Stomach Troubles Made Him Feel Sick at Meal Times, But Now Always Enjoys His Meals.

DO YOU enjoy your meals? Eat without the dread of the after-effects?

Lack of appetite and a disagreeable, sick-at-the-stomach feeling after meals, usually indicate that your digestive organs are not working properly. As a result, you will feel weak, lose weight and lack the energy that is to be derived from well-digested food.

A valuable help in correcting such conditions is mentioned by the Rev. E. K. McKenzie, Route 1, Section, Ala., who writes: "I had stomach troubles. When I would go to eat, I would turn sick. I took one bottle of Ziron, and it cured me. Am always ready for my meals and enjoy them. I think it is a fine medicine."

If your food hurts you, if your appetite is poor, if you are pale, weak and run-down, and have other symptoms that indicate your system needs help, try Ziron. It will put iron into your blood and help build you up. Take it according to directions, and if not benefited by the first bottle, the money back guarantee will protect you.

For more than Forty Years Cotton Growers have known that

POTASH PAYS

More than 11,651,200 Tons of Potash Salts had been imported and used in the United States in the 20 years previous to January, 1915, when shipments ceased. Of this 6,460,700 Tons consisted of which the cotton grower knew was both a plant food and a preventive of blight and rust,—with it came also 1,312,400 Tons of which has the same effects on Cotton, but which was used mainly in mixed fertilizers.

Shipments of both Kainit and Manure Salt have been resumed but the shortage of coal and cars and high freight rates make it more desirable to ship Manure Salt, which contains 20 per cent of actual Potash, instead of Kainit, which contains less than 13 per cent actual Potash.

MANURE SALT can be used as a side dressing on Cotton in just the same way as Kainit and will give the same results. Where you used 100 pounds of Kainit, you need to use but 62 pounds of Manure Salt, or 100 pounds of Manure Salt go as far as 161 pounds of Kainit.

MANURE SALT has been coming forward in considerable amounts and cotton growers, who cannot secure Kainit, should make an effort to get Manure Salt for side dressing to aid in making a big Cotton Crop.

Muriate of Potash

50 per cent actual Potash, has been coming forward also,—100 pounds of Muriate are equivalent to 400 pounds of Kainit or 250 pounds of Manure Salt.

These are the three

that were always used in making cotton fertilizers and have been used for all these years with great profit and without any damage to the crop.

The supply is not at present as large as in former years, but there is enough to greatly increase the Cotton Crop if you insist on your dealer making the necessary effort to get it for you.

SUITABLE TAFFETAS FOR SUMMER WEAR

THERE are so many pretty taffeta dresses this season, made up in so many ways, that it seems almost an entire wardrobe might be assembled from among them, if all other fabrics were barred. Then, to add to their diversity, designers have hit upon combinations of taffeta and organdie, taffeta, and net, and taffeta and lace.

An example of original and beautiful designing, the dress at the left of the two shown above will interest every lover of taffeta. Its bodice is cut on kimono lines but departs from them with a wide flare in elbow sleeves and its fastening at the back. It has a round neck and extends six or eight inches below the waistline. The skirt at the front forms a panel extending a little way above the waist and merging into the bodice in a "V"-shaped opening outlined with embroidery in silk. In the back it terminates at the waist line.

The bodice forms a narrow yoke at each side over the hips and the skirt is fastened to the yoke in a series of pencil folds, bordered with a narrow band of silk in a lighter shade than the frock. This light silk faces the sleeves that are turned back to reveal it and gathered under a small disk of embroidery above the facing. An unexpected detail in the management of this frock is the harem skirt gathering at the bottom.

Another pretty taffeta, shown at the right, is made on more familiar lines but contrives to be just as pleasing as its rival. Its bodice with turned-back elbow sleeves has a group of small tucks at each side and a soft girdle that fastens under one large ornament at the right side. Narrow frills of the taffeta, set on in bands at the front and back and across the hips at the side, make a charming trimming. A frill of lace about the round neck provides a youthful neck dress. Necks in this style invite the use of beautiful old lace collars shaped to fit them and already they have made their appearance.

For Matrons---Brilliant Hats

MODISTES and costumers may make clothes in greater variety and quantity for young women than for matrons, but it is the matron's outfitting that gives them most concern.

In the province of millinery the designing of matrons' hats is of such importance that gifted men and women give all their time to it. In the group shown here four semi-dress hats are pictured.

The hat at the top of the group is a spirited shape of brilliant black straw that recalls the Napoleon. The high luster of the braid and the lines in the shape, are both contributors to the smart style of this model, which is less trimmed than any of its companions. It has an ornament made of long glycerined ostrich flues and cellophane foliage.

The handsome turban of black moire ribbon and a jet ornament at the left of the group is a Russian inspiration in which very rich ribbon is very cleverly draped over a frame. This is a handsome hat, with plenty of character that might be made in any rich color or in black. Facing it a familiar straw shape is almost covered with very large, flat silk blossoms partly veiled with malines; those on top of the crown give it additional height. A shape of string-colored braid with blue or American Beauty shades in the trimming would be handsome, the malines in the same color as the hat; or the flowers might be in several colors.

The last hat is built on a shape of lisere braid, which may be imagined in dark blue or brown or black, with a very high drapery of "hairnet" cloth wired to sweep upward and backward veiling a few handsome roses in natural shades. A collar of ribbon with bow at the left side, completes an ideal of becoming smartness in matrons' hats. This hair-net cloth is a novelty in millinery materials that is specially well suited to hats for older women.

MORALE AIDED BY MUSIC

Fact Brought Out by the War Bound to Have Great Effect on Future Generations.

"Music makes morale," and promptly music was enlisted in the war. Song leaders were appointed at all the training camps and immediately the glory of real music was spread before the millions of men as a reinforcement and aid to the idealism which had brought them into the war.

From then on the soldiers had music individually, in masses, in groups. They made it themselves, it was made for them by our finest artists. They had phonographs. They had records by the millions. The process of musical education was swift, and the pupils were apt. Now they have returned to us men who know good music as a large part of their life and entertainment, have become reasonably apt performers themselves in a great many cases. What must this mean to the country? It must mean that the people as a whole are readier than ever before to listen to it as well as to be taught it.

Action the Main Thing.

PERU'S DRIFTING SAND DUNES

Plateau Shelf Has Strange Crescent Shaped Formations That Are Packed Hard.

As one makes the ascent of the Andes from the Pacific port of Mollendo, Peru, following the line of the Southern of Peru railway, the climb to the divide is broken by two great steps or widespreading shelves of desert or pampa.

On the first of these steps, about two hours' steep climb from the sea and at an altitude of from four thousand to five thousand feet, are located the famous drifting sand hills of Peru. The plateau is here about twenty miles wide, the air thin and dry and no trace of vegetation to be seen, on these gigantic crescent-shaped sand dunes dotting the pampa as far as the eye can see.

Composed of fine gray crystal sand they gleam white against the brown of the desert, and their horns point toward the prevailing south wind of this region. They are from fifteen to twenty feet in breadth across the thick part of the crescent and sometimes one hundred feet from horn to horn. So tightly is the sand packed that the feet of the horses or mules make little impression on it.

The DAIRY

INSPECTION AIDS EXPORTER

Federal Certificates of Importance as They Guarantee Shipments Meet Requirements.

An illustration of the important service which inspectors of perishable food, representing the bureau of markets, United States department of agriculture, are able to render exporters, is found in the work recently done in connection with the shipment abroad of 4,000,000 pounds of butter. This butter was destined for one of the European countries, but because previous uninspected shipments had not come up to specifications, the exporting house, to protect itself against further complaints, requested United States government inspection. This insured delivery of butter of the quality called for in its contracts. The bureau of markets' inspectors were called on to certify the grade of the butter which was held in Minneapolis, Chicago, Boston, Philadelphia and New York warehouses. These are the points at which butter inspectors are regularly stationed.

The inspections were made as requested, and such lots as did not come up to the stipulated score were withheld, while the rest was started on its way. From this incident it appears that federal inspection certificates are proving of value to exporters, since they guarantee that the shipments concerned fully meet specific requirements—an important factor in promoting foreign trade relations. Likewise, the industry as a whole benefits from federal inspection because through it the produce obtains favorable standing in foreign markets.

COWS REPAY GENEROUS FEED

Animals Take Raw Materials and Work Them Over Into Milk—Dispose of Shirkers.

The cow must be regarded as a sort of living machine. She takes the raw materials given her in the form of feed and works them over into milk. If the supply of proper materials is small, the output will be small. The cow that will not repay generous feeding should be disposed of and one bought that will. There are, of course certain inbred characteristics or natural qualities which even liberal feeding cannot overcome.

BALANCED RATION FOR COWS

New York Farmers Feed Oats, Gluten, Bran and Cottonseed Meal in Combination.

A balanced ration for dairy cows, used largely by New York farmers who feed silage, hay and some corn fodder for roughage, consists of 200 pounds ground oats, 200 pounds gluten, 100 pounds bran and 100 pounds cottonseed meal. Considering nutritive value it is about the cheapest ration a farmer can buy.

TAKING CREAM TO CREAMERY

Should Be Done Early in Morning and Not Less Than Three Times a Week in Summer.

Deliver the cream to the creamery or cream station early in the morning, and not less than three times a week during the summer, and twice a week during the winter. Protect the cans of cream from the sun by covering with canvas or with a wet sack while en route.

CREDIT IS GIVEN DAIRY COW

Food Value of Milk in One Animal Equal to That in Bodies of Five Heavy Steers.

Professor Haecker and Professor Eckles of the station, after years of work upon this problem, report that the food value in the milk of a good dairy cow in one year is equal to the food value in the bodies of five steers weighing 1,100 pounds each.

If You Need a Medicine You Should Have the Best

Have you ever stopped to reason why it is that so many products that are extensively advertised, all at once drop out of sight and are soon forgotten? The reason is plain—the article did not fulfill the promises of the manufacturer. This applies more particularly to a medicine. A medicinal preparation that has real curative value almost sells itself, as like an endless chain system the remedy is recommended by those who have been benefited, to those who are in need of it.

A prominent druggist says "Take for example Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, a preparation I have sold for many years and never hesitate to recommend, for in almost every case it shows excellent results, as many of my customers testify. No other kidney remedy has so large a sale."

According to sworn statements and verified testimony of thousands who have used the preparation, the success of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is due to the fact, so many people claim, that it fulfills almost every wish in overcoming kidney, liver and bladder ailments; corrects urinary troubles and neutralizes the uric acid which causes rheumatism.

You may receive a sample bottle of Swamp-Root by Parcels Post. Address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., and enclose ten cents; also mention this paper. Large and medium size bottles for sale at all drug stores.—Adv.

Catarrhal Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure Catarrhal Deafness, and that is by a constitutional remedy. HALL'S CATARRH MEDICINE acts through the Blood on the Mucous Surfaces of the System. Catarrhal Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result. Unless the inflammation can be reduced and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing may be destroyed forever. Many cases of Deafness are caused by Catarrh, which is an inflamed condition of the Mucous Surfaces.

DODSON STOPS SALE OF CALOMEL

"Dodson's Liver Tone" is Taking Place of Dangerous, Sickening Chemical, Say Druggists

Every druggist in town has noticed a great falling off in the sale of calomel. They all give the same reason. Dodson's Liver Tone is taking its place.

"Calomel is dangerous and people know it." Dodson's Liver Tone is personally guaranteed by every druggist who sells it. A large bottle doesn't cost very much but if it fails to give easy relief in every case of liver sluggishness and constipation, just ask for your money back.

Dodson's Liver Tone is a pleasant-tasting, purely vegetable remedy, harmless to both children and adults. Take a spoonful at night and wake up feeling fine; no biliousness, sick headache, acid stomach or constipated bowels. It doesn't gripe or cause inconvenience all the next day like violent calomel. Take a dose of calomel today and tomorrow you will feel weak, sick and nauseated. Don't lose a day.—Adv.

DEW HAS VITALIZING EFFECT

Abundant Proof That It Possesses Invigorating Action That Affects Growth of Plants.

Dew is vitalizing, not entirely because it is water but because it possesses an invigorating action due partly at any rate to the fact that it is saturated with oxygen, and it has been stated that during its formation peroxide of hydrogen and some ozone are developed. It is not improbable that the peculiarly attractive and refreshing quality that marks the early-morning air has its origin in this way. The difficulty of inducing grass to flourish under a tree in full leaf is well known and is generally explained by saying that the tree absorbs the nourishing constituents of the soil or that it keeps the sunlight away from the grass and protects it from rain. It is doubtful whether any of these explanations is true; the real reason most probably being that the vitalizing dew cannot form upon the grass under a tree, whereas as a rule both rain and light can reach it.

No Poetry Then.

"Stone walls do not a prison make nor iron bars a cage," said the sympathetic visitor to the convict.

"That's fine poetry, ma'am," replied the prisoner, "but just let 'em lock you up inside stone walls and behind iron bars and see if you can get out."

Terrible Tortures From Itching Skin Diseases

No Sure Relief Until the Cause Is Removed.

When the blood becomes infested with millions of tiny disease germs that attack the skin, then the fiery irritation and intense itching will remain with you until these germs are removed from the blood.

Genuine relief therefore, can only be expected from a treatment that goes right to the seat of the trouble, and strikes at its cause. Such a remedy is S. S. S., the reliable old blood purifier that kills the germs of disease, and sends a new supply of rich red blood coursing through the veins.

S. S. S. has been used successfully in some of the worst cases of eczema and other skin disorders.

EVIDENTLY TRUE

White House reports state that the president is even more vigorous and mentally alert than when he was first taken ill. J. B. ATKINSON,
Secy to the Committee.

LEGAL NOTICE

STATE OF ALABAMA, Chilton County; Circuit Court in Equity. Town of Clanton, a municipal corporation, complainant, vs. Minnie Henson, Defendant.

In this cause it is made to appear to the Register by the sheriff's return of the summon to defendant that she was "not found," after ten days.

The Register therefore causes publication to be made in the Union-Banner, a newspaper published in Clanton, Ala., for thirty days.

To MINNIE HENSON, Defendant:

You are hereby notified that the above complainant filed a delinquent tax list in this court on the 31st day of March, 1920, for the year 1919, in which said list the following property was assessed to you, with the amount of taxes due for said year on said property, to-wit:

One house and lot in West Clanton, Alabama, bounded on the north by the Middleton property, on the east by the P. I. Hopkins property, on the south by Main Street, and on the west by the N. A. Kicker property: all of which described real estate located in and situated in the corporate limits of the Town of Clanton, Alabama, in Chilton County.

The amount of taxes claimed to be due to said Town for said year of 1919 is no dollars and Fifty Cents.

You are therefore commanded to plead, answer or demur said cause by the 17th day of May, 1920, or in thirty days thereafter, a final decree adjudging the above described property liable for said taxes, and directing the Register to sell said property for payment of the taxes, charges, penalties, intesert and costs, that are charged thereon, will be taken against you.

Done at office in Clanton, Ala., this 24th day of April, 1920.

It is not safe to buy land or to lend money and accept land as security without first investigating the title of the land. Often there are unpaid mortgages, judgments, or other liens affecting the title, which an abstract would set out. Therefore, when buying land or lending money thereon, it is important that an abstract of title be furnished. A few dollars spent for an abstract is cheaper than going ahead and having a law suit a little later on.

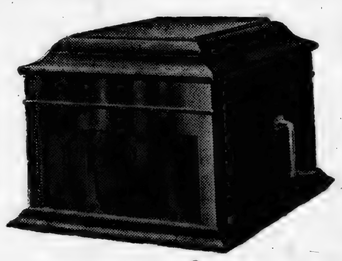
Pathe Phonographs Play All Disc Records.

Every Pathe Phonograph we illustrate here is equipped with the Universal tone arm that allows it to play every make of Disc Record—and play them perfectly. When playing Pathe Records you use the famous Pathe ball-pointed needle—and you never have to change the needle. Pathe records never wear out. They are just as good after playing them a hundred times as they are when you first get them from us in sealed envelopes. And Pathephones have a tone quality that has helped make them one of the most popular of phonographs made. It is a genuine Pathe, all right—and you know what that means, a phonograph that has every good point that you always reckoned a real phonograph ought to have; supreme in every point—supreme in tone and that is the one biggest thing that really counts with any phonograph. Don't be content with half a phonograph; get the complete phonograph—the one that plays all makes of records—and plays them perfectly.

$50 UP



Model No. 3—An inconspicuous cabinet, exquisitely designed with the same skill and craftsmanship that is used in the more elaborate models. This model gives all the important Pathe features at a low price. All exposed parts nickel plated; universal tone arm, Pathe reproducer, sapphire ball, double spring motor; size 17½ inches wide, 18¼ inches deep, 13 inches high.

Price, Mahogany Finish, $55.00 Oak Finish, $50.00

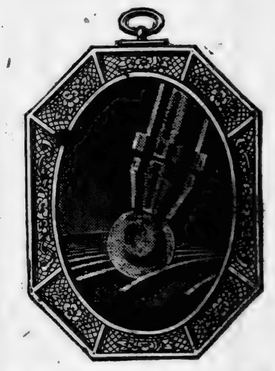
Pathe Records are played with a Pathe Sapphire. No needles to change and no needles to buy. Pathe records are practically indestructible, are all double-faced. They will bring into your home the best music of all the world.

Easy terms May be arranged.



Pathe Sapphire Ball

There is no secret difference in the Pathe. The duplication instead of mere reproduction of the living voices of the artists and tone of instruments is due to the Pathe Sapphire Ball, which fits and fills the record grooves, so always giving the full tone value without wearing out either sapphire or record.

UNTY REPUBLICAN DELEGATED CONVENTION

A delegated convention of the Republican party of Chilton County was held at the court house in Clanton last Friday for the transaction of general business concerning the future of the party.

In the absence of Executive Committee Chairman, H. A. Harris, the meeting was called to order by Secretary J. B. Atkinson. The roll call of Executive Committee was called and a quorum answered present. The consideration of credentials of the delegates to the convention was taken up by the committee, and the convention was duly organized for the transaction of business.

W. T. Bean was elected as chairman of the convention and L. E. Diefenderfer Secretary.

A committee of five was appointed by the chair to make nominations for Chilton County's delegation to the District and State Conventions. The committee retired and reported immediately. Their report was unanimously adopted.

W. G. Culp was elected as Chairman of the County Republican Executive Committee for the next four years, and J. Z. Mims was elected Secretary for the same period.

The convention unanimously endorsed J. Tom Rockett for Delegate to the National Republican Convention from the Fourth Congressional District of Alabama. It was expected that there would be a fight in the convention on this point, but all factions consented to come together and indorse Tom Rockett, all other prospects for the place having withdrawn in favor of the compromise.

This convention established the foundation for the Republican party in Chilton County for the future. Instead of dividing the party as was hoped and expected by the Democrats our ranks were consolidated and put in the best fighting condition for the coming campaign in November.

We would have liked to give a full account of the convention in detail, but have been unable to see the secretary and get it.

EIGHTY-FOUR YEARS YOUNG

The grand old man of Congress, "Uncle Joe" Cannon, has been again chosen to be the Republican Congressional candidate by the district convention in Danville, Illinois. The announcement was made on the eve of his eighty-fourth birthday on May 7. Representative Cannon has served 22 terms in the House of Representatives. He was first elected to the House in 1852 and except in 1898 and 1912 has been nominated and elected every time since.

Will Bean was in Birmingham and Anniston the first of this week on political business at the District and State Republican Conventions.

LAMAR JEFFERS APPRECIATES HEARTY SUPPORT GIVEN HIM

Anniston, Ala., May 15th, 1920.
Mr. C. Reese Mullins,
Clanton, Ala.

Dear Mr. Mullins:

Am writing to express to you and to the people of your county through you, my heartfelt appreciation of the support I received in my race for congress.

I hope you will do me the favor to pass this word out to every possible man that you can, and I am exceedingly anxious that the people know that I have not forgotten to acknowledge the splendid support I received, and to express my appreciation of the same. It is true that I lost the race, but the fact that I had only sixty days to work in the campaign, I feel that I have good reason to be proud of the support which I received.

I call your attention to the fact that in the whole district Mr. Blackmon's majority is just about 450 votes. I also call attention to the fact that Calhoun County's vote in Mr. Blackmon's column was only 29 majority. As you know, the election day was a dry day and the farmer vote was very light. From what I have heard from the rural districts I feel quite sure that had the farmers voted their full strength the resul in Calhoun County would have been different, but as it was the official count gives Mr. Blackmon in Calhoun Countyl 29 votes majority. In the city of Anniston I received four votes more than did Mr. Blackmon. He led me by a small majority in the city of Talladega, but in the city of Sylacauga I led him, and in the City of Selma my majority was sixty votes. So you see there are a great many reasons why I feel proud even though I did not succeed in this race.

I trust that you will be able to give this letter publicity just as far as you possibly can.

I am on my way back to Washington for an examination of my leg, and the chances are that I will have an operation to complete the treatment which I have been receiving there for the wound which I received in France. I shall be very glad indeed to hear from you at any time. Address me at Washington, D. C., care of Walter Reid General Hospital.

Thankin you for all your kindnesses and assistance, and with best wishes, I am, Your friend,
LAMAR JEFFERS.

BIG COUP FIZZLED OUT

The attempted political coup of Attorney General Palmer on May Day has been disclosed. Weeks before May 1 Mr. Palmer advertised throughout the nation that the Department of Justice had discovered May Day bomb plots and would frustrate them. The official report of the bureau of mediation and conciliation of the department of labor reveals the fact that nothing was prevented as nothing was contemplated. On May 1 there were 30 strikes before the department of labor for settlement and 9 new controversies were reported as compared with 13 and 10 for the two previous weeks, indicating a slight falling off. "The industrial situation, as indicated by the attitude of labor, appears quite encouraging," the report states. Commissioners of Conciliation were unable to find any trace of widespread radicalsm on May Day. "The crux of the situation in cities, having supposed radical tendencies, was passed some weeks ago," the report concludes.

F. B. Collier went up to Anniston Monday to attend the Fourth Distric Republican Convention.

KNOX FLAYS PRESIDENT FOR LACK OF SANITY

Indicated, He says, by Stubborn Irresponsibility in Insisting the Nation still at War.

Washington, May 17.—That President Wilson so stubbornly continues to declare the country is at war when it is not at war as to lend credence to the belief that he is not a sane statesman is the contention of Senator Philander C. Knox, of Pennsylvania, voiced in the Senate.

The former Attorney General in the cabinet of President Roosevelt and Secretary of State in the cabinet of President Taft thus took the President to task:

"Internationally, therefore, we are at peace. Our late allies and associates say we are at peace. Our erstwhile enemies say we are at peace. All are going forward on a peace-time basis, under terms and conditions of a treaty negotiated by our associates and us and ratified by them and the enemy. Our national executive with a stubborn irresponsibility continues to declare we are at war. But as a practical matter the only war which he wages is against American citizens and American industry.

With Germany he wages no war. Not a single shot has been fired for more than eighteen months. He cooperates in the measures of those who are conducting relations under a treaty of peace. The situation is so anomalous and so iniquitous, is so fraught with injustice and with possiblty of disaster, that one cannot reconcile it with the operations of a sane statesmanship.

"Now, as war power is bestowed in order that war may be successfully carried on, it necessarily follows and this is vital, that such powers exist only in time of war, that is actual hostilities. Moreover, the extent to which the people are to be deprived of their liberties is dependent entirely on the nature and extent of the war exigency. The exclusive right to determine how great the need, to what extent these liberties shall be restrained, and which of them shall be touched is in the hands of congress; and no other branch of government, either executive or judicial, has authority either to enlarge of diminish in one iota the determination of Congress in these matters. And I may here observe, what indeed is obvious, that in time of war congress enjoys all its peace powers, as well as its war-time powers, and may exercise either or both in its own sound uncontrolled discretion.

"Furthermore, as I have just intimated, since war powers are given for the successful conduct of war, and for that purpose only, it necessarily follows that when the war is ended—that is when actual hostilities cease— the war powers terminate. There is no principle of our constitutional system that is more vital or fundamental than this. Because if this were not the principle, then a mal-minded administration could provoke war, pass war power legislation bestowing autocratic powers upon executive officers, and then hostilities having actually ceased, refuse to make formal peace by treaty and so hold the people under an intolerable despotism until revolution would be their only recourse for relief. But reason and principle are against this. From these it follows, that when the war is ended by the cessation of actual hostilities, the war powers ipso facto and of necessity at that moment also cease, wholly irrespective of any action either by the treaty-making power or by the congress in reference thereto.

"Even in cases where, owing to the condition now existing between us and Germany, a state of war continues as between the warring powers after the end of hostilities and until the treaty of peace is signed, yet even then the war powers of congress under the constitution as affecting citizens of this Republic at home, those war powers by virtue of which our liberties are taken from us and a quasi-despotism imposed upon us, must cease when the hostilities end. This is the only safe and wise end."

PUT BRAKES ON SHOE PRICES

Washington, May 19—Reduction in the present prices of shoes is the purpose of a bill favorably reported to the House of Representatives by the Census Committee. The bill, introduced by Aaron S. Kreider, of Pennsylvania, would authorize the Director of the census to take a census every month of the number of hides in the country. "The committee is of the opinion that there was no necessity for the increases in the prices of hides," stated Representative Isaac Siegel, chairman of the Census Committee. "The present high prices of shoes are entirely unnecessary, uncalled for and unprecedented. The alleged shortage of leather is a pure subterfuge put forward as a justification for increasing prices. The taking of the proposed census of hides should have the effect of disclosing the true situation to the entire country. Representative Kreider is one of the leading shoe manufacturers of the country and says that early relief from present high prices is certain to result."

THANKS TO THE VOTERS

I wish to extend my thanks to the voters of Chilton County who stood by me with their votes and influence in my campaign for Tax Collector recently. I was defeated by a majority vote of the people, and I assure you that I submit willingly and cheerfully to the voice of the majority.

Let me admonish everybody to rally to the cause of the Republican party and be prepared to stand behind it in November. We must elect our ticket wihout fail.

Yours very truly,
W. G. CULP.

OAK GROVE

Health of all is very good at present.

The 18-year old son of Mr. John Martin died at the home on May 15.

Our Sunday School is good. Sunday's scripture was read by Aunt Sarah Scott of Jemison. It does us good to see the old people still holding on the the Lord's work.

We are looking for more of the parents to join our Sunday School.

We had preaching here Sunday by Brother George. His sermon was fine and to the point. Singing was good in the afternoon. The class called on Mr. H. O. Little Sunday night and did some good singing.

W. J. NORTHCUTT.

SINGING CONVENTION

The Christian Harmony Singing Convention met at Union Springs Chapel Sunday. Was largely attended. Several Directors were present. Music was good, particularly in the afternoon. One striking feature of the convention was the fine singing of Mrs. Coker and Miss Mollie Gothard. Another noted feature was the beautiful spirit prevailing with the singers. Dinner was a bounty and free to all. Mrs. H. Martin was elected [illegible]

TOM ROCKETT EXPRESSES HIS THANKS TO VOTERS

Editor Union Banner:

I wish you would allow me space in your paper to thank the voters of Chilton County for the vote they gave me in the primary on May 11th, which nominated me as the Republican candidate for Tax Collector of Chilton County.

Let me say to every Republican in the county now that it is time for us to lay aside all our little internal differences and prepare the way for a Republican victory in the November election. I assure you that I stand ready to do my part, and my efforts for the success of the entire Republican ticket shall not cease until the campaign is finally over. I feel sure that success will come to our ticket here in the county if we will do our duty.

Again thanking each and everyone who helped nominate me, and hoping to have the co-operation and support of every other Republican in the county, I am for the success on the Republican ticket in November.

Yours very truly,
J. T. ROCKETT.

Cooper, Ala., May 18, 1920.

SHOULTS

Quite a crowd attended the preaching service at Pleasant Hill Methodist Church Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. Willie Hicks visited her sister in Centerville Saturday night.

Miss Drucilla Lawrence is planning to go to Birmingham in a few weeks, to go to school this summer. She has resigned as secretary of Sunday School. Mr. Bennie McAfee was elected secretary in her stead. We will all miss her when she leaves.

Mr. Chancey Bearden and Mr. Julian Nichols from Selma motored up to visit relatives Sunday, and we believe they have some girl friends up here too.

Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Hicks and two little boys took dinner with Mr. and Mrs. C. Hall Sunday.

Mr. Ernest Hamrick is at home on a short visit.

Mrs. Bessie Lawrence went to Selma Saturday to see her relatives living there.

Mr. C. T. Walker went to Centerville on a business trip last Thursday, and to Clanton on Friday.

The voters of West Chilton are well pleased with the success of C. T. Walker in the race for Commissioner.

Next Sunday is preaching day. Everybody come.

Mr. Chas. F. Harmon, who has been named as local agent here for the Life and Casualty Insurance Co., has secured a home here and will in the near future remove his family to this city. We welcome him in our midst.

SINGING AT CORINTH

Allow me to announce that there will be an all day singing at Corinth Church the second Sunday in June, which is on the 13th. Corinth is located 6 miles east of Verbena, on the Knight's ferry road. All singers and lovers of music are invited. Bring a well filled basket.

The atest song books will be used.

REUNION OF VETERANS OF THE RAINBOW DIVISION

The Southeastern Passenger Association has authorized a fare of one and a third for the round trip to the first National Convention of the Rainbow division veterans to be held in Brmingham, Ala., July 12, 13 and 14, 1920. Tickets will be sold only to members of the Rainbow Division Veterans and members of their families, upon certificates of identification, which will be furnished all members of the Alabama Chapter by this office upon application to the undersigned. Tickets will be sold on and after July 8th. Chapter secretaries are urged to give full publicity to this matter of reduced rates and use every effort in their power to have a full attendance of all members of their chapters. They are urged also to bring it to the attention of non-members that tickets will be sold only to members, and urge eligible men who have not done so to join at once.

Secretary Brown and President Hough of the National Chapter were in Montgomery on April 22, and held a conference with the Executive Committee. The following day accompanied by a member of the Executive Committee, they went to Birmingham and went over all plans for the meeting with the Chamber of Commerce. A tentative program has been drawn up, and we are assured of one of the greatest demonstrations ever accorded an ex-soldier organization. He who misses Birmngham on July 12-14 will ever live to regret it. The tentative program will be published in full later.

"The wearing of the military uniform will be optional. We don't want any man to think that he must wear his uniform, or stay away because he is without one. Rainbow men will be welcome at this Reunion in any garb, uniform, palm beach fur coat or in a slicker. The big idea is to be there. All receptions and dances will be informal. However, there will be a parade, during which a bronze tablet memorial to the Alabama dead will be unveiled on the Rainbow Viaduct in Birmingham, and many of the boys will be in uniform at this particular time."

Special trains are in prospect from several points and special cars from many others. Alabama should have at least four thousand men present. Get busy and help make our attendance one hundred per cent.

All Rainbow Division men of Chilton County are urged to communicate with Guy Roberts of Clanton for further details of the convention.

Wanted a Little Too Much.

Mary was the only girl and took an active part in the rough games of her brothers. The fact that she was a girl was a handicap which often spoiled her fun. One evening Aunt Tillie was amusing Mary's mother by telling fortunes from cards. Mary showed such keen interest that Aunt Tillie asked her to make a wish while she cut cards for her. Of course, the right card came up and the wish had to become true. But Mary would not believe.

"Now, please, dearie, won't you tell us what you wished for?" her aunt asked.

After some hesitation Mary replied: "I wished I was a boy."

A Hearse Horse.

The man entered the cab and instructed the driver to take him to his residence near the cemetery. On dismounting, he gave the cabby eighteen pence, his exact legal fare and no more.

The cabby looked at the coins, slowly pocketed them, and said, pointing to the horse:

"D'ye see that white 'oss with the short tail?"

"Yes," said the man, rather puzzled: "what of him?"

"Oh, nothink; only I 'opes as the next time you're brought here as it'll be by a black 'oss with a long tail! Evenin', sir,"—Edinburgh Scotsman.

Prosperous Martinique.

The number of manufacturing industries in Martinique has been increasing, although most of the plants are small. The factories in operation are 15 sugar factories, 114 rum distilleries, eight lime kilns, one factory for canning pineapples, one factory where chocolate powder and coco butter are made, one factory for alimentary pastes, two ice factories, two forges and foundries, one copper shop, one tile, terra cotta and brick factory 11 gaseous water factories and four printing houses.

Seventy to a House.

Warsaw is probably one of the most densely populated cities in the world. Its growth in area has been retarded by the fact that under the Russian regime certain fixed city limits were drawn many years ago, and for military reasons no houses were to be built outside of these limits. In a recent census it was found that the number of inhabitants to a building in Warsaw was about 70, as compared with only seven or eight in London.

PRETTY DRESS FOR JUNE BRIDESMAID

A PRETTY and conservative dress of net and net-top lace, to be worn over a colored undersilp, is an American design that will commend itself to the bridesmaid at a June wedding. This same dress with white undersilp, will interest the bride who does not want a conventional wedding dress, but does wish to be married in white, requiring only that her frock be pretty and then practical enough to do her some good after the wedding. There are many white dresses—of georgette, voile, crepe-de-chine, net or organdy that such a bride may choose and lace of some kind is nearly always a part of them. In making a selection for a bride one must remember to look for dignified designs, but for bridesmaids this is not so important.

The dress shown above has an underskirt of plain net with a wide hem. Over this there is a tunic of lace flouncing and over this again, set on at the sides, pointed drapery of plain net, with a narrow frill at the top. The lace is used for the kimono bodice filled in at front and back with a "V" shaped piece of tucked net. The three-quarter length sleeves are finished with pointed flounces of net edged with narrow Irish lace and the girdle is made of wide satin ribbon. For a bridesmaid the girdle will be in the color used for the undersilp and will be pretty if finished with a large flat blossom made of the ribbon.

There is nothing prettier or more practical than taffeta in light, flower-like colors for bridesmaids' dresses and they are enchanting when quaint styles are chosen for them and scarfs or fichus of tulle worn with them. It is in her maids' frocks that the American bride follows the lead of fancy. There is nothing like taffeta for freshness and sprightliness. Sometimes it serves as a foundation for much airy tulle drapery and flowers simply belong to it, possessing kindred charms. There is every chance of success when taffeta is chosen for bridesmaids and the gay frock at the wedding begins its journey along the primrose path of festivities and parties.

Hats for Summer Wear

MILLINERS and millinery departments are featuring new displays of hats made for midsummer wear and calling attention to the distinctive character of this headwear. The spring hat makes its appearance very early, helping to beguile us with thoughts of bright and balmy days that usually lag far behind their cheerful harbingers.

The new displays for summer wear include hats for all occasions as may be gathered by a glance at the millinery pictured above. Here are street and dress hats with an example of a sport model. The most unusual hat in the group is made of plain and of brocaded georgette with upper straw and piping braid contributing the unexpected, but effective touches in its composition. The crown is of plain georgette with three rows of piping braid inlaid about it, the brim of brocaded georgette, built up with several rows of piping same about the edge, and feather ornaments to match the width of the brim. One may imagine [illegible] needs no imagination to conclude that this is a difficult hat to make, an example of painstaking and beautiful artistry for which one must be willing to pay the price.

A soft hat made of hem-stitched silk shirred to a flexible foundation represents the sort of sports hat that is making itself at home everywhere. For the off-the-face brim and lower part of the crown the silk is shirred in close rows. What milliners call a "tight" rose is made of folds of silk and posed at the front. A handsome tailored model of Milan has a crown of georgette. It is a clever off-the-face shape, spirited and becoming and is smartly trimmed with a wing at the right side. Bearing it company as a representative of the great company of street hats there is a small, high-crowned millor shape with brilliant [illegible] straw applied to it—one of many such substantial looking and snappy models.

Germs of Blood Diseases Meet Conquering Foe.

Germs of Eczema, Tetter, Pellagra and other forms of blood troubles make their headway in exact accordance with the scarcity of red corpuscles in the blood.

When these corpuscles are multiplied and strengthened to the extent of being capable of overthrowing disease germs, then and only then, does the disease begin its losing battle.

Sul-Ferro-Sol is a mineral water rich with the one element (iron) that strengthens and multiplies red corpuscles—it makes them by the million.

One teaspoonful of Sul-Ferro-Sol taken 3 times a day quickly displays the wonderful effects of this remedy.

Keep Your Liver Active, Your System Purified and Free From Colds by Taking Calotabs, the Nauseless Calomel Tablets, that are Delightful, Safe and Sure.

Physicians and Druggists are advising their friends to keep their systems purified and their organs in perfect working order as a protection against the return of influenza. They know that a clogged up system and a lazy liver favor colds, influenza and serious complications.

To cut short a cold overnight and to prevent serious complications take one Calotab at bedtime with a swallow of water—that's all. No salts, no nausea, no griping, no sickening after effects. Next morning your cold has vanished, your liver is active, your system is purified and refreshed and you are feeling fine with a hearty appetite for breakfast. Eat what you please—no danger. Calotabs are sold only in original sealed packages, price thirty-five cents. Every druggist is authorized to refund your money if you are not perfectly delighted with Calotabs.—(Adv.)

HALL'S CATARRH MEDICINE acts through the Blood on the Mucous Surfaces of the System. Catarrhal Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result. Unless the inflammation can be reduced and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing may be destroyed forever. Prayed for Cure Finds it After 10 Years

Food Would Sour and Boil —Teeth Like Chalk

Mr. Herbert M. Gessner writes from his home in Berlin, N. H.:

I had stomach trouble over ten years; kept getting worse. I tried everything for relief but it came back worse than ever. Last fall I got awfully bad; could only eat light loaf bread and tea. In January I got so bad that what I would eat would sour and boil; my teeth would be like chalk. I suffered terribly. I prayed every day for something to cure me. One day I read about EATONIC and told my wife to get me a box at the drug store as I was going to work at 4 p. m. I took one-third of it and began to feel relief; when it was three-fourths gone, I felt fine and when it was used up I had no pains. Wife got me another box but I have felt the pain of twice. I used five tablets out of the box and I have no more stomach trouble. Now I write to tell you how thankful I am that I heard of EATONIC. I feel like a new man; I eat what I like, drink plenty of water, and it never hurts me at all.

STANDARDS HELP FARM PROBLEMS

Lesson Taught by Denmark's Success in Butter Business Is Emphasized.

OF BENEFIT IN HOME TRADE

Recent Importations Bearing Well-Known Foreign Brand Call Attention to Value of Recognized Grades in Marketing.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

It was no less a person than Shakespeare's Hamlet who asserted that there was something rotten in Denmark. But whatever truth there may have been in that assertion, American butter interests today readily acknowledge that there is nothing impure in Denmark's butter.

Danish butter usually is of very good quality. That, in fact, is the reason that dairy and butter interests in the United States have been looking with a suggestion of concern—more than is deserved, perhaps—on the importation of Danish butter which has been taking place at New York recently at the rate of several hundred casks weekly, each cask weighing 112 pounds. Experts use this incident to emphasize the lesson which Denmark's success in the butter business teaches with respect to standardization. While perhaps the greatest value resulting from the application of standards in Denmark lies in its benefit to that country's export butter trade, in America a corresponding benefit could be enjoyed in domestic trade, since our home butter consumption normally far exceeds our exports.

A Recognized Brand.

The Danish government has a brand which the law provides can be placed on all butter meeting certain rather exacting requirements. This is the brand to be found on the casks which have been arriving at New York and which is recognized the world over as a guaranty of good quality. Experts in American dairy marketing problems point to the value of the Danish official mark not with the idea of advocating that this government adopt a similar plan of officially branding butter, but to emphasize the value which results from adopting recognized standards. They call attention to the fact that America is producing much butter which scores as high or higher than the Danish importations.

In some cases private brands are well enough known to profit fully by the high grade maintained. But this can not be said of all American butter of fine quality. Today no uniform grades are universally adhered to and consequently much butter has to be marketed at lower prices than it would otherwise bring because it bears no brand or score indicating its real value.

Apply Grades More Widely.

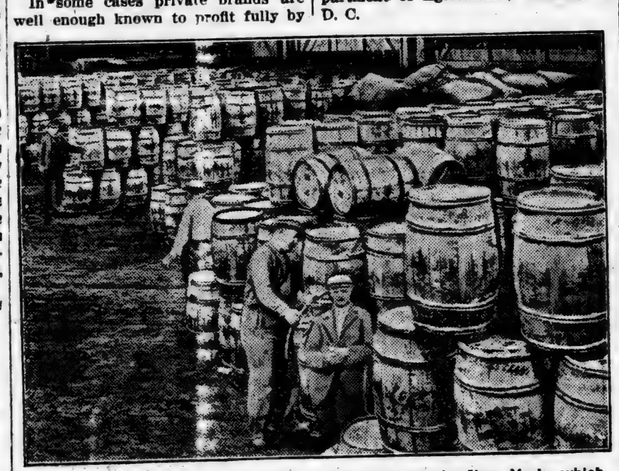
The government has established standards for scoring butter and anyone who will get in touch with one of the five principal butter markets where inspectors are maintained—Minneapolis, Chicago, New York, Philadelphia, Boston—can have his butter inspected at small cost. What is needed, it is claimed, is that the federal grades be more generally applied. Not only would high-grade butter more generally command the price it deserves, but many producers now more or less indifferent to grading would be induced to improve the quality of their output.

A few weeks ago perishable food inspectors representing the Bureau of Markets, United States Department of Agriculture, were called on to inspect 4,000,000 pounds of butter intended for export to a European country. The bureau was able to certify that most of the butter came up to the standard required by the exporting house. Having received federal certificates to this effect the exporters could safely proceed with their shipments to Europe. The incident is considered of special interest because the house exporting the 4,000,000 pounds had previously had trouble with an uninspected shipment abroad because it did not come up to specifications. By utilizing the federal inspection service it was possible for these exporters to be sure that butter accepted for shipment was up to a certain standard.

Standardization Promotes Efficiency.

Since the inauguration of federal food inspection by the Bureau of Markets in 1917, an increasing number of producers, buyers, and sellers have come to appreciate its value, as is indicated by the demand for inspection of perishable fruits and vegetables and butter. This is a big advance in the right direction, market experts say, but immeasurably greater benefits can be enjoyed when producers and dealers generally come to understand the grades which inspectors apply, and constantly work with them in view. Standardization will promote efficiency, not only in the butter industry, but in handling most perishable fruits and vegetables.

With a wide acceptance of federal grades and standards, production could be carried on far more profitably and distribution far more economically than at present. Anyone interested in this question can secure full information by writing the Bureau of Markets, United States Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C.



Part of a big importation of butter recently arrived in New York, which furnishes an object lesson in the value of standards and grades for food products.

Limited Demand for Some Product Not Generally Grown Will Sometimes Afford Few Farms Opportunity for Expansion.

Are the crops and live stock the farm is producing for sale to the nonproducers of the community or for export to other communities such as can be made profitable when produced and sold locally or exported?

The best guide here, says the United States department of agriculture, is the practice of the community; enterprises should be adopted that are found generally on its farms. A limited demand from the nonproducers of the community for some product not generally grown locally, and for which many local farms are not adapted, will sometimes afford a few farms opportunity for expansion.

For instance, the plan suggested by the department for providing dairy products should, if followed, produce enough surplus calves to develop herd and there cattle-raising and cattle-feeding farms. Some farms will be specially adapted to this purpose by having an abundance of suitable but unsalable by-products, cheap pasture, or pasture land unadapted to cropping. Other farms may develop a considerable business in the production of pork, or of pigs for supplying farms where brood sows are not kept.

"BETTER SIRES" FOR RABBITS

Official Emblem of Recognition Is Granted to Florida Man—Animals Not Officially Listed.

The first person in the United States whose "live stock" consists entirely of rabbits, and who applied for enrollment in the "Better Sires—Better Stock" movement, is Hamilton Coleman of Bay county, Florida. Rabbits are not officially listed among the classes of animals for whose improvement the better sires campaign is being conducted. However, in response to the spirit of co-operation shown and considering that the breeds of rabbits listed are raised for meat, the official emblem of recognition has been granted to Mr. Coleman. The rabbits listed include Flemish Giants, Spotted Giants, New Zealands and Belgian hares.

GENERAL FARM NOTES

Test your seed corn ear by ear.

Farm wages are higher than ever.

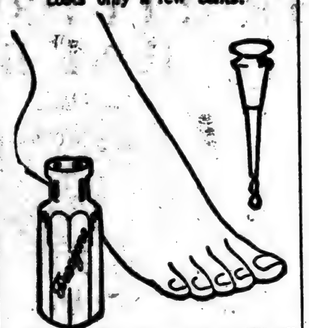
Treat small grain seed with formaldehyde to prevent smut.

Barley is an excellent grain feed for stock, being almost the equal of corn.

Use of a muddy or rusty garden tool is a misdemeanor punishable by failure.

Lift off Corns!

Doesn't hurt a bit and Freezone costs only a few cents.



With your fingers! You can lift off any hard corn, soft corn, or corn between the toes, and the hard skin calluses from bottom of feet.

A tiny bottle of "Freezone" costs little at any drug store; apply a few drops upon the corn or callous. Instantly it stops hurting, then shortly you lift that bothersome corn or callous right off, root and all, without one bit of pain or soreness. Truly! No humbug!—Adv.

Can't Get Down to That.

Jules, the headwaiter, says he has enough money to retire on, but he can't reconcile himself to the idea of becoming one of the persons who have to give tips.

99 OUT OF 100

Of the little ills and hurts, such as Toothache, nervous Headache, or soreness anywhere may be quickly relieved by applying Vacher-Balm, which is harmless. Keep it handy, and avoid imitations.

If you cannot buy Vacher-Balm locally, send 30c in stamps for a tube, to E. W. Vacher, Inc., New Orleans, La.—Adv.

Hard Luck, Indeed.

The new baby brother was sleeping and Mary Elizabeth had been chided several times for playing and laughing rather noisily. "O, dear," she grumbled, "since that baby came I can't even whisper laugh."

IN BUYING ASPIRIN ALWAYS SAY "BAYER"

Look for the name "Bayer" on tablets, then you need never worry.

"Bayer Tablets of Aspirin," can be taken safely for Colds, Headache, Toothache, Earache, Neuralgia, Lumbago, Rheumatism, Joint Pains, Neuritis, and Pain generally.

To get quick relief follow carefully the safe and proper directions in each unbroken package of "Bayer Tablets of Aspirin." This package is plainly stamped with the safety "Bayer Cross."

The "Bayer Cross" means the genuine, world-famous Aspirin prescribed by physicians for over eighteen years.

Handy tin boxes of 12 tablets cost but a few cents. Druggists also sell larger "Bayer" packages. Aspirin is the trade mark of Bayer Manufacture of Monoaceticacidester of Salicylicacid.—Adv.

For more than Forty Years Cotton Growers have known that

POTASH PAYS

More than 11,651,200 Tons of Potash Salts had been imported and used in the United States in the 20 years previous to January, 1915, when shipments ceased. Of this 6,460,700 Tons consisted of which the cotton grower knew was both a plant food and a preventive of blight and rust,—with it came also 1,312,400 Tons of which has the same effects on Cotton, but which was used mainly in mixed fertilizers.

KAINIT

Shipments of both Kainit and Manure Salt have been resumed but the shortage of coal and cars and high freight rates make it more desirable to ship Manure Salt, which contains 20 per cent of actual Potash, instead of Kainit, which contains less than 13 per cent actual Potash.

MANURE SALT can be used as a side dressing on Cotton in just the same way as Kainit and will give the same results. Where you used 100 pounds of Kainit, you need to use but 62 pounds of Manure Salt, or 100 pounds of Manure Salt go as far as 161 pounds of Kainit.

MANURE SALT has been coming forward in considerable amounts and cotton growers, who cannot secure Kainit, should make an effort to get Manure Salt for side dressing to aid in making a big Cotton Crop.

Muriate of Potash

50 per cent actual Potash, has been coming forward also,—100 pounds of Muriate are equivalent to 400 pounds of Kainit or 250 pounds of Manure Salt.

These are the three

that were always used in making cotton fertilizers and have been used for all these years with great profit and without any damage to the crop.

The supply is not at present as large as in former years, but there is enough to greatly increase the Cotton Crop if you insist on your dealer making the necessary effort to get it for you.

Special Care of Baby.

That Baby should have a bed of its own all are agreed. Yet it is more reasonable for an infant to sleep with grown-ups than to use a man's medicine in an attempt to regulate the delicate organism of that same infant. Either practice is to be shunned. Neither would be tolerated by specialists in children's diseases.

Your Physician will tell you that Baby's medicine must be prepared with even greater care than Baby's food.

A Baby's stomach when in good health is too often disarranged by improper food. Could you for a moment, then, think of giving to your ailing child anything but a medicine especially prepared for Infants and Children? Don't be deceived.

Make a mental note of this:—It is important, Mothers, that you should remember that to function well, the digestive organs of your Baby must receive special care. No Baby is so abnormal that the desired results may be had from the use of medicines primarily prepared for grown-ups.

CHILTON COUNTY REPUBLICANS ARE READY FOR THE FUTURE

The Republican party in Chilton County has won its fight with the Democrats here in the past two or three campaigns with comparative ease, and in this respect we have seen demonstrated the universal law of human nature that what comes easy may be soon forgotten or not appreciated as much as that which is attained by persistent fight. Our people have drifted into an attitude of carelessness, and have not remembered the advantages that have come to them by the success of our own political organization. Some of us seemed some time ago to get into the delusion that if we could no longer get a fight out of the Democrats that we would get up one of o ur own within our ranks.

Dissatisfaction from one little minor cause or another began to take hold among our people. Little troubles and grievances began to pass from one to another, and finally the embers of prejudice were being blown into a flaming blaze.

Bitterness grew up among the people from the cattle dipping business. To this was added the soreness of a few defeated candidates for political office. And the result took the form of somewhat acute dissatisfaction among some of the people with the county officers.

All this soreness had floated around amongst tthe body politic for months and months, cropping out now and then here and there. The bitterness had grown to the limit and drifted up against the county convention last Friday for final settlement. It was up to the men who were to sit in that convention to smooth over the differences and patch up the trouble, or else make bad matters worse.

The men who had been sent here to represent the people of the county in that convention were mostly men who had the best interests of the Republican party of the county at hear. They wanted to see the party go on in the future, active, aggressive and for the best interests of tthe county. They likewise determined the proper course to be taken and set to work to swing all factions into line for that one desired objective.

We are glad to say that the great necessity for harmony in the party was seen by all the men who came to the convention. And it will be gratifying news to Republicans all over the county to know that the convention took steps and performed some work that places the future of our party on a firmer footing than it has been in the past eight years.

We all know that we are going to need all the Republicans in the county in the future, and we should be mighty glad that our ranks are united now with a solidarity that means success for us in years to come here in Chilton County.

The Republicans of Chilton County must hold the line intact. Our party will sweep the county this fall with a majority landslide never before equaled in our history. The Republicans in the Senate have saved us from the miserable mess of meddling in European affairs through the infernal League of Nations. This fall we will elect a President and a Congress that will save the country from the threatening internal economic disasters that are ahead.

Chilton County must stand true to the cause. She will stand true to the cause. The Republican party has saved our county in t he past, and it can be depended upon to preserve our interests in the future.

MR. L. A. CALLOWAY'S THANKS

Calera Ala., May 17, 1920.

To the Voters of Chilton County:

Please let me thank you for the support given me in the recent primary. I assure you that I esteem this favor very highly and will try to act in a way as to show this appreciation. If elected, and I feel sure that I will together with the entire ticket, will do my best to conduct the duties of the office in a way to be a credit to our party.

I have always advocated longer terms of school and better paid and equipped teachcers. Also larger schools with two or more teachers to the school.

Again thanking you for your support and influence, I beg to remain,

Yours very truly,
L. A. CALLOWAY.

At the head of our editorial column we carry this week the names of the men who were nominated by the Republicans on May 11th for the various offices of the county to be filled by election in November. The names of these men will remain at our masthead until they are finally elected in November, as we know they will be when the vote is cast by the people.

They are men of whom the county will be justly proud in the offices to which they aspire. They are all worthy, competent and well qualified and we want to commend them to the people of the county at whose hands they were nominated in the primary.

We notice that Fred Blackmon says he will not be a candidate for congress again after he finishes out the two-year term for which he was nominated in the Democratic primary last week. If just half the Democrats who voted against Fred last week will join us Republicans in November, we will let Fred retire next March instead of two years hence.

The Alabama Power Company is making rapid progress in getting in shape here for turning on the Lock 12 current, and we see prospects of plenty of "juice" in the near future.

Prof. Alverson of Sylacauga, the newly elected principal of the Chilton County High School, was in Clanton last week. He will bring his family here before long and begin active preparations for the next session of the school.

W. Y. Nix of Maplesville was here last Friday to attend the county Republican Convention. Mr. Nix was a delegate from Beat 7.

County Commissioners Court was in session last week and transacted quite a lot of general business of the county.

Downs Hardware Co., are expecting a car load of Chevrolets this week or next. Hosea says if you expect to get one you had better put in your order now.

Dr. Gragg performed the skin grafting process on William Miner at the Clanton Infirmary a few days ago. Mr. Miner had been burned severely on the back. He is recovering rapidly.

We are prepared to give you real service in the barber business. Come to see us when you need anything.

LIBERTY HILL

The Liberty Hill Singing Society met Sunday afternoon, May 16th, with a large crowd.

Singing was o pened with a song by assistant chairman, J. M. Smith. Directors for the afte rnoon were Profs. J. M. Smith, W. G. Culp, Calvin Parrish and Glover Smith. Oranists were W. G. Culp, Misses Alice Wyatt, and Zelma Lowery. Singing was closed with a song by Prof. J. M. Smith and prayer by Rev. A. L. Foshee. There will be singing here every First and Third Sunday afternoon, unless called off. SECRETARY.

LOMAX

Dear Editor:

Please allow me space in your paper for a few words.

The health of this community is good.

I now see lots of discouraged farmers, but their faces will brighten when the sun comes out again.

We had preaching here at the hall last Sunday. Many were present.

We are sorry to say there will be no singing Sunday at New Harmony, near here, as the singers are called to a convention at Zion's Rest, in Autauga County. But New Harmony is expected to be very much alive the Fifth Sunday in this month, for there will be an all day singing there. The old books will be used. Everybody is invited to come and bring well filled baskets. ESSIE SANDERS.

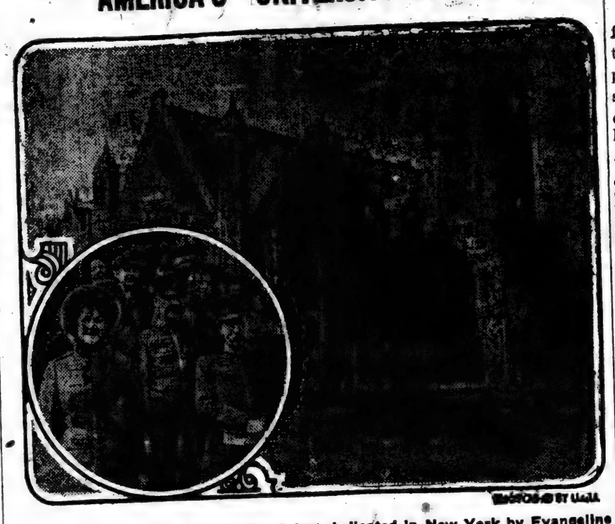
Grady Reynolds attended the District and State Republican Conventions at Anniston and Birmingham on Tuesday and Wednesday of this week.

Marion Foshee, Circuit Clerk of Chilton County, was among those who went to the District and State Republican Conventions at Annison and Birmingham Tuesday and Wednesday.

Prof. J. D. Patton will teach a musical school at Liberty Hill Church July 9 to 31. Mr. Patton is one of the foremost advocates of the cause of sacred music in this country and we are proud to have him and his influence in our county again this year.

The preset weather condtions are making things look rather gloomy for the farmers who want to raise much cotton. But they should stop worrying about the boll weevil and remember there is yet plenty of time to plant corn, peas, potatoes, peanuts, etc.

COMMANDER EVANGELINE BOOTH OPENS AMERICA'S "UNIVERSITY OF HUMANITY"



The "University of Humanity," just dedicated in New York by Evangeline Booth, Commander of the Salvation Army. Here the Army's officers will henceforth be trained. (Insert) Commander Miss Booth (Left) and members of her staff.

The doors of the first "University of Humanity" have just been opened.

To the blare of trumpets and the march of men and women wearing insignia of crimson and gold the dream of a patriarch was realized the other day in New York, and 100 students began a course in the art of serving their fellow men.

That course will teach them not only sociology, social service and first aid; not only theology and Bible study, but cooking, scrubbing, sweeping and laundering as well.

This "University of Humanity" is known as the Salvation Army Training College. It was a dream of the founder of the Army, General William Booth. The realization of his dream is a brick and brownstone building upon a height on the outskirts of New York city, a modern building with a lecture room, class rooms, six study rooms, sitting rooms, dormitories and offices.

Commander Evangeline Booth, daughter of the man who dreamed it, dedicated the building. She stood upon the steps, her staff about her, while rank upon rank of bonneted Army lassies and uniformed officers marched past to the music of a Salvation Army band. Later in the lecture room she interpreted the ideals of the new college, while the portrait of her father, the General, looked down upon this new advance of his forces.

Here will be trained the 500 men and women that the Salvation Army needs for officers. They will rise to the bugle call, study in the classrooms and in the homes of the unfortunate; do their own work, that they may be ready to help in whatever way they may be needed. Then they will go out into the slums of American cities and to far countries where other divisions of the Army are working.

To support this work of training will go part of the $10,000,000 Home Service Fund for which the Army will appeal from May 10 to 20.

SOLVING THE LABOR PROBLEM.

By F. D. Stevens, Farm Management Specialist.

Prepared by Extension Service, Auburn, Ala.

While visiting a farm last summer I was in the lot when the boy came in from the field at noon. He brought in a fat sleek mule, waived the bridle high in the air and hitting her over the back, exclaimed: "This is the last year I will follow an old hardtail around." There were volumes to me in this remark. The idea of sending a big, strong, thinking boy to the field to follow a mule with a sweep, day after day, thus limiting the efficiency of the boy and leaving nothing but impressions of drudgery in farm life upon him.

I knew that this young man had been cultivating cotton and in running around and "busting out" the middles he was walking six miles a day in a sandy loose soil, difficult to walk over, and hot and parching to the feet. This, under a baking sun, is enough to make any boy protest to the mule, even though he hesitates to protest to his father. Had this boy been given a riding cultivator he could have covered with two horses eight to ten acres per day—more than two men can do with walking implements—and could have done it with less irritation to himself, and the hired man who accompanied him could have been spared for other work. I know the two-horse cultivator would have worked here to perfection for the land was smooth, had few ditches, and clear of all stumps. When I pictured this boy doing other farm work with scant and inadequate machinery, I felt that in this system lay the cause for so many of our good, native, southern boys "digging out" to the city, and out of the south to the industrial centers of the north.

Recently I made a trip through the northeastern section of the state, and at every station the platforms were loaded with riding cultivators. There were so many of them that I wondered if the makers had any left for other sections of the state. They were of all kinds, Averys, Oliverrs, J. Deeres, I. H. C.s, E. & B.s, P. & O.s, so many in fact that they ran from names to initials, and I looked around to see if they hadn't run out of initials and started to number them. At one town I talked with a farmer who was on his way home with five on his load. He told me that the boys wanted to try them and five of his community had pooled, and purchased in one lot thus saving something on the purchase price. I was glad to see this movement toward labor saving machinery for "the boys." It will lighten their burden make them more efficient, and farm life will become more attractive.

But in all my travels I did not see one riding planter. I am wondering if planting is to continue on the same old basis? Walk two to three miles to plant an acre, and then have it done in an inferior manner. One man with two mules and a two-row planter, will cover more than double the acreage that two men with single planters can cover, and sometimes the saving of a man-day, together with effective seeding, is important in practical agriculture. The riding planters are bound to do a better job because with them the feet are set to any desired depth and held there, insuring all the seed the same depth and moisture conditions, resulting in an even stand.

The question of depth of planting leads to another observation. Farmers all know how exacting the soy bean is as to depth of planting. It will come up with the least moisture, but it must be in the moisture zone, not above it, in the dry surface soil, not too deep where it is liable to break its neck in getting through. The best results in planting this crop is with the two-row corn planter, or perhaps preferably with the grain drill. If a grain drill is used the boys will quickly learn how to stop or plug the runs not wanted in planting. And when they find that with a 10-disc drill and two horses they can plant three rows at a time at the rate of eight to ten acres per day they will see something to farming besides drudgery. They will also take pride in the fact that just enough seed is used per acre and that these seed are all placed in a little furrow in the moisture strata so that they come up evenly and to a good stand. If in buying grain drills, one orders the grass seed attachment, the machine can be put to a wide number of uses. The smaller seed, alfalfa, crimson clover, rape, turnips, spinach, radish and grass seed may be sown in rows or broadcast.

With the grain box, grain alone may be sown or in mixture with such other plants as vetch and Canada pears, or with the two boxes filled, grain with the clovers and grasses may be sown—at one and the same time. Some men place the grain drill next in importance to the plow on the farm. It puts the plan in planting. Get one for the boys to study over. It may awaken some latent ability in them, cause them to think and plan and lead to a better system of crop management.

"BEST IN THE LONG RUN"

IS IT NOT TIME TO HAVE AN EXECUTIVE HEAD AT WASHINGTON?

Under just what plan of government in its executive department is this country being conducted at the present time?

Is its management, under a faded golf cap and within an old sweater, the kind of government that was intended by the makers of our Constitution? We think not.

Never before, since George Washington began in 1789 with his council of four members, has there been a period of so long duration in which the chief executive of the nation ignored his chosen advisers and decided whatever questions he chose to decide without consultation with or advice from the heads of the departments of government.

It has been months since the Cabinet was in session, and its members, intimidated by the criticism visited upon Secretary Lansing when he was forced out of official life, dare scarcely to pass the time of day for fear they will be accused of conspiracy against the White House.

The nearest approach to a Cabinet gathering has been a tea party arranged at the White House to which the wives of Cabinet members were invited.

The Constitution definitely provides that "he (the president) shall receive ambassadors and other public ministers;" but there are several representatives of foreign governments who have been waiting in Washington for months and are still unable to see the president.

Any businesslike corporation conducted under a constitution which provided that when its chief officer became unable "to discharge the powers and duties of the said affice" another should be authorized to take his place, would long ago have called into operation the provision and reestablished the machinery of government so that it would function normally and efficiently.

It was never intended that the government of this country should be operated as it has been since the president returned from his ill-fated excursion in behalf of the document of Versailles.

With the public kept in ignorance as to his physical and mental condition, except, so far as external events prove, that he is still unable save at long intervals to take such simple exercise and bear such minor effort as riding in an automobile, the president continues to hold jealously in his own hands all executive initiative and power. The first Cabinet meeting in three months was called yesterday.

The "outlaw" railroad strike now crimping the country is due primarily to more than a year's delay in answering a regular and reasonable demand for wage readjustment. All power to act by any government official under the old railroad law ceased long ago. The new law provided a new Labor Board to deal with such disputes. But in seven weeks since the law was enacted the president did not until yesterday take the first step to appoint such a board. No one else than the president can lawfully act.

That we are getting along as well as we are seems to be a wonder. That we would get along much better and certainly much safer with the government conducted as it should be and as it was intended to be is a certainty.—New York American.

J. B. Wiggins of Dry Valley was here last Friday attending the county Republican Convention.

And Was Run-Down, Weak and Nervous, Says Florida Lady. Five Bottles of Cardui Made Her Well.

Kathleen, Fla.—Mrs. Dallas Prine, of this place, says: "After the birth of my last child...I got very much run-down and weakened, so much that I could hardly do anything at all. I was so awfully nervous that I could scarcely endure the least noise. My condition was getting worse all the time...

I knew I must have some relief or I would soon be in the bed and in a serious condition for I felt so badly and was so nervous and weak I could hardly live. My husband asked Dr. ———about my taking Cardui. He said, 'It's a good medicine, and good for that trouble', so he got me 5 bottles...After about the second bottle I felt greatly improved...before taking it my limbs and hands and arms would go to sleep. After taking it, however, this poor circulation disappeared. My strength came back to me and I was soon on the road to health. After the use of about 5 bottles, I could do all my house-work and attend to my six children besides."

You can feel safe in giving Cardui a thorough trial for your troubles. It contains no harmful or habit-forming drugs, but is composed of mild, vegetable, medicinal ingredients with no bad after-effects. Thousands of women have voluntarily written, telling of the good Cardui has done them. It should help you, too. Try it. E 74

GRAND RELIEF FROM CATARH

Mrs. Brundige says every one can get it just like she did... Three bottles of Dreco fixed her up fine

Also took the ache out of her Rhumatism and banished a severe case of Constipation

"I've found out from my own experience that it is foolish for people to be annoyed any longer by catarrh" said Mrs. E. N. Brundige, 85 Jeff Davis St., Montgomery, Ala.

"I know what it is to hawk and spit and try to clear your nose, throat and head for a couple of hours every morning. I know what it is to have constant dripping into your throat that keeps you constantly trying to clear it out. I also know what heavy breathing and unsound sleep catarrh causes, and the head noises too.

"But I also know, after trying lots of remedies, what will go right to the seat of the trouble and overcome the annoying symptoms. Dreco will do it. Dreco did it for me, and it's foolish for people to suffer like this when this grand medicine s within the reach of everyone.

"Dreco also eased a bad case of aching rhumatic joints; got my bowels to acting regularly every day, whereas before I used to be severely constipated. This is great medicine and I strongly advise sufferers to give it a trial."

The only way to get rid of catarrh is through the blood. Dreco is taken up by the blood very quickly, carried to the weakened membranes and restores them to healthy condition. That is the secret of Dreco's power over catarrh.

All good druggists now sell Dreco and it is being especially introduced in Clanton by Upchurch Drug Co.

Why a Majority of the Smaller Cars Come on Goodyear Tires

Last year more cars using 30x3-, 30x3½-, or 31x4-inch tires were factory-equipped with Goodyear Tires than with any other kind.

This is plainly a result of the high relative value produced in these tires for the smaller cars by Goodyear's enormous resources and scrupulous care.

They represent the same intense endeavor to supply utmost satisfaction in tires that has laid the basis for the marked preference which exists everywhere for Goodyear Tires in the larger sizes.

This real Goodyear value in tires is available for your Ford, Chevrolet, Dort, Maxwell, or other car using one of these sizes, at our nearest Service Station. Go there for these tires and Goodyear Heavy Tourist Tubes.

30x3½ Goodyear Single-Cure Fabric, Anti-Skid Tread ____ $21.50

Goodyear Heavy Tourist Tubes are thick, strong tubes that reinforce casings properly. Why risk a good casing with a cheap tube? Goodyear Heavy Tourist Tubes cost little more than tubes of less merit. 30x3½ size in waterproof bag ____ $4.50

It is not safe to buy land or to lend money and accept land as security without first investigating the title of the land. Often there are unpaid mortgages, judgments, or other liens affecting the title, which an abstract would set out. Therefore, when buying land or lending money thereon, it is important that an abstract of title be furnished. A few dollars spent for an abstract is cheaper than going ahead and having a law suit a little later on.

And Play While You Pay

Pathe Phonographs Play All Disc Records.

Every Pathe Phonograph we illustrate here is equipped with the Universal tone arm that allows it to play every make of Disc Record—and play them perfectly. When playing Pathe Records you use the famous Pathe ball-pointed needle—and you never have to change the needle. Pathe records never wear out. They are just as good after playing them a hundred times as they are when you first get them from us in sealed envelopes. And Pathephones have a tone quality that has helped make them one of the most popular of phonographs made. It is a genuine Pathe, all right—and you know what that means, a phonograph that has every good point that you always reckoned a real phonograph ought to have; su-preme in every point—supreme in tone and that is the one biggest thing that really counts with any phonograph. Don't be content with half a phonograph; get the complete phonograph—the one that plays all makes of records—and plays them perfectly.

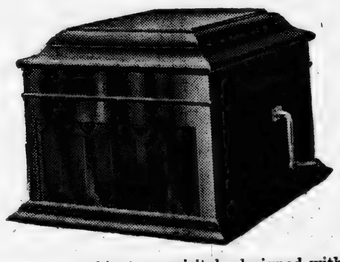
The Pathe artistic standard is well illustrated in this model, refined in its simplicty, dgnified n the harmony of ts proportions; golden or fumed oak finish; all exposed parts nickel plated; Universal tone arm, Pathe perfect tone control, Pathe reproducer, Sapphire Ball, double spring motor; size 18 inches wide, 19½ inches deep, 41½ inches high.

$50 UP



Model No. 3—An inconspicuous cabinet, exquisitely designed with the same skill and craftsmanship that is used in the more elaborate models. This model gives all the important Pathe features at a low price. All exposed parts nickel plated; universal tone arm, Pathe reproducer, sapphire ball, double spring motor; size 17½ inches wide, 18¼ inches deep, 13 inches high.

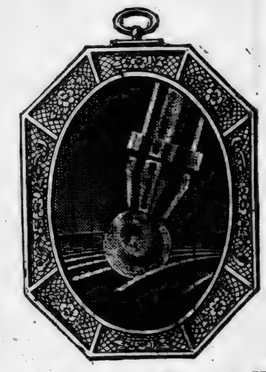
Model No. 12

Refinement and dignity are expressed in every line of this design, made in mahogany; all exposed parts nickel plated, Universal tone arm, Pathe perfect tone control, Pathe Reproducer, Sapphire Ball, double spring motor; size 20⅛ inches wide, 21 inches deep, 44 inches high. This is a model of the highest type.

Price $175

Pathe Records are played with a Pathe Sapphire. No needles to change and no needles to buy. Pathe records are practically indestructible, are all double-faced. They will bring into your home the best music of all the world.

Easy terms May be arranged.



Pathe Sapphire Ball

There is no secret difference in the Pathe. The duplication instead of mere reproduction of the living voices of the artists and tone of instruments is due to the Pathe Sapphire Ball, which fits and fills the record grooves, so always giving the full tone value without wearing out either sapphire or record.

SOCIETY AND PERSONALS

MRS. R. E. LUCKIE, Editor.

LITTLE PATSEY POWE'S BIRTHDAY PARTY

Last Wednesday was little Patsey Powe Richard's third birthday. She was three years old; and long will she remember the day, for it was an epoch in her little life.

Grandmother VanDerveer opened wide the doors of her home to her little visitor from Meridian, and turned over the premises to about twenty-five tots of Patsey's own age. Together those children had the rolickingest sort of a time—probably the very best time they ever did have.

Tales were told; songs were sung, "hide and seek," and other games were played. Then the little folks were invited in to partake of refreshments and to cut the pretty cake, around which burned three pink shaded candles.

The afternoon was too quickly spent, but those happy children will long remember that third birthday of Patsy Powe Richards.

Mrs. Richards was assisted in entertaining the children by Mesdames Grady Reynolds and J. M. VanDerveer.

Miss Mary Curry served punch.

MRS. HAYES HOSTESS

The Embroidery Club enjoyed one of the earliest meetings o f spring Thursday when Mrs. J. P. Hayes entertained at a porch party. Attractive baskets filled with fragrant blossome were arranged here and there, during the afternoon a lovely salad plate with iced tea was served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Hugh Jones.

Mrs. Watts Moore was hostess on Tuesday at her home, when she had a spend-the-day party to the Sewing Club. A lovely dinner was served to Mesdames Simpson, Macy Jones, McSwain, Luckie and W. I. Mullins.

Rev. and Mrs. E. C. Maye have as their guest for the week Dr. Maye of Alexander, La.

Mrs. W. I. Mullins and Mrs. Watts Moore and twins were visitors to Montgomery last week.

Mr. Alex Richards of Meridian, Miss., motored to Clanton last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Roper left Saturday evening, after spending a couple of weeks with relatives in Clanton.

Mrs. L. H. Reynolds went to Montgomery Saturday.

Miss Williamson left for her home in Demopolis Thursday, after spending the winter in Clanton.

Mrs. J. M. Robinson was operated on at the Clanton Infirmary a few days ago. A cancer was removed from her breast. She is reported as doing fine now.

Don't forget that you will be welcome at the PLEAS-U when you need a hair-cut or a shave.

MOTORCYCLE For Sale—Harley-Davidson, first class fix, equipped with side car, good tires. Call on me or inquire at Dr. Rowland's, over the post office. E. V. SYKES.

Since the post office has been moved we think it is time for the town to carry out the proposed paving plans of the side walks on Sixth and Seventh Streets, between First and Second Avenues.

WOMANS WISSIONARY SOCIETY MEETING

The Womans Missionary Society held their regular business meeting on Monday at the home of Mrs. P. D. Wilson.

After a short business session a lovely salad plate was served.

MRS. HENLEY ENTERTAINS

One of the most enjoyable parties of the week was given Thursday night at the home of Mrs. Gilvey McKee, when she entertained the younger set in celebration of Mr. L. C. Henley's thirteenth birthday. Punch was served in the hall by Miss Anice Kemp. After several games the happy crowd was served delicious refreshments.

MRS. JONES' BIRTHDAY PARTY

Among the parties for the week was a pretty one for the little tots when Miss Clyde Jones celebrated her fifth birthday on last Thursday evening.

Punch was served throughout the evening by Misses Gladys Spear and Cleo Broadhead.

After several out-door games the little folks were invited into the dining room where ice cream and cake were served.

NOTE OF THANKS

The Senior Class wishes to thank the Civic Club for the boutonnieres they so sweetly sent them on the night of their graduation, May 12.

Mr. and Mrs. T. C. McSwain were in Montgomery on business Monday.

Mrs. R. E. Luckie and children spent Sunday in Jemison with Mrs. L. C. Reynolds.

Mrs. J. P. VanDerveer has returned home aftter spending several weeks in Birmingham.

Mrs. JohnVanDerveer and boys left Friday for Kansas City, where she will spend the summer with her parents.

Mr. Frank Mullins left Saturday for West Point, Ga., to take up the study of Electrical Engineering.

Misses May and Lola Roberts were guests o f Miss Nannie Griffith in Birmingham Wednesday and Thursday.

Dr. Wood of Thorsby brought the little daughter of George Freeman down to the Clanton Infirmary last week for an X-Ray picture of her arm.

MAPLE SPRINGS

Everybody is enjoying good health and plenty of rain at this place. But there is not much cotton chopping going on now, for it is too wet all the time.

Sunday was preaching day here and Bro. Norris preached us a good sermon. There was a large crowd present.

We are glad to know that Mr. Claud Downs is at home for a while.

Mr. Willie Ray and wife spent Sunday with Mr. Jodie Lansford and family.

Mrs. Mattie Mims spent Monday with Mrs. Cora E. Mims and children.

Miss Melba Wilson returned to Palos Tuesday from a two weeks visit with her mother.

Mrs. Cora Mims and girls spent the the day with Mrs. Carrie Ray and daughter Tuesday, and Clara, Ida, Myrtle and Pearlie spent the afternoon fishing.

Mr. Olice Davis from Birmingham spent Saturday night and Sunday with his mothter, near Clanton.

We are glad to announce that there will be an all day singing at Maple Springs the Fifth Sunday in May. Bro. Wibb Parrish will preach at 11 o'clock. Everybody come, as we hope to have a good singing, and know we will hear some good preaching.

Judge L. H. Reynolds went to the District and State Republican Conventions in Anniston and Birmingham Tuesday and Wednesday.

Everybody is far behind with their work. It rains so much that no work can be done. Most people are chopping their cotton. We organized a Sunday School last Sunday, May 6. Elected for Superintendent, Mr. Joe Cleckler, Secretary Miss Pearl Giles, teachers, Mrs. Fannie Retherford for Class 1; Miss. Balzora Thomas Class No. 2; and Mrs. Leila Traywick for Class No. 3.

There was a large crowd present and we hope to have more next Sunday. We hope all our people will come a long and help us with our Sunday School.

Next Second Saturday and Sunday is preaching day. On Saturday the church will observe communion, so we want all of our members to come for we have never been able to get all of them out on this day.

Mrs. Lula Giles spent Sunday afternoon with Mrs. Leila Traywick.

Misses Pearnie Gentry, Pearl Giles, Bertha Giles, Drenda Hadnot and Bessie Burnett dined with Mrs. Leona Giles Sunday a nd then a bout two car loads went to Maddox Chapel in the afternoon to preachcing.

Misses Flora Williamson, Pearl Robinson and Sarah Lambert and others went to Lock 12 Sunday afternoon.

Mr. Monroe Giles, who is at work at Attalla spent a few days with home folks. His friends were glad indeed to see him back at Cane Creek again.

The news reached here Sunday of the unexpected marriage on Saturday night of Mr. Allen Moats and Miss Henry Lee Sanders. We wish them a long happy life.

Sheriff John L. Gore attended the District Republican Convention at Anniston Tuesday and also the State Convention at Birmingham Wednesday. He was a delegate from Chilton County.

The town council has called for an election to determine whether or not $7,000 of bonds shall be issued to build another story to the Grammar School building. Everybody can see the pressing need of better accommodations at our grammar school, and we predict that the proposition will meet with almost unanimous approval from our citizenship.

Elbert Kanter, who will be remembered as a former merchant of Clanton, was here Tuesday for the first time in several years. His friends were glad to see him again.

RACE FOR U. S. SENATOR CLOSE UNDERWOOD WINS BY 1,668

Heflin Nominated for Short Term By 11,865 Over White—O'Neal Was A Good Third According to the Official Count.

Montgomery.—Senator Oscar W. Underwood was nominated to succeed himself in the Alabama state primary election May 11. Complete official returns from the sixty-seven counties are:

Underwood, 66,871 first choice, 2,259 second.

Musgrove, 56,563 first, 4,797 second.

Weakley, 8,640 first, 25,898 second.

Underwood polled 1,668 more first choice votes than the combined total of his opponents. He led Musgrove by 10,308 votes.

In the race for the short term senatorship Heflin was nominated by a majority of 11,865, first and second choice, votes over Capt. Frank White. Former Governor O'Neal was a close third.

Merritt Has 10,000 Lead.

Official returns received, gave Judge Henry P. Merritt, incumbent, a lead of 10,000 over Emmet S. Thigpen for the unexpired term on the court of appeals, thus assuring the election of Judge Merritt.

John H. Wallace, Jr., State Conservation Commissioner, appears to be a winner over A. L. Kimbrough by a small margin.

Miller Defeats Brown.

Late returns confirm first reports that Judge B. M. Miller has defeated Judge Joel B. Brown, incumbent, for the unexpired term on the supreme court. Judge William H. Thomas, of Montgomery, led the three candidates for the two positions, but Judge Miller has run far ahead of Judge Brown.

A. G. Patterson defeated Sam P. Kennedy, incumbent, for president of the public service commission.

No record has been kept of the vote for delegates to the national convention, and no one knows whether the prohibitionists or anti-prohibitionists were successful.

First returns indicated that the first four names on the ticket from the state at large, all prohibitionists, would be nominated.

Complete returns having shown that Senator Underwood has a majority over both opponents for United States senator, his state headquarters, which have been open in Montgomery since January 5, were closed and Robert H. Mangum, assistant to the chairman, left for his home at Selma. Chairman Lloyd M. Hooper preceded him to Selma.

One surprise of the primary has been the small vote cast. Official returns on the long term senatorship show that only a few voters more than 120,000 were cast. It had been expected that 160,000 and probably 175,000 would participate in the primary. Rural counties did not vote their maximum strength, indicating that the farmers thought more of their crops than they did of the contests for political officers.

Foster's Statement.

Judge Foster said:

"We have made a hard fight against great odds and feel that under all the conditions the small majority against us is really a victory for the principles for which we fought. We concede Mr. Underwood's election. We express the hope that any bitterness engendered in the heat of the campaign will soon be forgotten. We are exceedingly grateful to all of our friends over the state for their loyalty to Mr. Musgrove and to the principles for which he stands."

"I would be unappreciative, indeed," Judge Foster added afterwards, "did I fail to acknowledge the loyalty and the unwavering support given us in this campaign by our friends. It has been a hard fight and against great odds and although we started the campaign late and with an incomplete organization the results show that our friends fought a good fight and kept the faith.

"Our thanks are also due those members of the press who showed us by their treatment that they wanted fair play and I can say that I will always hold them in high esteem.

"The fight is over and I trust we will all join hands now in the upbuilding of the state and in the improvement of conditions so that this will become the banner state of the union in all things appertaining to the welfare of the people."

Tyson Defeats Dent.

In the second, Congressman Dent was defeated for re-election by Judge Tyson of Montgomery. In so far as the other districts are concerned, the personnel of the congressional delegation of Alabama will remain unchanged.

In the fifth congressional district, formerly represented by Congressman Heflin, Bowling was the successful aspirant over all opponents.

Rogers Speaks At N. Y. Conference.

New York.—C. B. Rogers, president of the Alabama State Prison board told the national committee on prisons and prison labor in session here, that there are 2,300 prisoners in Alabama prisons, two-thirds of which are negroes. The women, he said, are employed in cotton mills and sewing shops, and the men in cotton and saw mills, and at farming, gardening, stock and poultry raising. The leasing system, he said, had become so odious that the governor advocated its abolition.

To Build New School.

Huntsville.—A program calling for the expenditure of $225,000 for the erection of new school buildings and repair t the grammar school building, which was recently condemned as unsafe for further use, has been presented to the city council by the city board of education, which declares that one new grammar school must be erected for white children and a new building must be built for the negro children. The grammar school cannot be used again until it is thoroughly done over.

PLOWING IN STATE IS BELOW AVERAGE

66 PER CENT OF PREPARATION FOR CROP IS ACCOMPLISHED, SAYS ESTIMATE.

EXCESSIVE RAINS IS CAUSE

Shortage of Labor a Big Factor—Only 36 Per Cent of Requirements Remain on Farm.

Montgomery.—For the past ten years the percentage of plowing accomplished on Alabama farms by the first of May has averaged 81 per cent of the total, and the amount of planting completed by the first of May has averaged 72 per cent. According to a report issued by the Alabama Co-operative Crop Reporting Service on the first of the present month only 63 per cent of the plowing in preparation of the current crop had been accomplished, and only 5 per cent of the planting had been completed to the same date.

This condition of affairs on the farms of the state is the natural result of the exceedingly unfavorable weather so far this Spring, due to excessive rains, and to the shortage of labor on the farms, which a month ago was estimated at 36 per cent of the requirements.

In the northern third of the State only 44 per cent of the plowing and 29 per cent of the planting had been completed; in the central third 69 and 58 per cent, respectfully had been completed. Perhaps not in any recent year has so small a portion of the preparatory work and planting been done as is shown by these figures. Whether it can be overcome by good weather from now on, with the known labor shortage, is very problematic. Doubtless the only chance will be to plant without plowing, which will leave the crop in a poor condition for the right kind of cultivation.

Bonded Warehouse Desired.

Florence.—Judge C. P. Almon and County Solicitor J. C. Roberts have returned from Rogersville, Ala., where they discussed with the cotton growers of that section of Lauderdale County the need for establishment of a government bonded warehouse. It was the opinion of all present that the warehouse should be established. A movement is also being made to place a government bonded warehouse for Florence.

General Bullard Speaks At Auburn.

Auburn.—Plans are being laid for making "Bullard Day," Monday, May 31, a most delightful occasion to the visitors at Auburn commencement this year. Announcement was made some time since that Gen. Robert E. Bullard had been selected as orator for alumni day.

Cyclone Strikes Wedworth.

Tuscaloosa.—A cyclone struck in the vicinity of Lock 7, at Wedworth, doing considerable damage on the government reservations. Thirteen trees were blown down, a large coal house was destroyed and chimneys from the lock houses were blown down.

Judge Resigns.

Montgomery.—Charles P. Anderson, appointed by Gov. Kilby some time ago as probate judge of Montgomery, pending the election of a successor to Judge Charles B. Teasley, resigned, in a letter to the governor tenders his resignation.

School Fund Raised.

Anniston.—Oxford has raised the $30,000 it sought with which to build a new public school building. Work on the new structure will be started this Spring and it is expected to have the building ready for use when the Fall term opens.

Bond Issue Passes.

Troy.—The City bond issue election, to determine whether Troy shall issue $65,000 worth of bonds to pay off the floating indebtedness, was held here. There was a good majority voted for the passage of the bond issue, it is said.

Bridgeport.—Agents of the government have arrived in Bridgeport and have begun actual operations in connection with the building of the lock and dam at Widow's Bar near here.

Export Figures Given.

Mobile.—During the month of March the exports from Mobile were valued at $2,153,110, according to figures received by the local customs office from the Department of Commerce in Washington.

Pig Iron Queries Flooding Plants.

Birmingham.—Southern furnace companies are to be called upon for a large quantity of pig iron for delivery during the last half of the year, judging from inquiries being received and a casual investigation of possibilities of the balance of the year. With this in view steps are being taken to furnish a large amount of iron, furnace repairing being done with the idea of permanency and for an increased output.

To Ask Why Cost.

Mobile.—The Board of Revenue and Road Commissioners at their meeting decided to ask the Washington officials why there should be a charge of $500 for repaired trucks and $250 for those not repaired, as asked by the State Highway Department, when the county put in a request for the use of five trucks. The county some time ago received three of these trucks, and the only cost was the freight.

Spoke Mill Installed.

Selma.—A spoke mill with a capacity of three cars of automobile spokes per week is now being constructed in Selma by S. J. Caldwell, formerly of Union Springs. A location has been obtained on the Southern Railway near the compress and the machinery and material has commenced to arrive. The plant will employ about 20 men besides those who cut and haul the timber.

Stage Many Fairs.

Anniston.—Community fairs are to be held in a number of Calhoun communities this Summer. At Hollingsworth plans are under way for a community fair that will be the first to be held this year in the county. Jacksonville, Choccbee and Wellington, where fairs were held last year, all will hold them again this year and other communities are planning to join the movement.

District Women's Clubs Meet.

Birmingham.—The sixth annual meeting of the third district of the Alabama Federation of Women's Clubs was held here in the private dining room of the Tutwiler with Mrs. J. E. Frazier in the president's chair. Invocation by Mrs. James W. Byron followed by the greeting by Mrs. Kenneth Charlton and response by Miss Evaline Wilkerson were features of the session.

100 Boys Enrolled.

Talladega.—About 100 boys are enrolled in the six boys' pig and corn clubs organized thus far this season in this county. More than 75 have entered the pig growing contest, while the number of entrants in the corn raising contest is somewhat uncertain at this time, owing to the unfavorable weather conditions and delayed plantings.

Funds Raised By Society Women.

Anniston.—Through the effort of Anniston society women and girls, more than $2,000 of the $5,000 Salvation Army quota here has been raised. The women and girls donned the Army poke bonnets and carried tambourines which were filled with money a number of times.

Concrete Work Begun.

Florence.—Announcement is made that the first concrete has been poured on the first section of Wilson dam. The test of the great concrete mixers proved most satisfactory and the concrete work of the dam will proceed with great speed during the low water period.

Tumlin Farm Is Sold.

Gadsden.—The farm of the late Senator Thomas Tumlin, in Cherokee County, has been sold for division and the price paid was $30,500. This is one of the old before-the-war plantations and the owner was noted for his hospitality.

Tonnage Reports Good.

Tuscaloosa.—Business going through the locks on the Warrior these days is showing a gratifying increase. The total tonnage passing through Lock 10, where the record is kept, shows a total tonnage of 12,450 for the month of April.

$,700 Dog Licenses Paid.

Huntsville.—Thirty-seven hundred persons in Madison County have paid licenses on dogs for this year and the state's part, which has been remitted, is $5,000.

$1,00 Fine Is Fixed.

Clinton.—Lander Minus, charged with making liquor, plead guilty in circuit court here and was fined $1,000.

Power Contract Signed.

Gadsden.—It was announced that the Alabama Power Company had signed a contract with the Georgia Power Company for an exchange of power, an arrangement that will make Gadsden the largest power distributing center in the South.

Trucks To Be Repaired.

What Is Taking Place In The Southland Will Be Found In Brief Paragraphs

Foreign—

Decision by the British government to make an early appeal to the country by a general election in an efofrt to fix up a definite Irish policy has been reached according to rumors current in London. In well-informed circles, these rumors are ridiculed, however, and as yet there has been nothing to confirm them.

It is said the British government feels itself confronted with two alternatives—acceptance of the implied challenge of civil war in Ireland or acquiescence in the establishment of an Irish republic—as a result of widespread disorders in the island, culminating in attacks on baracks at fifty places in Ireland.

Forty-six Germans, ranking from an army corps commander to a simple private, figure o nthe allies' first specified list of war criminals to be arraigned in the Leipsic supreme court.

The Poles, helped by the Ukrainians, are reported to be driving the Bolsheviki out of the Kiev district, and are pushing forward. No great loss of life is reported.

The British-Japanese alliance probably will be continued for another year without change. This is the opinion of experts in the far eastern bureau of the foreign office of the British empire.

The French cabinet has "gone after" the French labor federation with the intention of forcing dissolution of that body. The premier says it is either a case of the federation running the government and the government running the affairs of the country.

Premier Nitti of Italy has at last lost his portfolio. He demanded a vote of confidence and lost by 193 to 112.

Two constables of the Timoleague (Cork county, Ireland), police staation were shot dead on patrol duty by a party of men in ambush. At Bandon, Seargeant Flynn was shot dead while another constable was wounded. Police Sergeant McDonnel, belonging to the Cavan force, was shot dead near his hut at Clonakilty, where on the night of March 31 he led his small garrison in a stubborn resistance against a Sin Fein attack.

Germany's military air service has been disbanded under the terms of the Versailles treaty. The commission will leave standing one hangar and one airplane factory which will be used for international air service.

Bolshevik troops fighting in the defense of the city of Kiev, Russia, have strengthened their resistance considerably. The battle for the possession of the city still is raging. The fighting is said to be particularly severe to the northwest of the city.

The report that President Carranza, fleeing from the capital of Mexico, was captured at Apisaco, is officially confirmed. General Obregon is heading the revolutionary troops and has entered Mexico City.

Washington—

White house officials say that President Wilson's war-time address to the Atlantic fleet and messages to Admiral Sims were laid before the naval investigating committee by Secretary Daniels will the full consent and approval of the president.

Reports from Mexico persist that Carranza and his party of five thousand troops have either been captured or slain.

President Wilson's bold and audacious war policy for the navy was laid before the senate naval investigating committee by Secretary Daniels in continuing his answer to charges by Admiral Sims against the navy department's conduct of the war. Mr. Daniels coupled with the presentation of a counter charge that Sims himself had opposed and held back execution of the greatest "bold and vigorous" naval project against enemy submarine, the laying of the North sea mine barrage.

Financial aid for exporters was withdrawn by the government. At the request of Secretary Houston, the war finance corporation suspended further advances to aid in shipments abroad except such as already have been authorized. Mr. Houston said if more loans were made by the war finance corporation the government would again have to enter the borrowing field. This, he said, did not seem advisable under existing circumstances.

Matamoro has been added to the list of towns controlled by the Mexican rebels.

Congestion of freight in the principal railroad terminals, probably the worst since the hard winter of 1917, is beginning to be felt in business and commerce all over the country.

Senator Reed declared the President's call to the Democratic party to carry the treaty ratification into the campaign would mean for the Democrats the loss of every state north of the Mason and Dixon line and the breaking of the "solid" South.

Those three and four service stripe ex-doughboys and gobs who have been figuring up gleefully the amounts of their cash bonuses are going to be in for an awful jolt if a decision taken tentatively by the Republicans of the house ways and means committee becomes permanent. Under their plan they will receive no more than $600 or more than $625 worth of aid under the alternative schemes of settlement, such as vocational training, land settlement and paid up insurance.

President Wilson's veto of the legislative appropriation bill as containing an infringement on executive authority was sustained in the house against the effort of the Republican majority to override it. Though aided by a handful of 28 Democrats, the Republicans failed to obtain the necessary two-thirds majority to repass the bill over the presidents' disapproval.

The plan of reclamation of land so as to provide farms was changed in the substitute bill to eliminate the $1,000 loan and also to reduce the authorization for carrying out the scheme from $300,000,000 to $250,000,000.

President Wilson's call from Washington to the Democratic party to carry the treaty ratification issue into the campaign drew expressions from members of his own party, and also from Senator Johnson of California, leader of the Republican irreconcibals group in the senate treaty battle, and other Republicans.

Republican members of the house ways and means committee agreed to bring in a substitute for the soldier bonus bill with the proposal for a 1 per cent tax on sales eliminated as a means of raising the necessary funds. Other tax provisions of the bill would be extended over three years under the agreement.

Governor de la Huerta of Sonora, civil chief of the Mexican revolution, plans to go to Mexico City shortly, according to advices received at the state department. He is expected to assume the authority of chief executive and to retain it until governors of states select a successor, or a president is named in the July elections.

A study of profiteering in American industry, made under the auspices of the railway brotherhoods, has been presented to the railroad labor board in support of the railway workers' demands for higher pay and to refute the charge that increased labor costs are responsible for the high cost of living. Calling attention to the many war-made millionaires, the study contends that a three-fold relationship exists between high prices, profiteering and the addition to the quota of millionaires.

Domestic—

Hundreds of cases of malt, several barrels of hops and thousands of prescriptions said to give instructions on how to make home brew with a high alcoholic percentage, were confiscated by raiding prohibition enforcement officers in New Orleans, and according to the officers the raid involves more than ten thousand persons in New Orleans and the Gulf Coast. Books of the Tropical Food Products company in which are recorded the names of thousands of persons who have purchased home-brew outfits were taken.

Twenty-four tenants in an apartment house at Chicago formed a company and bought an apartment of their own, preferring to pay $20 a month rent rather than $100. The movement is reported to be spreading.

The suden clang of a motorman's gong cost David Gerstein, an auctioneer, $12,500 in cash. He had just withdrawn the money to invest in a stock for auction. A motorman's clang of his bell frightened Gerstein into doing a hasty step to safety and in doing so he lost the package out of his overcoat pocket containing the money. He fainted and was rushed to a New York hospital, where he told of his misfortune.

Edgar Watkins, sometime defeated candidate for congress from the First Georgia district, general counsel of the Southern Wholesale Grocers' Association, advised the the association in session at St. Louis Mo., to disregard the Lever food and fuel act in the sale of sugar.

The confessed bigamis-murderer sentenced at Los Angeles, Calif., to life imprisonment under the name of James P. Watson, according to District Attorney Thomas Lee Woolwine, is that official of the murder of a pretty woman victim and stated his true name was Dan Holden and that he was a native of Arkansas. The name victim was that of Eleanor Francis, who, Holden admitted he had drowned in the Spokane river near the city of Spokane.

Completely disguised as a woman from blonde wig to corset and lingerie, a man who gave his name as Bruce Barthing was captured by the police after a chase through the streets of Chicago. The police are holding him in connection with a number of robberies committed in an exclusive north side residence district.

One of the most daring train robberies in the middle west in recent years ended in the death of a bandit in Chicago who looted a mail car of the Illinois Central New Orleans Limited of currency estimated to total about one hundred thousand dollars. The money was recovered. One postal man, shot by the bandit, died later in a Chicago hospital, and another was wounded seriously.

One hundred horses were burned to death in Chicago in a spectacular fire that for hours threatened to sweep through the entire stockyards district. The fire started from a cigarette

Governor de la Huerta of Sonora, civil chief of the Mexican revolution, plans to go to Mexico City shortly, according to advices received at the state department. He is expected to assume the authority of chief execu- tive and to retain it until governors of states select a successor, or a presi- dent is named in the July elections.

A study of profiteering in American industry, made under the auspices of the railway brotherhoods, has been presented to the railroad labor board in support of the railway workers' de- mands for higher pay and to refute the charge that increased labor costs are responsible for the high cost of living. Calling attention to the many war-made millionaires, the study con- tends that a three-fold relationship ex- ists between high prices, profiteering and the addition to the quota of mil- lionaires.

Hundreds of cases of malt, several barrels of hops and thousands of pre- scriptions said to give instructions on how to make home brew with a high alcoholic percentage, were confiscated by raiding prohibition enforcement of- ficers in New Orleans, and according to the officers the raid involves more than ten thousand persons in New Or- leans and the Gulf Coast. Books of the Tropical Food Products company in which are recorded the names of thousands of persons who have pur- chased home-brew outfits were taken.

Twenty-four tenants in an apart- ment house at Chicago formed a com- pany and bought an apartment of their own, preferring to pay $20 a month rent rather than $100. The movement is reported to be spreading.

The sudden clang of a motorman's gong cost David Gerstein, an auction- eer, $12,500 in cash. He had just with- drawn the money to invest in a stock for auction. A motorman's clang of his bell frightened Gerstein into do- ing a hasty step to safety and in do- ing so he lost the package out of his overcoat pocket containing the money. He fainted and was rushed to a New York hospital, where he told of his misfortune.

"I was so bad off with kidney trouble I had to give up my work as engineer," says J. B. Eagless, 210 West 60th St., Chicago, Ill. "My back gave completely. It was as weak as if it were broken. Often I tossed and turned the whole night long. I became dizzy and would have to grab the nearest object to keep from falling. At times the kidney secretions hardly passed at all, while again they would be profuse and oblige me to arise time and time again. The urine burned cruelly.

"I grew five pounds in weight; and I had taken so many things without relief I became discouraged; in fact, I was told there was no help for me.

"At last I began with Doan's Kidney Pills, and they made a new man of me. It wasn't any time before I was back to normal weight and had passed a life insurance examination, without any trouble. Over twelve years have since gone by and my health is still permanent."

CURRENT WIT and HUMOR

AN UNSOCIABLE CREATURE.

"Are the Jibbletons the kind of people you like to have about you?"

"No," replied Mr. Grumpson, "they're not. The Jibbletons are always nagging me about being unsociable. They seem to think that just because a man builds a big, broad veranda around his house he ought to keep it cluttered up with neighbors. I built that veranda to sit on all by myself and I don't mind telling you there are times when I wish it was a mile wide."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

Contrary Process.

"What is the difference between a man who is attending to his son and heir in the woodshed and his daughter who is in her room powdering her sunburned face?"

"I suppose the chief difference is that the father with his son is tanning his hide while the daughter is hiding her tan."

HOW TO LIVE

Common Sense Comments on Health, Happiness and Longevity

By GEORGE F. BUTLER, A. M., M. D.

Copyright, 1920, by International Press Bureau

OLD AGE.

We should welcome the advancing years as did Fleming in Longfellow's "Hyperion" when he says: "For my part I am happier as I grow older. When I compare my sensations and enjoyments now with what they were ten years ago, the comparison is vastly in favor of the present. Much of the fever and fretfulness of life is over. The world and I look each other more calmly in the face. My mind is more self-possessed. It has done me good somewhat parched by the heat and dreariness by the rain of life."

"Take heed unto thyself," may be addressed to the old man with scarcely less force of application than to the young man. An old man should avoid all sudden and extreme changes in occupation or modes of life. Regularity and moderation must be observed. Discipline is very important. Spasmodic industry prevents that development of a self-regulating automatic generation of energy which saves the brain so much. He needs to know the importance of proper exercise, and of sleep, rest and recreation. He should live simply, being temperate in eating and drinking. Too much attention cannot be paid to the matter of feeding, as to the quantity, kind and quality of the food taken. Eat moderately, not too heartily.

Nothing is more desirable than to keep the brain active. Don't be a "has been." Keep in the game and live in this living age, drawing fresh mental vigor from your daily intercourse with the young thought of the acting world.

As we grow old, we need to know that we will remain young if we keep the heart young, and this we can do by mingling with the young. Nothing will contribute more toward protracting the period of old age and rendering it healthy than the possession of a contented, cheerful and hopeful state of mind. Cultivate the habit of looking for the best side of things and keeping your attention fixed on it. It is astonishing how much good there is in the world if you look for it resolutely. Your own mind will keep sweet and serene and your friends will welcome you with a smile. The man who has sought the good all his days has stored up enough virtue to help him out of his hole. Such a man does not stop to bewail his failure—he does not know the world. Optimism is the foundation and crown of all success. As you grow old, cultivate a sympathy for the world at large, for its weakness, for the young, and the return in health and happiness will come to you a hundredfold.

Old age and decline may be as gentle and sweet and grateful as the sequence of blossom and fruit and harvest. Old age is the harvest of life of which youth and early manhood are the spring and seedtime, the fruitage of other years; the storehouse in which is gathered up the product and result of our past labors, experience and trials.

It is possible for a man with winter on his head to have eternal spring in his heart; to have no hate, no grouch, no prejudice; to have a breath sweet as a baby's, muscles that do the bidding of the brain, and nerves that never go on a strike; to become old in years yet have the freshness of perpetual prime; to so live that when he drops the debris of the past he will breathe the ether of immortality and his cheek mantle with eternal bloom. LEARN HOW TO LIVE.

VACATIONS.

Take a vacation! When I think of all the good times there are in this world which you and I might be in if we only had the good sense to avail ourselves of our opportunities, I am inclined to think we are not to be commiserated so much after all if we fail to have our good time oftener. Don't think you haven't time to take a short vacation. You have. Don't wait for the opportunity to present itself, take the opportunity. If one sat on shore and waited for some trig little boat from off the sea to sail up to the strand, draw one into it by some method of affinity unknown to science and carry one off to Spain, don't you think one would grow gray-headed and wan before the voyage commenced? It is just as silly and just as hopeless to wait for some full-rigged opportunity to draw near and force you on board. Without some effort on your part you will never set sail. You will never go anywhere if you do not arise and go. Leave your work for a while; leave things undone if need be. Bother the duties! Shoo the obligations! Just you get up and go!

What one needs to be well and happy is out-of-door exercise—to get in touch with nature and forget oneself. The open air is not only a cure for the body, but for the mind as well. Nature is not only a fairy godmother, not only a revelation of beauty, but a guide and a teacher. We are told that Buddha went into the forest to look for truth. He left mankind and went to nature for help. And you will be helped spiritually and physically by going into God's sanatorium of out-of-doors.

All nature teems with joy and peace on summer days, seeming to laugh and chatter and whisper to us of health and happiness. There is motion in the ground. Each rill and trunk of tree and stem of flower and blade of grass feels the thrill of life. Health and energy are abroad in the land. And yet some of us are discontented and feel ourselves misused because we happen to be a little short of money now and then, and it is hard to find the plums in our pudding; or we are sick, or think we are, and are despondent and hopeless. These thoughts are only the transient reign of winter in the heart, and are due largely to the need of change—a vacation. Get out of doors! Rejoice with the trees, the flowers and the birds. It is an exhilarating, healthful and sublime uplift that they will give you if you will but go to them.

What has not quitting the crowded city for a change of air effected! How many has it not snatched from the jaws of death! How many has it not saved from sickness! How many consumptives, melancholy hypochondriacs and waning and harassed dyspeptics has it not restored to former healthfulness and joy. Go to Nature! It will strengthen your bodies, uplift your souls and help you to forget how tired and troubled you are. And the slips of health and contentment you will gather you should plant in the neglected garden of your soul. "Remember, it is not always youth time any more than it is always May; and grafts and shoots that grow readily in spring will take no root in bleak November. Cultivate your smiles and your simple services of love now and old age shall be but an afternoon trellis, hung deep with perfumed roses, as beautiful in the sunset glow as in the dawn." LEARN HOW TO LIVE.

Health Notes

It should be your aim to make of your life a journey toward the ideal; to live with gratitude, with devoutness, with gentleness and courage. Then add to it the humility which kneels, and the charity which gives, and you have the whole wisdom of the children of God.

Anyone who is anxious to live long and preserve his youth should spend as much time as possible in the open air. After the day's work is finished we should always get out into the air, in the park or in the woods, if possible.

Fruit stimulates and improves appetite and digestion, relieves thirst, and introduces water into the system; acts as a laxative or astringent, stimulates the kidneys and supplies the organic salts necessary to proper nutriment.

Many people are so accustomed to loading the stomach beyond its normal capacity that they are never content to leave the table until the stomach is stretched by a large quantity of food and drink.

It is our duty to so order our habits with reference to the maintenance of a high degree of effectiveness, to so utilize all means, material and spiritual, which make for soundness: that we shall be up to the mark in physical health.

Some of us perhaps at the present day do not sufficiently appreciate the importance of leisure and securing opportunities for meditation. We make life too much of a rush and bustle; even our games are turn into a business.

The way of health lies through obedience to law, and the discernment of laws determining health lies in man's recognition of the fact that he is a complex being, a conscious spark of divinity embodied in matter and that no part of his nature can be neglected or ignored without making the whole man sick.

We are walking along the paths of a very beautiful world. It is a perpetual panorama, passing by us every day; and we shall add greatly to the happiness of life, and to the elevation and purification of all our faculties, if we acquire the habit of working for its beauties.

Fruits and vegetables should not, as a rule, be eaten together, that is, at the same meal; if they are so eaten persons with feeble digestive organs will usually suffer.

Plenty of sunlight is one of the important factors in the preservation of bodily renewal. Enjoy the influence of the sun to the greatest possible extent.

The way to grow old gracefully is the way of self-control, the way of sympathy, the way of unselfishness. The grand essentials of happiness in every stage of life, but particularly in the last, are having something to do, something to love and something to hope for.

To absorb as much "ultra violet" rays of the sun as possible it is best to wear light or light blue or light gray clothing, which allows the ultra rays to pass, whereas dark cloth does not.

PUBLIC ROADS

FUEL SAVED BY GOOD ROADS

Wear and Tear on Trucks and Amount of Gasoline Consumed Shown in Recent Ohio Test.

A test conducted in Ohio recently to determine the saving in gasoline from running over a good road as compared with gas consumption over bad and medium-grade roads, disclosed a surprising difference. Five new army standard "A" trucks with seven different types of road service, showed a gain of six miles per gallon of fuel between the best and worst types of roads. All the trucks were empty during the test.

The trucks loaded showed that the poor road took seven times as much gasoline per mile as the good one.

The test results showed an average of 5.78 miles per gallon over a dirt road in good condition, 7.19 over fair gravel, 9.39 over good gravel, about the same over fair bituminous macadam and good brick roads, 11.44 over extra smooth brick and 11.78 over good concrete.

The saving to the motoring public in gasoline alone would amount to millions of dollars annually. Perhaps equal to this would be the saving in tires, which is considered as important an item of car upkeep as is gasoline. Calculating the saving in wear and tear on the mechanism of cars and trucks and also the item of time lost by poor roads, adequate highways are undoubtedly a sane investment.

CULVERT IS EASILY CLEANED

Much Trouble Obviated by Invention of Grate or Iron Bars, Resting in Notches.

Often culverts under roads and paths become clogged with debris and frequently give trouble because they cannot be readily cleaned. The device illustrated obviates all this difficulty. It consists of a grate of iron bars supported by crosspieces which rest in notches or upon the surface of stonework or concrete, says American Agriculturist. The bars and the crosspieces should be of heavy enough material to support any load that will be driven across the grating.

The one from which this drawing was made is in a footpath, so the bars were only 1½ inches wide and a quarter of an inch thick. The crosspieces are of the same material, bent at the ends and riveted to the bars. All that is necessary to clean such a culvert is to lift the grating and do the work with a spade or a hoe.

HIGHWAYS IN SOUTH DAKOTA

State Has 6,000 Miles of Improved Roads—Only Ten Other States Exceed in Mileage.

South Dakota has 6,000 miles of main highways, out of a total of 208,523 in the United States. Definite road systems have been established in 44 states, either through legislative action or through state and local officials. North Dakota has 4,000 miles and Minnesota 12,700. Only ten states exceed South Dakota in mileage, while several of them have less than 1,000 miles of main highway.

BIG HIGHWAY APPROPRIATION

State of Wyoming Has Let Contracts for Improvements to Cost $3,000,000 in 1920.

The total estimated cost of highway improvements for which the Wyoming state highway department has let contracts, and which will be completed during the present year, exceeds $3,000,000. This total represents $11 for each inhabitant of the state.

Moroccan Road Traffic.

Traffic on the (French) Moroccan highways is very large. In addition to the transport of passengers by private or public automobiles, the roads permit an important movement of merchandise by motortrucks.

Cities Could Not Survive.

Without roads, cities would not survive, and country-folk would be without safety, of the present necessities, uniforms, and luxuries of life, many are now able to enjoy.

CALOMEL HORROR TOLD BY DODSON

You Don't Need to Sicken, Gripe or Salivate Yourself to Start Liver.

You're bilious, sluggish, constipated. You feel headachy, your stomach may be sour, your breath bad, your skin sallow and you believe you need vile, dangerous calomel to start liver and bowels.

Here's my guarantee! Ask your druggist for a bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone and take a spoonful tonight. If it doesn't start your liver and straighten you right up better than calomel and without griping or making you sick I want you to go back to the store and get your money.

Take calomel today and tomorrow you will feel weak and sick and nauseated. Don't lose a day. Take a spoonful of harmless, vegetable Dodson's Liver Tone tonight and wake up feeling splendid. It is perfectly harmless, so give it to your children any time. It can't salivate.—Adv.

ACUTE INDIGESTION SOON RELIEVED

Arkansas Lady Says She Was In a Serious Condition, But Promptly Recovered After Taking Thedford's Black-Draught.

Peach Orchard, Ark.—Mrs. Etta Cox, of this place, says: "Some time ago I had a spell of acute indigestion, and was in a bad fix. I knew I must have a laxative, and tried Black-Draught. It relieved me, and I soon was all right.

"I can't say enough for Thedford's Black-Draught, and the great good it did for me.

"It is fine for stomach and liver trouble, and I keep it for this. A few doses soon make me feel as good as new. I am glad to tell others the good it did."

Acute indigestion is a serious matter and needs prompt treatment or dangerous results may ensue. A physician's help may be needed, but a good dose of Thedford's Black-Draught will be of benefit by relieving the system from the undigested food which is the cause of the trouble.

Thedford's Black Draught is purely vegetable, not disagreeable to take and acts in a prompt and natural way.

So many thousands of persons have been benefited by the use of Thedford's Black-Draught, you should have no hesitancy in trying this valuable, old well-established remedy, for most liver and stomach disorders.

Sold by all reliable druggists.—Adv.

No one is ever thankful enough that what he really did say was not repeated.

SWAMP-ROOT FOR KIDNEY AILMENTS

There is only one medicine that really stands out pre-eminent as a medicine for curable ailments of the kidneys, liver and bladder.

Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root stands the highest for the reason that it has proven to be just the remedy needed in thousands upon thousands of distressing cases. Swamp-Root makes friends quickly because its mild and immediate effect is soon realized in most cases. It is a gentle, healing vegetable compound.

Start treatment at once. Sold at all drug stores in bottles of two sizes, medium and large.

However, if you wish first to test this great preparation send ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., for a sample bottle. When writing be sure and mention this paper.—Adv.

SHOULTS

Rev. J. D. Martn preached his regular fourth Sunday sermon at Pleasant Grove Sunday. A great crowd was there. The sermon was one that will long be remembered by those that were present. The topic he used was "How to deal with unruly church members." He brought out many truths about unruly church members. We wish everybody in the community could have been there.

Everybody is enjoying good health.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Garner are the proud parents of twin baby boys. The stork visited their home one day last week.

Miss Pearl Johnson from Lawley visited her cousin, Miss Drucilla Lawrence last Saturday night and Sunday.

Mrs. Alice Collins dined with her brother, Mr. John Mitchell last Sunday.

Mr. Edwin Lovelady and family and Mr. Oscar Lovelady and wife, from Lawley attended preaching service at Pleasant Grove last Sunday.

Mr. William Williams and family from Maplesville dined with Mrs. Calhoun Garner Sunday.

Sunday after preaching service, Mr. Howard Oden and family spent the remainder of the day with Mr. and Mrs. C. T. Walker.

Mrs. Sam Shoults and Mrs. John Mitchell spent Saturday afternoon with Mrs. Cleve Latham.

Miss Myrtle Ingram dined with Miss Fannie Lawrence Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Doss Williams from Maplesville attended preaching service at Pleasant Grove Sunday.

Mr. Clint McGee, wife and baby, spent the night Saturday night with his father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Jim McGee.

Mr. Ernest Hamrick has returned to his work in Montgomery.

Mr. Andrew Ellis has been home on a short visit.

Mr. Alfred Lawrence and family spent last Saturday night with his father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. John Lawrence.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam McGee and baby from Randolph spent last Saturday night and Sunday with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene McGee.

Mr. Freeman Sewell and wife are visiting his mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. John Sewell.

Mr. Artemus Maness has purchased himself a motor truck, and will buy vegetables, chickens and eggs, and will carry truck loads to Selma.

Pleasant Grove church is some time soon going to ordain Mr. Paul Oden for the ministry. He is the blind son of Mr. W. M. Oden, and a very bright and noble boy. We feel that he will be a great light in the pastoral work.

He bears his affliction with patience and loves God and his works with all his heart. It is his great delight to talk about Jesus and the Bible. May God pour many blessings upon him.

TO THE REPUBLICAN VOTERS OF CHILTON COUNTY:

We, the undersigned were elected by the Republican Convention at Clanton on Friday, May 14th, 1920, with other delegates to attend the District and State Conventions. And at said county convention we were instructed to vote for Mr. J. Tom Rockett, as a delegate to the National Republican Convention to be held in Chicago June 8th, 1920. We were also instructed to vote as a unit on all questions and that a majority of the delegates present should cast the vote for the entire delegation from this county.

We went to the District Convention in Anniston and were very much surprised to find Mr. W. H. Gillespie and Mr. J. B. Atkinson there working and lobbying for the election of Mr. Atkinson as a delegate to the National Convention. Mr. Atkinson was not elected a delegate but was there helping Mr. Gillespie to do the very thing that the Republican voters, through the convention, said that they did not want. The county convention was unanimous for Mr. Rockett and instructed Mr. Gillespie as well as the rest of the delegation to vote for Mr. Rockett. Mr. Oliver D. Street was at the convention and when Mr. Atkinson and Mr. Rockett were placed in nomination, made a speech on the floor of the house and said that a trade was made several months ago whereby he agreed to help Mr. Atkinson be elected as a delegate to the National Convention and that Mr. Atkinson agreed to help him. Mr. J. B. Atkinson moved from Talladega County, and in the vote on him and Mr. Rockett Mr. Atkinson received one-half of one vote in Talladega County and Mr. Rockett three and one-half votes. In Chilton County, Mr. Atkinson's home county, he did not receive any, and Mr. Rockett received fourteen votes. The other three counties where Mr. Atkinson had never lived voted for Mr. Atkinson. And he was elected delegate to the National Republican Convention. The trade was made by three or four men representing this county and followed up at the convention, and by their trade and trickery the wishes of the Republicans of this county were completely ignored.

At the State Conventon in Birmingham there arose a question which ten out of thirteen delegates present agreed to vote one way, which under the instructions from the county convention, put the other three delegates honor bound to vote as the other ten voted. And, notwithstanding the instructions Mr. W. H. Gillespie and J. B. Atkinson and Ralph Calloway, Mr. Atkinson holding a proxy, challenged the Chilton County vote and voted contrary to the other ten delegates.

Also at said State Convention Mr. J. B. Atkinson, who is now a member of the State Executive Committee, had Mr. F. B. Collier nominated for Circuit Judge from this, the Nineteenth Judicial Circuit, without conculting a member of the county delegation.

The Chilton County delegation got busy when they heard that Mr. Collier had been nominated without their knowledge or consent, and the State Executive Committee was called back together and Mr. Collier's nomination rescinded.

We, the undersigned, voted for Mr. Rockett and did all that was in our power to carry out the instructions of the county convention and do as the people of this county wanted us to do. However, under the trade made several months ago, as Mr. O. D. Street told about, and which said trade, according to our information, was participated in by Mr. W. H. Gillespie and J. B. Atkinson and one or two others, traded off this county and therefore we were unable to secure the election of Mr. Rockett, notwithstanding we voted for and worked for him.

CENTRE HILL SINGING

Sunday was a great day at Centre Hill,—the old-time singing was in session there.

The people came out in great numbers. Rev. Davis, a former pastor preached at 11 o'clock. The remainder of the day was spent in singing. Messrs. Cobb, Martin, Smith, Armstrong, Littleton, Gothard, Conway, Scott, Hodgens and Castleberry were among the Directors for the day.

The dinner was a feast of good things to eat.

Lovely flowers graced the pulpit.

Center Hill is situated in a beautiful sequestered spot just out from Jemison with a nice new church just erected. The community leaders seem to be the well konwn J. E. and B. L. Cobb, and their father, Messrs Scott, McGraw, Castleberry and others.

The music Sunday was sweetly rendered,—charming to listen to the melodies of the long ago.

It is really commendable in the younger ladies and gentlemen, who assist the olden people in rendering the music of our fathers, thus cheering those on the sunny side of life's pilgrimage.

PATRIOTIC PROGRAM AND FLAG RAISING AT THORSBY INSTITUTE

An interesting program was held in Bate's Hall on Wednesday afternoon, May 12th, the occasion being the presentation of a new flag to the school by the girls of Miss Jenkins' Sunday School Class of the Congregational Church. The date chosen for the program and presentation was the one-hundredth anniversary of the birthday of Florence Nightingale.

The exercises were opened by the singing of "America," following which a flag drill called "The Allied Flags" was given by twenty-five students. Each carried a flag representing one of the allied nations, and stated a reason why that country entered the war. After singing "The Battle Hym of the Republic," all marched from the platform led by Miss Marie Flummer bearing the Christian Flag.

One of the main features of the program was the lowering of the service flag by the girls of the school who had brothers in the war. Thorsby Institute has reason to be proud of the record that her boys made in the struggle. The names of all the boys represented by the 50 blue and 3 gold stars on the service flag, were read and a glowing tribute was paid by E. W. Butler to the three boys who paid the supreme sacrifice, — Uriel Williamson, Einar Anderson and Oders Martin. After the lowering of the service flag the boys who had brothers in the service lowered the American flag which had flown during the war and was torn and tatterd It seemed fitting that these flags be folded away together.

Following this a sketch of the life of Florence Nightingale was given by Odie Lee Arthur, who pointed out some of the virtues and deeds of this illustrious woman who initiated the welfare work for the soldiers on the battle field.

The main event of the afternoon was the raising of the new flag. This was unfolded and borne from the building to the campus by the Sunday School class that presented it. They were preceded by two girls carrying the Christian emblem and followed by an escort of students sarrying the flags of the allies.

After the march a circle was formed about the pole, and the two Senior boys stepped forward and raised the flag. As soon as the standard floated to the breeze, the flag salute was given by all present and Rev. Davenport offered prayer. Mr. Thomas Giles recited effectively one of Edgar Gust's poetical pictures "The Call of the Flag" and the program was closed by the singing of "The Star Spangled Banner."

DEATH OF OSCAR MARTIN

On May 14th the grim reaper, death, stretched forth his icy hand and claimed for his victim the life of Oscar, the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Henry Martin.

His body was laid to rest in the old Rocky Mount Cemetery with a large concourse of sorrowing relatives and sympathising friends attending.

May the God of all grace heal the wounded hearts of his father, brothers and sisters.

JONESTOWN NEWS

The people are getting along very well with their crops, although it rains so much that they can't work very much.

Last Sunday was quite a dull day on account of not having singing at New Harmony, but they will make up next Sunday, when they will have an all day singing.

Mr. W. L. Sanders, Miss Era and Essie Sanders, Miss Jessie Jackson, all went to the singing convention at Zion's Rest in Autauga county.

Mr. and Mrs. David Mooney visited Mr. and Mrs. Fonza Jones Saturday night and Sunday.

Mrs. J. D. Smith and family spent Sunday with her daughter, Mrs. T. E. Williamson near Lock 12.

Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Smiths pent a while with Mr. T. J. McCord Sunday afternoon.

MR. WALKER'S THANKS

Lawley, Ala., May 24, 1920.

Editor Union-Banner:

Please give me a small space in your paper to thank the voters of the county for what they did for me on the morning of May 11th.

It was my desire that the voters go to the polls and vote for the man of their choice if they did not they should have done so. May I say that if I am elected Commissioner for the third district I shall at all times and places work and contend for what I think is just and right.

Now, Mr. Editor, please accept my thanks for what you have done for me.

Yours truly,
C. T. WALKER.

THANKS FROM MR. LITTLEJOHN

To the Republican Voters:

I wish to heartily thank the Republican voters of Chilton County for the support they gave me in the primary recently, in my race for County Commissioner from this District. I assure you that I appreciate the confidence placed in my nomination and I shall do my best to be elected in November.

Sincerely,
WILEY LITTLEJOHN.

WHERE WAS FULFILLMENT

Washington, May 25.—A challenge to the Democrats to itemize their boasted fulfillment of promises, was issued today by the Republican Publicity Association, in a statement given out by the presdent of that organization, Hon. Jonathan Borne, Jr. The statement quotes a Democratic Chairman's assertion that "Then Wilson came and party promises became fruitful." Commenting upon this very boast, the Republican challenge says:

Fruitful indeed, but fruitful of what? Certainly not fruitful of fulfillment of promises, for that same Democratic chairman cannot take the promises of the 1912 platform on which President Wilson came into power and point out wherein they have been fulfilled.

Here are the chief promises, in the order they appear in the platform, and the manner of their fulfillment:

1. Revision of the tariff without injury to any legitimate industry. Result, increase of imports, closing of mills and 4,000,000 men out of work in 1913-14.

2. Reduction of the high cost of living. Result, steadily increasing the cost from the day the Wilson administraton began.

3. Enforcement of the criminal laws against private monoply. Result, no administration action against alleged trusts has been of the slightest benefit to the people of the country.

4. Reservation of states' rights. Result, the Federal Government has made greater progress in securing power over the people of the states during the Wilson administration than in all the previous history of the nation since the adoption of the Constitution.

5. Presidential primaries. Result, no action in that direction by the Wilson administration such legislation having been adopted by states if at all.

6. Single presidential term. Result, second term secured for Wilson by false slogan, and a third term not yet renounced.

7. Efficiency and economy in administration. Result, the most inefficent and wasteful admnistraton in history.

8. Bankng legislation "for the accommodation of the public and not for the control of business." Result, a Federal Reserve System which is dominated by politics and which stimulates or depresses business at the will of its managers.

9. A merchant marine without imposing additional burdens upon the people. Result, the most expensive shipping programme in history.

10. Exemption of coastwise shipping from tolls through the Panama Canal. Result, repeal of the free tolls law.

11. Merit system in civil service. Result, more politics than ever before in appointments.

12. Rule of the people. Result, the establishment of an autocracy in the White House with both Houses of Congress subservient as long as a Democratic majority was in control of the legislative branch of the government.

PLEASANT HILL

There will be an all-day singing at Pleasant Hill Church (Blow Grave Yard) the third Sunday in June. Everybody is invited to come and bring new books and dinner.

N. P. VanWagoner.

Hon. J. O. Middleton of Mobile attended the State Republican Convention in Birmingham last week. On his return he stopped over in Clanton for a day or so with his friends.

CENTER HILL

Dear Editor, please allow me space to say a few words.

Singing here Sunday was fine and an excellent sermon was preached by Bro. Davis. He read the 6th chapter of St. John and took his text from the 60th verse, "Will ye go away also." He sure did preach a grand sermon.

Mr. J. E. Cobb was elected chairman of the singing. Before preaching Mr. Joe Littleton and Mr. J. N. Scott directed. After preaching dinner was served and everybody had plenty.

Directors for the afternoon were Davis Hugens, Z. J. Jones, Henry Armstrong and Prof. J. H. Martin. Everybody seemed to enjoy the day.

Mr. Vernon Webb and Miss Eular Barnett took a flying trip to Birmingham aSturday.

WOMEN ARE DISCRIMINATING MOTOR CAR BUYERS.

"The majority of women are proving themselves as discriminating automobile buyers as men," says the Downs Hardware Company, local dealer in Chevrolet passenger and commercial cars.

"It used to be thought that most women were influenced in the selection of a car by appearance alone. If the car body was pleasing to the eye it was thought she could be sold immediately without serious investigation of mechanical ability.

"But today women appreciate the importance of mechanical excellence. When it comes to selecting a car for her own use the average woman is firmly holding up her reputation for securing the utmost value for every dollar she spends.

"The woman has had experience in driving cars herself. She knows not only what equipment is essential but also what mechanical qualities are necessary to her comfort.

"She has learned that a sturdy medium weight automobile is the most convenient and easy for her to drive. It conserves her strength, affords every advantage any car will offer and above all keeps her transportation costs as a minimum.

"The up-to-date woman knows that she can get the most satisfactory mechanical service from such a car. She knows also that the purchase price will include every item of equipment that will make for riding and drivng comfort. She sees to it that it does.

"And because these efficient economical cars are purposely designed along sound conservative lines that are alwasy in style, her pride in the appearance of her car is entirely satisfied."

"Didn't Rest Well"

Prominent Georgia Lady Suffered From Faint Spells and Sleeplessness—Relieved by Ziron.

PEOPLE who get to feeling weak every now and then, and who do not seem to get the proper refreshment from rest, sleep and recreation, need a tonic to help their blood revitalize and build up their system.

For this, you will find Ziron Iron Tonic very valuable, as the testimony of thousands already has proved. Mrs. J. W. Dysart, lady of a prominent Georgia family residing near Cartersville, says:

"I didn't feel like myself.

"I didn't rest well some nights. I would be just as tired when I got up in the morning as when I went to bed. I would get weak, and have kind of fainty spells—at times hardly able to do my housework.

"I heard of Ziron, and felt maybe a tonic would help me. I thought it would at least strengthen me.

"I believe Ziron has done me good. I feel better. I am glad to recommend it as a good tonic."

METHOD IN THAT MADNESS

Why Dad Could Not Bring Himself to Make Serious Objections to Gerald's Smoking.

"Henry!"

Mrs. Brown's voice was stern. Mr. Brown recognized the signs of a coming storm, so he prepared to listen.

"I saw Gerald—our boy—smoking a pipe today—actually, a dirty, smelly pipe!" the poor woman ended with a sob.

"Well, what can we do?" exclaimed her husband. "The boy's seventeen, and has two dollars a week pocket money. I don't see—"

"You mean to say that you will allow him to smoke? Why, it's sheer madness!"

Henry nodded. Then, after witnessing the unique spectacle of his wife speechless for once, he strolled off into the garden, where he came across Gerald in a corner with the pipe going full blast.

"Hello, my boy!" he cried. "This is something new, isn't it? Er—by the way, I've left my pouch in the house. Can you give me a fill?"

Then he, as he walked away puffing happily, murmured:

"It may be madness, but there's method in it. I can see Gerald's pouch being quite a money saver to poor old dad."—Rehoboth Sunday Herald.

GOT CHARACTERS MIXED UP

According to English Actor, History Is Not a Strong Point With Theatergoers.

The late H. B. Irving once told in Philadelphia a story about his father's performance of Sardou's "Robespierre." He said:

"Two dear old ladies sat in their stalls at the Lyceum, waiting for 'Robespierre' to begin.

"'By the way, who was Robespierre?' said the first old lady.

"'Why, don't you know?' said the second old lady. 'He's the man who was murdered in his bath by Marie Corelli.'

"'Oh, no, my dear!' said the first old lady. 'That can't be right, for Marie Corelli is still alive. I remember who it was, now. It was Charlotte Bronte.'"

Then, at the end of the story Mr. Irving added:

"I once told this anecdote to a duchess. When I finished the duchess gave a kind of puzzled laugh and said:

"'Poor Shakespeare!'"

DECORATIVE FROCKS FOR BRIDESMAIDS

WHEN the talk is of bridesmaids frocks there is no telling the wide ranges it will travel, for here is where the bride may give range to her fancy, especially if she is to have a bevy of maids. She may choose to lead them back a few centuries in choosing styles or she is more than likely to pick out some period not so remote and revive its charm of quaint dress or she may decide to be very modern and frankly frivolous. But if she hopes to please everybody let her decide that her maids shall look demure and beautiful. They can do this in clothes with either an ancient or a modern flavor.

Taffeta, georgette and fine net, all make lovely frocks for bridesmaids and each of them amounts to an insurance of success; yet they are as different as can be. All are beautiful in light colors, and net, in white, used to veil a color, makes a practical frock that will give a great deal of service after it has played its part at a wedding. Georgette is astonishingly durable in spite of its fragile looks, and everyone knows the virtues of taffeta.

A net gown that ought to please the bride who has decided to draw upon 1920 to supply the style her maids shall wear, is pictured here. Tucks and frills, all at their pretty best in net, are used for trimming. An underskirt of net has two groups of narrow tucks about the bottom and over it a long and full tunic, wired about the hips. A frill over the wired line proclaims its allegiance to the old hoop skirt effect, which is the inspiration of this frock. Below the frill two groups of narrow tucks give an embroidered band of net the proper setting. The short sleeves are very frilly, with three narrow flounces as a finish, headed with a group of tucks.

The bodice is slightly low, giving a line across the bust and shoulders that is in keeping with the hooped skirt. A frill at the neck opening has tucks and embroidered band below and at each side plain net gathered in and extending to the waist, gives an added fullness. The sash of narrow satin ribbon with hanging loops and long ends set on at each side is a charming accessory, the loops falling from clusters of little chiffon roses.

Formal Afternoon Frocks

GEORGETTE holds its own as the superlative in elegant fabrics for afternoon gowns, and will until some genius comes along who is able to excel it. It seems improbable that any thing more beautiful can be made and the refinement of georgette has made it so great a favorite with designers that they use it for many things and for all ages. But where the advantages show at their best is in those lovely gowns for afternoon—beautiful and restrained in style—in which women put their very best efforts at gowning and which are the delight of costumers.

One of the two gowns shown in the group above, reveals what has been done with georgette in an afternoon frock for this summer. Imagine this in pale tan or in twine color with white beads used in its embellishment, and little medallions of filet lace set in and edged with embroidery silk, like the gown in color. The skirt has a wide front panel of the georgette, gathered at the waist and decorated with lines and cummers of beads. Accordion plaiting and georgette were made for each other, and at the sides of the skirt there are three tiers of plaiting, followed by a gathered panel at the back like that in front. The bodice, with elbow sleeves is decorated to correspond with the front panel and has a perfectly plain vestee of the crepe. A very wide sash of satin-striped crepe is especially interesting in this dress and it is finished at the ends with tiny silk balls.

Another dress of satin and georgette, is a model that stout women may pin their faith to. Its long straight lines are accented with small tassels on the skirt and the bodice is a brief affair with short sleeves that aids the skirt in its striving for graceful lines. These are formal afternoon frocks in which one may face great occasions with assurance.

For more than Forty Years Cotton Growers have known that POTASH PAYS

More than 11,651,200 Tons of Potash Salts had been imported and used in the United States in the 20 years previous to January, 1915, when shipments ceased. Of this 6,460,700 Tons consisted of which the cotton grower knew was both a plant food and a preventive of blight and rust,—with it came also 1,312,400 Tons of which has the same effects on Cotton, but which was used mainly in mixed fertilizers.

KAINIT

Shipments of both Kainit and Manure Salt have been resumed but the shortage of coal and cars and high freight rates make it more desirable to ship Manure Salt, which contains 20 per cent of actual Potash, instead of Kainit, which contains less than 13 per cent actual Potash.

MANURE SALT can be used as a side dressing on Cotton in just the same way as Kainit and will give the same results. Where you used 100 pounds of Kainit, you need to use but 62 pounds of Manure Salt, or 100 pounds of Manure Salt go as far as 161 pounds of Kainit.

MANURE SALT has been coming forward in considerable amounts and cotton growers, who cannot secure Kainit, should make an effort to get Manure Salt for side dressing to aid in making a big Cotton Crop.

Muriate of Potash

50 per cent actual Potash, has been coming forward also,—100 pounds of Muriate are equivalent to 400 pounds of Kainit or 250 pounds of Manure Salt.

These are the three

that were always used in making cotton fertilizers and have been used for all these years with great profit and without any damage to the crop.

The supply is not at present as large as in former years, but there is enough to greatly increase the Cotton Crop if you insist on your dealer making the necessary effort to get it for you.

Enemies

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

PEOPLE are known and judged quite as much by the kind of Enemies they make as by the kind of Friends they have.

Choose your Enemies.

Many a man or woman has been handicapped by having some one else choose their Enemies for them. For Enemies must needs come to every forceful Character, sooner or later. And if you do the choosing of your Enemies, you know the kind you have to deal with.

Choose your enemies.

Another strong point about choosing your own Enemies, is that you can study them to better advantage than if some one else chose them for you and acted as a Coach to them. For many a man, by close application to the study of his Enemies, can finally make them his Friends!

Choose your Enemies.

Enemies have the most to do with and cluster most around those who are Positive and Definite as Doers. To have big plans and important work to perform and to go ahead with it without fear or favor, is to create Enemies from Somewhere. But enemies never come around unless you become Effective and Monumental in your efforts. Then the Enemies get busy.

Choose your Enemies.

But never for a single moment allow the work of your Enemies to deter you from your forward fight. Accept them as a matter of course, never allowing yourself to get down to their level. For then they may swoop down upon you and bewilder and defeat you.

Choose your Enemies.

And remember that by always remaining bigger than your Enemies, you pave a path over which they may finally walk as your Friends.

Rann-dom Reels

THE PILL

THE pill is a small, round object which is fed with the utmost abandon to patients who would rather eat something else.

One of the best things that was ever done for the medical profession was when somebody invented the harmless white pill which could be sold at a 900 per cent margin. After a young doctor who is just out of school has fed a few tons of these pills to the people of his community, he can quit work and lie around a summer resort in white flannel pants and a look of sweet content.

Pills Will Not Revive Energy in a Man Who Never Had Any to Start With.

Some people are very much opposed to the use of pills, and try to get along by use of the highly perfumed onion poultice, while others can never eat a full meal without immediately attempting to conciliate it with a handful of pink pellets. Then there are people who can never see anything go to waste and who devour all of the pills left on the front porch in the way of samples, in this manner becoming as fragrant as a drug store clerk.

Both schools of medicine, allopath and homeopath, prescribe pills whenever all else has failed. It is considered better practice to prescribe an operation at the expense of the abutting property owner, but once in a while a stray pill will strike the right spot when the doctor is not looking and effect a cure. This is one of the sorest trials the doctor has to bear.

There is a strong suspicion abroad that if people would eat fewer pills and take more exercise, mixed with a semioccasional bath, they would live longer and have more money to spend on tires and inner tubes. Pills will not revive energy in a man who never had any to start with.

SCHOOL DAYS

Just Folks

By EDGAR A. GUEST

A NATURE SPREE.

It's getting on to spring again,
My thoughts are on the wing again
To joys that are to be;
And in a few short weeks again
The hills and woods and creeks again
Will whisper things to me.
And every bird and bee again
Will sing their tunes to me again
And tell me it is May,
And like a spendthrift wild again,
Or as a little child again
I'll throw a day away.

I'll quit the ceaseless grind again
And leave all care behind again
Nor think about the cost;
I'll spend an idle day again,
Nor count, the while I play again,
The gold that may be lost.
I'll chum with brook and sky again
And let the mad hours fly again,
As sailors home from sea.
And for a little while again
I'll be myself and smile again
A toiler on a spree.

LAST NIGHT'S DREAMS

—WHAT THEY MEAN

DID YOU DREAM OF FISH?

ROBERT STRUMPELL, Hildebrandt and Weed Hallam state that the dream distinctly prefers impressions recently made upon the waking consciousness. Freud, as a result of his personal experience and of the analysis of the great number of dreams which he has considered in the course of his practice lays it down as a law that "some reference to the experiences of the day which has most recently passed is to be found in every dream," that is, anything read, seen, heard, done or thought about. It would seem as if the dream consciousness having taken over from the preceding day some trivial experience as a starter then had unlocked to it vast stores of material; the impressions of our earlier years, later experiences and impressions, some so slight as to have been forgotten long ago or even totally ignored at the time they came into existence, our secret wishes, suppressed desires and psychic characteristics of the possession of which we were, perhaps, unaware in our waking state.

Bridges seem to be thrown out to such of these as the dream consciousness selects to enable them to mingle with the dream from this standpoint, but in order to do so successfully it must be done at once on awakening, for though some dreams are so vivid that they can be remembered for years, as a rule the dream-edifice dissolves rapidly and we can only recover a fragment here and there. The experience of the day which has most recently passed which is brought over into the realm of shadows is frequently disguised or distorted, but can be discovered upon a close analysis. Thus a lady dreamed one night that she had found a fine baby sewed up in a live codfish. The day preceding she had admired one of her neighbor's children and had stopped at the market to buy a fish on her way home. The mystics would go further in interpreting this dream. They say that to see a fish in a dream means good fortune, especially if they are white or red. To see fish swimming about, unless the water is muddy, is an omen that rich and powerful people will do you favors, and to dream of catching fish means you will be successful in love and business. But to dream of dead fish is unfavorable, and if a live fish slip out of your hand you will marry a person of a roaming disposition. Also, with a slippery fish, beware of slippery friends. To go fishing and catch nothing means disappointment in Dreamland, just as it does in the actual world.

CALOMEL DANGER TOLD BY DODSON

Says You Cannot Gripe, Sicken, or Salivate Yourself if You Take "Dodson's Liver Tone" Instead

Calomel loses you a day! You know what calomel is. It's mercury; quicksilver. Calomel is dangerous. It crashes into sour bile like dynamite, cramping and sickening you. Calomel attacks the bones and should never be put into your system.

When you feel bilious, sluggish, constipated and all knocked out and believe you need a dose of dangerous calomel just remember that your druggist sells for a few cents a large bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone, which is entirely vegetable and pleasant to take and is a perfect substitute for calomel. It is guaranteed to start your liver without stirring you up inside, and can not salivate.

Don't take calomel! It can not be trusted any more than a leopard or a wild cat. Take Dodson's Liver Tone, which straightens you right up and makes you feel fine. Give it to the children because it is perfectly harmless and doesn't gripe.—Adv.

OUR WIVES AND DAUGHTERS

Write for the booklet "Our Wives and Daughters." Full of information every women should have; including voluntary testimony and advice from women in all walks of life who know by experience what Stella Vitae will do for women.

Stella Vitae is the famous prescription of an old family physician, successfully used in a long, life-time practice. Sold under agreement that if the first bottle fails to benefit money will be refunded. Ask your druggist.

Mrs. D. S. Hamilton, of Milner, Ga., Route 1, writes: "It gives me pleasure to testify to the benefit which both my daughter and myself have derived from the use of STELLA VITAE. For some time the doctors of our neighborhood had treated my daughter without success. One bottle of STELLA VITAE in three weeks' time completely cured her. My own health has been restored by STELLA VITAE; and no doctor has been called upon to treat any member of my family since I began using Dr. Thacher's Remedies."

Mother's Cook Book

To keep a household running smoothly, provisioned, cleaned, made sweet and cheerful always, and to do it incidentally as it were, with a hundred other activities filling her thoughts, is an accomplishment not sufficiently appreciated in this world.—David Grayson.

Today's Food.

For a meal which is a meal in itself be sure to try

Spaghetti Par Excellence.

Take one package of spaghetti, break into small pieces and cover with boiling salted water; stir lightly until all is boiling. When tender pour off the water, drain in a colander, pour over cold water to make the spaghetti firm. Take one can of tomatoes, strained to remove the seeds, add a can of tomato soup, two large onions cut in bits, one fourth of a teaspoonful of cayenne pepper and a teaspoonful of chili powder, four tablespoonfuls of sugar, three teaspoonfuls of salt, six slices of bacon diced and fried. Mix all together and add the bacon fat. Put in layers in a baking dish with the spaghetti. Bake two hours.

Cranberry Salad.

Soak one package of gelatine in a pint of cold water until well softened, then pour over this two quarts of boiling cranberry juice, add the juice of one lemon and sugar to taste. When cool add one cupful of shredded blanched almonds and one cupful of celery. When cold slice and serve with mayonnaise dressing.

Head Lettuce With Sherry's Dressing

Prepare the lettuce, draining well and dry carefully to remove all water Take one cupful of olive oil—corn oil will answer—two tablespoonfuls each of minced green and red peppers, one small Spanish onion chopped, one tablespoonful each of minced parsley and powdered sugar, and one-fourth of a cupful of vinegar. Shake in a mason jar for five minutes. Place on ice for an hour and do not serve on the lettuce until the last minute as it wilts the lettuce.

Salmon Rarebit.

Heat one-fourth of a cup of butter or butter substitute; when bubbling hot add two tablespoonfuls of flour, rub and mix until perfectly smoth, then add a pint of milk and when thickened a can of salmon, with all bones and skin removed; one egg beaten with a pinch of salt and a dash of cayenne Serve on toasted crackers or thin slices of toasted bread.

BUILT MANY CENTURIES AGO

Florida's Shell Mounds Believed to Date Back to Before Beginning of Christian Era.

Florida's shell mounds, which are found in different portions of the state, are unquestionably of human construction, and were probably built by some race of people who inhabited the country about the beginning of the Christian era. These mounds were found overgrown with herbage and forest as long ago as when the first red man set foot in Florida, and the fact that the deposit of earth above them was sufficient to give place to the root of trees proved their great age.

There have been found in all these mounds pieces of pottery imbedded in the shell conglomerate, as well as articles made of shell and bone, rude stone implements and many bones of fish and animals, such as deer, terrapin, rabbits, alligators and others. There are in the entire state about forty mounds, the most important of which are those of King Phillip's town, near the outlet of Lake Harney, which are 450 feet long, from 100 to 150 feet broad, and with an average height of eight feet.

A small man can cut a great swath if he can resist being patronized by the big men.

SUBSIST MAINLY ON DATES

Fruit Is the Mainstay of Life to the People of Egypt, Arabia, and Persia.

East is west so far as the palm is concerned, Hawaii, California, Florida, Cuba, Egypt, Palestine, they all know their palms. Of all varieties none is so dear to the heart as the date palm. We all know its delicious fruit, but few can conceive the desert dweller's love for it, for he only can appreciate its grateful shade in the sweltering desert heat.

The date palm is always a sure sign of water, for to thrive it must have this. Rising often to a height of 100 feet, it is a haven of refuge to the parched traveler, who knows that to dig near it is to find water. Then there is the delicious fruit to be considered, too. Many of us know the date as a luxury—sometimes stuffed or otherwise, but a considerable part of the inhabitants of Egypt, of Arabia and Persia, subsist almost entirely on its fruit. They boast also of its medicinal virtues. Then the camels feed upon the date stone.

Scant Comfort.

One possible service performed by visiting wife's relatives is eating so much that there aren't so many leftovers for next day.—Ohio State Journal.

Try Postum Instead of Coffee at the family table for a week or two and see if everyone doesn't relish the change.

Postum Cereal

a drink of delicious flavor—should be boiled fully fifteen minutes to bring out its full-bodied richness.

It is gratifying that we are able to see this week a concerted and determined effort on the part of the Baptists of Clanton to raise the money necessary for the erection of a thirty-five thousand dollar church building on the new lot recently acquired by the church for that purpose. This business of building a new Baptist church in Clanton has ceased to be a joke, and is fast becoming a reality as the dollars are piled up by the thousands by our liberal church constituency who see the shame of such a church building as we have had in the past and the need of a modern church and Sunday School home.

The pastor, Rev. Carter, has succeeded in getting a tentative consideration of something like $6,000 from the Baptist Home Mission Board to apply on the building fund, and that amount added to upwards of thirty thousand which will be given by members of the church will make a building for Clanton which will be the pride of our town.

The Clanton Boy Scouts Band is now making a wonderful progress under the instructions of the famous bandmaster, Prof. Memoli, of Birmingham. The citizens of the town are staying with the boys in the matter of finances, and we are certain that within a few months Clanton will have as good a bond as can be shown by any town of our size in the country.

MT. NEBO SINGING SOCIETY

The Mt. Nebo Singing Society met with Mt. Nebo Church Sunday afternoon, at 3 p.m., May 23.

Singing was opened with song and prayer by S. A. Henley, chairman. The following leaders were appointed: William Cox, Sam Henley, Mrs. Zella Scott and Mr. S. A. Henley.

Organists for the afternoon were: Mrs. Zellla Scott and Mrs. Eula Culp. The audience was not large, on account of all day singings, but the singing was good and ably conducted.

This society meets every second and fourth Sundays, and all lovers of music are cordially invited to meet with us. ANNIE MAE CULP, Secretary.

NOTICE TO OWNERS OF DOGS

The law requires all dogs to be registered and tagged, and when running at large not being confined must be muzzled. Any person who keeps or harbors a dog which has not been registered and tagged according to law is guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction shall be fned not less than the tax and costs not to exceed one hundred dollars, may be imprisoned to hard labor for the county not less than six mnths.

The Attorney General of Alabama has recently ruled that the sheriff has no right to go on private property and kill a dog, but a citation must be served on all parties keeping or harboring a dog for which no tax has been paid or not wearing a tag.

I am now looking after all the dogs and serving citations on those who have dogs that have not been registered and tagged. After citation being served, if the person served does not come in and register the dog according to law, he will be subject to a fine of one hundred dollars.

After June 1st all dogs running at large and not on private property will be killed if they are not wearing a muzzle.

I want to give the people of the county a fair chance to comply with the law and avoid trouble. However if there are any who will not comply with the law, then it becomes my duty to execute the law.

J. L. GORE, Sheriff.

LETTER FROM MR. MIMS.

Dear Editor:—Please give me space to thank the people at large for the kindness shown me during the campaign before the primary and especially those who saw fit to cast their votes for me in the primary. I feel very grateful to you and am very sorry that you did not get the man of your choice. But since the people have spoken and Mr. Rockett got more votes than I did, it behooves us as citizens and Republicans to willingly concede to our defeat and present a solid front in the November election and elect our ticket with the largest majority ever polled in the county.

Again thanking you for your vote and support, I am,

Yours very truly,
J. Z. MIMS,

Clanton, Ala., May 25, 1920.

Mr. W. K. Mullins and Miss Peggy spent the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. W. I. Mulliins.

Mrs. Robert Powe and attractive daughters arrived Sunday and are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. VanDerveer.

Miss Roberta Curry returned last Thursday fromb Jackson, Ala., where she has been teaching during the past year.

Mrs. R. E. Luckie and children will be the guests of Mrs. E. S. Parrish in Birmringham for a few days.

Mrs. William Holmes was the guest of relatives here Friday.

Misses Mae, Lola and Elna Roberts left Saturday for Denver.

Miss Willie Belle Sartor had as her guests for the week, Mrs. Carr Buchannan and Mrs. Robert Douglass of Montgomery.

Mrs. J. W. Stanfield and Miss Alice accompanied by Miss Lessie Reynolds motored to Montgomery Tuesday.

After an extended trp to Birmingham, Mrs. R. C. Copeland and children have returned home to Clanton.

Mrs. V. J. Elmore is in Elba visiting for a couple of weeks.

Mrs. Macey Jones has returned to her home after an extended trip to Montgomery.

A fishing party consisting of H. M. Smpson, Macey Jones, John Robinson, Will Wilson and Uncle Dick Jones spent the first of the week on Coosa River.

The Good News Spreads Fast

One person after the other hept telling about what good Dreco was doing' so finally this lady bought a bottle.

forming; eased her kidney trouble and strengthened the vital organs.

"It seemed like the good news of what Dreco was doing spread fast' for I kept hearing people talk about what it was doing until I decided to get a bottle also", said Mrs. Sallie C. Bragg of Newmarket near Huntsville, Ala.

"I've sufferd agonies from gastritis.

My food sonred in my stomach, filled me with gas, and caused griping pains and a choking feeling in my throat. My bowels were constipated so that I had to take medicine almost every night. I had been under treatment for kidney trouble for months—seems like I had taken everything but the right thing. I was losing hope of ever being real well again.

"When I started taking Dreci I was truly in a bad condition, for I could eat but very little solid food. Dreco acted in a soothing manner on my stomach, and stopped the gas almost at once. My food began to nourish me and my nerves got steady. My bowels acted in a normal way each day; the headaches stopped and my sleep became restful and I'd rise in the morning feeling refreshed. Dreco has proven a wonderful tonic to my vital organs, and made a new woman out of me."

Dreco is made from the pure liquid extracts of many herbal plants, which act on the stomach, kidneys, liver, bowels and enrich the blood.

All good druggists now sell Dreco and it is being especially introduced n Clanton by Upchurch Drug Co.

YOUNG PEOPLES MONTH.

Next month, June, is the month set apart by the W. M. U. of Alabama as Young Peoples Month. In this connection the State Leader has arranged for an Associational Council for the young people of Chilton county to be held at Maplesville on June 2nd. The slogan will be "A meeting for young people, by young people and with the young people."

The first hour in the morning will be devoted to class work for leaders and others who are interested. Every boy, girl and young woman in the Association is urged to attend this meeting. The purpose of these meetings is to lead the young people into a more glorious service for Christ.

Miss Metcalf, the State Leader of the W. M. U. will be present to direct the exercises.

MISS CURRY HONORED

Among the numerous pre-nuptial affairs in honor of Miss Mary Curry was a pretty linen snower given by Mrs. J. P. VanDerveer on Monday evening. The home was decorated in quantities of pink Dorothy Perkins.

The guests were received by Mrs. Robert Powe and invited to the tea table presided over by Mrs. Alex Richards. A most interesting rose contest was enjoyed, and after a cut a beautiful cut glass vase fell to Mrs. R. E. Luckie. A guessing contest was also exciting when Mrs. Eric Hart was the successful contestant. Later a beautifully decorated express wagon filled to overflowing and drawn by Miss Patsy Powe Richards and Josephine Powe was presented to the bride. Such an exquisite display of linens is rarely seen. The gft for the bride was a cut glass knife rest.

An interesting feature of the afternoon was several recitations given by little Miss Evelyn Powe of Birmingham. At the conclusion of the evening pleasure h delicious ice course was served.

Mr. Hugh Foshee spent several days in Albany fishing during the past week.

MRS. MARION GORE HONORS BRIDE-ELECT

"You're invited to attend a miscellaneous shower at Mrs. Marion Gore's, 4 o'clock is the hour, 21st instant, Friday afternoon, for Mary weds Clint on the 2nd day of June."

In response to the above unique invitations, more than half a hundred guests assembled in the hospitable home of Mrs. Marion Gore on last Friday afternoon.

Mary, the honoree of the occasion, is a daughter of Hon. and Mrs Thos. A. Curry of Clanton. Mr. Louis Clinton Jones of Asheville, N. C., is the fortunate young man to whom Miss Curry will soon be wedded.

The miscellaneous shower of last Friday afternoon was the first of a series of entertainments that have been planned for the bride-elect.

Mrs. Gore's home had been converted into a spacious apartment and had been decorated for the auspicious function in festoons of southern smilax and a magnificent array of woodland daisies. Daisies were also arranged in standards and were placed here and there to splendid advantage; in clusters they ornamented the shade lamps. They were scattered in graceful profusion over the handsome lace luncheon cloth and blended their gold with its undercover. Above the mirrored centerpiece was reared a pyramid of daisies from which tuille streamers were suspended and terminated on the table's edge in fluffy rosetts.

The color-motif prevailed in punch; also in the delightful three-course luncheon, served during the afternoon. The bride's dainty gown of hand embroidered lingerie, together with her blue picture hat, faced with gold braid, still further accentuated the color scheme of the afternoon's entertainment.

The contest of the afternoon proved enjoyable. The cutting of the Jack Horner Pie by little Wesley Danforth was pronouncedly clever. The "Plums" were received by the bride and were inspected by all the other guests.

The reception line was composed of the hostess, Mrs. Richards, Mrs. Curry and Miss Mary Curry.

MRS. HEARD ENTERTAINS.

Mrs. Victor J. Heard was hostess to the Embroidery Club on last Thursday afternoon. After a social hour spent in fancy needle work a delicious ice course was served to Mesdames J. P. Hayes, Hugh Jones, W. P. Splawn, W. M. Wyatt, Grady Broadhead, L. F. Gerald. The visietors of the Club for the afternoon were Mrs. Martin Nix, Mrs. Grady Reynolds, and Mrs. McSwain.

Do you want a rich wholesome biscuit, such as your grandmother served your grandaddy? If so use "RED SEAL," best patent pure wheat flour guaranteed to be just what we say it is or your money back. J. W. Smith & Son, Clanton, Distributors. 5-27-4t

The ladies of the Presbyterian congregation held their regular business meeting with Mrs. Splawn Tuesday evenng.

Mrs. Herbert Neighbors is spending a while with relatives n Georga.

Mss Kathleen Mullins arrived in Clanton Wednesday arternoon after spending the winter at Shorter College in Rome, Ga.

Mrs. Renfroe Mullins was shopping in Birmingham last week.

Dr. Harry Maye left Monday for hs home in Louisiana after conductng a most successful revival at the Clanton Methodist Church.

LETTER FROM MR. COLLINS

Dear Editor:—Please allow me a space in your poper to say that I do most heartily thank the voters of the county for the support they gave me in the recent primary. Although I was completely defeated, a great many know why. There was a report that went out against me just befor the day of the primary and I had no time or chance to correct it.

I want to say that I hold no ill feeling toward the voters, but thank them each and everyone for the courtesy shown me during my campaign. But I would feel much better if this rumor had not been circulated against me. But that is all right. The good book says "With what measure you mete it shall be measured to you again." I believe that when a man tries to injure another without cause he will reap what he sows.

So in conclusion I will say that I am the same old Alfred Collins I have always been. I have always voted with the laboring class of people and expect to as long as I live. Let us all be true to our party in November and go to the polls and roll up the biggest majority we have ever had for the Republican ticket in Chilton county.

Yours very truly,

GIRLS CLUBS ARE ACTIVE IN STATE

MANY JOINING CANNING AND POULTRY CLUBS; LIVELY INTEREST SHOWN.

CONFERS WITH S. S. LEADERS

Plans On Foot To Employ Field Secretaries In Counties Throughout State.

Auburn.—Interest in Girls' Club ork has met with a decided increase in Covington County this month, according to a report of Miss Myrtle Perry, acting home demonstration agent. In the three days spent in the Rauls community, visiting 24 girls, 16 joined the canning club, and one the poultry club. At the Straughn community, out of 25 girls visited, 16 of them joined the canning, and 4 the poultry club. In the Dixie community of 18 girls visited, 12 enrolled in the canning club and three in the poultry club. This makes a total of 64 members in one week in four communities of that country.

Confers With S. S. Leaders.

Montgomery.—General Superintendent Leon C. Palmer, of the Alabama Sunday School Association, spent a few days in Mobile in conference with the executive committee of the local Sunday School organization, looking toward an enlargement of the state and county Sunday School work.

"In the not distant future,' said Mr. Palmer, "every one of our larger counties will have an employed county field secretary, and in other cases we will group counties together for this purpose. The Alabama Sunday School Association is fostering and encouraging this movement."

Boll Weevils Are Numerous.

Dothan.—J. H. Tharp, of Ashford, is showing a bottle of boll weevils picked from a threeacre patch of cotton just chopped out. Mr. Tharp says this is a very early start for the weevils, but he intends to keep up with them by going over the cotton three times a week, a method by which he hopes to save his crop.

Repubs Enter Fight.

Anniston.—Congressman Fred L. Blackmon is to have Republican opposition in the November election, it became known here today. Republican leader s in the Ju lican leaders in the district, it is said, have settled upon Judge A. P. Longsshore, of Columbiana, to make the race for Congres.

Breeders To Meet.

Birmingham.—Members of the Alabama Jersey Breeders' Association will hold their annual convention in Birmingham on June 14 and 15, and with this great gathering they will combine a sale which promises to mark a record in the South. During this convention, the Southern Dairy Association will be organized.

1-Mill Tax Passes.

Moulton.—Lawrence County has again voted upon herself the task of removing illiteracy by improving her rural schools. The question as to whether or not a one-mill school tax should be levied on all properties taxable for the next eight years, was submitted to the voters; out of a total of 1,100 votes cast on the measure, in the May 11 primary, 803 were favorable and 397 opposed.

New Bank To Open.

Anniston.—Anniston's newest banking institution, the Commercial National, wil open for business on June 1, it is announced by Charles R. Bell, president.

Crops Are Later Than Ever.

Sullignent.—The farmers are more behind with their crops than in 20 years. Hundreds of acres of lowlands have never been touched. Cotton seed is rotting in the fields.

To Build Tire Factory.

Gadsden.—Parties who have patented a rubber tire and tube offered to build a $250,000 factory in Gadsden and local business men are considering the matter.

Stock Yards Formed.

Selma.—The Selma stock yard company was formally organized at a meeting at the Chamber of Commerce, when a board of directors was elected and plans made for incorporation.

Cotton Injured By Cool Weather.

Mountain Creek.—The four or five days of bright sunshine crop-growing weather has been followed by a cool crop-killing spell, which has lasted for four days, and which has been very disastrous to crops, especially cotton in Autauga, Chilton, Coosa and Elmore Counties. Conversations with cotton growing farmers is conclusive tionas to cotton prospects in this section. The cool weather has to a great extent, killed off a large percentage of the tender young cotton.

Defense Pleads "Insanity."

Selma.—A plea of not guilty by resonof insanity was entered by Andrew Mullen, prominent business man, for the indictment retprned against him by the Dallas County Grand Jury charging him with the murder of Carleton Ward in the county courthouse. The plea was made by W. R. Craig, counsel for defense. Mullen was arraigned before Judge B. M. Miller of the circuit court.

Labor Elects Officers.

Florence, Ala.,—The Alabama State Federation of Labor reelected President Harrison and Secretary Bowen. The executive council is composed of M. E. Barganier, of Montgomery; Sam C. Hunt, of Florence; A. P. Exell, of Anniston; W. R. McClusky, of Albany, and E. W. Scharman, of Mobile.

Cotton Compress Built.

Albany.—Following the visit here of Richard F. Willingham, of Macon, Ga., president of the Shippers' Bonded Warehouse, it was announced that the contract for the erection of a new cotton compress here had been let with a clause requiring completion of the plant with 90 days.

Oat Crop Good in Butler.

Greenville.—While corn and cotton crop conditions in Butler County are very gloomy at present, the farmers who were lucky in planting oats will reap a good harvest. There are thousjoining counties are reported planning to curtail cotton acreage and plant more food crops this Spring.

Hog Sales Held.

Greenville, Ala.,—The Butler County Swine Growers' Association held their last hog sales day of the season in Greenville. There were a large number of hogs sold that were brought into Greenville from all sections of the county, and what is considered a fair price was paid for them.

M'Dowell To Run.

Montgomery. — State Senator Charles S. McDowell of Eufaula told friends in Montgomery that he expected to be a candiate for governor in the campaign two years hence. He had been mentioned for several months.

Yeggs Still Missing.

Birmingham.—No trace has been found of the yeggmen who blew open the safe of the sub-station of the postoffice at Five Points Tuesday night and made away with all the cash and thrift stamps in the safe amounting to $600.

Club Meeting Closed.

Anniston.—After two days of business and social sessions, the second district convention of Federated Women's Clubs was brought to a close. The convention was attended by club women from 14 counties in Nesth Alabama.

County May Be Re-Districted.

Mobile.—Because of the large number of voters in several of the city wards, the county board of revenue and road commissioners at its meeting took steps looking toward redistricting the county.

Storm Fund Still Increases.

Tuscaloosa.—Tuscaloosa's subscription to the storm sufferers has reached $1,809.14 and is still climbing. It looks now as if the amount will go over the $200,000. mark.

Legion Charter Granted.

Montgomery.—Charter was issued for an American Legion post at Clanton, Ala., where a number of prospective Legionaires have already been enrolled.

Hospital To Be Built.

Conferences Meets.

Five Points.—The annual session of the Roanoke district conference of the Methodist Church, South, adjourned here after one of the most interesting meetings in the history of the district.

United States a Real Democracy Only When It Votes for President.

By MARY ROBERTS RINEHART, American Writer.

This is one of the most critical periods in the country's history. The nation faces a vitally necessary industrial and economic adjustment, in which every man and woman must aid.

The basic economic factor is the home and it rests with the women to take the initiative in measures affecting the home.

Autocracy of mass is as bad as autocracy of class. The strongest emotion prevailing in the country today is fear of radicalism. The people must shake off their political lethargy and realize that they are the government. The only time the United States is a real democracy is when it votes.

Every four years the country puts all its eggs in one basket and must take its chance until the next general election. We have been particularly fortunate in selecting our presidents in the past, but we can't afford to make a mistake at this critical period of our national life.

There must be no "rubber stamp" delegates to the national conventions. They must reflect the wishes of the people they represent.

The greatest problem before the American people, I believe, is industrial and economic adjustment, so that we may take the lead in this. The men are doing their part now. They earn in their capacity, while the women now must achieve the impossible by maintaining the home at a decent standard in the face of continually increasing living costs.

Reactionary and Progressive and How America Will Be Made Secure.

By NICHOLAS MURRAY BUTLER, President Columbia University

The sure mark of the reactionary is unwillingness to make use of the teachings of past experience or to read the lessons of history and apply them to the problems of today.

The true progressive, on the other hand, is he who carefully reads history and carefully examines the experience of mankind in order to see what lessons have already been learned, what mistakes have already been repeated and what principles of organization and conduct have established themselves as sound and beneficent.

America will be saved, not by those who have only contempt and despite for her founders and her history, but by those who look with respect and reverence upon the great series of happenings extending from the voyage of the Mayflower to the achievements of the American armies on the soil of France, and upon that long succession of statesmen, orators, men of letters and men of affairs who have themselves been both the product and the highest promise of American life and American opportunity.

The declaration of independence rings as true today as it did in 1776. The constitution remains the surest and safest foundation for a free government that the wit of man has yet devised.

Faithful adherence to these strong and enduring foundations and a high purpose to apply the fundamental principles of American life with sympathy and openmindedness to each new problem that presents itself will give us a people increasingly prosperous, increasingly happy and increasingly secure.

"I Have Preached the Doctrine of the Red, White and Blue Forever."

By JOHN KJELLANDER, Superior Court Clerk, Chicago.

The initial fact in my case is that I, a native of Sweden, am proud of my American citizenship. There my glory begins and ends.

When I arrived at Castle Garden I had $10. I came to Chicago, the metropolis of the Golden West, and I partook again of an effervescent cup of optimism. Quoting Theodore Roosevelt, "the name of American is to bear the most honorable of titles and whoever does not so believe has no business to bear the name at all." Send all such back.

These United States have given me opportunity. I have been honored by the electorate. Class distinction would have barred me abroad. This country has afforded me the privilege of knowing, personally, men and women of all classes, from the lowly to the chief magistrate of the nation.

Respecting my fatherland, I have gained adoration for the land of my adoption. I wish the same were true of other foreigners who have come to our shores. To all such as have been classified as "Reds" I would say "get out!" To deport them is a pussyfoot method. Their place is before a firing squad. In my job as clerk of the Superior court of Cook county I have made many addresses in my office to applicants for citizenship and I have preached the doctrine of the red, white, and blue—forever.

"Some Large Questions on Which the Future of the Nation Depends."

By MRS. CARRIE CHAPMAN CATT, Woman Suffrage Leader.

Some large questions are coming up today. To cite a few of them.

How shall the peace of the world be maintained? How shall food enough be produced to bring the necessary variety within the possession of every human being? How shall industrial profiteers be brought to book? How shall the illiteracy, so glaringly revealed by war statistics, be removed, for ignorance in a republic is an ever-present menace?

As many women die every year from perfectly preventable causes at maternity as there were men from this country killed in the great war. Why should this go on?

These are a few of the questions calling for attention at this time. And the future of the nation, the happiness of posterity, depends upon the manner in which men and women voters of today meet these questions.

To my mind, it is the duty of the women voters in the coming election to place their eyes upon the big things at issue and let those big things govern their choice of party and candidates.

It is rather hard to decide which is the more maddening in a certain New Jersey town not far from New York, the taxi service or the telephone. One day, having waited almost up to train time for the taxi he had ordered, a prominent townsman picked up the telephone in a great rage and asked for the number of the dilatory taxi man.

"Hello, this is Mr. Henry," he said loudly and sternly, when he got his connection. "Have you forgotten me?"

"No, I haven't forgotten you, Mr. Henry," said the mild feminine voice at the other end of the wire. "This is Mrs. Brown."

Ups and Downs.

"An orator has to come down to the level of his audience's intelligence," remarked the mild egoist.

"There used to be some such idea," replied Senator Sorghum. "But the orator nowadays has all he can do to rise to the occasion."

RABBIT RAISING IS GOOD SCHEME

American People Beginning to Realize That Meat Is Superior for Home Table.

LITTLE CAPITAL IS NEEDED

Back-Yard Enterprise Turns Waste Materials and Spare Time into Food—Selection of Breed Is Matter of Taste.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Rabbits have always been an important source of meat in Europe, but in the United States until recently few of them were eaten except during the winter hunting season. Conditions resulting from the great war have awakened many Americans to the economic value of rabbits and more and more people each year are raising sufficient in their back yards to supply the family table. The flesh of the young domesticated rabbits is vastly superior in fiber and flavor to that of the wild rabbits. It closely resembles the white meat of chicken.

A prolific 10-pound doe can easily raise in a year 20 young, which at 5 months will produce not less than 50 pounds of delicious meat. By means of compound hutches all this can be done on an area 4 by 6 feet. Half an hour of time a day, and some hay, roadside weeds, and refuse from orchards, garden, and kitchen, supplemented by a small quantity of grain, cover the cost of production. Raising rabbit meat for home consumption is a proposition for turning to account time, space, and materials which are ordinarily wasted.

Cost of Rabbit Raising.

The cost of starting a rabbitry depends on its size and on the price of material. One can buy two good does and a buck of breeding age—enough to supply an average family with all the rabbit meat it would care to use—for anywhere from $1.50 to $10 each, or for a total of from $4.50 to $30.

Hutches may vary in cost from a few cents each, the price of an empty dry-goods box, to several dollars, if expended for dressed lumber to be put together by a carpenter. On a farm where odds and ends of lumber and poultry netting usually are available, and where hay, grain, and milk are produced in abundance, the money cost of starting and carrying on a small rabbitry is negligible. In any case the initial cost need not be great. The daily cost when all feed is purchased is not usually above 1 cent for a 10 or 12 pound rabbit, a recent bulletin on rabbit raising, published by the bureau of biological survey of the United States department of agriculture, states.

Selecting a breed is a matter of taste, although it may be influenced more or less by the market that is to be supplied. For example, the family table would demand smaller animals than would the trade of a restaurant or hotel. It is best to begin with only one breed and to concentrate on developing that into stock that may be a source of pride and profit.

One buck and two or three does are enough to start with. Young animals of breeding age are better than older ones, which will soon be past their usefulness. The buck should come from a different source from the does. It is always best to deal with reputable breeders and to examine stock before buying it.

Feeding the Rabbit.

American breeders follow no uniform system of feeding rabbits. Some feed no green stuff, while others use all that is available. It is usually wise to avoid both extremes, but green feed must be used with more caution than is necessary with dry, and only the best of any kind should be used. This means particularly that spoiled, moldy, or dirty feeds are to be avoided as injurious to rabbits.

Clean oats (whole or crushed), leafy mixed hay, and a small portion of some kind of greens daily is the steady diet used in most rabbitries. Crushed barley may be substituted for oats; clover or alfalfa may be used with green oats or timothy hay; and the greens may consist of carrots, rutabagas, prunings from apple and cherry trees, and plantain, dock, burdock, dandelion, cauliflower, lettuce, or lawn clippings. Lawn clippings or other green grass should be clean and not fed when moldy or fermented. Dandelion tops and roots not only have a food value, but are useful on occasion because of their medicinal properties. A variety of feed is essential.

ADVISABLE TO PRUNE AND STAKE TOMATOES

Question Is Asked Every Year By Many Gardeners.

Advantages Are That Larger Number of Plants Can Be Set on Given Area—Quality of Fruit Is Usually Much Better.

Does it pay to prune tomato vines to a single stem and tie them to stakes or to a trellis? This question is asked every year by thousands of home gardeners. It does pay, according to United States department of agriculture specialists, especially if the space for garden purposes is limited, and it is desired to make the best use of it. Tomato plants, if left to themselves, have a habit of spreading all over the garden and of producing their fruit right on the ground, where it becomes covered with dirt every time there is a rain.

Advantages of pruning and staking tomatoes are that a larger number of plants can be set on a given area than by the ordinary method; the fruit will ripen a little earlier on the plants that are pruned and staked; and the fruit is held off the ground, is clean, and easy to gather.

While the individual plants do not produce so large a quantity of fruit as when they are allowed to spread upon the ground, at least three times as many plants can be set on a given area, thereby actually increasing the quantity of tomatoes produced. The quality of the fruit is usually better on the plants that are pruned and tied to stakes.

Small round poles about four feet in length, sharpened at one end, make the most desirable tomato stakes for the home garden. The best proof that staking tomatoes pays is found in the fact that the best home gardeners follow the practice.

LIME REQUIREMENTS OF SOIL

As General Rule Application of Small Quantity Will Be Beneficial—Ashes Help Some.

There is no certain means by which the average gardener can determine the lime requirements of his soil. As a general rule, however, the application of a small quantity of lime will be beneficial. This should be at the rate of from one-half bushel to one bushel of air-slaked lime to a square rod of ground. The lime should be applied after the land has beeen plowed or spaded and while it is being raked and fitted for planting.

It should always be borne in mind that no lime should be put on the land that is to be planted to Irish potatoes nor should the lime be applied at the same time as commercial fertilizers or poultry manure, as it has the faculty of liberating the nitrogen contained in the fertilizer and causing it to be lost in the air.

Unleached wood ashes contain some lime and considerable potash, but should not be applied at the same time as the lime. Coal ashes are beneficial as a means of lightening heavy soils. However, they have very little fertilizer value, the United States department of agriculture says.

GOOD FARMSTEAD PLANTINGS

Trees Are Used for Windbreaks and Shade, While Shrubs Are Needed to Cover Unsightly Spots.

Suitable plantings are necessary to unite the parts of a farmstead into a pleasing, homelike whole, says the United States department of agriculture. Trees are used for windbreaks, as frames for the buildings or a background for them, and to give shade. Shrubs are needed in abundance to hide partially the foundation lines of buildings, support their corners, give reasons for turns in drives or walks, and to screen unsightly objects. Native trees and shrubs and those known by trial to thrive in the locality are the best to use.

IMPROVEMENT OF DAIRY HERD

Statement From Virginia Owner Reflects Sentiment for Upbuilding of Live Stock.

"I disposed of one scrub bull and replaced him with a registered Holstein to build the herd up." This statement from a Virginia dairyman reflects sentiment of improving live stock in the Old Dominion state, says the United States department of agriculture. The dairyman is enrolled in the "Better Sires—Better Stock" movement in which Virginia now leads all other states from the standpoint of number of persons agreeing to use pure-bred sires for all classes of stock bred.

ROUND ABOUT THE WORLD

A Condensed Record Of Happenings Of Interest From All Points Of The World

Foreign—

Lieut. Harmon C. Rorison of Wilmington, N. C., a pilot in the Kosciusko aerial squadron, has been missing for several days, when he began a flight undertaken to obtain a report concerning the Bolshevik lines on the southern frontin the Ukraine.

Troubles have broken out in northeastern provinces of Italy. In the Carnia, the unemployed set up a Soviet government, which lasted only one day, the troops re-establishing order. In Verona the general strike is aggravated by the solidarity of the railway men.

New luxury taxes imposed by the Dominion of Canada to take the place of the heavier war burdens which are gradually being reduced are expected to do one of two things—either they will produce revenue or they will cut the high cost of living.

Persia has appealed to the league of nations to protect her against Bolshevik aggression.

Arangements have been completed for the transportation of two thousand persons weekly from Poland to the United States b ythe Hebrew Sheltering and Immigrant Aid Society of America, which recently opened offices in Poland.

Greek and Turkish troops have clashed about twenty-five miles east of Smyrna, where the Turks are taking the offensive and are apparently massing reinforcements preparatory to further advances against the Greeks. Fighting has occurred between Magnion and Menumen.

The council of the league of nations has sent a message to President Wilson requesting him to convoke the league of nations next November at Brussels. It is pointed out that Geneva is not ready to receive the assembly. The council, as a result of the Swiss referendum, decided to select Geneva as the seat of the league assembly, instead of Brussels, which would have been chosen had Switzerland voted adversely.

Horatio Bottomley, the anti-American British member of parliament and publicist, takes another shot at America in his magazine, John Bull, by publishing a "demand" that Great Britain forbid the United States to build any more battleships without the allies' consent.

Horatio Bottomley, in his paper, "John Bull," published in London, says: "I want our debt to America to be paid, but whether she joins the league of nations or not, we must notify her that she must not build any more battleships without the consent of the allies. I personally scent danger ahead, for I see no sign that the United States will reciprocate our friendship. Instead, I see only braggart insolence, swaggering unchecked through the wastes of mendacity; all signal proof of the truth of my assertion hat basically American idealism is simply another name for Yankee bluffs."

Two thousand troops from England were landed at Bantry recently and immediately distributed throughout West Corn, where they will be stationed at points five miles apart. The troops to the number of 150 arrived at Skibberdeen also. They commandeered several buildings there, including the town hall, which was made their headquarters.

Washington—

Secretary Daniels testified before a naval board investigating methods employed in an attempt to suppress vice at the Newport training station that he obtained his first knowledge of alleged misconduct on the part of the navy personnel from Bishop Perry of Rhode Island.

Frankly confiding to his colleagues that the clothes on his back were threadbare and patched, Senator Thomas, Democrat of Colorado, joining in another senate broadside on profiteers, declared the people themselves and not legislation must break through the sweeping wave of high prices.

Repetition by Representative Madden, Republican, of Illinois, in the house of his assertion recently that Confederates were traitors threatened a clash between him and Southern members, who gave the "lie" to his epithet.

House Republicans, in party caucus, have come out squarely for enactment of soldier relief as advocated by the American Legion.

The Mexican capital is stupefied at the latest course Mexican politics have taken. Revolutionary leaders are worried to the point of distraction at what effect the murders will have upon their cause.

Cost of production and prices of bituminous coal were the subjects of a report by the federal trade commission and of a letter written by J. D. A. Morrow, vice president of the National Coal Association, to Senator Walsh of Massachusetts, both made public. Large profits will be denied on bituminous coal.

The dead and, reports say, mutilated bodies of his faithful followers assassinated with him, have cast a pall of worry and uncertainty over the capital of Mexico. Details of the assassination are still lacking. The indications are, however, that the first chief and his faithful followers were murdered while tsey slept, and following the killings, the bodies of the dead were slashed with machetes.

Both General Obregon and Gonzales express deep distress over the unhappy death of Carranza and his followers, and, whatever may be the opinion of the outside world, it may be stated that the Mexican capital is convinced that the generals are sincere in their renunciation of any part, either active or passive, in the murders. On the contrary there is every reason to believe that the revolutionists are constantly working to prevent any unnecessary shedding of blood.

Twenty-five hundred dollars reward forthe capture of Grover Cleveland Berdoll of Philadelphia, escaped draft dodger,' was offered by Bergdoll's attorneys. Bergdoll told the authorities he had hidden $150,000 in gold and was permitted, under guard, to go to his mother, and then made his escape.

With the passage of the Knox peace resolution by the house after a stormy debate, the congress of the United States has put itself on record declaring this country to be at peace with both Germany and Austria-Hungary, repealing all wartime legislation, and reserving all rights accuring to the United States under the armistice and the treaty of Versailles. The president will undoubtedly veto the bill, and it will be impossible to secure the two-thirds necessary to pass over his disapproval.

Desire to "Prussianize" the navy department was ascribed by Secretary Daniels as one of Admiral Sims' underlying motives in criticising the department's conduct of the war. The secretary, testifying before the senate investigating committee, also charged that most of the testimony supporting admiral Sims' position was from officers who wished to remove civilian control of the navy department and make the secretary a "rubber stamp."

In its first attempts at freeing the maze of rail equipment, the interstate commerce commission probably will deal with local situations in the various cities through individual roads. This was expected to last, however, only until a general scheme can be worked out by which priorities and embargoes can be employed to restrain the on-rushing stream of commodities waiting at every station.

Domestic—

Cavalry from Fort Meyer was called out to disperse a mob of more than one thousand persons which surrounded the jail at Alexandria court house, twelve miles from the limits of the District of Columbia, attempting to obtain possession of William Turner, a negro. Turner confessed that he shot and killed T. Morgan Moore and attempted to attack Moore's fiancee, Miss Pearl Clark, secretary to Representative Fred Britten of Illinois, after holding them up on the road.

The record in "convention week" profiteering was announced in Chicago by L. W. Henley, secretary of the Republican arrangements committee, when he received a letter from a householder announcing a fourteen-room house for rent during the convention for $12.000. "We are not buying property," Henley replied.

"Tobacco does not excite or intoxicate, but it soothes and pacifies. It promotes sober deliberation and moral contentment. It does not lure men from the fireside, but cements family ties." Charles J. Eisenlohr, president of the Tobacco Merchants' association, made this statement, and said that tobacco would not be buried in the same grave with liquor.

Between two and three thousand have quit work in widely separated sections of the Alabama coal mining district. Mining has been suspended at a number of points. The collective bargaining principle is the issue.

United States Senator Walter S. Edge of New Jersey, speaking before the National Manufacturers' association in session in New York City, said modification of the immigration laws to permit an influx of desirable immigrants to meet the United States' labor short, was necessary. But, he said, they must be Americanized.

Poison gas automatically liberated inside the bank vault as a result of manipulations of burglars, possibly prevented the theft of several thousand dollars at the Newmarket bank at Jefefrson City, Tenn. Finger prints on he wall are believed to have been made by one of the burglars.

A wave of price cutting in retail clothing costs reaching from the Mississippi valley to the Pacific coast is reported. Dispatches received in Chicago frmo twenty-four cities in that territory told of promised reductions in these necessities ranging from 15 to minus profit.

Governor Smith has vetoed the bill proposed and backed by a sertain element in the New York legislature which would bar the Setialist party from particksating in elections in that state.

Influenced by the nation-wide price-cutting agitation that is steadily gaining ground, the principal commodity markets of the country continued to "mark down" quoted values. Cotton, sugar and corn options broke violently in New York and in Chicago, and cereals and provisions suffered sharp reactions.

Important to all Women Readers of this Paper

Thousands upon thousands of women have kidney or bladder trouble and never suspect it.

Women's complaints often prove to be nothing else but kidney trouble, or the result of kidney or bladder disease.

If the kidneys are not in a healthy condition, they may cause the other organs to become diseased.

You may suffer pain in the back, headache and loss of ambition.

Poor health makes you nervous, irritable and may be despondent; it makes any one so.

But hundreds of women claim that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, by restoring health to the kidneys, proved to be just the remedy needed to overcome such conditions.

Many send for a sample bottle to see what Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder medicine, will do for them. By enclosing ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., you may receive sample size bottle by Parcel Post. You can purchase medium and large size bottles at all drug stores.—Adv.

Keep Well

Do not allow the poisons of undigested food to accumulate in your bowels, where they are absorbed into your system. Indigestion, constipation, headache, bad blood, and numerous other troubles are bound to follow. Keep your system clean, as thousands of others do, by taking an occasional dose of the old, reliable, vegetable, family liver medicine.

Thedford's
Black-Draught

Mrs. W. F. Pickle, of Rising Fawn, Ga., writes: "We have used Thedford's Black-Draught as a family medicine. My mother-in-law could not take calomel as it seemed too strong for her, so she used Black-Draught as a mild laxative and liver regulator . . . We use it in the family and believe it is the best medicine for the liver made." Try it. Insist on the genuine—Thedford's. 25c a package. E-75

It is not safe to buy land or to lend money and accept land as security without first investigating the title of the land. Often there are unpaid mortgages, judgments, or other liens affecting the title, which an abstract would set out. Therefore, when buying land or lending money thereon, it is important that an abstract of title be furnished. A few dollars spent for an abstract is cheaper than going ahead and having a law suit a little later on.

Abstracts of Title Promptly Prepared at Reasonable Charges.

DR. SAMUEL E. JOHNSON NOW MARINE MEDICAL EXAMINER

Doctor Samuel E. Johnson, Lieut. U. S. N., well known in this section of Alabama, has been transferred from the Marine Barracks, Parris Island, S. C., to the Headquarters Station, Recruiting District of Memphis, Odd Fellows Bldg., Memphis, Tenn., where he will examine all applicants for enlistment in this well known branch of Uncle Sam's service.

When Dr. Johnson received his orders to report at Memphis, he and Mrs. Johnson got out their little "flivver" and proceeded over land to their new station. The doctor has already made a host of friends during the short period he has been at Memphis, and many of his friends and old patients will welcome the time when the doctor returns to this city to resume his practice.

"Doc," as he is called by all his friends here, has made an enviable record in the United States Navy, he was called into active service in June, 1917, and was sent to the Naval Hospital at New Orleans, La., and when the government opened a naval station at Gulfport, Miss., "Doc" was transferred there. His next move was in 1919 when he was assigned duty in the transport service on the U. S. S. Nansemond. He remained in this service for some time and was then ordered to report to the Naval Hospital at Charleston, S C. where he served on the surgical staff as a junior surgeon. While in the service Doctor Johnson has always had the respect of all the enlisted men who were placed under him.

POWER EXTENSION NOW UP TO PRESIDENT WILSON

Alabama Company to Start Development When President Signs Dam Bill.

Just as soon as the president signs the general dam bill recently passed in the House and Senate, the Alabama Power Company will begin on further development of the Coosa River, probably at Duncan's Riffle, 15 miles below Lock 12, where 90,000 horsepower is generated now.

If this development is not positively determined on then the Tallapoosa River, at Cherokee Bluffs, or Little River on Lookout Mountain, above Gadsden, may be utilized, it is said.

The object will be to double at least the capacities of the Alabama Power Company, its present supply of electricity having been disposed of to corporations, municipal and industrial, throughout the State.

FORD LITERATURE IN TEN LANGUAGES

Fifty-Eight Branch Plants; 43 Under Home Plants.

The Ford catalog and manual have already been printed in ten different languages: French, Spanish, Portuguese, Russian, Polish, Italian, German, Danish, Hungarian and English. Others, including Chinese, are now being considered.

At the present time there are three separate Ford factories, thirty-six in the United States. Assembling plants 10 Canadian branches and the following foreign branches and assembling plants: Bordeaux, France; Buenos Aires, Argentine; Cadiz, Spain; Copenhagen, Denmark; Paris, France; Soa Paulo, Brazil; and Melbourne, Australia. Of a total of 59 branches and assembling plants, 43 are directly connected with the Highland Park Plant.

Those countries wherein Ford branches have not yet been established are represented by distributors.

WALDROP SCHOOLHOUSE

There will be a talk made at 11:00 o'clock, the first Sunday in June, 4, by S. N. Waldrup, at the Waldrop's Schoolhoue, 4 miles east of Randolph, on the Jemison road. The subject will be on the "Restitution of all Things," Acts 3:20-21.

We invite all to come out that would like to hear something said on this subject. Probably there will be a question meeting at the close of the service. Free to all.

ROCKY MOUNT

The public school here will begin June the 21st with Miss McNeill as principal.

There will be a public working at Rocky Mount Schoolhouse June 18th for the purpose of getting ready for the summer school. The working will be in charge of the school improvement association.

J. B. NORTHCUTT.

Texas Democrats in convention assembled "praised the administration of President Wilson" and at the same time declared "in favor of the ratification of the peace treaty with the League of Nations under the best terms possible." This is riding two horses going in different directions.

The problems of government will need Nationalists, not Internationalists for its solution.

It is ominous that the anti-Wilson Democratic campaign will be framed up at "Lick" Springs.

CLANTON BAPTIST CHURCH

The campaign for the new Baptist Church building is now on with very encouraging results. On Thursday of last week the Baptists of Clanton with the assistance of a few friends achieved one of the finest accomplishments in the history of Clanton when in one day $20,685 was subscribed for the erection of a new building. Up to the time of going to press the campaign still continues, but with the success so far achieved the possibility of a $35,000 building is now assured. Further funds will be needed for numerous extra expenses that always occur in such an enterprise, so the opportunity is still open and the privilege still extended to any one who may desire to make a free will offering.

No longer can any kind of a reproach be laid upon the Baptists of Clanton since during the past five months upwards of $35,000 for the various interests of the church in addition to the local expenses has been subscribed, an achievement unequalled certainly not exceeded by any other church in the State for the size of its membership and community constituency.

New and vigorous life has come to the Baptists of Clanton. Better harmony now exists among its members than for many years past, and the desire to seize the present day opportunities for Christian service has wonderfully increased.

With untiring zeal during the days of the campaign the committees have workekd faithfully and well, and for the most part with a liberal spirit and a generous heart the people have given nobly to the work.

The details for the building have not yet been completed, but it is fully expected that in sixty and possibly thirty days the foundation will be laid for the new building which will be a valuable asset to the City of Clanton in every respect as well as to the Baptist Church and denomination. Certainly every citizen should count it a privilege from a community point of view to have some part however small it may be in so great and worthy an enterprise.

The Baptist people now living in Clanton not identified with this church are earnestly and cordially invited without further delay to unite with us and become a part of a live progressive church where their membership as residents of the city rightly belongs.

The church is now looking forward to a great meeting which will begin on Sunday, July 4th when the pastor will be ably assisted by L. C. Woolfe, one of the Home Mission Board Evangelists and Bro. Morris, a splendid gospel singer and chorus leader.

Services will be held next Sunday as usual: Sunday School at 10 a.m.; Preaching at 11 a.m.; Senior B.Y. P.U. at 7 p.m.; Preaching at 8 p.m.

The B. Y. P. U. Picnic will be held at Lovers Lane on Friday of this week when all the members will leave on the morning train for Jemison, and the Reds will be entertained by the Blues. A very enjoyable day is anticipated and all the members are urged to attend.

We would like to see more members of the church regularly attending the preaching services, and extend at all times a cordial welcome to all the visitors who desire to worship with us.

P. G. CARTEN, Pastor.

Greenville.—Work has been started on the Petris Building. The contract calls for a plate glass and marble front, and complete renovation of the interior of the building. The work is expected to be completed by September 1.

Rains Retarding Crops.

Montgomery.—Wet weather has had a retarding effect on crop conditions and nearly all crops in every section of the state are in bad condition, according to the crop report for Alabama for the week, made public by the United States weather service. "Cotton made somewhat better progress during the week. Its condition varies from poor to fair. Planting and chopping continued in the northern portion. Chopping was completed in many sections of southern portion. Stands are only poor to fair on account of previous cold and wet weather. Much replanting has been necessary. Some cotton has been plowed up and corn planted in its stead. Boll weevils are becoming numerous in the southern portion. There is much complaint of grass. Progress of corn improved; much corn remains unplanted, especially in the bottom lands, where the soil continued too wet. Cultivation of corn progressed slowly. "Fruit is in poor to good condition. Peaches are dropping badly in some sections. Small fruit is doing well. Oats and white potatoes are generally doing well; oats harvest is in progress in the southern portion. The weather has been favorable for pastures, which are generally in good condition. Transplanting sweet potatoes progressed somewhat slowly. The condition of the crop varies from fair to excellent. Truck improved and is more plentiful. Planting of peanuts continues."

Montgomery.—Commenting upon the recent primary in Alabama and its results, W. D. Nesbitt, chairman of the State Democratic Executive Committee, in a statement issued, says more interest was taken in the recent campaigns and elections in the citizenship of Alabama as a whole than has been evidenced in 20 years. This he regards as a healthful condition, which will give added strength to the government. Mr. Nesbitt states since 1914, as in every evolution of American progress, the Democratic party has been the directing power of the people. "After each past accomplishment," he says, "the people seem to have grown careless and indifferent, with a consequent loss of control that permitted a reactionary government by and for the interest of special interests and classes. Surely, profiting by past experience, we will not repeat our former indifference and mistakes." He recalls that there is a great underproduction of staples, because "millions of us are talking more than we are working," and makes an appeal to everyone to stop paying fabulous prices for imaginary needs, proudly do without, and fully use all working hours for increased production.

Road Is Surveyed.

Dadeville.—Engineers from the state highway department have finished going over the proposed new road from Jackson's Gap to Alexander City. This is to be the first good road to be built with federal aid in the county. The county now has a highway from Dadeville to Jackson's Gap, and the new road will complete almost a straight road from Dadeville to Alexander City, a distance of 17 miles.

Taxes Increase 25 Per Cent.

Gadsden.—With the filing of notices that the county tax books are open for inspection, it became known that the total assessments in Etowah would reach $30,000,000, or nearly 25 per cent increase for the year.

Warehouse Capacity Doubled.

Huntsville.—The stockholders of the Farmers' Warehouse Company has unanimously decided to double the capacity of the warehouse, and to issue $115,000 of new stock.

Convention Invited to Birmingham.

Birmingham.—Formal invitation to the American Federation of Labor to hold its 1921 convention in Birmingham was extended by the city commission. The Alabama delegation to the convention of the federation will leave prepared to wage a hot fight to bring the gathering to Birmingham. As an argument in favor of Birmingham for the next meeting place, the delegation will use the fact that Birmingham is the greatest industrial center in the Southern states.

Huffman Is Cited.

Gadsden.—Charles E. Huffman, of Gadsden, has been awarded the distinguished service cross for extraordinary heroism displayed in action at Solesmes, France, July 19 and 20. The citation recites that he organized an automatic rifle squad, attacked and captured an enemy machine gun nest. Following this he led a bombing expedition against another machine gun nest, capturing the crew and guns. He was twice wounded, and gassed once.

Must Get Designs In.

Montgomery.—It was announced at the governor's office that all original designs for the proposed Alabama centennial coin must be in the office of the department of archives and history immediately. As it is understood Congress will adjourn about June 6, it is necessary that the direction of a design be made and forwarded to Washington as early as possible.

Fire Marshal Finishes Inspection.

Montgomery.—Announcement was made by W. J. Williams, state fire marshal, that he and his assistants completed electrical equipment inspections in the Montgomery business district. Owners of property where defects in wiring or equipment was found, he states, will be notified of these defects and advised that they have 30 days in which to have them remedied.

Girls Aid in Farm Operations.

Auburn.—Work by members of the boys' and girls' clubs, the organization of which is fostered throughout the state by the Alabama extension service, will be of special value this year on account of general labor shortage. In Etowah County, for instance, the home demonstration agent reports the absence of some of her girls from the regular club meeting. It later developed that on account of her brother's illness one of the girls had taken his place at the plow, and that all of them, more or less, were helping their fathers on clear days in running light planters, harrows and other farm implements to get the crops planted in time.

Julian Elected President.

Montgomery.—At its next session, regular of extraordinary, the Alabama legislature will be asked to enact new libel laws which will afford protectiton to the newspaper against pernicious suits but at the same time will care for legitimate claims of persons who may have grievances. The Alabama Press Association voted unanimously to make this request, and created a committee composed of E. W. Barrett of The Birmingham Age-Herald; W. T. Sheehan of the Montgomery Advertiser and F. H. Miller of the Montgomery Journal to see that bills are drafted which will amend the present libel laws. Frank N. Julian of Sheffield, first vice-president, was elevated to the presidency at the closing business session in Montgomery. He succeeded Oscar M. Duggar of Andalusia, whose ... as head of the organization was ... most successful in its history. ... members attended the sessions ... greater interest was manifested than ever before. W. T. Sheehan of Montgomery, was made first vice-president; W. T. Hall of Dothan, second vice-president; F. W. Farmers Working Hard.

Ashville. — Notwithstanding heavy rians farmers of St. Clair County are working hard to make a crop, some of them even plowing where it is too wet, and skipping the real muddy places. It is predicted as much cotton as was planted last year has already been put in the ground in this county.

Boll Weevil Appears.

Montgomery.—The department of agriculture is advised that the boll weevil has already made its appearance in central and South Alabama. Wherever sufficient labor is available, farmers are having the weevils picked from the plans by hand, and it is hoped in this way the pest can be evaded.

Sunshine Helps Crops.

Mountain Creek.—The continued bright sunshine stimulates both the crops and the industrious farmer. It is now believed this section is "out of the woods" as to an average crop of corn, and probably at least a three-quarter cotton crop.

New Secretary To Arrive.

Florence.—H. H. Dunn, who recently resigned the secretaryship of the board of trade at Winston-Salem, N. C., and who has accepted a similar position with the Florence chamber of commerce will enter upon his duties here June 1.

Snap Bean Party Shoots Price Up.

Mobile.—Press dispatches sent out of Mobile carrying information of the dumping of several bushels of snap beans into Mobile River here, because of the low price offered for them, has brought scores of telegrams from firms in the East offering to purchase beans here, according to growers and truck farmers of this vicinity. The Eastern houses have offered $1.35 a bushel f. o. b. mill, it is stated, and as a result growers are now being paid $1 per bushel for their products.

Satisfied With Census.

Gadsden.—Announcement that Alabama City has a population of 5,487 was received here with satisfaction since the count shows a fine growth for the big mill town. The fact that the town has passed the 5,000 mark is going to work some hardship on the inhabitants. That is the requirement by state law that towns over that figure must pass a stock law. Never in the history of the town has anybody dared to oppose the policy of allowing cows and hogs to roam.

WASHINGTON SIDELIGHTS

To Establish Redwoods National Park

WASHINGTON.—The house has passed the following resolution:

"Resolved, That the secretary of the interior be, and is hereby, directed to investigate and report to the house of representatives as to the suitability, location, cost, if any, and advisability of securing a tract or tracts of land in the state of California containing a stand of typical redwood trees of the species 'Sequoia Sempervirens' with a view that such land be set apart and dedicated as a national park for the benefit and enjoyment of the people of the United States and for the purpose of preserving such trees from destruction and extinction, and also as to whether or not the whole or any part of such lands or the purchase price thereof would be donated to the United States, and the probable cost of maintaining such lands as a part of the national park system."

When the clerk read the resolution, which came up on the unanimous consent calendar, the following took place:

Mr. Walsh—Mr. Speaker, reserving the right to object, I would like to ask the gentleman if the secretary of the interior has exclusive jurisdiction over forest reserves?

Mr. Lea of California—I think the department of agriculture has exclusive jurisdiction over the forest reserves and the secretary of the interior has jurisdiction over the parks.

Mr. Walsh—This would be treated differently from forest reserves if this tract was acquired?

Mr. Lea of California—Yes; so I understand.

Mr. Walsh is from Massachusetts and New England is always active in national park legislation. But the expected opposition didn't develop.

Sequoia National park (to be enlarged and its name changed to Roosevelt) preserves the "Sequoia gigantia," or Big Trees. The redwood is its first cousin and is being extensively lumbered. The movement to save the redwood from extinction by establishing the Redwoods National park has resulted in the formation of a "Save the Redwoods League," with nation-wide membership.

U. S. Senators Human Beings After All

UNITED States senators—members of the "most august legislative body" in the world—as a rule take themselves mighty seriously. Yet they have been given nicknames, just like small boys, prize fighters and ball players. The Washington newspaper correspondents are responsible for most of these nicknames. It's easier, you see, to say "Quince" than to say "Josiah Quintus Bobb of Massylvania." Also, these correspondents in the senate press gallery have learned that senators are only human beings after all. Some of these nicknames are rather clever; others are decidedly forced. For example, the two leaders in the treaty fight, Senator Hitchcock of Nebraska, and Senator Lodge of Massachusetts, both have their nicknames. Senator Hitchcock is regularly alluded to as "Hitchy-Koo," while the "Cabot" in his opponent's name has resulted in "Cabbage."

The identity of some of the senators bearing picturesque sobriquets may not be revealed, for obvious reasons. For instance, it would be impossible to tell the name of the senator who is called "Polonius," because of his heavy style and podgy wit. Nor would it be wise to disclose the name of the senator who is termed "Sweetheart" on account of his dapper manner, mincing way of speaking and general cunningness. It would never do to divulge the individuality of "The Boy Orator," or of "The Migratory Bird."

It would not be quite sporting, either, to tell who is called "The Kentucky Gambler." It is disagreeable, but true that another senator is known as "Hog Eye."

Senator Owen of Oklahoma is referred to as "Oconostota," he is part Cherokee and this is his Indian name. Senator Simmons of North Carolina is known as "Fern," his given name being Furnifold. "Meddle" McCormick of Illinois. "Cyarter" Glass of Virginia—the way he pronounces it himself—"Doc" France of Maryland, who is a physician, and "Atlas" Pomerene of Ohio, whose actual name is Atlee, cannot object to these puns.

Hiram Johnson of California is termed "Hi-Ram." Vice President Marshall is "the V. P." Senator Reed Smoot of Utah is "Senator Smooth." Senator Asle I. Gronna of North Dakota has a first name easily altered to "Ace."

Senator Knute Nelson of Minnesota, "Splendid Old Viking," is "King Canute."

The Old Capable of Useful Achievements

SENATOR Thomas of Colorado read into a Record the other day, during a discussion of pension matters, a letter from John W. Riley, eighty-two years, a veteran of the Civil war, in part, as follows:

"Nowadays mere years are no sign of either physical or mental diminution. There is living at the Dayton Military home a veteran who will be 100 years old next June—Comrade W. E. Bayne, of Barracks No. 7. He is as active in body and mind as any man half his age; is commander of Veteran Post, No. 5, of the Grand Army of the Republic. Look at 'Uncle Joe' Cannon, ex-speaker of the house, over eighty-three, hale and hearty.

"And lest we forget, Titian was ninety-eight when he painted his famous 'Battle of Lepanto,' the most famous single picture in the world. 'Last Judgment' was painted by Michael Angelo when eighty-nine. Joseph Jefferson portrayed Rip Van Winkle with added effectiveness at seventy-five. Whittier and Bryant issued new volumes at seventy-nine. Humboldt finished the best work of his life, his 'Kosmos,' at ninety. Galileo was making new discoveries at seventy-three.

"At seventy Commodore Vanderbilt owned but 120 miles of railroad, and at eighty-eight he owned 10,000 miles of railroad and had added to his fortune $100,000,000. Henry Watterson, who is one of the greatest among editorial writers of the nation, at eighty-three is still in the harness.

"This winter I attended a post meeting at Pleasant Hill, O.—Dan W. Williams Post, No. 369, Grand Army of the Republic—a live-wire post. There were 17 Grand Army men present, some of whom came four or five miles. The average age of the 17 was eighty-one years and nine months. This post meets once a month, and the average attendance is 11. 'Tell me no more that the old are not capable of high and useful achievements.'"

Dewey's House to Be Turned Into Store

PURCHASED with pennies of school children and the contributions of patriotic citizens as a tribute to a hero, the house at 1747 Rhode Island avenue, given to Admiral George Dewey in 1899, has been sold out of the family and is being converted into a store.

The permit for dismantling this gift of the people is issued to Mrs. Francis Pitney of New Jersey, wife of John Bellantyne Pitney, a relative of Supreme Court Justice Mahlon H. Pitney. Mrs. Pitney is a daughter of Mrs. John R. Williams of Washington. The property was transferred to her several weeks ago under deed by Mildred McLean Dewey, widow of the admiral, and George G. Dewey, his son.

This residence was possibly the largest factor in dimming the hale of one of the most popular figures ever before the American public.

The admiral was more than a year reclaiming America after his exploit of May day, 1898. The American people insisted upon being some headsmen and permanent service for him, and when it was found that he was to wed Mrs. Mildred McLean Hazen the thought crystallized in a public subscription to buy the home on Rhode Island avenue.

The deed to the house was delivered to Admiral Dewey October 25, 1899, about two weeks before his wedding. Three weeks later there was a wave of protest when he transferred the house to Mrs. Dewey. It was afterward transferred to the admiral's son, George Dewey. Admiral Dewey died January 16, 1917.

Policemen of Athens, Greece, have an effective and unique method of curbing speeding autoists. Officers carry planks studed with long, sharp nails, and when they see a car approaching they drop the plank in front of the machine. If it is going too fast the tires are punctured in a thousand and one places; if at a moderate speed the driver has not trouble in stopping the car.

Ex-Kaiser Bill has gone to tailoring. It is stated on good authority that it is a pity he did not have an opportunity of developing the real vocation for which he is so well equipped.

President Wilson's request that congress sanction acceptance by the United States of the mandate for Armenia is attracting great interest in London. The story is given much prominence in the morning newspapers but the news was received too late for editorial comment.

The town of Borisov, on the Beresina river, at its junction with the Minsk-Smolensk railway line, has been captured by the Bolsheviki in their campaign against the Poles, according to a soviet official statement received by wireless in London from Moscow.

A farmer, while working with a tractor in a field at Villers Guislain, near Cambrai, France, struck a buried German shell. He was killed. Later a second explosion took place, killing nine other persons.

Formal investigation for the purpose of clarifying the part taken in the death of President Carranza, both by Col. Rodolfo Herrero and members of the Carranza party, is recommended by the commission of four named by Generals Obregon and Gonzales to inquire into the tragedy.

Developments of the past week in Mexico City indicate that one of the first military moves of the successful revolutionists will be launched against Villa. The campaign, if successful, would have a good effect upon feeling both in foreign countries and in Mexico as illustrating the strength of the revolutionary government.

General Francisco Villa, bidding defiance to the newest Mexican government, again has become an outlaw among his own people. The bandit with a small force of men had been reported at Parral or Jiminez, Chihuahua, the hunted quarry of the de facto troops, with a price of 100,000 pesos upon his head. He, however, has retired into the mountain fastnesses, which he considers safer.

The latest complications in the Irish turmoil are the refusal of transport workers to have anything to do with the moving of munitions of war or prisoners and the formation of a "farmers' freedom force" to combat Socialism and Bolshevism. A railway strike is believed to be imminent. The burning of government buildings has been renewed.

Washington—

With proper equipment the railroads of the country can be operated as successfully in the future under private management as they were before federal control, Charles H. Markham, president of the Illinois Central railroad, declared in opening the case of the Southern railroads for higher freight rates before the interstate commerce commission.

Representative Johnson of the state of Washington has received a letter from one of his constituents asking, among other things, that the government give him all the way from a package of onion seed to a set of law books and a full complement of agricultural tools. What he desires and what he evidently believes congressmen should do for constituents would cost the government about five thousand dollars.

Official interest in the Mexican situation was intensified by the reports of a widespread reaction resulting from the killing of Carranza, the deposed president. These indications were accompanied by information that the de facto government might have to face almost immediately not only the problem of reducing Villa, but also a more important armed opposition.

33,000,000 Come in 144 Years

Immigration Figures Show Great Britain Has Given 8,400,000 to Our Population.

4,500,000 COME FROM IRELAND

New York City Is Huge Melting Pot for the Hordes That Come From Overseas—Austria One of the Largest Contributors.

New York—Thirty-three million immigrants have come to this country in the 144 years since it was proclaimed that all men are born free and equal, and yet it was estimated at the recent national convention on immigration held here that there was a shortage of 4,000,000 immigrant workers in this country, which was given as one of the chief reasons for the high cost of living.

"History records no similar movement of population which in rapidity or volume can equal this," says a bulletin of the National Geographic society. "Compared to it the hordes that invaded Europe from Asia, great and enormous as they were, were insignificant.

"Of the 33,000,000 who have come more than 14,000,000 still live among us, and their children and children's children are now in good truth bone of our bone and blood of our blood. Not long ago America crossed the 100,000,000 line in the number of its citizens, and it is interesting to note the composition of that population.

"To begin with, there are 11,000,000 colored people. Then there are 14,500,000 people of foreign birth among us. In addition to these there are 14,000,000 children of foreign born fathers and mothers and 6,500,000 children of foreign born fathers and native mothers, or vice versa. When all these have been deducted from the 100,000,000 only 54,000,000 remain of full white native ancestry.

Includes Illustrious Citizens.

"Yet the 35,000,000 American people who are of foreign stock—that is, foreign born or the children of foreign-born parents—includes some of the most illustrious citizens of our republic. Even the president of the United States has only one ancestor who was born in America, and the list is long and notable of statesmen, captains of industry, leaders of finance, investors, makers of literature and progress, who have strains of blood not more than one generation on this side of the sea.

"An examination of the statistics of American immigration shows that since the foundation of our government Great Britain has contributed 8,400,000 of her people and Germany more than 6,000,000. Ireland with more than 4,000,000 the rest of Great Britain with a little less than 4,000,000, and Scandinavia, with something less than 2,000,000, have, together with Germany contributed more than half of the total immigration to our shores since the beginning of the Revolutionary war.

"When we take the German immigration of the United States between 1776 and 1890 and compare it with that from other countries, a somewhat startling result, and one usually unsuspected, is disclosed. The total arrivals of aliens in those 114 years aggregated 15,698,000, of whom more than 6,000,000 were British and Irish, and 5,125,000 were Germans, which shows that one alien out of every three arriving in America during more than a century of our existence was a German. Only Great Britain shows a greater proportion.

"Since 1890 the trend has been very different. With more than 17,000,000 immigrant arrivals since that date, only 1,023,000 have been Germans. If from this number a proper deduction is made for those who returned to their homeland and those who have died since their arrival, it will be seen that there are fewer than a million former subjects of the kaiser in this country who have not been here more than 26 years. Of more than 8,000,000 people of German birth and immediate ancestry among us less than a million fail to have a background of birth or long residence in America behind them.

Ireland Sends Many.

"It is interesting to note the other foreign elements that have entered into the makeup of American population since 1776. What a wealth of blood that wonderful little island, Ireland, has given us. More Irish have crossed the seas to become part of us than have remained behind. It is remarkable that so small an island—smaller, indeed, than the state of Maine—could in a century and a half send us enough people to duplicate the present population of eleven of our states having an aggregate area as large as the United Kingdom, France, Germany and Austria-Hungary together.

"Austria stands next on the list of contributors. Italy has sent us enough of her people to duplicate the population of Montana, Wyoming, Idaho, Oregon, Nevada, Utah, Colorado, Arizona and New Mexico, while England's and Scotland's contribution, 3,889,000 in all, together with Ireland's 4,500,000, gives a total of 8,389,000, or plenty to populate all the states lying west of Texas and the Dakotas. The Russians who have come to our shores number 3,419,000."

In considering the part that New York city has played in aiding to assimilate this vast influx, it is pointed out that three persons out of every four here were born under foreign flags or are the children of the foreign-born. Commenting on how the one-fourth of the city's population, that is, of native ancestry, has Americanized the three-fourths that is foreign in birth or parentage, the society says:

"He who studies at first hand the processes of Americanization and citizen building finds work being done which would stir the heart of the most unemotional observer. He realizes that all of what is called New York's politics, stories of graft and the like, are but the froth and foam which flock the waves of the city's life, while beneath runs a deep current of progress and public spirit which takes form in carefully conceived and splendidly executed health laws, in a school system that has accomplished wonders, in a water system surpassing anything of its kind on earth.

Vocational Education.

Along with many other cities, New York learned that a vast majority of the children who attend public schools do not go to college afterward. From that suggestion developed the idea of vocational education which is now accomplishing wonders. Perhaps more than any other one agent it is helping to transform in heart and action the alien life of the metropolis into part and parcel of our body politic. The immigrants' children are being fitted for that economic independence which comes with skilled hands instead of being sent forth from school with untrained hands and poorly trained minds.

"When one reflects that seven out of every nine children of school age in New York are of immigrant parentage, a situation is disclosed that might be termed startling, especially when it is remembered that the school army is so large that if it marched ten abreast in close formation the front rank would be boarding a North river ferryboat when the rear guard were crossing the Schuylkill out of Philadelphia.

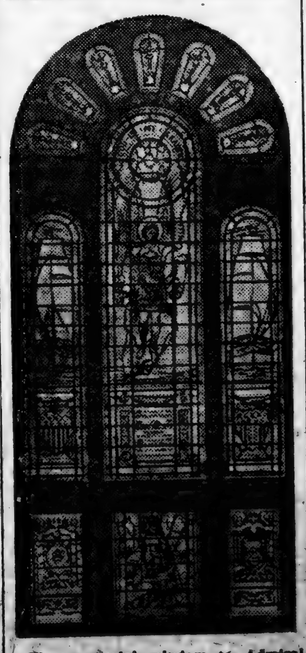
"It is a staggering task which confronts the city in Americanizing such huge numbers of youthful foreigners. Indeed, did it not happen that New York is so rich—with assessed values greater than those of the next seven cities in America combined—it might well call upon the national government for aid. But with such wealth it is bearing the burden alone and is doing it admirably.

"One might write at length about striking features of the New York public schools which stand among all the agencies for Americanizing immigrants' children. How these schools take seventy odd tongues and substitute good English; how they not only labor to fit boys and girls for intelligent and useful places in the country's great industrial system, but also to employment bureaus bring the trained pupil and the open job together; how they provide every year for the children of an added population equal to that of Memphis, Tenn.—are achievements and problems worthy of consideration of Americans everywhere."

Afraid to Take a Chance.

Muncie, Ind.—Marriage license records show that clerks, bookkeepers and other so-called salary men are not marrying these days, but that those engaged in mechanical work are. Out of 170 licenses issued during the first three months of the year, 127 were obtained by mechanics, laborers and farmers.

MEMORIAL TO FARRAGUT



The memorial window to Admiral David Glasgow Farragut, which will be placed in the chapel of the United States Naval academy at Annapolis. The design of the window is based on the incident in the momentous battle of Mobile bay, when he placed his trust in "divine guidance" and ordered his men to "sail over the torpedoes." The memorial is being presented by the graduates of the academy.

CALOMEL LOSING OUT IN SOUTH

Mr. Dodson, the "Liver Tone" Man, Responsible for Change for the Better.

Every druggist in town has noticed a great falling off in the sale of calomel. They all give the same reason. Dodson's Liver Tone is taking its place.

"Calomel is dangerous and people know it." Dodson's Liver Tone is personally guaranteed by every druggist who sells it. A large bottle doesn't cost very much, but if it fails to give easy relief in every case of liver sluggishness and constipation, just ask for your money back.

Dodson's Liver Tone is a pleasant-tasting, purely vegetable remedy, harmless to both children and adults. Take a spoonful at night and wake up feeling fine; no biliousness, sick headache, acid stomach or constipated bowels. It doesn't gripe or cause inconvenience all the next day like violent calomel. Take a dose of calomel today and tomorrow you will feel weak, sick and nauseated. Don't lose a day.—Adv.

For more than Forty Years Cotton Growers have known that

POTASH PAYS

More than 11,651,200 Tons of Potash Salts had been imported and used in the United States in the 20 years previous to January, 1915, when shipments ceased. Of this 6,460,700 Tons consisted of which the cotton grower knew was both a plant food and a preventive of blight and rust,—with it came also 1,312,400 Tons of which has the same effects on Cotton, but which was used mainly in mixed fertilizers.

KAINIT

Shipments of both Kainit and Manure Salt have been resumed but the shortage of coal and cars and high freight rates make it more desirable to ship Manure Salt, which contains 20 per cent of actual Potash, instead of Kainit, which contains less than 13 per cent actual Potash.

MANURE SALT can be used as a side dressing on Cotton in just the same way as Kainit and will give the same results. Where you used 100 pounds of Kainit, you need to use but 62 pounds of Manure Salt, or 100 pounds of Manure Salt go as far as 161 pounds of Kainit.

MANURE SALT has been coming forward in considerable amounts and cotton growers, who cannot secure Kainit, should make an effort to get Manure Salt for side dressing to aid in making a big Cotton Crop.

Muriate of Potash

50 per cent actual Potash, has been coming forward also,—100 pounds of Muriate are equivalent to 400 pounds of Kainit or 250 pounds of Manure Salt.

These are the three

that were always used in making cotton fertilizers and have been used for all these years with great profit and without any damage to the crop.

The supply is not at present as large as in former years, but there is enough to greatly increase the Cotton Crop if you insist on your dealer making the necessary effort to get it for you.

ALL DEMOCRATIC CANDIDATES FOR LEAGUE

President Wilson's telegram to Democratic campaign managers in Oregon insisting upon the defeat of either Democrats or Republicans who supported the Lodge reservations, demonstrates two things: First, that the league covenant as it was written at Versailles contained exactly the provisions the president desired; Second, that even if the United States should go into the League with reservations the president would later, if within his power, secure a repeal of those reservations or ignore them in the practical operation of the league. So long as there is a possibility of President Wilson retaining power in the foreign affairs of the United States, it is dangerous for the United States to become a party to the League of Nations even with reservations.

There has never been any evidence that in the drafting of the league covenant President Wilson endeavored to secure the adoption of provisions which would safeguard the rights and interests of the United States. There has been nothing to indicate that he made any effort to secure for the United States as many votes in the League Assembly as would be enjoyed by Great Britain. There has been nothing to indicate that he endeavored by definite language to eliminate such domestic questions as immigration and the tarff from the control of the league. All indications are that he desired no definite declaration which would specifically reserve to the United States the right to maintain the Monroe Doctrine. All these subjects of such vital importance to the United States, are dealt with in the league covenant in such vague language as to leave room for controversy, at least and more likely for the definite conclusion that it was intended that these subjects should be surrendered to the League of Nations.

President Wilson's continued insistence upon the League covenant as written, even after Lord Grey had given his approval to the reservations, leaves room for no conclusion than that he desired this sacrifice of American interests and national rights. Having this desire, it is equally certain that if he should be elected to another term, or if there should be elected some other man who would take advice from him, this nation's policies during membership in the league would be such as to gradually relinquish the proposed reservations even if adopted. That this could be done was expressly asserted by Lord Grey when he said that quite likely if the American people entered the League, with reservations they would ultimately take a larger part in the league's affairs.

Thus far, all Democratic aspirants for the presidency have indicated full sympathy with the League covenant as originally drawn, although some of them have expressed the opinion that the league with reservations should be ratified rather than defeated in entirety. It is clear, therefore, that if the people elect to the presidency any one of the Democrats now under consideration, the effort of the new administration will be to involve the United States in a league of nations in accordance with the terms of the covenant as originally drawn. The Wilson idea of a 'supreme sacrifice' on the part of the United States meets the approval of these Democratic leaders who may be willing to make some concessions in order to win a victory at the polls but who, after election, will co-operate with Wilson in his effort to surrender American independence to a super-government having its center of activity in Europe, and organized not for the benefit of the United States but for the benefit of European nations.

Judge L. H. Reynolds went to Birmingham Tuesday to attend the Shriners meeting there.

Chairman Porter of the House Committee on Foreign Affairs says that President Wilson's proposal for a mandate over Armenia is equivalent

President Wilson's "self-determination," "mandate" and "safe for democracy" seem to be mixed. Only one man can indorse all three policies and get away with it.

"Instead of every man doing his bit, every man is doing his neighbor," remarked Senator George B. Mc Lean of Connecticut the other day, in referring to the high cost of living.

Carranza is dead and the new Mexican government has offered a reward of $50,000 for the capture of Villa dead or alive. With those two protegees of the Wilson administration eliminated from Mexican affairs there s hope that the republic may regain its former place in the family of nations.

The United States is saved from foreign entanglements once more.

In every great crisis the Republican party can be depended upon always.

Perhaps by this time the President of the United States realizes that the Senate is a factor to be recognized in the making of treaties.

President Wilson received his valentine on the night of March 19th, 1920, with the compliments of the Senate majority.

President Wilson's capacity for building up the fortunes of his party is illutrated by the fact that 21 Senate Democrats deserted hm on the peace treaty and league covenant and more threatened to do so.

If the President had fought as hard for his fourteen points as he fought to burden the United States with obligations under Article 10, to send troops and ships to Europe to protect boundaries, he would cut more of a figure in the perspective of history in the future.

MRS. W. T. CALLEN HOSTESS TO THE CIVIC CLUB

Mrs. Callen was hostess on Tuesday evening to the Civic Club when a very interesting and instructive program celebrating the 110th anniversary of Alabama was carried out.

Mrs. J. H. Jones, the president, delivered an address on the "Makers of Alabama History," following with the pledge.

The Alabama flag was most beautifully portrayed by a group of small girls who gave a true salute to Old Glory and also our Alabama flag. Mesdames Moore and Wyatt favored the club with interesting papers.

Miss Callen, in a short address gave some of the influences of Chickasaw and Cherokee Indians closing with an original poem on Alabama. Little Miss Evelyn Powe of Birmingham gave two delightful readings.

After conducting the regular business and receiving the two new members a delicious salad and ice course was served.

Meeting adjourned to meet with Mrs. Hosea Downs 1st Tuesday in July.

THE LOVE AFFAIR OF JOHNNY-JUMP-UP.

Down in the meadow one day I sat,
I had gathered leaves to make a hat;
I spied a daring buttercup
Right close to a bright-eyed Johnny-jump-up,
And you know, I forgot all about my hat,
I turned right in for an interesting chat.
Johnny-jump-up was such a dear thing
I was almost inclined to coax him to sing,
But knew he would reruse for he was so shamefaced;
But smiling little buttercup soon took his place.
I was quite interested, how sweetly she smiled,
Her dress was of yellow, such beautiful style.
She told me how careful she was of herself,
That made her all smiles, and then I just felt
That you, my dear bright-eyes, I know why you're glad,
For Johnny-jump-up is your bashful little lad.
But I could just see in both their eyes
And Johnny-jump-up, how sweetly he smiled.
My hat all forgotten, I knew I had found,
A little love-match growing in the ground.
—Era Sanders.

LADY SUFFERED FOR TEN YEARS

Stomach Trouble never Let up on Her for one Single Day untill the Found Dreco, the new herbal remedy.

"For ten long years I have been a patient sufferer from stomach trouble, constipation and a few other things," declares Mrs. Anna O. Affleck, the well known and highly respected lady who resides at 809 1st Street, Cirard, Alal., in a signed statement for publication.

"I have spent many a dollar for medicine and doctor billsl, seekikng relief from sastritis, dyspepsia, indgestion and constpation. My stomach often became so swollen from the gas that it felt like a rope tier around my body. Na motter how careful I was about my food it would do the same; always that sourness, belching, choked up feeling. My nerves became alll unstrangled I never knew a good nights rest. Heavy dragging pains in my back, over my kidneys, became almost unbearable. My liver was sluggish, tongue coated, spots danced before my eyes; my limbs ached and my general health wes abot broken down.

"I am 67 years old and had gifen up hope of ever being strong again. But I am here today praising Dreco for the grand, wonderful benefits it has gipen me. I am not like the same sickly, puny woman I was before, but feel good all over. Bowels act regularly; my food digests well, with no more gas or sour belching. The pains are gone from my back and limbs, and my liver is active again. Say anything you want to in the papers about Dreco, for you will not be able to fully express my gratitude to this great remedy.

Dreco is now sold by all good druggists throughout the country and is highly recommended in Clanton by Upchurch Drig Co.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Elbert Littlejohn have as their guests for the week Mrs. J. A. Sims of Selma and Misses Lois and Delene Sims of Birmingham.

Miss Mary Curry, a popular Clanton young lady, who was married on Wedne day to Mr. Clint Jones of Asheville, N. C.

MISS MULLINS ENTERTAINS

Among the loveliest of the many pre-nuptial affairs given in honor of Miss Mary Curry was a reception by Miss Kathleen Mullins when she entertained the bridal party, after the rehearsal on Tuesday night.

Never before was the beautiful home of the hostess lovelier than on this, when wreathes of Dorothy Perkins and choice cut flowers were placed effectively throughout the capacious apartments.

Receiving with Miss Mullins was the bridal party. Miss Curry's costume was a beautiful creation of yellow satin and silver lace.

The charming hostess was becomingly attired in blue taffeta trimmed in hand-made roses.

Quite an enjoyable feature of the evening's pleasure was the cutting of the bride's cakes which were beautifully embossed in valley lillies.

A number of interesting musical selections were rendered by Miss Curry, who is a talented violinist.

Sheriff Gore caught nine negroes in a crap game down in the swamp near town last Sunday afternoon. They were carried to the jail.

KITCHEN SHOWER GIVEN FOR POPULAR BRIDE-ELECT

Elaborate in its every detail was the plan of entertainment in Mrs. L. F. Gerald's kitchen shower for Miss Mary Anne Curry, on last Friday afternoon, which was skillfully executed.

Invitations had been extended to more than three score guests. They were received at the portals of the Gerald Home by Mesdames Horn and Hayes. They were invited to an entrancingly beautiful bower of roses which formed on one end of the gallery. Within this setting of greenery with its coverings of roses in pink and white, refreshing rose-colored punch was served by Misses Kathleen Mullins and Maud Mullins. The interior of the beautiful bungalow had been lavishly decorated with white lillies, pink and white roses, ferns and profusion of southern smilax, as well as ribbons and other ornamentations in pink, white and green tones. Mrs. Gerald with Mrs. Curry and Mary Anne, the bride-to-be on June 2, received the guests in the drawing room.

The dining table was covered with an exquisite lace cover over pink satin. A mirrored tray with its bordering of roses and lillies and its streams of moss green tulle, above which was placed a wedding cake, embossed in lillies of the vallely and wild roses, made a greatly admired centerpiece.

Since the honoree af the afternoon function enjoys an enviable reputation as a pianist and violinist and is classed as an artist by critcs over entire state. "The Musical Romance" as a contest was quite appropriate. Mesdames Heard, Collier and Broadhead conducted the contest. The prizes were a serving tray and a cake pan, both aluminum. The booby prize was an egg beater bearing the written wish "Hope you will beat next time."

The kitchen ware was composed of a fabulous outlay of utensils designed for service and was made highly attractive by a number of pieces of aluminum. This was brought in on trays and presented to the bride by little Erin Danforth and Elizabeth Duncan, who impersonated Black Mammies.

Angel food cake embossed in lillies of the valley and delicate green sherbert mounted with wild roses was served.

Miss Curry's costume was in keeping with the color scheme of the afternoon and she wore a khaki-kool richly embroidered in wild roses.

Mrs. S. A. Goodwyn left Monday for her home in Montgomery after spending the week-end with Mrs. R. E. Luckie.

Mrs. V. J. Elmore returned from Elba Monday.

ALL WRONG WAS HER LIVER

Before Taking Black-Draught, Missouri Lady Was Troubled With Constipation, Headache and Bad Taste in Mouth.

Grandin, Mo.—Mrs. Susa Brooks, of this place, writes: "Some time ago I was in a bad fix, with stomach and liver trouble. I did not feel good at any time. I was very constipated, and had headaches from this condition, and had a continual hurting in my stomach, and bad taste in the mouth. Could tell my liver was all wrong.

"I had known of Black-Draught, so decided to try it myself. I began with a large dose or doses, gradually getting to smaller doses. It regulated my bowels, relieved me of the hurting in my stomach, cleaned off my liver and made me feel like a new person."

If you get up in the morning feeling as tired as you did when you went to bed—achy, coated tongue, bad taste in mouth, sallow complexion—then your liver has not done its full duty, and your system has absorbed the poisons which your liver should have taken away.

An occasional dose of Thedford's Black-Draught will help this important organ to function properly.

Thousands Have Kidney Trouble and Never Suspect It

Applicants for Insurance Often Rejected.

Judging from reports from druggists who are constantly in direct touch with the public, there is one preparation that has been very successful in overcoming these conditions. The mild and healing influence of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its remarkable record of success.

An examining physician for one of the prominent Life Insurance Companies, in an interview on the subject, made the astonishing statement that one reason why so many applicants for insurance are rejected is because kidney trouble is so common to the American people, and the large majority of those whose applications are declined do not even suspect that they have the disease. It is on sale at all drug stores in bottles of two sizes, medium and large.

However, if you wish first to test this great preparation send ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., for a sample bottle. When writing be sure and mention this paper.—Adv.

PUBLIC ROADS

TO JOIN WORLD'S CONGRESS

Secretary Meredith Favors Acceptance of Invitation of International Association.

That the United States should accept the invitation of foreign countries to join the Permanent International Association of Road Congresses is the recommendation of the executive committee of the American Association of State Highway Officials to the secretary of agriculture. The committee, which held a two-days' conference in Washington, D. C., considered at the suggestion of Secretary Meredith, the invitation to the United States which had been received through the state department from the American consul general at Paris. Secretary Meredith concurred in the action of the highway officials and told them he would recommend to the state department that congress be asked to authorize acceptance. The highway officials also recommended that the international association be invited to the United States for its next meeting.

In advising the secretary of the action of the state highway officials, Thomas H. MacDonald, chief of the bureau of public roads, who is also a member of the executive committee, said that the United States is the only civilized nation not now a member of the international association. He saw many advantages in the United States becoming a member, and he believed the other nations in the association would welcome an invitation to meet in this country next year. The roads congress, he said, constituted an international tribunal for bringing together the best experience and results in highway construction and administration. Although meetings have been held each year, none has been called since the European war began. Before the war the congress had met in Brussels, Paris and London.

Secretary Meredith notified the highway officials that he would enlarge the advisory committee of state highway officials, which consults with the department on federal policies in road building. This committee, consisting of six members, will now include the entire executive committee of the American Association of State Highway Officials, increasing its membership to 12. The secretary said this step was taken so that the committee would more completely represent all parts of the United States. The enlarged membership will enable the advisory committee to work out a classification of roads for the entire country, thereby providing a basis for a more orderly national program of road building.

The executive committee inspected a signal device destined to prevent grade crossing disasters and accidents on dangerous curves. It met with the director of sales of the war department with reference to obtaining equipment which is seriously needed in road building and which the states have been unable to secure.

SKIRTS ADOPT MODISH PLAITS

ACCORDION plaits and side-plaitings appear to be occupying the thoughts of many designers this season. They are shown in everything, from capes to negligees. In the soft, sheer materials, the thin, supple silks and satins, they are at their very best, and in the heavier fabrics, used for suits or skirts or capes, designers have managed them cleverly. In stripes and plaids, plaits change the lines and predominating colors so that manufacturers of separate skirts appear to be fascinated by them; they give so much opportunity for the exercise of ingenuity. It seems like painting the lily and adorning the rose to change or add anything to some of the beautiful plaids and stripes that appear in silk and wool materials—but it is done, and we have to concede that something of interest is added to the garment made in this way.

One of the skirts pictured here features stripes running horizontally and the material laid in moderately wide side plaits. Odd and fanciful pockets, without plaitings are set on at each side. They are something like saddle-bag pockets, with rounded flaps, and they hang as if separate from the skirt. Four balls covered with the material make an unusual finish across the bottom of them. The girdle is ingenious, too. Its ends are split at the front, forming two straps, the top straps fastening with a large button while the lower ones cross and are finished at the ends with balls. Accordion plaiting has been chosen by the designer of the plaid silk skirt and he has shown his independence of any other material in this model. It sets close to the figure and this, with its girdle of silk with flat hanging ends at the front, somehow suggests an Egyptian inspiration. The sash ends are folded over the belt and gathered into silk ornaments at the bottom.

New Departure in Smocks

ALL at once and with one accord, the creators of smocks and blouses seemed to have seized upon tricolette as a promising material for their purposes. Whoever started it uncovered an idea that has flourished from the beginning and has led into several by-paths in apparel. Besides smocks, close-fitting jackets, or bodices, often sleeveless and extended at the front into girdles or sash ends, have made their entry for summer wear, in gay and beautiful colors. Tricolette and other weaves in the same silk fiber, make many of these; they will be rivals of the silk sweater later on and belong among the glorified sports clothes that are intrenched for a long stay and crowding tailored modes for street wear.

Tricolette in one of the most popular smocks is shown here, with a finish of silk fringe at the bottom and embellishment embroidered of flower sprays about the neck and down the front opening. Gray is a favorite color for smocks of this kind and gay colors appear in the flowers, but the smocks are made in many colors. A plain girdle, made of the material, or a silk cord and tassel, matching the smock in color, furnish the best management of the waistline. The neck and short front opening are bound with plain satin and small round buttons, covered with it, add a last touch to a delightful piece of work.

A handsome georgette smock, with all-over pattern in silk embroidery, is used for the dressier model shown in the picture. It is one of many in which georgette, in a dusk color, serves as a background for rich embroidered effects and these pretty garments are in high favor for formal afternoons and dinner dress. Two colors in georgette are sometimes combined in them, vivid shades of green proving particularly effective with the quieter colors. It appears in smocks for evening wear, along with turquoise and lighter colors, adorned with beads or with the richest and most colorful embroideries.

Glove Lore.

Nothing looks worse than shabby gloves, and as they are expensive articles in dress, they require a little management. A good glove will, with care, outlast three cheap ones. Do not wear your best gloves at night. The heat of the gas, etc., gives a moisture to the hands that spoils the gloves; do not wear them in very wet weather, as carrying umbrellas and drops of rain spoil them.

Trimming for Child's Frock.

Unique trimming for children's frocks is made from striped material. The stripes are connected or divided by a chain stitch of red worsted. A band of this trimming can be used round the sleeves and down each side of the frock, at back and front.

Unique Millinery Novelty.

An interesting and unique millinery novelty for vacation wear is a large polo bonnet, made entirely of wool crocheted and wired and trimmed with crocheted flowers of the same material.

Little Girl Helped

Benefit to Little Girl Taking Ziron Described by Father Who Says Skin Is Now Clear.

WHEN their little ones are poorly, anxious parents are often unable to find just what to do. If the child's health is run-down, and needs strengthening, due to poor blood, loss of appetite, or the weakness that follows a spell of sickness, you may benefit by the experience of this father, Mr. A. P. Davidson, who writes from Route 1, Primm, Tenn.:

"I have a little girl, 4 years old, and she had been in bad health for 18 months. Had no appetite. I tried different kinds of medicine.

"I got one bottle of Ziron, and it cleared her skin and gave her a good appetite. She is very playful now, and gaining weight every day since she took Ziron. . . .

"I think every one ought to take one or two bottles (of Ziron) every spring and fall. I am sure their health would be better for good blood makes good health."

The experience of those who have been helped by Ziron should warrant you in choosing this valuable remedy for similar conditions.

Ask your druggist about the money-back guarantee. He sells Ziron.

Miss Alcott's Elms.

Among the trees in historic Concord are the two old elms in front of the Louisa May Alcott house, and the little grove of pines and spruces just beyond it. Under the shade of the elms once lived the author of "Little Women" and among the whispering pines Hawthorne walked, thought and wrote, or conversed with his friend, Thoreau. The elm at the left of the door as the visitor approaches the old house is 13 feet in circumference, and the one at the right is 15. The trees have been nominated for a place in the Hall of Fame for Trees being compiled by the American Forestry association of Washington, D. C.

A Determined Speller.

"I understand you gave your youngest baby a mighty queer name."

"Yes," said the vet-ran printer. "I suppose a great many people will think it strange calling a girl 'Bible Jenkins.'"

"What made you do such a thing?"

"I don't like the way folks have gotten into of using small type indiscriminately. I made up my mind I would see to it that there will be at least a few occasions when Bible will have to be spelled with a capital B."

Demonstration.

"Here is this would-be critic talking about a water color in oil. Did you ever hear of a water color which could be in oil?"

"Sure. Sea blue."

Every time a modest girl sees a man look in her direction she imagines he is trying to flirt with her.

FRECKLES

Now Is the Time to Get Rid of These Ugly Spots.

There's no longer the slightest need of feeling ashamed of your freckles, as Othine—double strength—is guaranteed to remove these homely spots.

Simply get an ounce of Othine—double strength—from your druggist, and apply a little of it night and morning and you should soon see that even the worst freckles have begun to disappear, while the lighter ones have vanished entirely. It is seldom that more than one ounce is needed to completely clear the skin and gain a beautiful clear complexion.

Be sure to ask for the double strength Othine, as this is sold under guarantee of money back if it fails to remove freckles.

Far From H. C. L.

According to William J. Linton of Ketchikan, Alaska, Ketchikan is one place where there is no need to worry about the high cost of living. He says: "You could come to Ketchikan and build your own shack in the country near by, catch fish as quickly as you could cast your line in the rippling streams, shoot deer and other game enough to last you for months, make your own maple sugar, render your own lard, trade some extra fish for bread or flour, trade a little meat for furniture or make it yourself, and be comfortably happy."

A Way Out.

Premier Clemenceau gave the red ribbon of the Legion of Honor to an old acquaintance of his who had done important work for France in the war. The recipient of the decoration was delighted and at the same time embarrassed because the large beard, which he had worn for years, hid the honor badge from view.

"Oh, that's easily remedied," Clemenceau said to him when told of the dilemma; "Just cut a window about shoulder high in your whiskers and the ribbon will show through it nicely."

Easily Explained.

Mistress—How did you come to have such a blackened character?

Maid—That's where the last lady I lived with spilt the ink over it.

HAD CHRONIC BRONCHITIS FOR TWENTY-SIX YEARS NOW WELL AND HAPPY

THIS IS WORTH READING

The experience of Mr. E. J. Toupalik, 1438 Rose street, LaCrosse, Wisconsin, is chiefly remarkable on account of the length of time he was afflicted.

He writes: "I have been suffering with chronic bronchitis for twenty-six years and every winter I would catch cold and become so hoarse I could not speak for six or eight weeks. I could get only temporary relief.

"This winter I was taken with Grip and was in awful shape. A fellow workman advised me to take PE-RU-NA. By the time I had used three-fourths of a bottle, the hoarseness was gone, also that tired feeling. I am on my second bottle. Hereafter PE-RU-NA will be constantly in my house. It is the best medicine ever put up for the purpose."

For any disease due to catarrh or catarrhal conditions, PE-RU-NA is equally dependable. Coughs, colds, catarrh of the head, stomach trouble, constipation, rheumatism, pains in the back, side and loins, bloating, belching gas, indigestion, catarrh of the large and small intestines, are some of the troubles for which PE-RU-NA is especially recommended.

PE-RU-NA can be purchased anywhere in either tablet or liquid form.

PESTS THREATEN GARDEN SUCCESS

Specialists Advise Use of All Preventive Measures Possible as Best Plan.

HAVE SOIL DEEPLY PLOWED

Rotation of Crops Has Been Found by Many Farmers to Be Excellent Means of Controlling Disease and Harmful Insects.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

From the time the seeds are planted until the crop is harvested a series of insect enemies and diseases may appear that, unless they are controlled, will destroy much of the value of the garden. Garden and truck crop specialists of the United States department of agriculture have worked out a great many specific means for destroying insects or holding them in check. They point out the fact, however, that preventive measures are best.

It is important to have the soil deeply plowed or spaded and made loose and light with plenty of well-rotted manure or compost and to keep the ground cultivated so that the surface will not become hard or weedy. Use the best seed to be had and sow it liberally to get a good stand, but thin out the plants, as overcrowded plants are in much greater danger of becoming diseased than those that receive plenty of air and sunshine.

Rotate Crops If Possible.

Farmers have found that by rotating their crops they reduce the injury from plant diseases and insects and also increase the fertility of the soil. This principle applies to the home garden, where, if possible, it will be better to make a new plan each year, placing each vegetable where some other grew the year before—peas on the old tomato ground, beets and carrots after the corn, etc. The details of this rotation must vary in each case according to the climate, soil, and vegetables grown and the diseases and insects to be guarded against.

Avoid introducing insects and diseases on plants obtained for setting out. Practice clean cultivation. Employ fertilizers to stimulate plant growth. Work on the principle that a vigorous growing garden will produce a crop in spite of injurious insects and diseases.

Become familiar with the insects and diseases known to occur in your district on the crops you are growing. Equip yourself in advance with all necessary remedies and the means of applying them. Remember that the timely application of a remedy acts as an insurance against loss.

Watch constantly for the first appearance of a disease or insect. Inspect the garden at least every other day. Determine what is causing injury and apply the proper treatment promptly. Use combination treatments as often as necessary, keeping in mind the influence of weather conditions as well as the life history of the insect or fungus causing the disease.

Neighborhood Should Co-operate.

Use insecticides and fungicides in the proper dilution to accomplish the object without injuring the plants. Standard remedies are best. Test others experimentally before using them on a large scale.

Use the best sprayers. A thorough application is necessary for the best results. Adjust the sprayer so that all parts of the plant that are exposed to the air will be covered.

Work for co-operation in the neighborhood. One badly infected or infested garden may be the source of disease infection or insect infestation for several near-by gardens. Keep your own garden clean and it will be an object lesson for careless neighbors and will have a tendency to help clean up the neighborhood. This will make control easier and cheaper another year.

For garden insects there are several control methods that do not require the use of insecticides, but too much must not be expected from them. Of these hand picking is useful for large, comparatively inactive insects such as the potato beetle, cutworms and other caterpillars and the squash bug. Another method is jarring or beating insects from low plants into large pans of water on which a thin scum of kerosene is floating. The water prevents the insects from escaping, and the kerosene, being on the surface, kills the insects with which it comes in contact. Collecting nests are valuable for some pests; for example, the tarnished plant bug. Brushing by different means is used to a considerable extent and consists in beating or brushing insects from the plants with pine boughs or similar brush. This method has proved of great value in combating the pea aphis. Covering with cloth is of use as a preventive for the striped cucumber beetle when the cucumbers are quite small, and for root-maggots. Trapping by different methods with old boards is useful for squash bugs and cutworms. Poisoned baits may be placed under such traps. Plowing, disking, and harrowing all can be done by hand and are of considerable service.

Spraying Methods.

To be successful in the control of insects and diseases, spraying must be done promptly and thoroughly. Spraying with bordeaux mixture should be done before rains rather than after, provided the spray has time to dry on the leaves. Intervals between spraying should depend on the weather. If it is rainy or muggy, with fogs or heavy dews, spray frequently to keep the foliage protected at all times. If dry, a longer time may be allowed.

The ideal spray is a fine mist, and the best work is done when the plant is throughly and evenly covered with fine drops. Stop spraying before the foliage is drenched.

The higher the pressure, the better the spray.

Clean all sprayers each time after using.

For delicate foliage, spray after this gets under shade. Hot sunlight is dangerous with many sprays, such as kerosene emulsion.

It discusses the whole subject in detail—the various garden insects and diseases, poisons and how to prepare and use them, spraying machinery, and the like.

DEPTH OF CORN CULTIVATION

Shallow Method Is Favored as Result of Many Comparative Experiments by Specialists.

Many comparative experiments of deep and shallow cultivation have been made, and on the whole the results are in favor of shallow cultivation, say specialists of the United States department of agriculture. The occasions when deep cultivation is preferable are few. If excessive rains have packed the soil and kept it water soaked, deep cultivation will help to dry and aerate it. Breaking the roots of the plants must be avoided so far as possible. If roots are broken the plants will rapidly produce other roots, but it will be at the expense of vitality and the food supply. After the plants have reached a height of 2 or 3 feet, the soil even in the middle of the rows should not be cultivated deeper than 4 inches, and usually a shallower cultivation will prove better. A loose soil mulch 2 or 3 inches in thickness should be maintained. It retains soil moisture and facilitates the penetration of rainfall.

"BETTER SIRES" LOCAL COLOR

Farmers Recognize Value of Improved Stock Even Though Living in Remote Sections.

That the value of improved live stock is recognized by farmers even though they are still far from reaching that goal on their farms is shown by correspondence reaching the United States department of agriculture from regions where the live stock industry is undeveloped. "This township," one farmer writes in pencil on a scrap of paper, "is interested in a better grade of cattle. There is a sawmill and a carriage shop and a blacksmith shop right by us, and I think these would be good places for your colored poster about better sires. If you will send me some I will post them up.

"We have several cows in our barn," he continues, "and will improve our cows with a pure-bred Holstein bull, which will soon be ready to head the herd."

Are You Human?

A little baby. A little child. Don't they appeal to you? Doesn't your heart yearn to pick them up, to cuddle them close to you, to shield them from all harm? sure it does else you're not human. Being human you love them. Their very helplessness makes you reach out in all your strength to aid them. In health there's no flower so beautiful. In illness there's no night so black.

Save them then. Use every precaution. Take no chance.

When sickness comes, as sickness will, remember its just a baby, just a child and if the Physician isn't at hand don't try some remedy that you may have around the house for your own use.

Fletcher's Castoria was made especially for babies' ills and you can use it with perfect safety as any doctor will tell you. Keep it in the house.

CASTORIA

Do the People Know?

Do you know why you are asked to call for Fletcher's Castoria when you want a child's remedy: why you must insist on Fletcher's?

For years we have been explaining how the popularity of Fletcher's Castoria has brought out innumerable imitations, substitutes and counterfeits.

To protect the babies: to shield the homes and in defense of generations to come we appeal to the better judgment of parents to insist on having Fletcher's Castoria when in need of a child's medicine. And remember above all things that a child's medicine is made for children—a medicine prepared for grown-ups is not interchangeable. A baby's food for a baby. And a baby's medicine is just as essential for the baby.

The Castoria Recipe (it's on every wrapper) has been prepared by the same hands in the same manner for so many years that the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher and perfection in the product are synonymous.

SHOULTS HAPPENINGS

Health at this time isn't as good as usual. Mrs. Ira Lovelady is not able to work any. He has consumption. We are indeed sorry to hear this.

Our Sunday School is still improving. We have some new members every Sunday. It seems that new life has come to Pleasant Grove Church. Everyone is willing to co-operate and work in unity, and we know this is what is needed. Better harmony now exists than for several years. Still there are a few members who do not attend church. The Lord is willing and ready to help if we only believe.

Miss Eva Hall planned to give her Sunday School class a picnic after Sunday School last Sunday, but could not be at home and she postponed it for another time.

Mr. John Ingram and wife spent the day with Mr. and Mrs. C. Hall Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. C. T. Walker spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. John Ellis.

Miss Birdie Shoults from Montgomery is visiting her sister, Mrs. Cleve Latham. Her many friends are glad to see her again.

Mr. Hinton Lawrence from Selma spent last Sunday with mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. M. Lawrence.

We are sorry to say that Mr. Byrd Lawrence broke his arm last Saturday cranking his car. The son of Mr. J. J. Hicks broke his arm in two places Sunday.

Mr. N. W. Latham, wife and son, motored to Riderville to visit T. G. Latham, son of N. W. Latham, Sunday.

Mr. W. M. Oden spent Sunday with Mr. C. Hall.

Miss Allie Walker dined with Miss Eula Lawrence Sunday.

Miss Marie Shoults from Lawley spent Sunday with her cousin, Miss Fannie Lawrence.

Mr. Hort Walker gave an entertainment last Saturday night at his home. Everyone enjoyed it very much. The young people did some excellent singing. Then when all seemed to tire of singing many interesting games were played, an apple was hung up tied with a string and a prize given to the one that could walk by it and bite without any assistance of hands. Afer many trials Mr. Ivy Garner won the prize. Candy was then served to the guests by Mrs. W. P. Hicks. After that Miss Myrtle McAfee rendered some fine, lively music, which everyone enjoyed. Miss Myrtle is a very gifted pianist. After the music the the tired but happy crowd returned to their homes with memories of their few pleasant hours spent with Mr. Hort Walker.

Miss Drucilla Lawrence left last Wednesday to attend the Summer School in Birmingham. She will be with her brother, Rev. Buford Lawrence while there. We wish her great success, but regret to see her leave this community.

Miss Myrtle Ingram dined with Miss Myrtle McAfee Sunday.

Mrs. Cleve Latham spent last Wednesday with Mrs. W. P. Hicks.

Mr. John Mitchell and family visited relatives at Lawley last Friday. Miss Rosa Hall and sister, Ettie Mae spent Saturday night with Mss Lucy Walker.

Mr. C. T. Walker spent Friday night in Centreville attending to business.

Mrs. C. Hall is expecting her daughter, Miss Birdie, from Montgomery some time soon.

Mrs. John Mitchell spent last Tuesday afternoon with Mrs. W. P. Hicks.

Mrs. Cleve Latham spent last Friday with her mother, Mrs. Clark S. Shoults at Lawley.

THE THREE-MILL TAX ELECTION

Clanton, Ala., June 10, 1920.

Editor Union-Banner:

I would like to have a space in your paper to call the attention of the voters of Chilton County to the election which has been called for July 18th for the purpose of voting whether or not we retain the present three-mill tax in Chilton County for school purposes.

You are probably aware of the fact that five hundred and twenty qualified voters signed the petition requesting the Commisisoners Court to call this election which means so much to the present and future of our boys and girls in this county.

The three-mill tax has not proved as successful as it was expected to by some; even though with the passage of this tax three years ago the county has been unable to secure enough teachers and also teachers of ability and experience with the amount of money that has been at their disposal. The reasons for this are self-evident when we consider the fact that day laborers, carpenters, railroad men, wage earners on the farm, stenographers, clerks in stores and all other classes of labor receive more than double what some of our teachers receive and with few exceptions more than double what the large majority of them receive. Is it any wonder that more than 140,000 experienced teachers in the United States have quit the profession and gone into other lines of work within the past two years? ONE ALABAMA SCHOOL ROOM IN EVERY THREE HAD EITHER NO TEACHER OR A POOR TEACHER THIS YEAR! Next year threatens to be even worse ALABAMA'S CHILDREN ARE THE VICTIMS.

I call your attention to the fact that if this tax is levied it will not raise the annual tax rate from what it is at present, as the three-mill tax has been in vogue for the past three years. Remember that the Louisville & Nashville Railroad Company pays one-fourth of this tax themselves; the Southern Railroad Company, M. & O. Railroads and stocks of merchandise will pay more than another fourth of it. From these facts when we consider the amount of property in the towns of the county you can readily see that the farming interests of the county pay not more than one-third of this tax. Then again, Mr. Voter, do not forget that in two years the Alabama Power Company will be taxable property in this county and this too will largely increase the amount of school taxes paid for school purposes in this county by corporations.

If anyone should be opposed to the levy of this tax for school purposes let him remember that very nearly all the large tax payers in the county whose taxes are assessed at more then $10,000 are in favor of this tax. The chief objections that will be heard to the passage of this tax will be given by those voters who pay a very small tax but whose children will be the beneficiaries of the same.

Last year we received from the State $22,599.60; poll tax $1,990.50; Dog Tax $487.50; three-mill tax and bonus, $20,316.22, making a total of $45,393.82. Now should we lose the three-mill tax you can see from the above we would have practically $25,000.00 or even less to run our schools. Do not forget that the dog tax no longer is used for school purposes; also for every mill each county levies for school purposes the State of Alabama gives a bonus of $1,000.00 from this you can see we would lose 3,000 for the State in case the tax is defeated. The 1918 census gave 7,635 children in the county between the ages of seven and twenty-one. The last legislature changed the school age so that a child can now enter school at six years of age instead of seven, so you may know that the school enumeration which will be taken in July this year will show not less than 8,350 children of school age in the county. Divide $25,000.00 which we will have for school purposes without the three mill tax, by 8,500 children and you will see that it would amount to about $3 per child. Suppose your district has 60 children in it; then 60 times $3 will give your distrct $180 to run your school with. How long can you run your school on $180?

This is a matter for you to decide. This is your business. It is vital to you and your children. WHAT will you say and do about it?

HOWARD L. FOSHEE,
County Superintendent of Ed.

LIBERTY HILL

The Liberty Hill Singing Society met Sunday afternoon, June 6th, with a large crowd and fine singing.

Singing was opened with song by the chairman, J. W. Lowery.

Directors for the afternoon were: J. W. Lowery, J. M. Smith, S. A. Henley, W. G. Culp, Glover Smith and Calvin Parrish; organists were W.G. Culp, Miss Zelma Lowery, Mrs. Zella Scott and Birdie Edwards.

There were several visitors whom we were glad to see. We would be glad to have them with us every time.

The society will meet again the third Sunday afternoon, June 20th. Arrangements have been made for the Mt. Nebo Society to meet with us then. We are expecting some good singing. We invite all the singers to come and take a part.

THORSBY INSTITUTE

Last Thursday night was a wet one, but the rain didn't keep the friends of Thorsby Institute and its graduating class away from Bates Hall. A very interesting program marked the close of one of the best year's of the school's life.

The graduating class consisted of six members—Waldemar Lefstead, James V. Sullivan, Misses Odie Lee Arthur, Ruth Gerald, Agnes Leary and Dagmar Larsen. The commencement address on the subject "What Thorsby Institute Stands for" was delivered by Rev. Frank R. Shipman, President of Atlanta Theological Seminary. A number of cash prizes amounting to over $50.00 contributed by friends of the eschool, were announced and distributed as follows: For excellence in Essay Writing—Senior prize divided between Waldemar Lefstead and Odie Lee Arthur. Same to classes below the Senior, to Alice Sharp. For excellence in Declamation—boys prize, Thomas Giles; girls prize, Lura Woods. Prize for most neatly kept room in girls dormitory, divided between the Hughes sisters and the Thomas sisters; same in dormitory annex, to Dagmar Larsen. For the best scholarship record for the year in high school classes, first Waldemar Lefstead; second Ruth Gerald. In seventh and eighth grades, Esther Johnson.

A prize of $1.00 was offered at the beginning of the school year for the best record in attendance and punctuality. When at the year's close it was found that fifteen of the pupils had made perfect records for the year, the donor increased the gift so that each prize winner in these points should have a one-dollar bill. And another friend, impressed by the value of such a record for a school, authorized the announcement that he would give a one-dollar bill to each member of the Thorsby Public School who through the year showed to be present every day and on time at every session. It was announced that Miss Ruth Gerald, a member of the graduating class, had gone through her four years in the Institute without receiving an absent or a tardy mark. The other fourteen who were neither absent nor tardy during the school year were, Myrtle Arthur, Dora Brackin, Pearl Carlson, Mary Gerald, Thomas Giles, Bessie Hughes, Essie Hughes, Dagmar Larsen, Waldemar Lefstead, Alice Sharp, Dollie Thomas, George Tuck, May Ward, Lura Wood. The interesting announcement was made that two-thirds of all the prize winners were the children of widows (four of the six graduates likewise) and the audience arose as a tribute of their respect for the mothers present and absent, who notwithstanding the handicap of their widowhood, had won through so nobly for their fatherless children. It was also announced that Mr. Jas. B. Tupper, one of the donors of the prize money distributed, had died recently, and it had been learned that by his will he had left $1,000 to Thorsby Institute.

Honor "T" prizes were awarded for excellence in athletics, to the following: Odie Lee Arthur, Myrtle Arthur, Bessie Hughes, Irene Boggan, Ruth Gerald, Mary Ella Gerald, Essie Hughes, Lura Woods, Dagmar Larsen, Agnes Leary.

Thorsby faces her fifteenth year with the reasonable hope for a larger attendance and a better year than any that is past.

One Ford car with a piston ring,
Two rear wheels, one front spring,
Has no fenders, seat made of plank,
Burns lots of gas, hard to crank;
Carburetor busted half way through,
Engine missing, hits on two;
Only three years old, four next spring,
Has shock absorbers on every thing;
Ten spokes missing, front axle bent,
All tires punctured—not worth a cent;
Got lots of speed, will run like duce,
Burns either gas or tobacco juice.
If you want this car, inquire within;
Splendid good car for the fix its in.

MT. PLEASANT

You can see the sunshine reflecting in the farmers faces this week. Quite a difference from last week when it was raining so much.

Mrs. Glennie Mims and little son, O. L., of Birmingham are visiting Mrs. Katie Duncan.

John Rowell of Wylam spent Saturday night with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Rowell.

Mrs. Eula Belle Culver spent Saturday night with home folks.

Lake Thompson of Selma spent last Saturday night with his mother, Mrs. Mary Thompson.

Mrs. W. G. Culp spent one day last week with her sister Mrs. J. A. Logan.

B. G. Burnett, who works in Birmingham spent Sunday here.

Miss Clara Thompson spent part of last week with her aunt, Mrs. Katie Duncan.

WEST CHILTON

Beautiful June with its blue skies, growing crops and singing birds, is here.

Heavy rans here last week; farming still backward.

Joseph Smith, Jr., went to Dogwood Sunday.

Some serious cases of throat trouble here last week.

Manly Atchison and Miss Jewel Hayes were quietly married on last week, Rev. Gentry officiating.

Several from here attended the singing at Lomax the 5th Sunday. They report a real nice time, a good singing, a fine dinner, lare crowd, and the privilege of hearing the Sanders sisters direct some fine songs, which was a rare treat.

Mr. Bearden, our weather man, laughingly remarked to a gentleman in Randolph that the agricultural people would produce just enough this year for their own use. The prediction seems to assume the form of fact as reports come in from all quarters. So it will not be unwise for Chilton people to add all they can to food crops, and not try to live too fast.

The poetic production in last Banner was nice and interesting. Such talent in our county is appreciated.

THORSBY NEWS ITEMS

Crops here are doing fine considering so much rain, but we hope the rain will cease for a few weeks.

We are sorry to se so many of our prominent young ladies of Thorsby leaving. Several have gone to the University for a few weeks. We will be glad to see them back in Thorsby once more.

Miss Clara Hays has returned to her home in Mobile County after a visit to relatives and friends in Thorsby. We enjoyed the visit of Miss Hays and hope she will come again soon.

Mrs. W. J. Billingsley and daughter, Miss Carrie, are visiting relatives in Mobile this week. We hope they return soon reportng a nice time.

We are sorry to see our high school boys and girls of Thorsby Institute leaving. But we will look forward to the time when they return.

LOST—Last Sunday a bill book containing $10 bill and three $1 bills, lost between Fonza Poole's Shop and Pleasant Grove Church. Finder return to J. R. Owen, R. 3, and get reward.

Trained Teachers To be Recognized

WILL GET A BETTER TYPE OF CERTIFICATE.

Professional Licenses will Outrank Those which are Based on Examinations

Features of Alabama's new teacher certification system, made possible by the last legislature and now practically ready, are the introduction of professional certificates which outrank the old first grade and life examination certificates, provision for practically indefinite extension of certifically ndefnte extenson of certificates already in force on the basis of reading circle work and professional study at summer sessions, and elimination of the third grade examination after July 21, next. Third grade certificates in effect October 1, next may be extended, however, on the basis of reading circle work or other approved professional study.

Since professional certificates will be issued only on the basis of professional training, it is assumed that teachers holding this class of certificate will be in greater demand than teachers holdng the old type of certificate and will therefore, receive better salaries.

Followng are the types of professional certificates which will be issued:

Elementary, Class A—Ths certificate is based on standard normal school graduation and enables the holder to teach in the elementary or junior high schools. It is valid for six years provided the holder satisfactorily completes one of the following during the first three years: (a) a reading circle course for two years; (b) two 6-weeks or one 12-weeks course at a class A normal school or other recognized institution of higher learning; (c) a reading circle course for one year and a 6-weeks course at a Class A normal school or other recognized institution or higher learning.

Elementary, Class B—This certificate may be granted on recommendation of the normal school president to persons who successfully complete one year of normal school work based on graduation from an accredited high school, or to holders of life or first grade certificates who complete an approved course of study for one year at a Class A normal school or other recognized institution of higher learning. It entitles the holder to teach in elementary or junior high schools and is valid for six years, the last three of these years conditional on fulfilling during the first three, one of the requirements listed above, under Class A certificates.

Secondary Certificates.

Secondary, Class A—This certificate, which entitles the holder to teach in elementary, junior high or senior high schools, may be issued to graduates of a standard college who have satisfactorily pursued 18 semester hours of professional study, including 3 semester hours of observation and practice teaching. Its life is three years, subject to renewal for a like period on the basis of either: (a) two years of reading circle work, or (b) an approved 6-weeks course of study at a recognized institution of higher learning.

Secondary, Class B—This certificate, entitling the holder to teach in the same schools, having the same life and capable of being extended for the same period under the same conditions as a Class A certificate, may

Congress Passes a Most Surprising Bill

WASHINGTON.—Congress has passed a bill (H. R. 9944) which appears to have raised a commotion all along the line from the hard-boiled post office inspector who sized up the property to the vice president in the senate who said, "passed with thanks."

You see, the bill was to give something to the government, instead of to get something out of the treasury. So, naturally, everyone in both houses was suspicious of it—until it was read substantially as follows:

Be it enacted, etc., That the Secretary of the Treasury be, and he is hereby, authorized and directed to accept on behalf of the United States the donation by Sedgwick Post, No. 10, Grand Army of the Republic, of its memorial hall property in Bedford, Taylor County, Iowa, for Federal building purposes.

That the Secretary of the Treasury is authorized to permit said post and the Sedgwick Post Women's Relief Corps, No. 82, to continue to occupy the second floor of said building until such time as said post dissolves; such occupancy to be without charge for rent, water, heat, or light, which are to be included in such free use.

And that a suitable bronze tablet commemorative of this gift shall be furnished and placed on the exterior of said building at the expense of the United States.

In the house an eloquent little tribute to the old soldiers by Mann of Illinois was received with applause, and the members decided to show that the vote was unanimous.

In the senate it was pronounced a wonderful bill—for the same reason that had impressed the house. It was passed by unanimous consent.

It appears that the post is well-to-do; that the property is valuable and that the present rental from the ground floor is considerable.

Once Sedgwick Post, No. 10, G. A. R., had about 500 members. Now its membership has dwindled to 25. Soon the post will have no more need for its hall. The last roll will be called—with none to answer "Here."

U. S. Army Field Kitchens That Paid Duty

EXCERPTS from the house debate on the bill (H. R. 6171) on the unanimous consent calendar of the house to authorize the refund of duties collected on field kitchens imported during during the year 1916:

Mr. Britten: The kitchens cost some $2,000 apiece. They were furnished to the National Guard and taken to the Mexican border at a time when the war department had not sufficient equipment to take care of the troops. A duty was charged when a rolling kitchen was brought over the line from Canada. This bill seeks to refund the duty. It is a small item.

Mr. Cannon: What is the difference between donations of dollars, donations of clothing, and the hundreds of millions—I was going to say billions—of dollars that were donated by the patriotic people? Now, here comes a bill to establish a precedent to pay back something to somebody who patriotically donated field kitchens, on which you say they paid a duty when the kitchens were imported. If you should carry out that same principle, you would have it on all imported articles. I do not know how much is involved in this—

Britten: Probably a few hundred dollars.

Mr. Cannon: A few hundred dollars! Many millions of dollars will be involved in it if you enter upon this policy.

Mr. Britten: To say that a refund of duties paid on rolling field kitchens, which contributed to the army, would be establishing a dangerous precedent, is beyond my comprehension. The failure of the house to pass this bill will mean direct taxation on public spirit, direct taxation on patriotism, direct taxation on humanity. It is a suggestion that the national treasury itself should benefit in real hard money, because the war department was not in a position to provide the simple necessities of an unimportant campaign.

Mr. Cannon: There was a duty on wool. God knows how the women knit. God knows how they bought and paid for the wool to knit. This establishes a precedent that we ought not to establish, and therefore I object to the consideration of the bill.

The Speaker: Objection is made. The clerk will report the next bill.

Congress Is to Give Us Pretty New Coins

IF THERE is anything that the director of the United States mint just naturally despises, it's new coins. Therefore he's pessimistic these days. For congress has told him to mint three special half-dollars commemorating the tercentenary of the Pilgrims and the centenary of the states of Alabama and Maine.

Moreover congress is considering ordering a 2-cent or 2½-cent coin bearing a medallion of Theodore Roosevelt, as urged by the Women's Roosevelt Memorial association. Then there's Senator Frelinghuysen's bill proposing the coinage of 7-cent and 8-cent pieces.

The United States has never been strong for new coins. In 1792 congress authorized the following coins for circulation: the eagle ($10), half eagle ($5), quarter eagle ($2.50), the dollar, the "disme" (old spelling for dime), half disme (5 cents), the cent and the half cent.

Double eagles came into being in 1849, the year of the gold rush to California. In 1851 a new coin, the 3-cent piece, three-quarter silver and one-quarter copper, was introduced, and two years later the three-dollar gold piece came into being. In 1857 the half cent was dropped, but another piece, the two-cent coin, was minted in 1864.

The nickel came into being in 1866. Congress in 1876 overhauled the entire coinage system and decided upon the following coins: all the gold coins as they now stand, dollar, half dollar, quarter and dime in silver and the minor coins, including the five, three and one-cent pieces. Since that time the three-cent piece has been discarded.

The 40 "Saddest Words of Tongue or Pen"

IT WASN'T because he was seventy-five years old that he was excluded, for Miss Madeline Gauff, a graduate nurse many years his junior, had come all the way from Taunton, Mass., to say that Frederic Stone would make her his wife if the immigration officials at Ellis Island would admit the gray-haired Englishman to this country.

It wasn't because he was liable to ever become a public charge, for Mr. Stone displayed a roll of $6,000, and said with an air of nonchalance, "There's more where this came from, that I jolly well know."

It was the literacy test that halted Mr. Stone at Uncle Sam's threshold and sent his bride-elect away bowed with disappointment. Mr. Stone cannot read the English language.

"Can you read forty words of any other language?" asked the inspector.

"Certainly not," replied Mr. Stone.

Miss Kauff, who had come to meet her betrothed, was sorely disappointed at his exclusion. She explained that she had been in this country only a few years and that she had been in love with Mr. Stone for several years prior to her coming.

When he retired as a farmer and wrote her that his loneliness was unendurable she consented to become his wife if he would come to America. She had not reckoned on the literacy test.

Miss Kauff took an appeal from the exclusion verdict of the board of special inquiry and anxiously awaits a final decision from the heads of the labor department at Washington.

WOMEN NEED SWAMP-ROOT

Thousands of women have kidney and bladder trouble and never suspect it.

Womens' complaints often prove to be nothing else but kidney trouble, or the result of kidney or bladder disease.

If the kidneys are not in a healthy condition, they may cause the other organs to become diseased.

Pain in the back, headache, loss of ambition, nervousness, are often times symptoms of kidney trouble.

Don't delay starting treatment. Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, a physician's prescription, obtained at any drug store, may be just the remedy needed to overcome such conditions.

Get a medium or large size bottle immediately from any drug store.

However, if you wish first to test this great preparation send ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., for a sample bottle. When writing be sure and mention this paper.—Adv.

WANTS $10,000; MAKES THREATS

Student Turns Blackhander in Effort to Get Easy Money.

TRIES IT ON BANKER

Young Man Is Trapped by Officers After Mysterious Calls on Phone Are Traced and Makes Full Confession.

Fort Collins, Colo.—C. H. Thompson, a student at the conservatory of music of the state agricultural college, confessed to District Attorney Russell W. Fleming and Professor Alexander Emslie, head of the conservatory of music, that he had attempted to extort by means of "black hand" letters $10,000 from Charles R. Evans, wealthy banker and live stock man of this city, according to the two men to whom the confession is said to have been presented.

Thompson declared that he had no accomplices and that the sole reason for his selection of the banker as his expected victim was his need for ready money.

Mr. Evans received the first letter in which "blackhand" tactics were suspected last week. It notified him that he had been elected to donate $10,000 to the American Equalization organization.

Family Threatened.

Directions for the hiding of the money for the "blackhanders" were to be phoned to Evans, the letter stated, threatening him and his entire family with death if he failed to comply.

Mr. Evans notified Sheriff Elmer I. Cooke and District Attorney Russell W. Fleming, who were unsuccessful in locating the sender of the missive.

On Saturday night came a telephone call, later traced to the stock judging pavilion at the agricultural college, threatening the banker and instructing him to place the money behind Unity church. The officers and Evans drove to the spot, but nothing happened.

On Monday night, Mr. Evans received another telephone call from a man who directed him to hide the money at a certain spot near the agricultural college grounds.

Blowing Up of Car Threatened.

The man also warned Mr. Evans not to have any officers around as he did on Saturday night or he would blow the auto and all to pieces. The officers went to the spot, but no sign of the mystery man could be found.

Early last evening Mr. Evans received another mysterious telephone call, during which the speaker gave him detailed instructions on how to take the $10,000 to an alley three blocks south of the college grounds.

Deputy Sheriff Byrd Halligan and City Policeman Fred Cave were in Mr. Evans' home when the call came in.

They slipped out of the house a moment or two after the speaker had hung up his phone. When Halligan and Cave reached the alleyway to which the voice directed Evans to come, a man stepped out of the darkness and jumped on the running board. The two officers grappled with him, but he wrestled himself free and fled as they fired shots after him without effect.

A moment later Thompson called precipitously at the home of Professor Emslie, the professor said later. He was out of breath and explained the fact by saying that he had fallen in the darkness and had been overcome by heart trouble, to which he was susceptible. Professor Emslie was suspicious and reported the call to the sheriff. Thompson was taken into custody, and later confessed.

Stomachs Converted Into Pepsin Factories

Plausible Treatment for Indigestion.

Just as long as pepsin, pancreatin and other digestive ferments are supplied to the stomach from outside sources, just that long will spells of indigestion continue.

To effect permanent relief, the stomach must be conditioned to produce its own ferments.

Nature has given us a mineral water known as Sul-Ferro-Sol. When this water is taken in teaspoonful doses it is a noticable fact that the depleted tissues of the stomach are quickly conditioned to perform their functional duties. And thus indigestion is permanently cured in many instances.

For Sul-Ferro-Sol causes the home-production of digestive ferments.

LEARNED LESSON OF THRIFT

Boys and Girls of New Jersey Town Have Made Record of Which They Are Proud.

If there has been less talk of the servant problem in Bridgeton, New Jersey, than elsewhere, it is quite explainable. Not to be outdone by their European sisters and brothers in matters of thrift and industry, 25 youngsters in that town have invested $1,000 in United States thrift stamps this year, thanks to their own hard work. Boys and girls alike have welcomed opportunities of doing remunerative dishwashing, sweeping, dusting, store clerking, baby-minding, errand-running, etc., with the goal of economy symbolized by government stamps ahead of them. The more ambitious have undertaken cutting weeds, carrying coal, sifting ashes, selling papers, raising chickens, cleaning pavements, and some have even won prizes to add to their savings. Having found that time can be converted into money it is doubtful whether these boys will again find the street corner a worthwhile place for spending idle hours, or the girls be content to waste periods in porch chatter.

Old Gentleman Had Particular Use for That Peculiarly Atrocious-Looking Beetle.

On the counter of the Christmas bazaar stood all the usual horrors which an unscrupulous world insists on giving the poor kiddies as "toys." There were animals, birds and insects which resembled nothing save the creatures of a particularly fierce nightmare.

The customer steadied himself by a chair and, after a careful selection, picked up one specially terrible beetle.

"I'll take that," he told the assistant.

"How much is it?"

"Half a dollar!" replied the girl. "Is it for your little boy?"

"No; I want to take it to a dinner party I have to attend."

"Whatever for?" exclaimed the girl, surprised out of her carefully acquired calm.

"Well, I'm going to stand it in front of me on the table when the drinks are going round and when I see two beetles—well, it's time to go home!"

A LETTER FOR WOMEN

From a Woman Whose Serious Illness Was Overcome by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Garnett, Kas.—"I first took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for a complete nervous breakdown following the birth of my oldest child. I got up too soon which caused serious female trouble. I was so weak that I was not able to be on my feet but very little and could not do my housework at all. I had a bad pain in my left side and it would pain terribly if I stepped off a curb-stone. One day one of your booklets was thrown in the yard and I read every word in it. There were so many who had been helped by your medicine that I wanted to try it and my husband went to town and got me a bottle. It seemed as though I felt relief after the second dose, so I kept on until I had taken five bottles and by that time I was as well as I could wish. About a year later I gave birth to a ten pound boy, and have had two more children since and my health has been fine. If I ever have trouble of any kind I am going to take your medicine for I give it all the praise for my good health. I always recommend your medicine whenever I can."—Mrs. Eva E. HIGH-CLASS HORSES NEEDED

No Provision Made for Future by Many Farmers Who Are Using Up Their Work Stock.

The thing most needed in the production of work horses for American farms is greater care in the selection of the stallion and the brood mare, say animal husbandry experts of the United States department of agriculture, who have been studying the present situation with respect to horses. Not only was there a net decrease of approximately 373,000 in the number of horses on farms on January 1, compared with a year ago, but the experts are of the opinion that there has been an even more marked decrease in the number of mares bred during 1919. The extent of this decrease cannot be accurately determined until the colt crop of 1920 is estimated. However, if the decline in breeding is as great as conditions now indicate, the country will be confronted with a seriously depleted supply of good horses within the next few years.

General Gates, a Morgan Stallion in Use at the Morgan Farm, Middlebury, Vt.

Many farmers are using up their work stock without making any provision for the future. Such a policy is short-sighted and will have serious results, according to department of agriculture representatives. The present need is to increase the percentage of efficient horses by careful selection of parents. One of the principal factors from which the market is suffering is the breeding of too many low-grade work animals. There is a strong demand for high-class horses, at good prices, the department says.

TUBERCULOSIS RAVAGES BIG

Information Shows That 59,547 Carcasses of Cattle Were Condemned on Inspection.

Tuberculosis was responsible for the condemnation of more cattle, slaughtered under federal meat inspection last year, than all other diseases combined. Information from the bureau of animal industry, United States department of agriculture, shows that 59,547 carcasses of cattle were condemned on post-morten inspection and of that number 37,600 were the result of tuberculosis. In addition 53,652 parts of cattle carcasses were condemned for the same cause.

The bureau points out that tuberculosis in cattle and hog cholera in swine are the two most serious contagious diseases affecting meat animals, and there is evidence that a heavy loss occurs on farms in addition to condemnations at establishments where government inspection is maintained. The department of agriculture is prepared to give information on the best methods of reducing the losses.

MORE HOGS WERE IMMUNIZED

Chief Purpose of Inspection Is to Permit Reshipment to Farms and Feed Yards.

An outstanding feature of federal activities for the control of hog cholera during the last year was the great increase in the number of swine immunized so that they might be distributed from public stockyards for purposes other than slaughter. The last report of the bureau of animal industry, United States department of agriculture, gives the number of feed hogs immunized as 614,673. This is a large increase over the preceding year. The chief purpose of the inspection and inoculation is to permit reshipment to farms and feeding yards for further growth or fattening without danger to herds in which they are introduced.

SHEEP DOGS IN QUARANTINE

Examination Showed Many of Imported Animals Were Infested With Various Parasites.

Because of the danger to live stock, especially sheep, of the gid tapeworm, imported sheep dogs are subjected to federal quarantine. Sheep dogs have been found to harbor that parasite. During the last fiscal year representatives of the United States department of agriculture examined 181 imported sheep dogs for the presence of parasites transmitted to live stock, and 39 were found to be infested with parasites of various kinds. Twenty-two showed the presence of tapeworms, and one of the tapeworms expelled by treatment proved to be of the dangerous gid variety.

EXPLOSIONS AND FIRES THWARTED

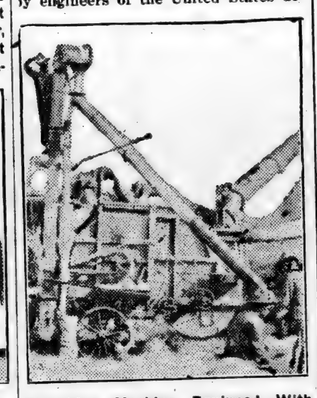
Dust-Collecting Fan, Attached to Thrashing Machine, Has Proven Successful.

INSURANCE RISK LESSENED

Method Reduces Wind Dissemination of Smut Spores Which Otherwise Would Be Blown Out of Stacker to Infest the Field.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

The frequency of dust explosions and fires in connection with thrashing operations in the wheat-producing section of the Pacific Northwest has led to the development of a dust-collecting fan, a device designed and perfected by engineers of the United States department of agriculture in co-operation with the manufacturers of thrashing machinery. This apparatus has proved so successful that many grain separators in the Pacific Northwest are now equipped with the device.



Thrashing Machine Equipped With Special Dust Collecting Fans.

Protects Thrasher.

This device, when used in conjunction with a wiring system to carry off charges of static electricity developed by the thrasher, and further aided by a fire extinguisher adapted to separators, gives the thrasher a protection nearly absolute. Eventually this protection will greatly lessen the insurance risk, which hitherto has been at the prohibitive rate of $80 to $100 for each $1,000 of property insured. And this rate is only for a 20-day run.

Produce Results.

Now it appears that the joint project of the bureau of chemistry, plant industry and markets is to produce special results in (1) protection from fire and explosion and a decrease in insurance rates; (2) the cleaning of grain, particularly smut; and (3) the checking of wheat smut through the collection of the smut spores by the fans at the time of thrashing. This method reduces the wind dissemination of spores which otherwise would be blown out of the wind stacker to infest the fields.

DESTROY WEEDS IN INFANCY

Easy Matter to Eliminate Noxious Plants From Various Fields at Very Beginning.

Weeds like other things, are most easily destroyed in infancy. This being true, they can best be eliminated from cornfields, gardens, potato patches and elsewhere by destroying them just as soon as they make their appearance. The harrow and the weeder are most usual implements in accomplishing this task before plants are large enough to cultivate.

It is surprising how much good and how little harm will be accomplished even after the corn, potatoes and other plants get well started, by going over the fields with the harrow with teeth slanting, or, preferably, the weeder.

REMEDY FOR CABBAGE WORMS

Government Expert Favors Arsenate of Lead and Paris Green for Killing Pests.

A government expert says the best remedies for the cabbage worm are arsenate of lead and paris green. The former being cheaper at the present time is recommended at the rate of two pounds in powder form or four pounds in paste form to 50 gallons of water. Adhesiveness is enhanced by the addition of the same amount by weight of crude resin soap or resin-fishoil soap.

The best form of spraying machinery should be used, with special attention to nozzles in order to secure a mistlike spray.

The arsenicals are harmless when properly applied as directed.

MANY VINES PREFER FENCES

Such Plants as Cucumber, Squash, Melon and Pumpkin Do Better on Some Kind of Trellis.

The cucumber, melon, squash and pumpkin vines, you will find, have high ideals, and would rather climb up the fence or trellis than run on the ground. It will be necessary to support by cords or rags the heavier varieties of melons and squash. Again the squash bug expects to find his favorite food on the ground.

MOTOR EXPRESS WILL AID TRANSPORTATION

Facilities for Hauling Farm Produce Are Lacking.

Solution of Problem Seen in Establishment of Rural Auto Truck Feeder Lines—Specially Designed Vehicles Used.

It has been asserted that 50 per cent of the perishable produce now grown on farms throughout the United States is wasted because proper facilities for hauling it to market are lacking. The loss to farmers, together with the economic loss to the whole nation due to this condition, reaches a tremendous total. It is further claimed the solution of this problem would go a long way to satisfactorily reduce the high cost of living. In a word it would give the farmer more money for his capital and work, but at the same time make the tariff easier on the ultimate consumer.

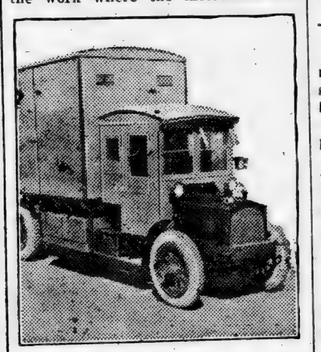
What is really needed is a branch feeder line to each farm.

Obviously the railroads can not build them. The electric roads help, but do not entirely fill the bill. There is, however, one method of transportation which, used in conjunction with either of the above mentioned utilities, happily solves the problem. It is the motor truck line.

Worth-while trucks on good roads form the important link in the farmers' transportation system which will bring about the state of affairs referred to.

Already progressive cities are installing freight terminals for truck lines. Motor express has proven to be a logical, economical and sure method of bringing the farm to market. These lines are run the same as any railroad and may either operate independently or in conjunction with a railroad.

An example of the latter class is found in the motor truck feeder lines of a Wisconsin-Illinois railway concern. About a year ago this company realized its express service was inadequate to care for its territory. They solved their problem by establishing rural motor express lines to take up the work where the interurban left off. Trucks specially designed for high-speed cross-country work were the vehicles selected for the work. They were equipped with bodies and trailers and put to work over certain routes. They easily proved their economical worth.



Motor Trucks Expected to Solve Transportation Problem.

If a farmer has enough material going in, a trailer can be left at his farm. He can then load it and it will be picked up on the next trip. The trucks run on time table schedule, make two trips over their routes each day, deliver and pick up all kinds of shipments no matter how small or large. Shipments received anywhere in the system up to 6 p. m. are at their destination, which may be any other place covered by the lines, before noon of the following day.

From the time the first trucks were installed the popularity of the feeder lines was never in doubt. More business than they could possibly handle was quickly offered to them and the fleet has been expanding ever since. They offer a really dependable service which means money to the farmers served. The service has been in operation a year and the trucks have functioned all the time. Even the severest days of last winter did not cause a tie-up of shipments.

CARING FOR AILING ANIMALS

Whenever Tuberculosis Is Discovered Cow Should Be Separated From Healthy Cattle.

A cow infected with tuberculosis should be separated from healthy cattle as soon as the disease is discovered as, otherwise, she is constantly a medium for the transmission of the ailment to her mates. It is imperative that no newly purchased animals be introduced into a healthy herd until they have successfully passed a thorough tuberculin test administered by an experienced veterinarian.

DODSON WARNS CALOMEL USERS

You Cannot Gripe, Sicken, or Salivate Yourself if You Take "Dodson's Liver Tone" Instead

Calomel salivates! It's mercury. Calomel acts like dynamite on a sluggish liver. When calomel comes into contact with sour bile it crashes into it, causing cramping and nausea.

If you feel bilious, headachy, constipated and all knocked out, just go to your druggist and get a bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone for a few cents, which is harmless vegetable substitute for dangerous calomel. Take a spoonful and if it doesn't start your liver and straighten you up better and quicker than nasty calomel and without making you sick, you just go back and get your money.

If you take calomel today you'll be sick and nauseated tomorrow; besides, it may salivate you, while if you take Dodson's Liver Tone you will wake up feeling great, full of ambition, and ready for work or play. It's harmless, pleasant and safe to give to children; they like it.—Adv.

Mrs. Myrtle Miller, Okla. "I was an invalid for two years. By the advice of my druggist I used STELLA VITAE and it cured me. I can now do all my own work."

Mrs. V. K. Uzzell, Suffolk, Va. "Before I took Stella Vitae I never saw a well day for over twelve months. After taking one bottle I was better. My complexion has cleared up and I have gained 20 lbs."

Going the Limit.

The even party was over, and most of the guests had gone, so the story goes. As one young man took leave of the hostess the lady said:

"I'm sorry you found Miss Biggle a poor conversationalist."

"Poor conversationalist!" exclaimed the guest. "She's absolutely the limit! Why the only thing she said to me during the entire evening was 'No,' and I had to propose to her to get that out of her."

Publicity and Practice.

"How did you lay the foundation for your colossal fortune?" asked the young man.

"I worked all day and studied all night," replied Mr. Dustin Stax. "I attended church regularly and avoided all bad habits—".

"Is this the way you would advise me to proceed?"

"Why—er—I didn't know you wanted the information for your personal use. That's different, of course. I thought it was an interview for a magazine article."

All Suffer Alike.

It is an eternal truth in the political as well as the mystical body that "where one member suffers, all the members suffer with it."—Junius.

Musk may have gone out of fashion, but it has wormed its way into a lot of other perfumeries.

Safe as a Bank.

In examination in bankruptcy proceedings Mrs. Helen Hunt, widow, of Lee Bankroad, Birmingham, England, said she did not keep a banking account.

"Where did you keep your money?"

"In a safe place outside the house, with a faithful friend."

"Who was that?"

"The dog," said Mrs. Hunt. "I used to put the money in a cash-box under the kennel, and nobody dared go near the kennel."

"Nearly £3,000 ($15,000) under a dog's kennel?"

"Yes," said Mrs. Hunt. She did not think a bank was safer.

Still Useful.

Mrs. A. had just finished cutting her five-year-old daughter's hair and was preparing to throw away the clippings when the youngster asked, "Mother, what are you going to do with the hair you cut off my head?"

"Why, throw it away, of course," answered Mrs. A., a trifle impatiently. "Why, what made you ask?"

"Oh, I thought maybe you would save it to patch father's with," returned the youngster. "It needs it bad enough."

Quickest Way.

"How do you think this high cost of living can be suspended?" "The only way I know of is to hang the profiteers."

SODA TO COTTON

The tests at Auburn and in other parts of the State seem to indicate that the best time to apply nitrate of soda to cotton is either before or by the time the first squares appear.

When 140 pounds of nitrate of soda per acre was used the first cultivation after thinning (chopping), the average increase per acre in seed cotton was 80 pounds.

Where 100 pounds of nitrate of soda was used the largest increase obtained was 134 pounds of seed cotton per acre and the nitrate of soda was applied by the time the first squares appeared. Bulletin 209, Alabama Experiment Station.

E. W. HONEYCUTT DEAD

We learn this week of the death of Mr. E. W. Honeycutt, who died last Wednesday. He was buried at Rocky Mount Cemetery.

Mr. Honeycutt was 61 years old and was born and raised in Chilton County. He was a local Methodist preacher and a most beloved citizen of his home community.

His influence in the affairs of his neighborhood will be sadly missed by his friends.

Dr. V. J. Gragg was in the bunch of Clanton citizens who went before the public service commission in Montgomery this week asking that the L. & N. Railroad be required to stop passenger trains No. 1 and No. 4 at this station regularly. The doctor says the Commission was either very favorable toward Clanton's claim or else they handed that bunch a big sugar coated pill.

MT. PLEASANT.

The community was choked and very much surprised to hear of the death of Ocie Evans, who committed suicide Monday by taking carbolic acid. At the time of his death his home was near New Salem, but he lived in this community last year and had many friends here. He is a grandson of J. D. Blankenship, who lives near Mt. Pleasant.

Malcolm Manning of Verbena was a recent visitor at L. O. Vickers.

Quite a number enjoyed the ice cream supper at G. W. Robinson's Saturday night.

L. O. Vickers and wife attended the funeral of Ocie Evans at Salem Tuesday.

Miss Dovie and Gladys Melton spent Saturday night at G. D. Melton's near Cedar Grove.

CANE CREEK

The singing at this place last Sunday evening was enjoyed by all.

Next Sunday is preaching day here and everybody is urged to attend.

I think we should organize a Sunday School Class, for we sure do need one here. We would much better spend Sunday evenings in singing rather than going to the church and dancing. Let us go to the church house often, but we should go for some good.

Sunday School here begins at 9 o'clock. Let us all meet by 8:45 next Sunday and organize us a singing class.

PLEASANT GROVE

The Singing here was a great success Sunday afternoon. We sang in the "Highway to Glory." The leaders were Prof. James Franklin and George Spivey, president of our singing society. The organists were Miss Bevie Childress and Mrs. Clayton Kincaid.

We have just organized our singing society and hope for a great success and a revival in the musical field. We meet on the first and third Sunday afternoons.

We cordially invite all who can to meet with us in our services.

DULCIE CHAMPION, Secy.

The people of this county should remember that on July 13th there is to be an election to determine whether or not the county shall levy a three-mill tax for school purposes. Our county has had this tax for the past three years and it has proved of the greatest good to our rural schools. Now the time which the tax was originally voted has expired, and it must be voted again if we are to have the help of the public money for our schools next session.

A delegaton of Clanton citizens were in Montgomery Monday and Tuesday to meet the Alabama Public Service Commission on the plea of Clanton to the railroad company to stop trains No. 1 and 4 at this station. After returning from Montgomery Tuesday night Mr. C. Fenn Jones, one of the number, said: "I shall be greatly surprised if the commission does not give us what we ask for. Everything looked very favorable for Clanton, and I believe the commission is with us."

SCHOOL BONDS CARRY

The vote for the issuance of $7,000 of bonds by the Town of Clanton for the addition of another story to the Public Grammar School last Monday was 116. The vote against the proposition was 39. Our grammar school needs the additional space and equipment this will give it and it is hoped that no time will be lost in getting the work under way.

J. Tom Rockett of Coopers was a visitor to Clanton Tuesday. Tom says he is expecting to be elected Tax Collector in November, and we believe he will.

Uncle Dock Wells is visiting relatives in the capital city this week, but will return in time to fill his appointment at Jacksons Chapel and the Poor House next Sunday.

Senator Owen, a Democrat, had the courage to tell the Senate and the country the truth about President Wilson and his assassination of the Democratic party with a weapon made in Europe.

We say hurrah for the vote that Clanton gave the school bond issue on Monday. The town needs a better equipped grammar school, and it is commendable that our citizens are willing to take the necesary steps to provide the money for it.

The Alabama Power Company is now with us with their electric current, and we are fully enjoying the great advantages of that day we so long have sought when we might have as much juice as we wanted. Now if we can ever get forgiveness for all the cussing we have done about this rotten electric service of the past year we will be all right.

Get on the band wagon and help root for the Clanton Boy Scouts. They are a live bunch and are coming to the front by leaps and bounds. The next time you hear their band play you will be surprised at the improvement they have made. Get ready for the big event they are going to pull off here on Saturday, July 3rd. You will see more about the plans in the Banner each week from now till then.

Rev. P. G. Carter is in Atlanta this week in conference with the Baptist Board regarding the aid that is to be extended to the Clanton Church in the building of its new house of worship. We hope for a favorable report from him when he returns.

JONES-CURRY WEDDING

A wedding around which centered the interest of friends all over the state, as the bride is a social favorite in Selma and Birmingham and other cities, took place at five o'clock last Wednesday evening when Miss Mary Jane Curry became the bride of Mr. Clinton Jones of Asheville, N. C. The Clanton Baptist Church at which the ceremony took place, had been transferred into a place of beauty by loving friends. The bridal tones of white and green were beautifully carried out with quantities of Southern smilax and white hydrangia and Easter lilies.

Exceptional musical talent was displayed before the arrival of the bridal party. Miss Gertiwyle McDonald presided at the piano and was accompanied by Mrs. James Middleton on the violin. Mr. Phillip Horn sang with much expression "At Dawning," while Miss Sibyl McDonald's voice was never sweeter than when she sang "For You Alone." White tapers cast their soft rays upon the party.

The ushers were Messrs. John Vanderveer, Alex Richards, Fenn Jones, and Grover Walker.

Promptly at the hour appointed the shepherdess entered to the strains of Lohengrin Wedding March, forming arches for the bridal party. These were Misses Birdie Teel, Anice Kemp, Mary Upchurch, Sallye Johnson, Marjorine Alred, Marzelle Mullins and Warrene Spigener, each carrying a shepherdess crook tied with tulle and sweet peas.

The bridesmaids and groomsmen came down opposite aisles crossing at the altar. Miss Kathleen Mullins with Mr. Guy Roberts, Miss Eunice Hayes of Birmingham with Mr. Lamar Waters, and Miss Madeline Orr and Mr. Will Wilson. The bride's sister, Miss Roberta Curry, was maid of honor, and Mrs. Alex Richards, matron of honor preceded the bride as she came with her father, Hon. Thos. A. Curry. Just in front of the bride walked two dainty little maidens Nora Broadnax and Virginia McKenzie of Birmingham, flower girls. At the altar, Mr. Robert Kenan, best man, with the groom, stood to await the coming of the fair bride. Following the bride came the attractive twins, Joe and Helen Moore, who were the ring bearers. The double ring ceremony was performed in an impressive manner by Rev. J. R. Curry, uncle of the bride. While the sacred vows were being pronounced the sweet notes "To A Wild Rose" were heard in soft tones throughout the sacred edifice.

The bridesmaids wore smart gowns of colored organdie with hats to match and carried baskets of sweet peas tied with tulle. Miss Roberta Curry's costume was flesh and nile green organdie. Mrs. Richards appeared in pink organdie fashioned after that of the bridesmaids, and carried a basket of pink sweet peas.

The bride, who is a beautiful girl of pronounced blonde type, was never lovelier than on this her wedding day, when she plighted her troth to the man of her choice. Her gown was of blue tricotine with a hand-made georgette blouse with which she wore a chic hat and other accessories to match. Her flowers were bride's roses, showered with valley lilies.

TAX ADJUSTER HEARING CASES

Major H. M. Simpson, Tax Adjuster of Chilton County, is now hearing the cases of those whose land values have been raised. Notices have been sent to those whose assessment was raised by the adjuster, and a day set for them to come in and present their reasons if any why the raise should not be made. Those who do not appear before Mr. Simpson on the day set are liable to get into trouble about it, according to a statement by Mr. Simpson himself in regard to the matter.

The hearing have been in progress all this week and will continue thru the month of June. Mr. Simpson says he is getting along well with everybody who comes in and is succeeding in reasoning the cases out without injury or friction with any persons.

Miss Willie Belle Sartor has as her guest, her cousin, Mrs. Butler of Montgomery.

Mr. Jim Rasberry spent Sunday in Birmingham.

Mr. Cary Speer was the guest of Mr. Baz Jones in Montgomery last Sunday.

Mrs. J. B. Atkinson is spending the week with her relatives at Vincent and Sylacauga.

OFFICIAL COUNT SHOWS MAY 11 PRIMARY CLOSEST IN HISTORY OF ALABAMA.

FILL LEGISLATIVE VACANCIES

Wallace Renominated For Commissioner of Conservation By Only 119 Votes.

SOME INTERESTING FACTS ON RESULTS IN PRIMARY

An analysis of the official returns from the primary of May 11 shows some interesting results.

Underwood's majority over both his opponents was only 881.

Wallace's majority over Kimbrough was only 119.

The total Alabama first choice vote in the long-term senatorial race was 132,949.

The total first choice vote in the short-term race was 130,913.

The total vote in the public service commision race was 115,512.

The total vote in the commissioner of conservation race was 112,257.

Weakley received 9,776 first choice votes and 21,199 second choice.

In the long-term race there were 28,491 second choice votes cast and in the short-term race 34,768 second choice votes.

Montgomery.—Governor Kilby issued a proclamation declaring all vacancies in the Alabama legislature filled in the special election May 11. The tabulation made by the state election commission, from which the proclamation was issued, showed the election of the following:

J. O. Webb, senator from Ninth district, succeeding A. W. Briscoe, resigned; D. A. Baker, senator from Twenty-fifth district, succeeding himself; Charles B. Teasley, senator of Twenty-eighth district, succeeding W. A. Gunter, resigned; E. H. Downs, representative of Autauga, succeeding M. A. Graham, resigned; E. B. Fite, representative of Marion, succeeding Walker K. Hall, resigned; H. B. Fuller, representative of Montgomery, succeeding Walter B. Jones, resigned; William Varner, representative of Macon, succeeding Henry P. Merritt, resigned; C. F. Gilbreath, representative of Winston, succeeding J. M. Burnes, resigned; R. A. Burleson, representative of Morgan, succeeding Porter M. Brindley, deceased; W. H. Williamson, representative of Crenshaw, succeeding W. H. Stoddard, resigned.

Official tabulation of the vote cast in the democratic primary May 11, which was made by the subcommittee of the state committee shows that Senator Oscar W. Underwood received a clear majority of 881 votes over his two opponents, L. B. Musgrove and Samuel D. Weakley, and that John H. Wallace, Jr., was renominated for state commissioner of conservation over A. L. Kimbrough by a majority of 119.

State's Closest Contest.

Never in the history of Alabama has such a close contest been waged for the important state offices. Unofficial tabulations of the majority of Senator Underwood showed him leading his two opponents by about 1,600, while the race for conservation commissioner had remained in doubt until two weeks ago, when the best unofficial figures obtainable showed Mr. Wallace leading by 301.

No Changes Reported.

No changes were reported from the unofficial tabulation of the winners for delegates to the national convention. The delegates from the state at large are: M. C. Allgood, Sidney J. Bowie, Borden Burr and James J. Mayfield; D. M. Powell tendered his resignation as delegate from the Second district, and Thomas J. Hall, next highest man, was elected to succeed him. J. L. Andrews of Sheffield, J. Lee Long of Greenville, A. M. Tunstall of Greensboro and Leopold Strauss of Montgomery were elected alternate delegates from the state at large.

Complying with the authority conferred by the state committee, the sub-committee elected the following alternate delegates from the congressional districts:

First, A. P. McDaniel and W. T. McGowin; Second, Sold D. Block and W. T. Edmondson; Third, W. H. Merrill and A. C. Bowden; Fourth, H. M. Ayers and J. F. Avery; Fifth, C. W. Hare and J. M. Holley; Eighth, J. S. Benson and J. E. Pierce; Sixth, J. F. Fuller and Reuben Wright; Seventh, A. B. Fuller and C. W. Singleton; Ninth, George B. Ward and T. T. Huey; Tenth, John A. Cobb and C. L. Burten.

Votes of the various candidates for state offices follow:

Short Term Senator—J. Thomas Heflin, 49,554 first, 11,062 second, 60,616 total; Emmet O'Neal 33,174 first, 3,691 second, 36,865 total; Ray Rushton 13,232 first, 7,316 second, 20,548 total; Frank S. White 34,554 first, 12,699 second, 47,553 total.

National Committeeman—E. W. Barrett 48,238, W. T. Sanders 51,868.

Justice Supreme Court—Joel B. Brown 62,792, B. M. Miller 69,986, William H. Thomas 71,012 (two places filled).

Judge Court of Appeals—B. F. Elmore 36,173 first, 2,436 second, 38,609 total; Henry P. Merritt 42,751 first, 1,961 second, 44,712 total; E. S. Thigpen, 32,099 first, 2,278 second, 34,378 total.

President Public Service Commission—Sam P. Kennedy 36,481 first, 1,245 second, 37,726 total; A. G. Patterson 65,573 first, 1,578 second, 67,151 total; A. Coke Smith 13,458 first, 4,424 second, 17,882 total.

Conservation Commissioner—A. L. Kimbrough 56,069, John H. Wallace, Jr., 56,188.

Cotton Crop Under Average.

Montgomery.—The cotton condition figure for Alabama issued by the bureau of crop esctimates was the lowest for 13 years, if not longer, according to F. W. Gist, field agent of the bureau in Alabama, in commenting upon the official report. The condition of the crop in Alabama was found to be 58 per cent of normal on May 25. The next lowest condition at the beginning of the season in recent years was 61, in 1917. Too much rain reported from 50 counties and cold weather reported from 18, apparently explains the reference to bad stands coming from 32 counties, lateness from 18, and dying from nine. The appearance of weevils in rather larger numbers than usual was reported from 12 counties in South Alabama, and damaging hail was referred to in one report.

Feagin on Board of Control.

Montgomery.—William F. Feagin, former state superintendent of education, who recently resigned his position as superintendent of education of Montgomery county, was appointed associate member of the state board of control and economy and warden general of state convicts system, by Governor Kilby, succeeding Cleon Rogers, who was promoted to the office of chairman of the board as the successor of W. D. Nesbitt, who tendered his resignation and will return to his private business. Mr. Nesbitt will retire July 1, and the changes will become effective on that date.

Corporations Formed.

Montgomery.—The Brookman Packing Company, of Foley, Ala., which will conduct a general livestock, fish, and poultry business, filed notice of formation in the office of the secretary of state, at the capitol. Notice of incorporation was also field by the Arbuckle Lumber Company, of Mobile, which will engage in a general lumber and timber business.

To Amend Law.

Montgomery.—The Alabama chapter of the National Federation of Postal Employes, in convention here adopted a resolution petitioning Congress to enact into law such amendments as will limit the civil service commission to grade applicants for postmasters, on business qualifications to the applicants knowledge and experience attained in the postal service.

Tidwell Is Removed.

Albany.—A sensation has been created in the educational circles of Morgan County by the removal of Prof. J. C. Tidwell as county superintendent of education and the election of Prof. E. L. Hays, of Falkville, as his successor.

Library Report Made.

Talladega.—Above 20,000 volumes were issued the past year by the local library, while there are now 2,700 registered borrowers.

Workers Coming South.

Gadsden.—At the offices of the Gulf States Steel Company it was stated that the labor scarcity, which has curtailed production for some time, is being relieved by the constant arrival of a large number of men who have been thrown out of work in the North.

Talladega.—Analyses and daily tests made by the local health department show the city water to be wholesome and free from all infectious elements.

Warehouse Plant Is Sold.

Dothan.—The Dothan Bonded Warehouse Company sold its press and warehouse to the Shippers Compress Company, a corporation previously acquiring the two presses here of the Atlantic Compress Company.

New School Authorized.

Gadsden.—The county board of education has authorized the construction of a model school house at Curtiston on the condition that a suitable site is donated.

House Shortage Solved.

Anniston.—Anniston's house shortage is to be partly relieved by several of the manufacturing industries erecting homes for their employes.

Farmers Catching Up.

Bridgeport.—Improved weather conditions have enabled the farmers to make rapid progress the past week, this being the first week this season they have worked more than three days, the average number being less than two days a week.

GOOD ROADS

ROADS IN NATIONAL FORESTS

Thirty Thousand Miles Will Be Needed in Next Ten Years for Proper Development.

Thirty thousand miles of road, estimated to cost not less than $150,000,000, will be needed for the proper protection and development of the national forests, and the near-by communities during the next ten years, according to comprehensive road plans which have been prepared. The secretary of agriculture has already approved the construction of 5,152 miles, estimated to cost $26,463,000, contingent upon federal and co-operative funds becoming available. Government expenditures of $15,740,000 have been authorized for this purpose.

The roads comprised in the comprehensive road plans form the basis of the ultimate national forest road system. They are used as main highways, either in connection with through routes or to serve important local needs. The construction of feeder roads is being largely postponed until the primary road system of the national forests is completed. It is expected that the present estimate cost will be largely exceeded when surveys are made of the projects now on the list, since in many cases the only available estimates are based upon incomplete data.

FARMER AND GOOD HIGHWAYS

Has Become Hard Working and Vetting Enthusiast for Improved Roads Because of Many Benefits.

The biggest booster for good roads in the country today is the farmer. A few years ago he felt that the portion of his taxes used in the construction of permanent highways represented a benefit only to the motoring tourist and the city automobile owner, writes H. W. Slauson in Leslie's. The farmer argued that he was paying for their pleasures, and the result was a superstition against the good roads movement.

Now, however, when the farmer finds that his land has trebled in value: when the merchandise for which he has telephoned in the morning can be delivered by noon of the same day; when the market for his own produce is brought hours nearer; when the winter and its following spring thaw possess no terrors for him—all this because of the improved highway which makes his farm only a suburb, as it were, of the nearest city—he naturally becomes a hardworking and hard-voting enthusiast for good roads.

GRAVEL GOOD FOR HIGHWAYS

When Properly Handled It Can Be Traveled Over All Year—Dirt Road Is Different.

While gravel, as a rule, does not make the best type of road, that is not so much the fault of the gravel as of the way it is put on. It is usually not evenly spread or leveled down, nor are the holes kept filled. If properly handled a gravel road can at least be traveled on any time of the year, which cannot be said of a dirt road.

FARM ROADS MADE OF EARTH

No Good Reason Why They Should Not Be Graded Up and Maintained in Good Condition.

The vast majority of the farm roads must necessarily be of earth. However, there is no reason why they cannot be graded up somewhat after the fashion of a public highway and maintained in that condition.

FARM ROADS ARE ESSENTIAL

Just as Important as Public Thoroughfares in Hauling Various Kinds of Crops.

Many of us know the value of good public roads, but how many of us know the value of good roads on the farm? Experience has taught that good roads on the private farm are just as essential and important as good public roads.

Dot the crumbs with bits of butter and add a layer of chicken which should be in slices, not chopped. Add bread crumbs and chicken until all are used. Pour over the whole two cupfuls of broth, add salt and parsley. Bake until the crumbs are brown

Apple Corn Bread.—Mix together four cupfuls of cornmeal, two teaspoonfuls of baking powder, half a teaspoonful of salt, then add two cupfuls of chopped apples, one-fourth of a cupful of shortening, and one and one-fourth cupfuls of water. Bake forty minutes in a slow oven.

Corn Souffle.—Melt two tablespoonfuls of butter, add two tablespoonfuls of flour, one teaspoonful of salt, one-eighth of a teaspoonful of pepper. Add one and one-half cupfuls of scalded milk and one-third of a cupful of soft bread crumbs. Cook until smooth, add two cupfuls of corn and the yolks of two eggs beaten well. Fold in the whites of the eggs beaten stiff and turn into a buttered baking dish and bake thirty minutes.

As the summer time and jelly season approach it is well to prepare for the delicious jellies which may be made of fruits which lack pectin. This may be supplied by the following: Peel all of the yellow rind from thick-skinned oranges or lemons. Remove the white peel and put it through a meat grinder. To each cupful of the chopped, pressed down peel add the juice of one lemon and let stand one hour. Add two cupfuls of water, and let boil five minutes. Let stand over night, add four cupfuls of water, heat to the boiling point and boil ten minutes. Strain through a jelly bag. Pour this extraction into sterile bottles and keep until needed.

Boiled Fish.—Clean, scrape and tie the fish in a cheesecloth. Drop into simmering water to which has been added a tablespoonful of vinegar to a quart of water. Cook until tender. Remove carefully from the cloth and serve with:

If you pick up a starving dog and make him prosperous he will not bite you. This is the principal difference between a dog and a man.—Mark Twain.

GOOD THINGS FOR SUMMER LUNCHEONS.

With berries becoming plentiful and many regions where wild berries are to be had, there are many delicious dishes to be made from them, both now and canned for future use, when the season is over.

Fruit Mush.—Pick over and mash any fruit in season; add one-half its bulk of boiling water and cook slowly until tender enough to be put through a sieve fine enough to retain the seeds when such fruits as blackberries are used. Use this fruit pulp instead of water in cooking any breakfast foods. Stir in a little sugar and mold in cups. Serve cold with cream for breakfast, or for dessert.

Fruit Tapioca.—Cook together equal measures of fruit and water until soft enough to put through a sieve. Measure, return to the fire and for each cupful add a scant tablespoonful of tapioca. Stir frequently until it swells, then cover and cook until transparent. Add sufficient sugar to sweeten; pour into a serving dish and set aside. Serve with ice-cold cream.

Strawberry Pudding.—Butter thin slices of moist bread and arrange a layer in a baking dish. Crush a pint of strawberries, adding a little water to make more juice and sufficient sugar to sweeten. Pour the fruit over the bread, arrange another layer and let stand covered in a cold place. Serve with cream and sugar. This is a dessert you need not fear to give the children.

Cherry Pudding.—Take one cupful of flour, one teaspoonful of baking powder, one-quarter of a teaspoonful of salt; sift and mix well and add one-half cupful of milk to make a drop batter. Butter small custard cups or molds and drop in a spoonful of the latter; add a tablespoonful or two of pitted cherries, juice and all; sweeten to taste. Set the cups into a shallow pan, pour around them boiling water to half fill the pan, and cover closely, cooking fifteen minutes. Unmold and serve with a cherry sauce or cream and sugar, or sweetened whipped cream.

July 4th statistics show that we lose more fools on this day than in all the other days of the year put together. This proves, by the number left in stock, that one Fourth of July per year is now inadequate, the country has grown so.—Mark Twain.

GOOD CAKES.

The days when a pound or even a cupful of butter was used in making cakes are now almost forgotten and with sugar scarce and high, cakes except of the simplest kinds are a luxury.

Golden Orange Cake.—Take one-half cupful of clarified drippings, one cupful of New Orleans molasses, one egg, one tablespoonful of sugar, the juice and rind of a small orange, one teaspoonful of soda dissolved in one-half cupful of cold water, two cupfuls of pastry flour, a pinch of salt. Mix as usual; bake in a shallow pan. Butter while hot and cover with powdered sugar.

Cream Loaf.—Cream one-half cupful of shortening, add one cupful of sugar and the well-beaten yolks of two eggs. Add one-half cupful of milk or thin cream, one cupful of flour and one-half cupful of cornstarch sifted with three teaspoonfuls of baking powder. Mix and beat well; then fold in the stiffly beaten whites of the eggs. Bake in a well greased loaf pan about forty-five minutes.

Club Cake.—Take one cupful of brown sugar, one-half cupful of shortening, one cupful of buttermilk, one teaspoonful of soda, allspice, cloves to taste, one cupful of raisins (nuts and citron may be added if liked) two cupfuls of flour and vanilla to flavor. Bake in layers and put together with chocolate filling.

Angel Food.—Take one cupful of egg whites, one cupful of sugar, one cupful of sifted flour, one teaspoonful of phosphate baking powder. Put half the baking powder into the egg white and half into the sifted flour. Bake 50 to 60 minutes in a slow oven.

Rolled Jelly Cake.—Take three eggs, one cupful of sugar, one cupful of flour, two tablespoonfuls of baking powder. Beat the eggs until light, add sugar, two tablespoonfuls of cold water, pinch of salt. Stir in the flour sifted with the baking powder, adding flour gradually. Bake in a dripping pan well greased. Turn out on a towel wrung out of cold water. Spread with jelly; roll up while warm.

FEELING BLUE ALL THE TIME

Before Taking Cardui, This Georgia Lady Suffered Until She Would Have to Sit Down to Do Housework.—Was Dizzy and Weak.

Dalton, Ga.—Mrs. V. A. Burnett, of Route 6, says: "I got down with my back and sides, not able to do my work. I suffered a great deal. I had a depressed, blue feeling all the time.

"I couldn't rest at night. I was nervous. I would be dizzy and just no-account at all.

"I would have to sit down while trying to do the housework. It seemed I couldn't get my breath. I was afraid I would get past going altogether.

"I heard of Cardui and began using it. I could see after a half bottle it was helping me, so I kept it up . . . and soon I was like a new person.

"I knew Cardui did the work, for no other medicine I took ever helped me as it did. I certainly can recommend . . . Cardui."

This well-known medicine, which Mrs. Burnett says helped her, is a mild, medicinal, purely vegetable tonic, for over 40 years used by thousands of women, with similar results to those which this Georgia lady obtained.

Cardui should help you, too. Try it. —Adv.

PERFECTION IN BATHING SUIT

WE ARE not apt to think of beach or bathing suits as becoming garments—in fact, they are considered the acid test for good looks. But they have been progressing for several years in the direction of becomingness. The suits intended only for beach wear, having graduated from the bizarre and showy types, have arrived at the place where they are really attractive. But "attractive" is too mild a term to apply to some of this year's beach or bathing suits—they deserve to be called beautiful and they possess that quality in style which women describe as stunning. After a world of experimenting, along comes a genius and shows just how superb and glorified a bathing suit may be. As a witness to its possibilities for beauty, there is an example shown in the illustration.

This suit appears to be made of taffeta, although satin might be used for it. Blue or gray piped with a contrasting color, or a brighter color piped with black, make combinations with sufficient life in them. It consists of a pair of full knickerbockers built out at the sides to simulate a short skirt and shaped into bands that fit closely over the knees and button at the sides, where the round buttons are shown, covered with satin like the pipings in color.

Ginghams for Little Girls

WHEN designers of children's clothes began making up little dresses of checked gingham, in cheerful colors, and using organdy for collars, cuffs and sashes, and in other decorative features, they hit upon the most successful idea of the present season. These little models have proved so universally pleasing and so pretty that new designs come out in the shops with each new display of children's clothes. The combination has been borrowed for older people, with the best results and now there is no age limit for organdy-trimmed checked gingham. It has a rival in plain chambray, or other plain dress cottons, in dainty colors, with which organdy is used in the same way. Both organdy and plain chambray help to make dresses of plaid gingham interesting.

An example of both the checked and plaid ginghams, made up with accessories of white organdy, appears in the illustration above. They are simple and easy to make and suited to little maids from six or seven to twelve or thirteen years. The checked gingham is cut in one piece and plaited in at the waistline. A frill of organdy, with narrow, hemstitched hem finishes the neck and three-quarter length sleeves and both are bound with a narrow, bias fold of the gingham. There are patch pockets of organdy with frill across the top and a binding of gingham. An organdy sash is placed under the panel of gingham at the front of the waist. The panel is cut on the bias of the material and pointed at the bottom and there are small, flat pearl buttons at each side of it.

In the plaid gingham dress a plaited skirt is joined to an underbodice. The waist has bias fronts extended below the waistline and bound with organdy, and it fastens with three large pearl buttons. Long sleeves are unusual in this year's dresses, but they appear in this little model, with organdy cuffs. The neck is finished with a collar that is plain like the cuffs.

Food Would Sour and Boil —Teeth Like Chalk

Mr. Herbert M. Gessner writes from his home in Berlin, N. H.:

I had stomach trouble over ten years; kept getting worse. I tried everything for relief but it came back worse than ever. Last fall I got awfully bad; could only eat light loaf bread and tea. In January I got so bad that what I would eat would sour and boil; my teeth would be like chalk. I suffered terribly. I prayed every day for something to cure me. One day I read about EATONIC and told my wife to get me a box at the drug store as I was going to work at 4 p. m. I took one-third of it and began to feel relief; when it was three-fourths gone, I felt fine and when it was used up I had no pains. Wife got me another box but I have felt the pain but twice. I used five tablets out of the new box and I have no more stomach trouble. Now I write to tell you how thankful I am that I heard of EATONIC. I feel like a new man; I eat what I like, drink plenty of water, and it never hurts me at all.

A TALK FOR YOUNG GIRLS

Edtor of Union-Banner:

Please allow me space for a few words.

A new day has dawned—bright and beautiful, and I feel so greatly impressed that I want to converse with all your readers, and especially the young people.

Boys and girls, listen! Do you stop and think? I know this old world in rolling on speedy wheels, and our minds are going just as fast, perhaps; but "Stop and think and listen" seems to be whispered into my ear. And I am under the impression that I should write, and then let you deliberate for yourselves.

My dear girlies, do we get offended when mother tries to advise us, and tell us what is right and what is wrong, and tell us about the company we keep? Do we say, "Ah, mother doesn't know—it was all right for her when she was a young girl; but if I don't be fast, I shan't be in "Style." Dears, don't get this idea into your heads. Take mother's advice. She loves you better than anyone else. She has cared for you in infancy; she has built air castles over what her boys and girls shall be.

"Shall he be great and noble?"

"Shall she be true and virtuous?"

These are mother's thoughts. Mother loves us and we should love her better than anyone else on earth.

Sometimes we think we are right, perhaps; but when we grow older we can say "how silly I was. I was only a little girl, and thought I had more sense than mother; but Mother knows more than anyone, even if she never learned her A B C's.

Mother is the best teacher in the world too, and girls, if you believe me, my mother is one of the best of mothers, and you don't know how I love her,—I would die for her. I am eighteen years of age, but I don't say "Well I guess I'm a lady of my own; mother will 'boss' me no longer." If I stay with her a lifetime I am going to try to obey her and make her air castles a reality.

Some will say "Well, your prince charming will ride up to your door some day, and you'll change your notions. But I am very difficult to convince, and sometimes I'm obstinate, but thanks to mother for talking to sisters and me, and that I haven't married yet, "cause" married lives are long enough even though they be happy.

Mr. Editor, I shall be very grateful if you will print this, and twice grateful if you will also print the poem of my own compostion, "Kindness."

Yours for greater uplift of humanity. ERA SANDERS.

"KINDNESS"

Be kind and gentle to everyone,—
No deed is better when nobly done;
For kindnes lends a noble mind
To all of us, if we are kind.

No matter what our ranks may be,
Whether rich or poor, resolve that
We will do a deed, noble and kind,
For it makes us rich in thoughts sublime.

Be kind to mother, old and gray.
Her days are few, then she'll stray
Afar into Eden,—leave us behind.
I say "to mother always be kind."

Be kind to father in declining years;
Sooth all his sorrows, doubts, fears;
When his eyes to this world are blind
We'll never regret that we were kind.

Be kind to sister, she loves you too,
She's always ready to help you do
The things that you may often find,
By helping others, and by being kind.

Be kind to brother, tall and trong.
By being kind he'll never wrong;
He'll love nobility more than wine,
If you'll always to him be kind.

To everybody again I repeat,
If it be a beggar you chance meet,
Though his clothes be torn, manner unrefined.
Yet it pays always to be kind.

THE UNION-BANNER

VOLUME IX. CLANTON, CHILTON COUNTY, ALABAMA, JUNE 17, 1920. NUMBER 12

First Cotton Bloom n State Discovered

Montgomery, Ala., June 15, 1920. A cotton bloom, the first of the 1920 season in the state, so far as could be learned, was brought into the Montgomery Journal Office Tuesday Morning by Mr. J. W. Young, of Chisholm. Mr. Young stated that this bloom was garnered by him Monday, and that several others had appeared on his farm.

Mr. Young claims the distinction of having grown the first cotton bloom last year. According to him, the 1920 first bloom put in its appearance two weeks later than did the first bloom in 1919.

Mr. Young also states that he had the first cotton to open last year, although his neighbor, John Carter beat him to bringing in the first bale in Montgomery county. They both use, said he, an early blooming series of the staple, which they have named "Carter's Variety."

CARE OF PECAN TREES.

Mr. J. N. Dennis hands us the following bit of advice concerning the care of pecan trees, which comes from the nurseries of the Bass people in Mississippi:

Often trees that are slow to bud out can be saved and made grow vigorously by cutting back about half the top. This will balance for roots that have likely died and enable what are left to easily nourish the rest of the tree. Work around your trees often this time of the year so that the ground will not bake and grass and weeds take moisture and food so badly needed by the struggling tree. A liberal application of any sort of manure dug in around the tree will give it a good start. A half bushel or bushel is not too much if you have it. In the absence of manure use 3 to 5 pounds of any sort of commercial fertilizer you can get. Naturally the higher grade the better. Dig this in with a hoe or shovel for three or four inches deep. Take care of pecan trees for they will repay you a hundred fold for every effort. One county last season sold over one million dollars worth of pecans. Thousands of trees cleared over $100 each.

PILGRIMS REST

The farmers are all busy here, as there has been a few days of sunshine.

Sunday School at this place is progressng nicely. We had some visitors last Sunday from the Alpine School.

There was a two-horse wagon load from around here went to Stanton to the Fifth Sunday meeting Sunday.

Miss Jessie and Sudie Keen spent Thursday night with Ethel Kendrick.

Messrs Frank and Lewis Chandler have gone to Choctaw to work. They will be missed by their many friends.

Misses Anettie Welch and Erma Judy went to Pleasant Grove the Fifth Sunday in May.

NOTICE OF ELECTION

Notice is hereby given that a special election will be held in Chilton County, Alabama, on the 13th day of July, 1920, for the purpose of determining whether or not a special tax shall be levied and collected annually, at the rate of thirty cents on each one-hundred dollars worth of taxable property in said county, for the present tax year and continuing for a period of ten years, and said levy is proposed to be made for public school purposes in said county.

This, the 12th day of June, 1920.

J. L. GORE.
Sheriff of Chilton County, Ala.

SHOULTS HAPPENINGS

Sunday School was still better last Sunday. There were about thirteen members present in the adult class.

The members of Pleasant Grove Church met in conference after Sunday School Sunday and granted to Mr. Paul Oden license to preach. He will be ordained as soon as arrangements can be made.

We are indeed glad to see the people interested in a singing school at Pleasant Grove this summer. It is really needed. We all know that good singing is the life of any church. A committee was named last Sunday to look for a teacher and find out about teaching a school this summer. We hope every body will come or send someone to the school, and make it one of the best in the country. There is such a big crowd of young people around here; and the older ones can learn to sing too.

Miss Birdie Shoults returned to her work in Montgomery last Wednesday. Miss Birdie said she did enjoy being at home with her home-folks and friends, and nothing better to the opposite than good old country ham and fresh eggs, chicken, fresh vegetables, fresh butter and milk, and we do agree with her. But we cannot realize how good it is until we have lived in the crowded cities a while. There is going to be a rush back to the farm some of these days.

Mrs. Jeff Ellis and two children from Holt, Ala., are visiting their mother and grand-mother, Mrs. Mary Ingam, also visiting her mother-in-law, Mrs. John Ellis.

Mr. Walker McGee, who has a position in Burnsville is at home for a day of two, with mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene McGee.

Mr. Wheeler Walker, who is now working in Columbus, Miss., with the M. & O. R. R. Co., was at home Saturday night and Sunday.

Miss Birdie Hall from Montgomery is spending a short vacation at home with mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. C. Hall. Miss Birdie has many relatives and friends who are glad to see her again.

Miss Eva Hall entertained quite a number of friends last Saturday night at her home in honor of her sister, Miss Birdie, from Montgomery. It was quite an enjoyable entertainment. Mr. Grady McGee displayed an excellent musical talent with his violin. His brother, Leonard, who usually plays the guitar with him, could not be there, but it was fine music.

Mrs. Calhoun Garner ate with Mrs. C. T. Walker last Sunday.

Mr. A. Ellis, who is working at Lamison, is at home for a few days.

Miss Mattie Tay Lawrence spent last Saturday night with Miss Allie Walker.

Miss Lillie Bearden gave a singing last Sunday afternoon. It was enjoyed by all present.

JEMISON SUNDAY SCHOOL

The Baptist Sunday School Class of Jemison will render an entertainment at the Jemison School Building Saturday evning, June 19th, at 8:00 o'clock.

Everybody is cordially invited to come and bring someone with you.

You will be especially interested in the famous play, which will be rendered, and will produce no end of fun, known as "Jumbo Jum". There are several other interesting phases of the program that will appeal to you.

I assure you that you will never regret giving the 15c and 25c, which is our admission fee, to the church piano fund.

RETHA ROBINSON,
Class President.

OLD SOLDIERS TO CELEBRATE THIRD OF JULY AT HOME

Mt. Creek, Ala., June 10, 1920.

The old veterans, at a meeting held on June 9th, decided to celebrate the Fourth of July on Saturday the Third, as the Fourth occurs on Sunday.

A barbecue dinner is to be prepared and a suitable program, including speaking is included.

The citizens of nearby towns and the country are invited to attend, and they are requested to bring baskets of lunches for their own use.

The grounds and auditorium will be open to all. Come and have a good time with us.

S. J. ANDRESS,
H. S. GROGAN,
M. ESTES,
Committee.

THREE-MILL TAX ELECTION

To the Voters of Chlton County:

On the 13th day of July, 1920, as you already know, there will be a three mill tax election held in this county for school purpose. This furnishes the voters of the county an opportunity for using their very best thinking facilities for the present generation of boys in Chilton County. Let us not forget for "As the twig is bent, the tree is inclined." So I feel sure when the fathers in this county who are qualified voters remember this fact they will cast their ballot in favor of the tax.

Let us not forget that the man who pays a large tax is not the man who is opposed to this tax, but it is the man who is prejuniced against tax levies. The man who opposes this fails to look at the small amount of tax he pays in comparison with what the large corporations and property owners will pay. Do not fail to come out on the 13th day of July and cast your ballot in the interest of the farmers boys and girls in Chilton County who will be our future citizens, lawmakers, officers, etc.

Respectfully,
A. W. POWELL.

PLEASANT HILL

There will be an all day singing at Pleasant Hill Church the Third Sunday in June. Everybody is invited to come and some good singers especially. We will sing in the new books. We will try to show you a hearty welcome and love in Jesus Christ. Come with a new song in your mind. N. P. VanWagoner.

COUNTY POOR HOUSE

Editor Union-Banner:

Will you please allow me space to say a few words. Health of this community is good. Farming is moving on rapidly.

Uncle Dock Wells filled his appointment at the poor house the Second Sunday, with a good attendance. He preached a fine sermon, which was enjoyed by all present. The inmates are all highly pleased with Uncle Dock, and also their manager, Bro. Miller.

I have been knowing Uncle Dock for at least forty years, and never heard aught against him. To know him is to love him. He is getting old but is alwayss cheerful, and we hope for his last days to be his best.

We thank you, Mr. Editor, for the space in your paper.

A. L. COLLINS.

PINE DALE

Mr. W. F. Downing and wife spent Sunday at Mr. T. J. Mims'.

Miss Viola Thompson spent Sunday with Miss Katie Driver.

Misses Lula Ellis on and Jewel Littleton spent Sunday with Miss Martha Rhodes.

Mr. Robert Rhodes was in this community Sunday night.

Next Sunday is our regular preaching day. Everybody come.

OLD TIME SINGING AT BAKER SCHOOLHOUSE

Mr. J. V. Best asks us to announce that there will be an old time singing at Baker Schoolhouse on next Sunday, June 20th. The Harp and Harmony books will be used. All singers and lovers of the old sacred songs are invited to be present. The Lomax Class will be there, and that is assurance that there will be some interesting music.

THE OAK HILL SINGING

Dear Editor:

Please allow me space in your paper to thank the singers who contributed to the great success of our singing at this place last Sunday.

We had a great day singing God's praise, for the air eemed to be full of the very essence of song from the very first song till the close of the service. It was said by many, among whom was old Brother R. T. Grant, to be one of the best singings ever attended. The ladies gave us some very fine alto which went a long way toward makiny if the success it was and God bless the ladies.

At nine-thirty the singing was opened by the Chairman singing "All Hail the Power of Jesus Name" after which prayer was offered to God for his blessings on the audience and his divine guidance through the day.

The directors for the forenoon were Messrs J. M. Smith, C. W. Scott, L. T. Grant, Ammie Boswell, R.T. Grant, all sang 15 minutes each. Then we were dismissed for dinner, which everyone seemed to enjoy. Then at one thirty the house was called to order by the chairman and singing started in full biast, and kept up till the close. Directors for the afternoon were Messrs Robert Smith, Ralph Grant, James Franklin, Lee Grant, G. W. Melton, R. F. Massey. Recess for 15 minutes. Then Garland Dooley sang two special selections, assisted by Lee Grant; Amie Boswell and A. H. Glasscock, then Mr. Max Boswell sang one piece almost captivating the audience and injecting new life into it, the the other directors were Vernon Northcutt and Akins Collins. The singing was then brought to a close by the chairman singing "God be With You till we Meet Again."

The organists for the day were Messrs Amie Boswell, Lee Grant, Ralph Grant and Misses Eva Atkinson, Madge Cooper, Gladis Murphy, Mrs. Sarah Crim and Mrs. Lee Vickers.

The writer has never seen better order anywhere and the audience gave us such splendid attention. We thank our great Creator for the comendable way all the people conducted themselves.

So, thanking you Mr. Editor for so much space, we will close,

A. H. GLASSCOCK, Chm.

CLANTON BAPTIST CHURCH

Services will be held next Sunday as usual—morning at 11 a.m. and evening at 8 p.m. The morning service will be followed by the regular conference of the church. This will be an important meeting as the church will be asked to adopt plans to be accepted by the deacons and building committee for the new church building. Mr. J. E. Greene of Birmingham, a church specialist, has been engaged as architect, subject to the ratification of the church. We expect to have a large watercolor picture of the proposed building, and blue prints of the proposed plans for the interior of the building. If any member of the church has any ideas they wish embodied in the plans, now is the time to present them to the building committee. The estimated cost of the building is between $30,000 and $35,000. The disposal of the present property and other important matters will be considered at this meeting. It is urgently and earnestly requested that every member make an effort to attend next Sunday morning.

At the regular meeting next Sunday night the B. Y. P. U. will be reorganized, when the nominating committee will make their report. Some interesting officers have been nominated, and certain standards for an interesting contest agreed upon. Let us work for the A-1 standard.

Though the weather is warm, let us not neglect the church, but be prompt on time and by faithful attendance on the services help to make a real live good church. Remember the Revival Services begin on Sunday, July 4th, with Dr. L. C. Woolfe and a good singer to lead us. We need your presence and co-operation at all times. The public is cordially invited to all of our services.

P. G. CARTER, Pastor.

MT. NEBO

The Mt. Nebo Singing Society met Sunday afternoon, June 13th. There was a good many out of several visitors, which we were glad to see.

Singing was opened in regular order, with song and prayer by S. A. Henley, Chairman. Leaders for the afternoon were: Sam Culp, William Cox, Calvin Parrish, Sim Henley, F. I. Popwell, Jim Dunlap and Sam Henley. Organists were Mrs. Zella Scott, Mr. Henry Carter and Ivens Popwell.

We are expecting the Liberty Hill class on next Fourth Sunday afternoon, and we welcome them with pleasure, and all others interested in singing.

Annie Mae Culp.

THORSBY ITEMS

Herbert Peterson and family of Marbury visited relatives and friends here Sunday.

Arthur P. Villadsen of Walker county spent a few days with his mother here, Mrs. Anna S. Villadsen.

Mr. J. H. Goddard is very sick at his home.

Chas. A. Lucas and A. Parsons have formed a partnership and will do a general auto business, keeping all kinds of accessories, gas and oil. They will locate in the Pyron Bldg.

Albert Peterson and wife will leave this week for a visit to Mrs. Peterson's parents in New York.

While Hiram Johnson seemed to be the choice of most of the Republicans of Beat 9, they are very well satisfied with Harding and Coolidge, for our next President and Vice-President of the United States.

Ernest Eiland was a visitor to Birmingham Monday of this week.

Miss Anna Werness returned to Birmingham Monday night, after a short visit at her home here.

Thorsby has a quiet appearance these days, election being over, the schools being out, and last but not least, our cotton mill seems to have been tabled.

Mr. Sam English returned to Birmingham Sunday night after spending the week end with his family.

The young ladies of the Baptist Sunday School will give, for the benefit of the Thorsby Baptist Church, an ice cream and cake supper on the lawn of Mr. T. W. Robinson's next Saturday night, June 19th. There will be in addition to the eats plenty of good music. Everyone is cordially invited to come and enjoy themselves, as well as to help a good cause.

Bill Goodgame purchased him a new whistle for his planing mill and from the sound of said whistle we should judge from now on that the proper title for W. H. should be Steam Boat Bill.

Mrs. Ernest Jenkins of Birmingham is visiting relatives here.

Albert Peterson was a Prattville visitor Monday of this week.

CANE CREEK

The Cane Creek singers met last Sunday and organized a singing society. Mr. E. F. Taylor was elected President and Virgile Smith Vice-president and Secretary. We had a roll of twenty-five, and hope to have more in the future.

We will meet every second and third Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Everybody is urged to come and help.

Secretary.

Republican Leaders Confer on Program

Plans for Presidential Campaign is Discussed with Chairman Hays.

Chicago, Ill., June 15.—Chairman Will H. Hays of the National Republican Executive Committee, completed his conference with Western leaders of the Republican national committee today and departed for his home in Sullivan, Ind., from where he will go to Washington shortly to meet with Senator Harding and the committee headed by A. T. Hert, to make the formal notification of the Senator's nomination.

—It was emphasized by Western leaders at the conference here that the territory west of the Mississippi will be the big battleground of the presidential election.

Clarence Miller, secretary of the national committee, advocated the establishment of the main Republican headquarters in Chicago instead of in New York. Chairman Hays expressed his desire to spend the greater part of his time here, giving special attention to the Western campaign.

FOR SCHOOL TAX

Verbena, Ala., June 15, 1920.

Editor Union-Banner

I want to endorse the campaign for the 3-Mill School Tax in Chilton County, and to add that if the proposition carries in the county we expect to hold an election in Verbena School District for a 3-mill Special School District Tax, and we expect it to carry by at least 10 to one.. When our petition was circulated it was presented to at least three-fourths of our voters (all we could conveniently see) which included every business man in the town and every large tax payer in the district, and only one man refused to sign it. This man has three children and does not pay a penny of property tax.

Nothing makes a comumnity more progresive than a good school and no real progressive man will locate where there is not a good school. Every man owes it to his county, state and country, and community, to contribute to the schools. The man who is unwilling is not a patriotic citizen. The man with children and limited means can't aford to, and the majority of men with means are too progressive to vote against it.

Don't forget that the corporation pays more than one-half of it, and in addition to this the state donates $1,000 for every mill of special tax we levy for school purposes. This will make a donation of $3,000 from the state treasury. Let's all work to carry it in every Beat in Chilton County.

W. A. GULLEDGE.

HOW WARREN G. HARDING WAS NOMINATED BY THE REPUBLICANS

Story of the National Convention at Chicago, the Struggle to Build a Platform and the Selection of a Ticket.

GOVERNOR COOLIDGE GIVEN SECOND PLACE

Wood, Lowden and Johnson, Leaders in the Early Balloting, Eliminated at the Behest of a Senatorial Coterie and a Dark Horse Wins the Race.

By EDWARD W. PICKARD.

For President—WARREN G. HARDING of Ohio.

For Vice President—CALVIN COOLIDGE of Massachusetts.

There is the ticket with which the Republicans hope and intend to regain possession of the national government next fall.

For president, a man from the home state of many presidents, a statesman of long experience and solid reputation, who has been a member of the United States senate since 1914, a member of the "old guard" who stands well with the Republicans who are in control of the senate.

For vice president, the governor of the Bay state, who was virtually unknown to the nation at large until the strike of Boston policemen and his vigorous course in its suppression gave him a vast amount of publicity and made him the favorite son of Massachusetts in the balloting for first place on the ticket.

These gentlemen now stand before the electors of the country on a platform that is so broad that it embraces nearly every topic and issue of the day, though there are those who assert that in some places the planks are perilously thin. Its builders, however, maintain that there is no danger of the candidates falling through the weak spots, and it may be that, with some judicious straddling and side-stepping, this will prove true.

Struggle Over the Platform.

Seldom, if ever, has the choice of a presidential candidate been so closely connected with the building of the platform—or it might be more exact to say the rejection of a candidate. For if Hiram Johnson and his supporters could have compelled the adoption of just the plank they demanded on the League of Nations issue, the California senator, and he alone, could with consistency have consented to go before the people standing on the platform. As it was, his threat to bolt the party caused a long deadlock in the deliberations of the committee on resolutions and at last forced the adoption of a plank based on the cabled suggestion of Elihu Root. That wise man had gone to Europe, but kept in close touch with the doings in Chicago and at the crucial moment his plan was presented to Johnson, Borah, McCormick and the other "irreconcilables" and accepted by them.

The resolution as finally incorporated in the platform, and swallowed by the convention, almost without a quiver, completely avoids any pledge to ratify the treaty of peace and the league covenant with or without reservations, strongly indorses the action of the Republican senators in that regard and promises that the party will work for some kind of international arrangement for the peaceful adjustment of disputes between nations without the sacrifice of American sovereignty. Thus, as will be seen, the way is left open for an administration elected on this platform to do almost anything it sees fit in this regard, except to ratify a treaty and league covenant such as President Wilson brought home from Paris.

Wilson's Policies Scored.

For the rest, the platform, in brief, scores President Wilson and the Democratic administration for their unpreparedness for war and for the equally unprepared condition of the nation for the reception of peace. Denouncing the autocratic assumption of authority by the president, the platform pledges the restoration of constitutional government. The Republican congress is praised for its efforts to cope with the problems caused by the president's course.

The farmers gained their requested support for extension of farm loans and the right to engage in co-operative marketing and buying.

The industrial plank was the subject of much discussion. Some of the committee members, presumably speaking for big business, favored a plank for the prevention of strikes by law. Governor Allen and others wanted the Kansas industrial court plan indorsed. And President Gompers traveled all the way to Chicago to tell the committee what kind of plank the American Federation of Labor demanded. None of these requests were satisfied, but the plank adopted recognizes the justice of collective bargaining and continues:

"The strike, or the lockout, as a means of settling industrial disputes, inflicts such loss and suffering on the community as to justify government initiative to reduce its frequency and limit its consequences.

"We deny the right to strike against the government; but the rights and interests of all government employees must be safeguarded by impartial laws and tribunals."

On Economy and H. C. of L.

The failure of the administration to retrench during the post-war period and the addition of thousands of swivel chair warmers are derided and the party pledges itself to a policy of economy and a carefully planned readjustment. The need of an executive budget and condemnation of the presidential veto that defeated this financial reform was coupled with caustic characterization of the manner in which the president, according to the Republicans, clings to his war-time powers. Revision of taxation also is demanded.

Coming to the great issue of the high cost of living, the committee drew up a declaration to the effect that the present conditions are the result of an inflation of the currency and of credit which the party pledges itself to correct by deflation, the prevention of unreasonable profits and the stimulation of private thrift by a change in the income tax law. The party reaffirmed its belief in the protective tariff, and pledged the encouragement of an American merchant marine by the application of the workman's compensation act and the exemption from canal tolls of the merchant marine.

Profiteering was condemned, government ownership of railways opposed, waterways encouraged and the regulation of industry and commerce promised in order to prevent monopolies. Resumption of trade relations with every nation with which America is at peace was pledged. No changes were promised in the existing immigration laws, but the bettering of naturalization laws was pledged, and the party went on record as favoring a policy by which American women who marry foreigners shall not lose their citizenship. The government's authority to deport and exclude undesirable aliens was upheld, but asurance was given that the rights of free speech, free press and free assembly will not be abridged.

Mrs. Warren G. Harding.

What They Said of Mexico.

A large number of minor topics were handled in the platform, and then came the plank on Mexico. It dealt very severely with President Wilson's policy and pledged that the party will not recognize any Mexican government unles the lives and property of Americans there are protected. Armenia came next in the list of planks. Deep sympathy was expressed for the Armenians, but the president was condemned for asking for authority to accept an Armenian mandate and it was added that the Republican party was unalterably against the acceptance of a mandte for any country in Europe or Asia.

The men who fought in the great war were assured of the party's deep gratitude and were promised liberal legislation for the care of the disabled, infirm and dependents.

Though William Jennings Bryan was present throughout the entire life of the convention with the avowed purpose of persuading the Republicans to insert a "dry" plank in their platform, he failed—possibly because the timely decision of the Supreme court seemed to render unnecessary any explicit declaration. The convention merely declared that all laws should be enforced, and let it go at that.

Women and Irish Displeased.

Two other elements also were disappointed. These were the suffragists and the friends of the Irish "republic." The former, under the leadership of the heads of the woman's party, were in Chicago in strength and during the entire week maintained around the Coliseum a line of pickets bearing banners that warned the Republicans that the women demanded the franchise and would be satisfied with no less. A plank was inserted in the platform urging Republican legislatures that have not acted to ratify the suffrage amendment, but this did not appease the ladies. In the last few moments of the last session they dropped from a balcony a great yellow banner on which was the statement that they wanted votes, not planks. As for the Irish, they, too, made a big demonstration in Chicago and De Valera, the president of their "republic" was there to deliver a speech before a great gathering. But something went wrong with the plans; and the plank which was tentatively shaped for the platform suited them so little that it was omitted entirely and nothing put in its place. There was a story that this resolution had been drawn up by Justice Cohalan of New York in the hope that it would be unsuitable and that the Democrats in San Francisco would be enabled to take advantage of the circumstance. So, though considerable space has perforce been given to the platform of the Republican party, it is not because it must be considered as a great or a particularly strong pronouncement. Lots of men and women in the party are far from pleased with many parts of it, and it must be confessed that the writer failed to find anyone who was crazed with enthusiasm over it.

The story of this convention would be intensely interesting if one could tell all the truth about the secret influences that governed its actions. On the surface it was not a very exciting affair, and the enthusiastic outbursts that characterized some of its sessions appeared too often to be facetious. For five days the 14,000 delegates, alternates, seat-holders and possessors of tickets that allowed them to stand about the few open places and hamper everyone else gathered faithfully in the Coliseum, prepared to howl with glee over expected contests and triumphs. But most of the time all they could do was to cheer for their favorite on occasion and try to keep up with the strong-lunged cheer and song leader who had been brought up from Camp Devens.

Bossed by Senators.

From the first it was heralded as that most unusual thing, an unbossed convention. All the experts asserted that the delegates were going to do as they pleased and that the old-time leadership was impotent. For a day or two this seemed true, but then the senate coterie got into action, and from that time to the end what was done was generally what it wished done. To start with Senator Lodge was selected as temporary chairman, and was continued permanently in the place, the entire temporary organization being retained. On the all-important committee on resolutions there were numerous senators and ex-senators, and they pretty much dictated the makeup of the platform. In the selection of the ticket their influence was seen and felt in every move and every shift of votes, clear down to the moment when Senator Harding received the ballots that made him the convention's choice. All this time the greatest of the old-time party bosses still alive, Senator Boies Penrose, lay on a sick bed in his Philadelphia home. But a direct telephone wire was run into that room and there was scarcely an hour of the day or night when he was not in communication with his friend, John T. King. He knew all that was going on, and it is fair to assume that in most cases he knew beforehand that it was going to go on. What happened, happened because he willed that it should happen. This is not written exactly in criticism, for it may be that what Penrose decreed will suit the party and result in its victory in November. But the fact cannot be blinked that some eminent Democrats who attended the convention went away with grins of satisfaction decorating their faces.

Lodge Was Too Scholarly.

To go back to the beginning again, something must be said of the keynote address by Chairman Lodge. It was one of the most scholarly efforts of its kind, and the great mass of the delegates, to say nothing of the audience, utterly failed to comprehend it. The senator did not once descend to the level of most of his hearers, and consequently he failed to arouse any great measure of enthusiasm.

It was noticeable that this address, as well as every other speech and the platform as well, devoted its denunciatory passages not to the Democratic party, as is usually the case, but to President Wilson. It was always his acts and his policies that were condemned—and the language used in dealing with him was scorching. Of course, the reason for this is that, from the viewpoint of the Republicans, Mr. Wilson has been the Democratic party for the last seven years.

The first day found three candidates in the forefront of the race for the nomination, and while the preliminaries were completed their workers were straining every nerve to have them make the best possible show on the first ballot. These men were Governor Lowden of Illinois, General Leonard Wood, and Senator Hiram Johnson of California. From their elaborate headquarters in the hotels swarms of men and women flocked to the Coliseum with banners and buttons and literature. Each of them was certain of victory—for public consumption—but each of them knew in his heart that he could not win if the senatorial bosses had their way. All the rest of the possible candidates really ranked as dark horses. They included Herbert Hoover, Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler of Columbia university, Gov. Calvin Coolidge of Massachusetts, Senator Poindexter of Washington, Senator Howard Sutherland of West Virginia, Governor Sproul of Pennsylvania, Senator Philander Knox of Pennsylvania and Senator La Follette of Wisconsin. A long enough list in all conscience. From these dark horses, it was predicted, would emerge the winner, and the prophecy was fulfilled.

Routine Work, Then Oratory.

It required three days to get through with the preliminary work of the gathering and to have the platform built, read and adopted. The latter took place on Thursday. As has been said, the resolutions met with almost unanimous approval. A young man from Milwaukee was the only dissenting member of the committee and he presented a minority report that embodied many of the policies advocated by La Follette. The audience did not want to hear him and he took advantage of their impatience to try to place himself in the position of a martyr, but Chairman Lodge cleverly forestalled this, and the minority report was speedily dumped into the waste basket.

Friday was the day of oratory. Men who thought themselves eloquent and others who really were eloquent mounted the speaker's platform in procession throughout most of the day to place before the convention, the names and qualifications of the candidates. In many cases women were among those who seconded the nominations, and usually they acquitted themselves much more to the satisfaction of their hearers than did the men, for they were brief, snappy and graceful of address.

On the roll call of states Arizona yielded to Kansas, and Governor Henry J. Allen stepped up to nominate General Wood. Though obviously nervous and not quite adequate of voice, he did his excellent subject full astice, setting forth specially the fine record the general had made in Cuba and the Philippines, and his preparedness for war when the great conflict broke out.

"We heard from him no platitudes about a million men springing to arms over night," cried Allen, and everyone strained for a look at Mr. Bryan, who sat in the press stand close to the speaker.

The governor went on to describe Wood's skillful training of an army and his unselfish and uncomplaining devotion to duty when he was kept from going to Europe in command of the boys whom he had taught how to fight and conquer. He also recounted the general's success in quelling labor and race disturbances within the last year or so, and dwelt on his popularity with the very men whom he had been sent to quiet.

Wood's Feathery Ovation.

As the governor ceased speaking a storm of applause broke out, and another storm of red and green feathers fell from the rafters all over the house. The Wood delegates marched through the aisles, led by Beveridge of Indiana and Frank Hitchcock, and the tumult continued for half an hour. "If Wood drops feathers, I suppose Johnson will drop light wines and beers from the rafters," laughed Mr. Bryan, and someone said: "Get your cup ready then, William."

The demonstration was calmed at last—really it did not seem very spontaneous—and after Frank Knox of New Hampshire had made a seconding speech, the first of the convention's woman orators appeared. She was Mrs. Corinne Roosevelt Robinson of New York, sister of the late Colonel Roosevelt. With much of the colonel's fire and vim, she told why Leonard Wood should be the next president, and she told it so well that prolonged applause rewarded her efforts.

Governor Lowden's turn came next, and the honor of presenting his name was entrusted to Congressman Rodenberg of Illinois, a big man with a big voice who made an old-fashioned speech that hit the audience in the right way. He, too, had an excellent subject, whose cause was handicapped only by the revelations of excessive expenditures brought out by the senate committee at the instigation of Johnson and his friends.

Lowden's ovation outlasted that for Wood, but was no more enthusiastic. It was featured by a display of banners and portraits of the candidate and by a pretty girl in a cerise sweater who was carried on men's shoulders at the head of the paraders. Lowden, too, had a woman among his seconders, Mrs. Fletcher Dobyns of Chicago, a clever politician and good speaker. Then Governor Morrow of Kentucky told why the Republicans of his state loved Lowden and wanted him for president.

Johnson's Sponser a Failure.

Charles S. Wheeler of San Francisco had been deputed to place Senator Johnson in nomination, and much was expected of him, because a reputation for fiery eloquence had preceded him. But, though his address was smooth and his voice pleasing, he scored the worst failure of the entire convention. He evoked some cheering from the galleries by a denunciation of the League of Nations, but soon after made the gross mistake of twitting the reservationists on having been worsted by Johnson in the committee on resolutions. The delegates did not relish that, nor did most of the others in the hall. Then he made an unfortunate allusion to the campaign expenditure revelations, and as those had hit most of the candidates, their friends resented it with boos and hisses. Mr. Wheeler smilingly waited for the row to cease, and proceeded to finish an address that was fully twice as long as it should have been. His poor performance cast a wet blanket on the planned demonstration, and the California delegates, accompanied by a few others, marched rather sadly through the aisles, listlessly waving flags.

Far better than Wheeler's was the speech for Johnson by Thomas D. Schall, the blind congressman from Minneapolis, and better, also, were the brief talks by Richard Doherty of New Jersey, Charles P. O'Neil of Michigan and Mrs. Katherine Phillips Edson of California.

Now began the parade of dark horses. They were led forth as follows: Calvin Coolidge, by Speaker Gillette of the house of representatives and Mrs. Alexander Pelffer; Butler, by Ogden Mills of New York; Pritchard, by Marion Butler of North Carolina; Hoover by Judge Nathan L. Miller of New York; Harding, by Frank Willis of Ohio; Sproul, by William L. Schaffer; Poindexter, by George H. Walker, and Sutherland, by Joseph M. Sanders. When Wisconsin was reached on the roll call the clerk paused expectantly, but no one appeared to nominate La Follette, and the crowd seemed grateful.

Balloting Is Begun.

The powers that were decreed that several ballots should be taken that day before adjournment, and in an excited hush the call of the states was begun. The hush did not last, however, for every considerable vote for any one aspirant was greeted with the cheers of his friends.

As had been foretold, Wood led on the first ballot with 287½ votes, Lowden was second with 211½, and Johnson gathered in 133½. The others in general wereaccorded the votes of their home states and a few more. Of the Wisconsin delegation 24 voted for La Follette; and it may as well be recorded here that those 24 delegates kept voting for La Follette to the bitter end. And every time the announcement was greeted with groans and hisses from the galleries.

In the following three ballots Wood climbed to 314½, which the wise ones said was about his maximum strength. Lowden also increased his vote, going up to 289, while Johnson reached 140½. The votes for the dark horses did not vary to any great extent though Butler lost steadily and Pritchard soon dropped out entirely. By this time everyone was ready for a rest and the convention adjourned to Saturday morning.

The Break to Harding.

The crowd filled the Coliseum to suffocation on what was destined to be the final day of the convention, for it was felt that the conferences of the preceding night would be fruitful. The senatorial coterie had been in session many hours and the word was passed around that they had spoken on Harding as the nominee. In the early ballots of Saturday the choice did not gain rapidly, and all were waiting for the moment when the big delegations from New York, Pennsylvania and Massachusetts would find the time ripe for a break. The men from the Keystone state had been voting almost solidly for Sproul, for the bosses were not decided between him and Harding. And the New Yorkers really did not know to whom to throw their strength.

Johnson's vote dwindled gradually and then the Lowden column suddenly began to go to pieces. He was really the victim of the shift, for the Wood delegations stood by the general almost to the last moment. On the ninth ballot it was seen that Harding could be "put across," so the uncertain ones climbed into the band wagon on the tenth and gave the Ohio senator a grand total of 674½, which was 181½ more than necessary to nominate.

The hubbub was deafening after Pennsylvania put 60 votes in the Harding column the clerks could scarcely complete the roll call. At its finish the usual motion to make the choice unanimous was made, but those 24 La Follette men from Wisconsin voted in the negative and marred the love feast.

Coolidge Gets Second Place.

There still remained the task of selecting a vice presidential candidate. Senator Lenroot of Wisconsin, Governor Allen of Kansas, Governor Coolidge of Massachusetts and Col. Harry Anderson of Virginia were placed in nomination and the roll of the states was called. Lenroot received a good vote, but Coolidge was the evident favorite and long before the roll was completed his nomination was assured. The 24 La Follette men voted for Senator Gronna.

With some difficulty Chairman Lodge, whose voice was gone, managed to hold the delegates together long enough to pass the usual resolutions of thanks to the officials of the convention and to the city of Chicago, and then the republican convention of 1920 came to an end.

Convention Well Handled.

The management of the convention hall really deserved thanks, for the seating, the policing and the other arrangements were the best ever seen in such gatherings. The Coliseum was handsomely decorated and well lighted and the comfort of the delegates and guests was as well looked after as could be expected. Of course the usual swarm of sergeants at arms was present, clogging up the aisles and getting in the way of the workers, but that is inevitable, for the distribution of those badges is a perquisite of the local Republicans. It was no worse this time than usual. The doors were in charge of a force of ex-service men under the command of General Ryan, and their work was done with military efficiency.

Everyone had good things to say about the music supplied by Johnny Hand's band, which was stationed in a lofty little gallery. On occasion it was led by John Hand third, a sturdy chap in brilliant uniform who used the baton presented to his father, Arnie Hand, by Theodore Roosevelt at the Progressive convention. It was made of wood from trees on the "River of Doubt," which the colonel discovered.

The KITCHEN CABINET

What beauty sense women have they acquire as men do—by inheritance, education and practice—not otherwise.—Campbell.

SOME GOOD CAKES.

A simple and easy way to make angel food which takes a moderate number of eggs is the following: Take one cupful each of sugar, egg whites and flour, one-half teaspoonful of cream of tartar and a little salt with one teaspoonful of vanilla. Sift one-half of the cream of tartar with the flour and put the other half into the egg whites when half beaten. Beat the eggs until stiff; add the sugar, folding it in, then fold in the flour very lightly. Bake in a moderate oven 50 minutes.

Gold Cake.—Take four eggs well beaten; do not separate. Add one cupful of water to the eggs. Cream half a cupful of butter, add one and one-fourth cupfuls of sugar and two and one-half cupfuls of flour with three tablespoonfuls of baking powder. Flavor with lemon. Bake in loaf or layers.

Date Torte.—Take one cupful each of chopped nuts, sugar and dates, one tablespoonful of flour, one teaspoonful of baking powder, two well beaten eggs. Bake in a sheet and serve with whipped cream.

Election Cake.—Take one-half cupful of shortening, one cupful of bread sponge, one egg, one cupful of brown sugar, one cupful of sour milk, two-thirds of a cupful of raisins, eight chopped figs, one teaspoonful each of cinnamon and salt, one-fourth of a teaspoonful of cloves, the same of nutmeg, mace, one and one-fourth cupfuls of flour and one-half teaspoonful of soda.

Golden Orange Cake.—Take one-half cupful of clarified fat, one cupful of New Orleans molasses, one tablespoonful of sugar, one egg, the juice and rind of an orange, one teaspoonful of soda dissolved in one-half cupful of cold water, two cupfuls of pastry flour, salt to taste. Bake in shallow pan and cover while hot with butter and powdered sugar.

"A little love, a little trust,
A soft impulse, a sudden dream,
And life as dry as desert dust
Is fresher than a mountain stream."

HURRY-UP DISHES.

Dishes which may be prepared and are ready to serve in a short time are in constant demand. A good plan for the busy housewife who is subject to a sudden short call is to have a list of good dishes in a convenient place where a glance will tell what can be made available for the meal. With the canned soups to be opened and heated in five minutes the first course is one easy to arrange. With a jar of good mayonnaise always on hand for salads, a salad is not difficult to prepare. A few stewed prunes on leaf lettuce with a good dressing makes a most acceptable combination. Another salad easy of preparation is crushed peanuts. Roll them until they are coarse crumbs, sprinkle with finely minced green onion and serve with either French or mayonnaise dressing on lettuce.

Luncheon Dish.—Cut squares of bread from three slices of bread, making one-inch squares. Prepare two cupfuls of white sauce well seasoned with salt and pepper, adding one teaspoonful of curry powder. Cook three eggs in the shell until hard, cut in slices after removing the shells, and add the bread and white sauce. Serve hot.

Salmon With Peas.—Heat a can of salmon in the can, turn out carefully so as to keep chops plain and serve with cooked peas either fresh or canned, or simply buttered. Line a baking dish with hard-cooked egg slices, baked until well heated. This is another good luncheon dish.

Creamed Meat.—Take cooked meat of beef, ham, pork or veal, put through the meat grinder and add to a rich white sauce. Serve on toast or on R.

Chocolate Cake.—Cream one cupful of butter with one cupful of sugar, add three beaten eggs and juice of half a lemon, two squares of grated chocolate, two teaspoonfuls of baking powder and three cupfuls of sifted flour, alternately with a cupful of sweet milk. Mix and bake in layers or loaf.

Savory Eggs.—Beat two eggs with salt and pepper and a tablespoonful of cream. Melt an ounce of butter in a saucepan, then pour in the eggs and stirring constantly; as they thicken add some pieces of the tender breast of chicken. Serve piping hot on buttered toast.

Celery Toast.—Slice tender stalks of celery into thin slices and cook until tender in just enough water to keep them from burning. Make a cup of white sauce, season well, add the celery and pour over rounds of buttered toast.

Pepper Steak.—Take a round steak two inches thick. Salt and pepper it well with a coarse-tined fork. Pour over it a can of tomatoes over the meat. Slice a large onion and a large green pepper, put over the tomatoes

Pour one can of tomatoes over the meat, then dice a large onion and a large green pepper; put over the tomatoes. Place in the oven and bake one and one-half hours. Remove the lid and baste until all the juice goes into the meat.

Asparagus on Toast.—Cook the tender tops of asparagus in boiling water just long enough to make tender. Add cream, butter, salt and pepper to season. Do not drain off the water and serve on nicely toasted slices of bread.

From two to four the child consumes more than a quarter of the supply of food required by the workingman. From four to ten there is a steady increase, while from twelve to fifteen a child requires as much food in actual weight as does a person in the prime of life, a trifle less than the hardest-working laborer. Any deficiency in quality is much more serious at this age than at any other.

GOOD AND SIMPLE FOODS.

A plain cake which is not at all expensive but is tender and delicious may be made of sour cream. Beat one egg and one white of egg until light then add one cupful of sugar and a cupful of sour cream, a tablespoonful of lard, a little salt, one and three-fourths cupfuls of flour, one tablespoonful of cornstarch, one-half teaspoonful of soda and two teaspoonfuls of baking powder, vanilla. Beat well and bake in layer cake pans. Use any filling desired.

Ham on Toast.—Put ham through the meat grinder. To one cupful add one-half cupful of milk, a tablespoonful of butter, salt, pepper and one-half tablespoonful of flour. Cook a few minutes, spread on toast, break an egg on top and set in the oven until the egg sets.

Sweet Potato and Almond Croquettes.—Bake four medium-sized sweet potatoes and remove from the skins. There should be two cupfuls. Add three tablespoonfuls of blanched and finely chopped almonds, one teaspoonful of salt, a few gratings of nutmeg, two tablespoonfuls of melted butter and one egg well beaten. Add enough milk to make of the right consistency to shape. Roll in crumbs and fry in deep fat.

French Pancakes.—Beat the yolks and whites separately of four eggs. To the yolks add two cupfuls each of milk and flour, a teaspoonful of grated lemon rind and one-half tablespoonful of melted butter. Fold in the whites beaten stiff and bake on a hot greased griddle. Make the cakes large and spread with butter and put together with grated maple sugar. Cut to serve like pie.

Baked Codfish.—Soak salt fish in water until soft. Flake one cupful, slice four cold boiled potatoes and arrange alternately in a buttered dish with the codfish. Sprinkle each layer with chopped stuffed olives, using one-half cupful. Make a sauce, using one and one-half cupfuls of tomatoes, a tablespoonful each of butter and flour, one small onion, chopped, salt and pepper to taste. Cover with coarse bread-crumbs stirred in melted butter and bake until the crumbs are brown.

A clam is a simpler organization than we are; but because our teeth ache we do not wish to be a clam. High organization is complex, not simple; but it may work with perfect ease and smoothness none the less.

SOME MEXICAN DISHES.

For those who enjoy the spicy, peppery dishes of the South, these dishes will appeal:

Scrambled Eggs With Chili.—Break six eggs, add a tablespoonful of water and a dash of chili powder for each egg; also salt and pepper to taste. Beat lightly until the eggs are well mixed. Pour into a heated pan greased with bacon fat or sweet drippings. Stir until thick and creamy. Serve on hot buttered toast.

Combination Salad.—Use one cucumber, two young onions, three small radishes, four stalks of celery, two firm ripe tomatoes, all cut in pieces; place in a salad bowl lined with lettuce leaves. Prepare a dressing of one-half cupful of vinegar, one tablespoonful of bacon, one teaspoonful of salt and one tablespoonful of chili powder. Bring to a boil, then cool and pour over the salad.

Tomato Jelly.—Cook one quart of tomatoes for ten minutes, add one teaspoonful of chili powder and cook again ten minutes. Stir in one-third of a package of gelatin softened in cold water; stir until well dissolved, strain and add salt to taste, then set away to cool. When the jelly is firm cut in cubes; Serve on lettuce with mayonnaise.

Chili Con Carni.—Take one pound of beef from the round, one-third of a pound of pork steak, chop fine. Fry two slices of diced bacon; brown or cook the meat in the bacon fat. Into a kettle put one quart of tomato, add one chopped onion browned in the bacon fat. Putting the tomatoes through a sieve improves the dish. Add meat and simmer one hour. Just a few minutes before serving add one can of red kidney beans. For seasoning add one tablespoonful of chili powder, salt to taste and one chili pepper dropped into the kettle and cooked with the mixture. The pepper is removed before serving.

Veal Goulash.—Put into a saucepan two tablespoonfuls of butter, add two minced onions, and a few slices of bacon. Cover and cook until brown, then add veal cut in bits, salt and chili powder to season. Do not put any water into the dish but cook until tender.

Suits for Summer Journeyings

AMONG other good things turned out for the benefit of June brides there were some new designs in taffeta suits, to be worn on the wedding journey. But June brides can't have a monopoly of good fortune and other women have been quick to see the advantages of taffeta for summer journeyings: These suits are cool, shed dust, easily cleaned, smartly made and they are that "something different" that makes so strong an appeal at this season.

One of these taffeta suits, together with an attractive cloth suit, is pictured above; they are interesting because both embody some new style features. The taffeta is a revelation of accurate machine stitching as used to supply the decoration and in the cloth suit embroidery is managed in a new way. Fourteen rows of stitching at the bottom of the taffeta skirt, put in with a perfection of workmanship that delights the eye, are repeated above the hem of the coat. They finish the flaring sleeves. But the bands of stitching in herring-bone pattern that adorn the coat are even more difficult to achieve and there are groups of vertical lines above the parallel rows at the hem. The coat is set on a small, plain yoke and has a narrow silk girdle covered with stitching.

A detachable cape of duvetyn lined with machine-stitched taffeta is the outstanding novelty in the suit. The lining is of the same taffeta. A narrow band fastens it about the neck under the rolled-over taffeta collar.

Peach brown, a soft wool fabric, makes the second suit. A braided pattern, simulating embroidery appears in a band which curves over the hips on the full peplum. The same work adorns the front of the coat and the collar. On the coat sleeves that flare a little at the hand, a row of bone buttons make an unexpected finish.

Summer Hats for All Tastes

IT IS everyone to her taste in millinery; for fashion is easy-going, lured this way and that by lovely midsummer hats of all descriptions. Speaking generally, headwear is more trimmed than for many summers, but there are so many exceptions to this that the devotee of plain hats will not find her choice peculiar. There are many hats that have no trimming except a twisted band of velvet ribbon about the crown or an embroidered motif on brim or crown, or a single large ornament of jet or composition placed in lonely and conspicuous state on the hat shape. The simpler models have a steadfast following. But whether hats are simply or elaborately trimmed, their making is rarely simple. There is a demand for hand-made hats which require delicate and precise needlework.

Just now navy blue hats in silk (both taffeta and georgette) are making their annual appearance for midsummer wear. Often they are faced with a pliant white straw facing and this year finds them beautifully decorated with white yarn, used for embroidering them and in separate ornaments. Sometimes an entire brim is made of the yarn woven over wire. A lovely example is shown in the picture above, made of navy blue taffeta with embroidery on the crown in white silk and wool yarns and two roses made of yarn. A small hat of similar character, to be worn with all sorts of dresses appears with round crown and upturned brim made of soft rough braid. Little garden roses are banked against the brim and veiled with malines having rows of braid stitched on. A twist of velvet ribbon completes it.

Midsummer translated into millinery compels us to admire the designers' art in the lovely hat of georgette with roses and grapes posed on the crown. It has a facing of figured chiffon and long ties of narrow black velvet ribbon. Its companion is one of those well beloved, wide-brimmed black hats that throw a protecting shadow over the face. Wide moire ribbon with a satin edge makes a becoming finish for the brim edge and narrow ribbon furnishes a posh about the crown.

Keep Your Liver Active, Your System Purified and Free From Colds by Taking Calotabs, the Nauseless Calomel Tablets, that are Delightful, Safe and Sure.

Physicians and Druggists are advising their friends to keep their systems purified and their organs in perfect working order as a protection against the return of influenza. They know that a clogged up system and a lazy liver favor colds, influenza and serious complications.

To cut short a cold overnight and to prevent serious complications take one Calotab at bedtime with a swallow of water—that's all. No salts, no nausea, no griping, no sickening after effects. Next morning your cold has vanished, your liver is active, your system is purified and refreshed and you are feeling fine with a hearty appetite for breakfast. Eat what you please—no danger.

Calotabs are sold only in original sealed packages, price thirty-five cents. Every druggist is authorized to refund your money if you are not perfectly delighted with Calotabs.—(Adv.)

Lift off Corns!

Doesn't hurt a bit and Freezone costs only a few cents.

With your fingers! You can lift off any hard corn, soft corn, or corn between the toes, and the hard skin callouses from bottom of feet.

A tiny bottle of "Freezone" costs little at any drug store; apply a few drops upon the corn or callous. Instantly it stops hurting, then shortly you lift that bothersome corn or callous right off, root and all, without one bit of pain or soreness. Truly! No humbug!—Adv.

A Feeling of Security

You naturally feel secure when you know that the medicine you are about to take is absolutely pure and contains no harmful or habit producing drugs.

Such a medicine is Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, kidney, liver and bladder remedy.

The same standard of purity, strength and excellence is maintained in every bottle of Swamp-Root.

It is scientifically compounded from vegetable herbs.

It is not a stimulant and is taken in teaspoonful doses.

It is not recommended for everything.

It is nature's great helper in relieving and overcoming kidney, liver and bladder troubles.

A sworn statement of purity is with every bottle of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root.

If you need a medicine, you should have the best. On sale at all drug stores in bottles of two sizes, medium and large.

However, if you wish first to try this great preparation send ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., for a sample bottle. When writing be sure and mention this paper.—Adv.

MAN, 78, SLAYS GRANDDAUGHTER

Cleaves Her Skull With Ax While School Children Look On.

Muskegon, Mich.—While a hundred or more children watched from windows of the Muskegon Heights school Stuart C. Moon, seventy-eight, Civil war veteran and wealthy retired lumberman, killed his ten-year old granddaughter by cleaving her skull with an ax. Irma Moon, the child, had been summoned from her class room to the school yard, where the grandfather, who had been her confidant and pal, waited with an ax, behind his back.

"I killed her because I love her," the old man said in mild tones to the first man who seized him, Rev. W. A. Lyons. "I wanted to save her from this world of misery and wickedness. I wanted to send her tender young soul to the better world before she would have had opportunity to suffer. I wish I could go with her. But it won't be long before I can join her over there."

The children, who had heard Irma's scream as her grandfather raised the ax and who had flocked to the window in time to see the killing, tumbled in panic from the school building. But possessed by sudden fear, they huddled against the entrance, unwilling to move until the patrol wagon and ambulance had taken away the slayer and the slain.

Edwin B. Moon, father of the child and son of the man who did the killing, is a prominent real estate man in this city. He could only account for the tragedy on the basis of insanity. The granddaughter and the elder Mr. Moon had been inseparable companions almost since the child was born.

NOW COMES ELECTRICAL 'JAG'

San Francisco Man Produces All Symptoms of Alcoholic Intoxication.

San Francisco, Cal.—The possibility of producing all the symptoms of alcoholic intoxication on electric "juice" attracted a good deal of interest here recently when Dr. Albert Abrams of San Francisco demonstrated to medical men the use of an electrical device he has invented.

The feet of the subject are placed on a sheet of zinc, an electrode is placed upon the head, and, when the current is turned on, one newspaper writer said: "John Barleycorn is with you again. The 'kick' comes slowly and without any appreciation of the fact on the part of the subject until he finds himself unduly loquacious, happy or sleepy."

"The discovery," Doctor Abrams said, "is based on the theory that unit of energy is the electron and that every material thing is simply a manifestation of different rates of vibration. I have used the vibration of chloroform to produce the effects of chloroform itself."

Freed "With Honor" After Assault on "Hun"

Denver.—Paul Kennedy, arrested for assault, was discharged "with honor" in police court when he related the circumstances that led to his being taken into custody.

"My brother was killed in France," Kennard told the court, "and when this German fellow, August Something, yelled at me that it was too bad more Yanks weren't killed over there, I hit him—hit him hard, your honor."

"Car Maids" Fight for Jobs.

Louisville, Ky.—Women won jobs as Pullman "car maids" during the war, and now the 100 employed in the local yards have formed a union. The girls contend that the cars were not kept as tidy by the men as now and that they are entitled to proper consideration. They are members of the Brotherhood of Railway Carmen of America.

Hoorah for Harding and Coolidge, the next President and Vice-President of our great country.

Tom Littlejohn says that since Harding is a Republican and a Baptist, that ought to be sufficient reasons for anybody to vote for him for President.

The Democrats want the Republican party to split again. But they don't get everything they want every time. For instance, they want to elect a Demmie president this fall, but they will not do it by a thousand miles and then some.

Senator Harding, the Republican candidate for president, is a born orator and a gifted statesman. You ought to hear his speech on the league of nations delivered before the Senate last winter. Mr. Harding sees very clearly the future course that confronts America and the preservation of our ideals of government.

But the biggest smile we have seen produced by the coming of the Lock 12 juice to our town is worn on the face of Uncle Tom Taylor, the corn mill man. He is particularly delighted that any time of the day a farmer may bring his corn to mill he can turn on the switch and produce the meal in a very few minutes.

A bunch of us hard boiled fishermen carried Judge Reynolds and his son Omar and brother W. A. out to Coosa River last Thursday and introduced them to the art of climbing up and down those pine-straw hills under the scorching heat of a summer sun. When we reached the river a temporary camp was made and a dinner of fresh fried fish was prepared by members of the party who were more or less acquainted with the culinary side of camp life. After dinner we all proceeded across the river and up a gentle slope for a short distance to where a bee tree had been previously located. Perhaps the greatest piece of fun in the whole trip was the cutting of the tree and eating all the honey we wanted.

Some of the Democrats have been poking the Republican convention for being dominated by the sick man at Philadelphia. We likewise look for the sick man at the White House to have quite a bit to do with things at San Francisco when the Democratic convention meets.

Mr. J. Martin Nix of the Clanton Chero-Cola Bottling Co., is one of those who is highly pleased by the constant flow of electric current from Lock 12 into Clanton. His bottling plant is electrically equipped throughout, and with the ample amount of current supplied now Mr. Nix is in shape to quench the thirst of everybody in Chilton County with that tempting and refreshing drink "in a bottle through a straw."

The still sow drinks the most of the slop. The big three caverted around over the country and raised a big smoke, spending much money in the hope of carrying off the plum at Chicago. While Harding was a candidate he did not say much about it and did not spend much time or money in advertisng the fact. But when he went to the "windy city" he got away with the honor after all the hurrah of the big noise makers.

Reports are already coming in to us from various sections of the county that the boll weevils are numerous in the cotton fields. Great care should be exercised right now in picking and killing all the weevils that can be found. Then when the squares come and the weevils begin to puncture them the first squares that fall should be picked up and burned. By doing this the most work of the weevils can be prevented.

There are a few merchants and business men in Clanton and Chilton County, who are Democrats in politics, and who will not patronize the Union-Banner with their advertising and job printing, because the politics of the paper is Republican. This little bit of cheesiness on their part does not amount to anything with us. We have got along without their patronage in the past, and we can continue to do so. But we would like to ask what would become of such Democrats as they are if all the Republicans in Chilton County were to refust to trade with a local man whose politics is Democratic, and send all their business out of the county to some mail order house? Think this over Mr. Business man, and see if you can justify the policy of mixing politics with business.

The man whom the Republicans nominated for President at Chicago is a newspaper publisher of long experience, having for many years owned and published the Marion (Ohio) Star. And more than being a publisher, Senator Harding is a practical printer and it is said of him that he carries his composing rule in his pocket wherever he goes. During the days he spends at his home in the Ohio city he can always be found at the Star office directing the business of his paper and at leisure times setting type in his composing room. We are proud that a member of the newspaper fraternity has reached to such eminence in the affairs of our country as to be a candidate before the people for the highest honor within the gift of the nation. We believe Harding will be our next President and sure he will be a good one.

HARDING'S NOMINATION

The following words from Mark Sullivan, one of the most prominent newspaper correspondents of the present day, in regard to the nomination of Harding, strikes us as a true expression of the very great sentiment among the rank and file of the Republican voters of the country. Mr. Sullivan says:

The judgment of your correspondent is, Harding is a typical old-time Republican nomination. It is like the nomination of McKinley or Harrison or Garfield.

Harding is an accurate expression of the hearts of a very large number of the men throughout the country who get the Republican vote. He is precisely the type of man whom the Republican party workers in the rural districts understand and admire.

If the hearts of a majority of the delegates who made this nomination were distilled, you would find their chcoice to be Harding, not individually necessarily, but precisely the kind of man Harding is: a small town man, a small business man.

The very averageness, so to speak, of Harding appeals to these men. They can understand him, instinctively they feel that he can understand them. They feel that they have an easy and agreeable relationship with him—not in any undignified sense, but in the sense that is proper and desirable from the public point of view.

Harding's very limitations commend him to this type of man. A bigger man they would not understand, a bigger man would be inscrutable to them.

It may be and probably is true that Harding's nomination is distasteful to the progressive leaders within the Republican party, but this must be balanced by the fact that it is to an extraordinary degree perfectly adapted to the taste of regular party workers in all the great territory where the Republican party usually finds its majoities, in Pennsylvania, in up-state New York, in rural Indiana, in Ohio, and in all the regular Republican states of the Mississippi valley.

The people of Clanton should not fail to realize the immense worth to our town that is represented in our having the Alabama Power Company furnish us its power from the great Lock 12 plant. It was in fact a sacrifice on the part of the company to come here. But they were willing to take us up and give us the advantages of their power when we were in the midst of the deep blue sea so far as power was concerned. We are indebted to them for the plenty of water we now have in our city system. We did not have it before they brought us the current to run our pumps with.

Of course, a business as big as the Alabama Power Company will naturally make some enemies here and there, but we here in Clanton should be the last in the world to fall out with them for they have saved our town and our prestige as a commercial center. They have transformed our little city from a cross roads country village as it has heretofore been looked upon by the commercial world outside, to a thriving city of immense commercial and industrial advantage, with a potentiality for business as great as the wonderful system that is standing back of us and connecting us with the utmost parts of industrial Alabama.

Let us be proud of the Alabama Power Company. We owe it to them.

It is not safe to buy land or to lend money and accept land as security without first investigating the title of the land. Often there are unpaid mortgages, judgments, or other liens affecting the title, which an abstract would set out. Therefore, when buying land or lending money thereon, it is important that an abstract of title be furnished. A few dollars spent for an abstract is cheaper than going ahead and having a law suit a little later on.

WHAT THE SCOUTS WILL DO HERE ON JULY THE 3RD.

It is going to be a big time for everybody. Games, Contests, Races, Music, Fireworks and everything for a Good Time.

YOU CAN'T MISS HEARING THE BAND

The Clanton Boy Scouts are perfecting the plans for their celebration here on the Third of July, and everything now looks like a day of much fun for the boys and entertainment for the visiting people.

The band will play the biggest card in the entertainment of the people. Everybody will enjoy plenty of good music and these boys are able to fill the bill completely in that respect. Prof. Memoli of Birmingham, who is teaching the boys in the band, will have charge oft hem on that day.

At 9:30 o'clock in the morning the Boy Scout parade will form at the depot and proceed to the grounds (place to be announced later). There will be a flag raising ceremony on arrival at the scene of the day's proceedings, accompanied by a lecture on the Declaration of Independence.

At 10:30 the games will begin, which will include foot races, tug-of-war, sack races, potato races, etc. There will also be a fiddlers contest about this time of the day. All the fiddlers can get their instruments tuned up and ready. Prizes will be given to the winners in the contest.

At 12 o'clock, the dinner hour, there will be a break in the program, and everybody who has dinner with them will have a chance to spread their baskets in any place they choose.

At 1 o'clock the program will start again with baseball games, volley ball, tennis, etc. These games will entertain the crowds all the afternoon. The teams to play ball will be announced later.

All during the day the Scouts will serve ice cream and cold drinks. All Scouts and scout officials from everywhere are invited to come and be with the Clanton Troop.

On the night of the 3rd the fire works display will be held at the railroad crossing. This promises to be about the best thing on the program. There will be plenty of music by the band all through the day's proceedings.

The people of Chilton County are urged to come to Clanton and spend that day and enjoy the festivities with the boys.

THE FIRST DOSE MADE ME FEEL SO MUCH BETTER

Well known citizen of Mobile declares the new medicine, Dreco, relieved his kidney, liver and stomach troubles very quickly.

"I had such awful pains in my back that sometimes it felt like a ton of bricks was bearing down on me, and I could find nothing that gave me relief." That is how Mr. W. A. Young, the well known carpenter of 204 Dauphine Street, Mobile Ala., described his suffering. "But the new medicine, Dreco, made a big difference in me from the very start."

In addition to the kidney pains, I also had constipation and headaches, pains in my limbs; I was so nervous that I never got a good night's sleep, and my appetite fell to almost nothing. My work was pretty hard and I knew a man in my condition was liable to have a breakdown. I had bought several kinds of medicine, I had seen advertised in the papers, but no one of them seemed to hit my case. I have always had faith in the old time root and herb medicines though, so when I read about Dreco I bought a box, and my improvement began with the first dose. It relieved the constipation almost immediately; it stopped my headaches; my nerves became quieted and I began to sleep the whole night through, and wake up refreshed. The pains in my back became less day by day, and now I have no pain at all. Any medicine that will do that kind of work should be told about to every one, and that is why I am willing to have you publish my case."

Dreco is now sold by all good druggists throughout the country, and is highly recommended in Clanton by Upchurch Drug Company.

OHIOAN AGAINST OHIOAN

Democrats of Buckeye State Want Cox to Oppose Harding.

Columbus, Ohio, June 15—Now that an Ohioan has been chosen the standard bearer of the Republican party, Ohio Democrats are redoubling their efforts to obtain another honor for the Buckeye State by having Governor James M. Cox selected by the San Francisco convention as the one to carry the standard for their party.

No sooner had Senator Harding's nomination been assured than former Gov. James E. Campbell, an Ohio delegate at large to the Democratic national convention, began preparation of a circular letter to all Democratic delegates setting forth why Gov. Cox should be nominated at the San Francisco convention.

"Gov. James M. Cox can carry Ohio. What other candidate can match this certainty with even a probability? the letter asked.

SILURIA TEAM vs. CLANTON

There will be a big ball game in Clanton next Saturday afternoon, June 19. A stout team from Siluria will come down and challenge the Clanton team, on the high school ground. Everybody is invited to be there and witness the affair.

Mr. C. Fenn Jones is very proud of the fact that Clanton now enjoys the benefits of electric curret from Lock 12. Mr. Jones has been one of the moving powers that caused that company to connect Clanton with their lines.

Clanton is now enjoying the privilege of the best electric light and power service of any town of its size in the state, and our people should be glad and are proud of our opportunities in this respect. Our close proximity to the great generating plant at Lock 12 reduces the likelihood of interruption in our service from those causes which sometimes occur unavoidably. By virtue of our electric power advantages we are in line to offer the best advantages possible for some small manufacturing industries. We predict it will be only a matter of a short time until something will be started around here in the way of locating new industries. Let us be ready to extend the hand of welcome to any legitimate and worthy interprise that might seek a location in our midst.

TOO MANY RATS HERE

Dr. Grady Broadhead suggests to us that the people of Clanton should start war on our rodent population; and we heartily second his timely motion. There are far too many rats in Clanton. In fact any rats at all are too many, and goodness knows they are literally thousands of them here. We should make an organized effort to exterminate them.

Dr. Broadhead suggests that the citizens of the town put up a cash fund with which to pay for the killing of rats. He thinks such a move would interest the boys who have nothing else to do, and who would enjoy chasing the rats in adition to getting pay for their fun in killing them.

Let our citizens think over the matter and see if we can't get busy at some method that will rid us of our rats.

The wires of the Alabama Power Company got hooked up with the local telephone system here Tuesday and put several of the telephones on the blink. The current was so stout that it set the central switchboard on fire and Mr. Culp had to hustlle to put the blaze out before it did serious damage. We have been informed that it also caused a little blaze in Dr. Mastin's office over Upchurch's Drug Store.

TRAIN NO. 1 WILL STOP

The effects of Clanton citizens before the Public Service Commission of Alabama recently has resulted in an order by the commission requiring the L. & N. R. R. to stop treir fast south bound train at this station. We suppose the order is to go into effect at once.

The petition to have No. 4 stop here was denied by the commission.

COULD HARDLY STAND ALONE

Terrible Suffering From Headache, Sideache, Backache, and Weakness, Relieved by Cardui, Says This Texas Lady.

Gonzales, Tex.— Mrs. Minnie Philpot, of this place, writes: "Five years ago I was taken with a pain in my left side. It was right under my left rib. It would commence with an aching and extend up into my left shoulder and on down into my back. By that time the pain would be so severe I would have to take to bed, and suffered usually about three days ...I suffered this way for three years, and got to be a mere skeleton and was so weak I could hardly stand alone. Was not able to go anywhere and had to let my house work go...I suffered awful with a pain in my back and I had the headache all the time. I just was unable to do a thing. My life was a misery, my stomach got in an awful condition, caused from taking so much medicine. I suffered so much pain. I had just about given up all hopes of our getting anything to help me.

One day a Birthday Almanac was thrown in my yard. After reading its testimonials I decided to try Cardui, and am so thankful that I did, for I began to improve when on the second bottle...I am now a well woman and feeling fine and the cure has been permanent for it has been two years since my awful bad health. I will always praise and recommend Cardui." Try Cardui today. E 78

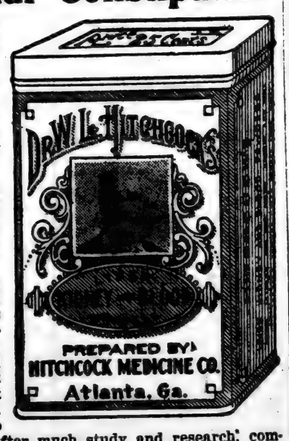
Relief for Torpid Livers and Habitual Constipation



The liver is the largest and most important organ in the body, and when the liver refuses to act, it causes constipation, biliousness, headaches, indigestion, gas, sour stomach, bad breath, dysentery, diarrhoea, pains in back and under shoulder blades and under ribs on right side. These symptoms lead to colds, influenza or other serious troubles unless corrected immediately.

An inactive liver places an extra burden on the kidneys, which overtaxes them and causes the blood to absorb and carry into the system the impurities that the liver and kidneys have failed to eliminate.

When you treat the liver alone, you treat only a third of your trouble, and that is why you have to take purgatives every few nights. Calomel or other ordinary laxatives do not go far enough. If you would treat your kidneys and blood while treating the liver, you would put your entire system in order and frequent purgatives would then be unnecessary.

Dr. W. L. Hitchcock many years ago recognized these important facts, and after much study and research, compounded what is now known as Dr. Hitchcock's Liver, Kidney and Blood Powders, three medicines combined in one. This was the Doctor's favorite prescription for many years, being used by his patients with marked success. It is a harmless vegetable remedy that will not make you sick, and you may eat anything you like while taking it.

Get a large tin box from your druggist or dealer for 25 cents, under his personal guarantee that it will give relief, tone up the liver, stimulate the kidneys to healthy action and thereby purify the blood. Keep it in the home for ready use whenever any member of the family begins to feel "out of sorts." It will prove a household friend and a valuable remedy.

Blood Was Bad

A Prominent Georgian Suffered From Many Blood Troubles Until Relieved by Taking Ziron.

"I HAD been having rheumatism and feeling very muchly off for some time," says Mr. G. M. Tatum, of Cohutta, Ga.

"I began to have risings, or spring sores. I felt all run-down. I didn't feel like working. I didn't have any appetite, and when night came I was restless.

"I felt tired when I got up. I had a bad feeling all over.

"I knew by the sores that I had bad blood.

"I decided to take Ziron, as I heard that was what it was for—the blood.

"It certainly was just what I needed. The little boils began to dry up. My skin got clearer. I felt so much better, it seemed I could see better.

"I began to eat, and now I can hardly get enough. I feel like a different man.

"I certainly can and do recommend Ziron. I feel fine."

If you should fail to derive any benefit from your first bottle of Ziron, the druggist from whom you buy it will refund your money.

ALL HE COULD DO FOR HIM

According to This, Prospects of Thirsty Gent Getting a Drink Didn't Seem to Be Promising.

"How can I go about it to get a drink in this town?" asked a recently arrived gent, who looked as if he needed irrigation.

"Well," replied the landlord of the Petunia tavern, "I'll tell you what you might do: Go to the second corner up the street, pass around it and go to the alley about half-way, and you'll come to a gate standing open, a crack in a fence made out of old billboard lumber. Go in through the gate and along to a cellar back of the shanty standing in the lot, lift the cellar door and go down the steps, whistle three times, and a dirty feller will come with a lantern, and look you over and tell you that there ain't nothin' doing in this dod-blasted town since the blankity-blank prohibitionists got so sizzle-fired active. This is the best I can do for you, Mr. Dryer."—Houston Post.

Safe in Unsuspected Dangers.

Writing of accidents to persons employed in industrial plants, Dr. C. Widmer says in Therapie der Gegenwart (Berlin) that the experience of countless ages enables us to sidestep injury unconsciously, and only when we focus our consciousness on the reaction to the occurrence is injury liable to result.

And the man who breaks off a matrimonial engagement should be fined for contempt of court.

Analyzing Waste Food.

America leads all other nations in analyzing the value of the foods we eat and the best way to make them nourish us. Scientists have found that we often get little of the real value of our foods so that a great deal goes to waste. It is exactly as if we took just one squeeze out of a juicy orange and then threw it away. The new science has been developed largely since the outbreak of the war. Many interesting experiments have been carried on in Teachers' college in New York which are being watched by scientists all over the world. Some tests are made with white rats, others with human beings. The war department has utilized this information in fixing the rations for our soldiers. In a few years people will look back upon our wasteful, unscientific habits of today with amazement.—Boys' Life.

British Silver Currency.

Owing to the rise in the price of silver, the British government finds it impossible to mint silver coins except at a great loss, so it plans to reduce the fineness. Silver, which before the war cost less than 30 pence an ounce, now costs about 88 pence (respectively $0.60 and $1.76). The British money has been 0.925 fine; it is purposed to make it 0.500 fine in the future. With silver at present prices, the intrinsic value of a shilling 0.500 fine will be greater than that of a shilling 0.925 fine before the war.

Opinions and visits should never be forced upon people.

CONDENSED CLASSICS

THE ARABIAN NIGHTS

By the PRINCESS SHEHERAZADE

Condensation by Alfred S. Clark

The marvellous tales that Scheherazade told to King Shahriar, stories of love and adventure and mad magic cannot be attributed to any one author for the very good reason that there never was an author. They are popular stories that, perhaps about the year 1450, were put into the present form by a professional story-teller, presumably a Persian.

In primitive communities where few of the people can read, and where books are difficult to get, these professional readers are in great demand. They pick up here and there tales that appeal to all and bind them into a long narrative. Some people have thought that Homer's long poems originated in this way.

Everywhere in the near east the traveler finds these story-tellers today. An eager audience collects to hear them, each paying a small fee for the privilege of listening. The entertainer declaims as he walks to and fro and always stops his narrative just before an exciting climax, so that he will be assured of listeners on the morrow. His audience follows his recital with breathless interest, especially when he illustrates thrilling episodes with lively pantomime.

Year after year these groups of listeners gathered centuries ago. The story-teller discarded the tales that did not hold the attention of his listeners. Gradually the process of elimination went on until only the best were handed down by word of mouth from generation to generation. Then some unknown benefactor of mankind had them written down and connected them with the framework of Scheherazade and Shahriar. And these are the Arabian Nights that have delighted children and grown men and women for decades.

SHEHERAZADE was a vizier's daughter and when she besought her father to wed her to King Shahriar it was cause for grief to the vizier. For each day was it Shahriar's wont to put to death his bride of the day before. It befell, however, that Sheherazade had her will. As she had hoped, the king was wakeful and to beguile him she began a story of magic. Dawn broke before she had finished and so eager was Shahriar to hear it all that he gave no order for her execution.

For a thousand and one nights did this befall while Sheherazade told tales of love, war and sorcery, of kings, beggars and rogues, of lands where diamonds were more plentiful than pebbles and bigger than eggs, of intrigues in the lanes and bazaars of Oriental cities. In towns and deserts and far islands did necromancers work their wills. Horses flew; dogs talked; mermaidens and creatures greater than whales peopled the deeps; ogres and enormous apes crept out of forests; birds so great that their wings darkened the day swooped from the skies. Here, too, were lovers in palaces and hovels, bold and cowardly, yet all so enamored that they swooned at the very thought of the beloved. Underlying all was the colorful Orient, with barbers and porters jostling caliphs and princesses in the thronged and picturesque lanes of three cities whose very names conjure up romance—Bagdad, Cairo and Damascus.

Now these are the best liked of Sheherazade's tales:

The Story of Aladdin's Lamp.

Of Aladdin, son of a poor tailor in China, a prankish scamp. An African magician guided him to a subterranean cave where he found the lamp that summoned the genie. Out of nothingness did this genie spread banquets for Aladdin and robe him in rich raiment. He provided him retinues of slaves, bearing basins heaped high with precious stones, who carried to the king Aladdin's suppliance for the hand of the beautiful Princess Badroulboudour. In a night did the genie raise a palace of glowing wonders, of shining marble and gold and silver, with windows incrusted with diamonds, emeralds and rubies, with fragrant gardens and open courts. So Aladdin married the princess and they knew great joy. But the magician returned, stole the lamp and in a trice transported the palace and the princess to Africa. Then was Aladdin woeful, but by magic he found his beloved, poisoned the magician, seized the lamp and came to China, where he and Badroulboudour lived happily ever afterward.

The Story of Sinbad.

Of Sinbad the sailor and his marvelous voyages. Wherein it is related that Sinbad landed upon what seemed an island but which was a great fish that sank into the sea. And of other voyages and greater wonders, of which one marvels most at the adventure with the roc, the bird so huge that it feeds its young with elephants. Sinbad had fastened himself to the roc's leg and it bore him to an impenetrable valley strewn with precious stones from which he escaped by binding himself to a sheep's carcass and was borne away by a vulture. And of the giant who roasted men and whom Sinbad blinded with a red-hot iron. And of the terrible Old Man of the Sea who sat upon Sinbad's shoulders and could not be shaken off until he was intoxicated with wine and Sinbad slew him.

The Story of the Forty Thieves.

Of Ali Baba and his discovery of the stone that swung wide when a voice cried "Open, Sesame!" In the cave was the booty of forty thieves and Ali Baba took home sacks bulging with gold and silver. The robbers traced him and in the guise of a merchant the captain lodged with him. In the yard were stored great jars, one filled with oil and the others concealing the thieves. Ill would it have fared with Ali Baba had not Morgiana, a cunning slave, detected the trick and with boiling oil scalded to death the wicked miscreants. The captain escaped, but returned in a new disguise and again did Morgiana save her master by stabbing his enemy. So Ali Baba married her to his son and he lived joyously upon treasures from the cave.

Many Other Fascinating Stories.

Of the Magic Horse of ebony and ivory, so fashioned that its rider, by pressing divers buttons, could fly whither he willed. It bore a Persian prince to a great palace in a metropolis girt about with greenery. There he looked into the eyes of a princess and they were enraptured. It befell that they rode away on the Magic Horse, but before they were wed an evil man abducted the princess. The disconsolate prince wandered far and at last he found her whom he loved and again they journeyed through the air to his home, where they were married with exceeding pomp and lived happily.

Of a poor fisherman who drew his net from the sea and found therein but a brass bottle. He cut open the top and there streamed forth a cloud of smoke. It collected and, behold! it was a genie, so huge that his head was in the clouds. He would have killed his rescuer had not the wily fisherman insisted that never could he have come from the bottle. The silly genie squeezed himself inside, whereupon the fisherman clapped on the top, nor would he remove it until the genie swore to serve him faithfully. This oath it was that led to the finding of the ensorcelled prince with legs turned to stone and the lake wherein swam fish of four colors that had once been men. After marvelous happenings the prince was made as other men and the fish were men and women. And the fisherman was so rewarded that he was the wealthiest man of his time.

Of Prince Camaralzaman and the Princess Badoura, beautiful beyond compare, and of how each saw the other in sleep and was smitten with great love. But when they awakened they saw not one another for they had been brought together by genii who had carried Badoura out of China to the confines of Persia. Grief so afflicted both that they sickened and were insane from sorrow. Then a messenger from Badoura journeyed far over land and sea until he found Camaralzaman and returned with him to China, where the lovers were wedded. But while they were traveling to Camaralzaman's land he wandered away. Badoura dressed herself in his raiment and passed herself for a man. It befell that she found favor in the eyes of a king and was married to a princess. And Camaralzaman too came to this land and knew not his wife, who heaped honors upon him. At last she revealed herself and was known as a woman and Camaralzaman took also to wife the princess whom Badoura had married and they were happy together.

Of a merchant who, awaiting death at the hands of a cruel genie, was joined by three old men, one leading a gazelle, another two black hounds, and the third a mule. Now it is related that the gazelle and the mule had been wicked wives transformed by magic and likewise had the hounds been evil brothers. When the genie was told these stories of enchantment, he was so diverted that he spared the merchant's life.

About Harun-al-Rashid.

And of many tales concerning the Caliph Harun-al-Rashid and his going disguised into the lanes and bazaars of Bagdad, where he chanced upon strange people who told him strange stories of magic. Once he supped with three ladies of dazzling beauty and with him were a porter dazed with the magnificence he saw and three mendicants, sons of kings, all blind in the left eye. Not knowing the Caliph they told of their fantastic adventures and sufferings and he rewarded them. And again he encountered a beggar who implored him to strike him, a youth who spurred cruelly a mare upon which he rode and a rope-maker who had risen suddenly from poverty to affluence. Their tales too did he hear and them too did he reward. Nor should Abu-Hassan, the wag, be forgotten, whose trickery in pretending that he and his wife were dead won so much gold and so many laughs from the Caliph. And of like import is the mad tale of the humpback who seemed dead and of the talkative barber who restored him to life, of all those who had believed themselves murderers of the humpback and of the amazing tales that they related.

So it came to pass that by the end of the thousand and one nights Shahriar was so delighted in the cleverness of Sheherazade that he wedded her again with regal pomp and they lived happily ever after.

ORCHARD GLEANINGS

SPRAYING IN PRACTICAL WAY

Most Important of All Orchard Work—Increases Yield and Improves Quality of Fruit.

Spraying is the most important work of all in an orchard. Without it, fruit is too wormy and scabby to be placed to advantage on the big markets of the world.

Spraying is a "messy" job, and it takes several years' experience to learn how to do it in the most practical way on your own place, but it is worth while to learn. Sprayed apple trees yield from two to four bushels more per tree, and the fruit is so much nicer that it sells for two or three times as much. The net profits from spraying are usually enough to pay not only for all labor, spraying materials, etc., but often for the entire cost of the sprayer in one year. One thing is certain, though: it is foolish to spray if you do not intend to harvest the apples carefully next fall. Spraying seems to be much more worth while with winter varieties of apples than with summer varieties.

Fig. No. 1.

Time for First Spraying.

If you wish to experiment with spraying, first get a spray pump. There are many different kinds of outfits put out on the market. The small hand and knapsack sprayers cost only a few dollars; barrel sprayers cost perhaps $30 or $35, and power sprayers cost several hundred dollars.

The practical materials with which to spray are lime-sulphur and arsenate of lead. As a matter of experiment, use a commercial lime-sulphur as already prepared by one of the standard manufacturers of spraying materials. Use about one gallon of this and two pounds of arsenate of lead to 45 gallons of water.

The most important spraying of all is just after the blossoms have fallen, as shown in Fig. No. 2. A careful spraying at this time will do more to keep worms out of apples than all the other sprayings put together. Just after the blossoms fall, the codling moth lays its eggs at the blossom end of the green apple. If this blossom end of every green apple is filled up with spray poison, the small worms which hatch from the codling moth eggs die as they attempt to gnaw their way into the apples. The object of this spraying, therefore, is to get as much spray as possible into the ends of the green apples. Make the spraying as soon as possible after the blossoms fall, because after a few days the green sepals begin to turn inward and it becomes difficult to cover them with spray.

While the spraying given just after the blossoms have fallen is by all odds the most important, careful sprayers give three others. The first of these is in the early spring, just as the flower buds are swelling and first beginning to show pink. Never spray after the blossoms begin to open. The second spraying is that described in the preceding paragraph, just after the blossoms have fallen. The third spraying is about two weeks after the blossoms have fallen. The fourth spraying is about ten weeks later. In every case, use the mixture of lime-sulphur and lead arsenate with water. The lead arsenate is to circumvent the worms, while the lime-sulphur is to combat such fungus diseases as scab, blotch, etc.

Fig. No. 2.

Time for Second and Most Important Spraying.

The spraying of cherries, plums, etc., is practically the same as for apples. However, spraying of these fruits does not seem quite so important as with apples.

GOOD REASONS FOR SPRAYING

Treated Trees Develop Faster and Live Longer Than Those Unsprayed—Fruit Is Better.

It pays to spray trees for several reasons. Sprayed trees develop faster and live longer than unsprayed trees. It is not uncommon for sprayed orchards to return a yield of fruit of which 95 per cent is sound. On the other hand only 15 per cent of sound fruit is harvested from unsprayed orchards.

DODSON WARNS CALOMEL USERS

It's Mercury! Attacks the Bones! Salivates and Makes You Sick.

There's no reason why a person should take sickening, salivating calomel when a few cents buys a large bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone—a perfect substitute for calomel.

It is a pleasant, vegetable liquid which will start your liver just as surely as calomel, but it doesn't make you sick and can not salivate.

Children and grown folks can take Dodson's Liver Tone, because it is perfectly harmless.

Calomel is a dangerous drug. It is mercury and attacks your bones. Take a dose of nasty calomel today and you will feel weak, sick and nauseated tomorrow. Don't lose a day's work. Take a spoonful of Dodson's Liver Tone instead and you will wake up feeling great. No more biliousness, constipation, sluggishness, headache, coated tongue or sour stomach. That Black-Draught Is Excellent for Stomach and Liver Disorders, Hence Its Great Popularity.—Mississippi Planter's Indorsement.

Houston, Miss.—Mr. J. A. Trenor, well-known planter of this place, recently related his experience in using Thedford's Black-Draught. I do believe there is a better liver medicine made," said Mr. Trenor. "I use it for headache, stomach disorders and torpid liver.

"It is not bad to take, does not leave a constipated condition, as so many of the liver pills and medicines do. It does its work and leaves you feeling like a new person."

Thousands of others have found Black-Draught as helpful as Mr. Trenor describes, and a valuable remedy for derangements of the liver, stomach and bowels. It is purely vegetable, having an active effect upon the bowels, gently stimulating the liver, and helping to increase the flow of bile.

Black-Draught has been found to assist in the digestion of food, and relieves constipation in a prompt and normal way.

On account of Black-Draught's long proved merit and immense popularity many imitations are being offered for sale. For your own satisfaction you will pay you to insist upon the genuine and be sure the package bears the name "Thedford's Black-Draught."

SUPPLY VARIETY IN FAMILY DIET

Eggs Are More Plentiful and Comparatively Reasonable in Price.

SOME NEW DISHES OUTLINED

They Furnish as Many Possibilities for Delectable Food for Luncheon or Supper as They Do for the Morning Meal.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Now that eggs are a little more plentiful and comparatively reasonable in price they can provide a welcome variation in the family diet. In many families eggs are seldom served except at breakfast, but they furnish just as many possibilities for delectable dishes for luncheon or supper as they do for breakfast. They can well take the place of a meat dish, for, like meat they furnish protein, fat, and mineral matter and the yolk is also a good source of vitamin. A few recipes for attractive dishes suitable to serve in place of meat for the midday or evening meal follow. These recipes were tested in the experimental kitchen of the United States department of agriculture.

Combinations of eggs with breadcrumbs, rice, or some starchy cereal to give body to the dish are always good.

Shirred Eggs With Rice.

Fill a baking dish half full of hot boiled rice. Break six eggs and carefully drop them in the rice, taking care not to break the yolks. Pour a cupful of cheese sauce over the eggs and rice and bake in a moderate oven until the whites of the eggs are set.

To make the cheese sauce: Melt one tablespoonful of butter and stir into it one tablespoonful of flour, one teaspoonful of salt, and an eighth of a teaspoonful of white pepper. Add one cupful of cold milk, and stir over the flame until thick and creamy. Add four tablespoonfuls of grated cheese and stir until melted.

Creole Eggs.

Hard-cook six eggs.

Cook half cupful of washed rice in two quarts of boiling water containing one teaspoonful of salt.

Make a sauce in the following way: Melt two tablespoonfuls of butter in a skillet and add four tablespoonfuls of chopped onions. Cook until the onion is soft, but not brown. Add one and a half cupfuls of canned tomatoes and two finely-chopped green peppers, and half teaspoonful of salt. Cook for 15 minutes. Place a layer of boiled rice in a baking dish, cover with slices of hard-cooked eggs and cover the sliced eggs with creole sauce. Repeat until baking dish is full. Grate cheese over the top and bake for 20 minutes in a moderate oven.

Eggs in Tomato Cups.

When fresh tomatoes are in season no more attractive way of serving eggs can be found than this.

Select the desired number of good-sized tomatoes, allowing one to each person. Cut off the blossom end, scoop out the seeds, and stand the tomatoes in a baking pan in the oven until they are partly cooked. Put a half teaspoonful of butter and a dusting of salt and pepper into the bottom of each and break in one egg. Place in the oven until the eggs are "set" to the desired hardness. Have ready a round of toasted bread well buttered, and place each tomato in the center of a round of toast. Serve hot.

Eggs Coddled in Tomato Sauce.

Make a tomato sauce by melting two tablespoonfuls of butter and stirring into it three tablespoonfuls of flour, half teaspoonful of celery salt, quarter teaspoonful of pepper, and two teaspoonfuls of salt. Strain two cupfuls of tomato pulp and juice through a sieve and add to the butter and flour. Cook until thickened. Place one-half of the tomato sauce in a baking dish, break six eggs, one at a time, and carefully slide each egg into the sauce, taking care not to break the yolks. Cover with the remaining sauce, sprinkle with grated cheese, and bake in the oven until the egg is set. It is well to serve each egg on a round of toasted bread, or each may be baked in an individual ramekin if preferred.

Eggs Coddled in Tomato Sauce Are Very Good and So Are Eggs in Tomato Cups.

PROPER WAY TO MIX INEXPENSIVE CAKES

Plenty of Eggs and Butter Are Chief Requisites.

Specialists in Home Economics Kitchen Have Been Making Extensive Experiments—How Best Results Are Obtained.

If your experience has been that cheap cakes have a poor flavor and a coarse texture it is because you have not been putting them together in the right way. An inexpensive cake requires careful mixing. No difficulty should be experienced in compounding a cake which is excellent in texture and has a delicious flavor when plenty of eggs and butter are available. It is when it is necessary to economize on these expensive materials that the cook who is not skillful has her troubles.

Food specialists in the home economics kitchen of the United States department of agriculture have been making extensive investigations in cake baking, especially in the baking of one-egg cakes. Their experiments with cheap cakes show that the best results are obtained when the batter is beaten very little after the baking powder is added and when the cake is baked in a very slow oven.

The recipe which was used in the experiments follows:

One-Egg Cake.

3 level tablespoons fat	2¼ cups flour
½ cup granulated sugar	2½ teaspoons baking powder
1-3 to 2-3 cup milk	½ teaspoon vanilla
	1 egg

Cream fat and sugar together, add beaten egg and beat thoroughly. Then add flour and liquid alternately, about one-third of each at a time. Beat the batter thoroughly after all flour and liquid have been added. Vanilla may be added during this beating. Resift all scatter the baking powder over the surface of the batter and fold it in lightly with six or eight motions of the spoon so as to get it thoroughly mixed with every part of the batter. Do not beat the batter after adding the baking powder but turn it at once into a cake pan and bake.

This cake may be baked as cup cakes in muffin pans, or in layers, or in a loaf. If it is baked as a loaf of the size given above it should be put into a very slow oven, which is allowed to warm up gradually (280 to 375 degrees F. for one hour is suitable even temperature). At the first trial one is more sure of success in baking the small cakes than the loaf.

The cake can be put together by other methods than the one described above. Any approved method may be selected, but the two points which give the most difficulty are the too vigorous beating of the batter after the baking powder has been added, and baking the loaf in too hot an oven.

If directions in the above recipe are carefully followed the resulting cake should be light, of even texture and uniform grain, tender and moist. It should not be coarse and muffin-like in texture, nor dry and compact.

Farm Live Stock

IMPROVE QUALITY OF STOCK

Tennessee Department of Agriculture Urges Breeders to Join Better Sires Crusade.

"Better sires—better stock.

"A nation-wide crusade to improve the quality of cattle, horses, mules, swine, sheep, goats, and poultry in the United States.

"Every Tennessean who believes in better live stock should join this movement, begun by the United States department of agriculture."

That is the first thing seen by the readers of the current issue of the Monthly Bulletin of the Tennessee department of agriculture.

"It means the passing of the scrub," the Bulletin continues.

"It means greater success in livestock production and consequently greater prosperity for the people.

"Good-bred stock will outsell the scrub every time.

"If you want better stock consult the county agent in your own county or else write to the division of extension, Knoxville, Tenn.

"Now is the time to put Tennessee on the live-stock map.

"If you believe in better live stock and poultry join this movement. Tennessee has natural advantages for wonderful live-stock development, but the 'better sires' crusade will do much to hurry along this development."

BEEF PRODUCED FOR FAMILY

More Is Bought From Village Butcher Than Is Raised on Farm—Little Veal Killed.

The farmer buys more beef than he takes from the farm. Only about 10 per cent of meat furnished by the average farm is beef. In the north and west the average consumption of beef per family is nearly 300 pounds and in the south it is less than 100 pounds, according to the United States department of agriculture.

The beef animal killed for home use may be a beef steer or an unprofitable cow, or a heifer that does not promise to be a good producer and would not bring a good price for beef on the market. Very little veal is killed on the farm for home use. Much of the beef bought by farmers is bought in the summer from village butchers who operate meat wagons or cars in the country. On the average farm there are no facilities for keeping fresh meat during warm weather.

PLAN TREATMENT OF LAMBS

Attention Attracted in Many Localities to Value of Docking and Castrating Lambs.

The value of castration and docking of buck lambs destined for market is attracting attention in many localities where the practice has not been generally followed. In Braxton county, W. Va., for example, the farm bureau plans a demonstration of the value of castration and docking by sending to market one carload of buck lambs that have not been thus treated and at the same time a carload of buck lambs that have been docked and castrated. The prices will be compared, and a forceful object lesson is expected. Farmers in Gilmer county, of the same state, expect to dock and castrate all their buck lambs in the coming year.

Failure to follow this practice generally is regarded by officials of the Bureau of Animal Industry, United States department of agriculture, as a weak point in agriculture, and they recommend the practice to all farmers.

LIVE STOCK NOTES

First-class draft horses are very scarce.

The pig grows upon what it eats. While it should not be overfed, it must be supplied with all it will eat up clean for best development and growth.

WILLING TO GO HALF WAY

Little Jimmy's Answer to Leading Question Distinctly in Nature of a Compromise.

Aunt Marie was very good, indeed, to her five-year-old nephew, James. She gave him everything his little heart desired. But still she was often inclined to tease him and whenever he showed resentment she teased him still further by threatening to take away something she had given him.

The other night she began her usual tensing, taking for the subject herself and her charms. "Why, Jimmie thinks I'm a wonder," and she turned to little James provokingly and asked: "Don't you think I'm pretty? Don't you think I'm good?"

The little fellow was disturbed. He wanted to tell the truth, and he also wanted to keep auntie's favor. Finally he found his tongue. "Well, I do fink you're pretty good," he said truthfully.

EVIDENTLY HE WASN'T READY

Colored Driver Didn't Wait to See Who It Was That Had a Desire for Him.

While visiting in Nashville, Tenn., my ventriloquist son and I hired a car and driver for a sightseeing tour, writes a correspondent. In leaving the city we passed a private cemetery where the gravestones were close to the road, and I noticed that our driver put on speed and rolled his eyes toward the spooky-looking plot.

I was startled myself to hear an unearthly groan come seemingly from beneath the nearest stone, but turned in time to watch my son grinning before the colored driver put on a burst of speed that nearly threw us out. Then came another groan that seemed to come from the sent next the driver, and a deep voice that said: "Boy, I want you."

That was just before we went over an embankment, and our driver lit running in the road. It was an hour after he disappeared in the distance before we caught a ride back to the city.

DR. THACHER'S LIVER AND BLOOD SYRUP

You're as Sick or as Well as Your LIVER

How's your liver? Are you constipated, bilious, grouchy? Have you dizzy spells, dull headaches, bad taste in your mouth, foul breath? If so, you need Dr. Thacher's Liver and Blood Syrup; which has been knocking out troubles of your sort ever since the good old southern doctor first prescribed it away back in 1852. On sale at your drug store.

You're as Old or as Young as Your BLOOD

If you would stay young in health as you grow older in years, have a care for your blood. Dr. Thacher's Liver and Blood Syrup puts life into your blood; purifies and enriches it; makes it tone up the whole system. Also keeps your Bowels open and is a tonic and a cleanser combined. Good for the whole family. Sold at your drug store.

Andy Anton, Thompsonville, Ill., wrote Aug. 31, 1918: "I feel that I should send in my testimonial for Dr. Thacher's Liver Medicine, which I have used for twelve years. Before I used it I could not do a whole days work; because I was so weak in my kidneys, but I am now strong and healthy."

J. M. Sexton, Box 147, Ocala, Fla., wrote Jan. 22, 1919: "I used a bottle of your Dr. Thacher's Liver And Blood Syrup in my family with a four-year-old child that had bad kidneys, caused by measles. Found it to do more good than all the medicines that I ever got hold of."

MRS. R. E. LUCKIE, Editor.

BIRTHDAY PARTY

One of the prettiest parties among the Juvenile set, was a birthday party given Monday evening, when Miss Sallie Johnson, the attractive daughter of Dr. and Mrs. N. S. Johnson, entertained in honor of her fourteenth birthday. The apartments of Mrs. Johnson's lovely home were lavishly decorated with baskets of garden flowers. The guests were received by little Misses Louise McSwain and Sammie Johnson, and conducted to a beautiful appointed table where delicious fruit punch was served by Misses Myra and Jean Johnson and Mary McSwain. A number of various games were played. A prize contest was also enjoyed and Miss Warren Snigener displayed her genius and won the prize. The most interesting feature of the evening was cutting the birthday cake, which contained the various favors. The dining room was especially beautiful with its decorations of pink and white, carrying out a color scheme. Delicious ices and cake was served to about 25 guests. Miss Johnson received a number of lovely gifts from her friends. Each one at a late hour bade her good bye wishing that her birthday would come often.

FOR MRS. NICHOLSON

Among the many social functions given for Mrs. George Nicholson of Abbeville, who is the guest of Mrs. R. E. Luckie, was a pretty luncheon given Monday by Mrs. J. Watts Moore at her home. Mrs. Moore's lovely home was attractively decorated with roses and Easter lillies. Delightful Victrola music was enjoled in the forenoon. The centerpiece of the dining table was a cut glass basket of sweet peas and maiden hair fern. Covers were laid for eight. In the afternoon they all motored out to Mims' Swimming Pond.

The guests who enjoyed this delightful day were Mesdames George Nicholson, R. E. Luckie, Hugh Simpson, T. C. McSwain, Macy Jones, Misses Irene Giddens, and Kathleen Mullins and Mr. and Mrs. Moore.

LANDE-MARGOLIS WEDDING

Mr. Maurice Lande left Clanton on Tuesday morning for Dawson Springs Kentucky to join his bride, Miss Sadie Margolis. After a short stay at Dawson Springs they will return to Nashville, where they will be married on June 27th. After the wedding they will go north on their honeymoon trip visiting the cities of Cincinnatti, Chicago, and other points on the Great Lakes.

They will return to Clanton some time in July, and will be at home at the Wilson Hotel.

Mr. Lande is a young business man of Clanton, one of the proprietors of the New York Store. He came here last fall and started in business and since that time has grown in the favor and confidence of the people of this section. He is one of the most genial kind of young men and has made many friends while here.

As he left Tuesday to claim the young lady of his choice for life he carried with him showers of congratulations and best wishes from his friends here.

Mr. and Mrs. Lande will be received joyfully by their friends here on their return.

Mrs. W. C. White of Mt. Creek was the guest of Mrs. M. L. White the past week.

Mr. and Mrs. John Armstrong motored to Birmingham Sunday, returning Tuesday.

SPEND-THE-DAY-PARTY

Mrs. T. C. McSwain proved a most charming hostess last Saturday when she entertained at a spend-the-day party, in honor of Mrs. George Nicholson of Abbeville and Miss Irene Giddens of Montgomery. Mrs. McSwain's home was made bright with roses of wasturtinnery exported plants. At the noon hour the guests were invited into the dining room, where covers were laid for twelve, the centerpiece of the table was an immense cut glass vase filled with crimson dahlias and fern. A most sumptuous four course dinner was served. The hostess was assisted in serving by Mrs. R. E. Luckie. The guests were the honorees, Mesdames Guy Roberts, Watts Moore, Hugh Simpson, Macy Jones, John Armstrong, Clyde Jones, R. E. Luckie, Herbert Allen of Birmingham and Mrs. McSwain.

THEATRE PARTY

Mrs. George Polk entertained a number of the younger set on Friday evening at a Theatre Party at the Ideal, to see "Pollyanna," for her little niece, Miss Jimmy Polk of Columbiana. After the show the party was invited to Upchurch's Drug Store where refreshing ices were served to Misses Gladys Nix, Gladys Kemp, Helen Copeland, Sarah Mullins, Sophia Mullins, Cathryn and Evelyn White of Birmingham, Lula Sanford, Ruby Armstrong and Jimmy Polk.

Master William Simpson left Tuesday to visit relatives in Montgomery.

Mrs. R. E. Luckie and children left Tuesday for Montgomery, where the children will visit their grandmother, Mrs. Gaadwyn, while Mrs. Luckie will visit her sister, Mrs. Clarke Harper of Columbus, Ga.

Misses Jim and Sunset Polk of Columbiana are visiting Mrs. Geo. Polk.

PICNIC OF MISSIONARY SOCIETY

About forty members of the Junior Missionary Society enjoyed an unusually enjoyable outing on last Wednesday when Mrs. Simpson entertained at a swimming party and picnic at Gore's Creek. A neat little sum was realized from the opening of the Mite Boxes.

Miss Lessie Reynolds and Miss Willie Belle Sartor will leave Tuesday for Lafayette. Miss Sartor will assist Rev. Hubbard during a meeting with the singing.

MESDAMES JONES & JONES

Among the enjoyable social functions of the week was a picture show party given by Mrs. Macy Jones and Mrs. Clyde Jones complimenting two attractive visitors. Mrs. George Nicholson of Abbeille and Miss Irene Giddens of Montgomery. After enjoying "The Last Princess" at the Ideal Theatre the guests were invited to the Alred Drug Store, where tempting ices were served to Mesdames McSwain, Luckie, N. S. Johnson, G. O. McKee, Elna Roberts, Guy Roberts, Watts Moore, John Armstrong, Mallie Whote, G. H. Nicholson, Mrs. E. C. Maye and Misses Giddens, Mabel Thomas and French Evans.

Misses Evelyn and Kathryn White returned to their home in Birmingham after a most delightful visit to their uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. M. L. White.

Mrs. Clark Harper was among the visitors to Clanton Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. M. L. White entertained at a spend-the-day party last Saturday, honoring their charming little nieces, Misses White of Birmingham. In the forenoon they motored out to Mims Pond where they enjoyed swimming until noon, when they were driven to the home of Mr. and Mrs. White, where a most delightful four course dinner was served. In afternoon music, games and motoring was thoroughly enjoyed. Those included in Mrs. White's hospitality were Misses Sallye Johnson, Willer Dean Reynolds, Gladys Mae Nix, Dorothy Stewart of Birmingham and Evelyn and Kathryn White of Birmingham.

Mr. and Mrs. Newton W. Askins and children of Sylacauga have been visiting relatives in Clanton the past week. Mr. Askins went from here to Mobile to attend the Association of Alabama Druggists, from which he will return to his work in Sylacauga.

Mrs. George Nicholson of Abbeville, was the week-end visitor of Mrs. R. E. Luckie.

Mr. Charles Moore left Thursday for a visit to Mrs. Amzi Gowan in Brewton.

Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Parrish motored from Birmingham Friday for a visit to Mrs. R. E. Luckie.

Mrs. C. C. Polk of Sylacauga and Mrs. Emmett Jones of Birmingham visited Mrs. Geo. Polk during the past week.

Miss Roberta Curry left Sunday for a few weeks stay at Cooling, to visit Mrs. Mary Lane VanDerveer.

Mrs. Macy Jones has as her ... for the week her sister, Miss ... Giddens of Montgomery.

CLANTON BAPTIST CHURCH

At the morning hour last Sunday the church in regular conference engaged Mr. J. E. Greene of Birmingham as the architect for the new church building, and the tentative plans of the building were adopted. Mr. Greene will begin at once to draw up the specifications and plans so that the work may continue as rapidly as possible. The contract that we must enter into with the architect will necessitate some money being paid in on the notes that fall due on July 1, and we trust that all whose notes fall due then will make an effort to meet them. In the course of a few days the picture of the proposed building will be on exhibition at the drug store.

The services last Sunday were well attended with something like 150 people present at night. We appreciate very much the large attendance of the public. Services will be held on next Sunday as usual, all of them will begin promptly on time.

A splendid attendance of the B. Y. P. U. was present last Sunday night and the Union re-organized with Prof. J. L. Johnson elected as President. The groups were also organized and a contest announced between the four groups for the best attendance, most new members, number of daily bible readings, all of which will be added together and the best general average will decide which group wins the contest. It is now the desire of the union to reach the A-1 standard.

We regret to have to announce that Dr. L. C. Woolfe has notified us that owing to illness it will be impossible for him to be with us in July for a meeting. We are still making an effort to secure him for a later date in the summer if possible. This may necessitate the postponment of the meeting, so further announcements will be made as soon as possible. Meanwhile we will push ahead with the building enterprise with a hearty co-operation of all who can to help us.

Everybody is invited to our services where we have good preaching, congregational singing and a hearty welcome to all.

COUNTY SINGING CONVENTION TO BE AT COUNTY HIGH SCHOOL

The next session of the Chilton County Singing Convention is to be held at the County High School building in Clanton on the Third Sunday in July (18th).

Mr. J. Monroe Smith, the secretary of the Convention, and other local promoters of the cause of music in the county, are busy getting details in shape for the coming event which will no doubt be made one of the best in the history of the organization.

Such reputed singers as Patton, Merritt and others, will be here to add the great force of their presence to the occasion. At that time Prof. Patton will be teaching a school at Liberty Hill and he will be here with his entire class from that place.

Prof. Merrtt will be remembered by those who attended the special session of the convention at the high school last November. He was there and his directing caught up a most hearty response from all who heard him.

STEEL IS VITAL IN MOTOR CARS

"Few people realize the important part steel plays in modern automobile manufacturing," says Downs Hdwe. Co., local dealer in Chevrolet passenger and commercial cars.

"Steel forms the backbone of each automobile as well as the mainstay of its vital parts. It enters into the construction of the frame, axles, shafts, motor and other units which are subject to the severest strains.

"Upon the quality of the steel used in these parts, important things depend. It is responsible in great measure for strength and long wearing qualities. The safety and comfort of passengers depend upon it. The medium weight design that makes the up-to-date car so economical to operate, is based on the strength of the highest grade steel.

"Steel is made from wrought iron by the use of carbon. The amount of carbon used determines its toughness, brittleness and strength.

"Other substances such as manganese, chrome, nickle and tungsten give the steel special characteristics for different uses. When these are added their properties are developed by heat treatment.

"In modern automobile factories where quantity production warrants the use of the finest equipment, every facility is employed to insure just the right quality in the steel used.

"Only the best steel obtainable is bought. Scientific ovens are used, and special laboratories are maintained where a complete staff of metallurgical and chemical experts keep constant watch over every phase of the steel's development."

MEDITATIONS OF HAMBONE

Hambone is a philosophical old-time negro humorist, whose picture appears every day in the Birmingham News, accompanied by one of his pithy sermonettes which he calls his "meditations." About the best one he has put out appeared Monday, in the following words:

"W'en you heahs a man runnin' down he own neighbor-hood, he mos' en gin'ally right 'bout hit—hit ain' hardly a fittin place t' lib in wid a man lak dat in it!"

There is more truth than humor in the above saying, and we take pleasure in reproducing it for the benefit of some of our worthy (?) citizens whom the description very aptly fits.

Dr. J. P. Crumpton and P. D. Wilson motored down to Montgomery on Tuesday morning, returning in the afternoon.

THE BANK WHERE YOU FEEL AT HOME

CHILTON COUNTY IS PROUD OF ALABAMA POWER CO.

We are the Center of this Company's Great Distributing System that Carries Electrical Energy to All Parts of the State.

Coincident with the coming of the Alabama Power Company operations to Clanton and other extensions they are making from Lock 12 to different parts of the state, we feel that a brief study of this great enterprising concern and their methods and purposes will be an interesting diversion for our readers. Hence, we take pleasure this week in presenting you our own story of what the Alabama Power Company has done and is planning to do in their own particular field of industry.

In the first place the people of Chilton County have a claim to pride in the Alabama Power Company that no other people can boast of yet. Our county contains the site of their big Lock 12 hydro-electric plant and we may feel that out from our county goes the great streams of electric energy generated by Lock 12 and turning the wheels of industry and commerce in forty towns and cities scattered over the breadth of our great state. Can we not then justly say that we are proud of this great industrial organization which has the heart of its great system located in our midst?

Since the Alabama Power Company began in 1912 to develop the latent possibilities for power on the Coosa River at Lock 12 there have been many things which our people here in the county and other parts of the state have learned about their operations. But those things were and are patent facts which anyone with an oberving eye might absorb. But there is behind this great company a wonderful purpose which makes its future hold immense things in its store for Alabama, and there are many latent purposes and moving powers of this great company that outshine the patent facts which we may pick up here and there from one or another.

The Alabama Power Company was incorporated in 1906, under the laws of the State of Alabama, and serves, directly and indirectly, a population estimated to be over 550,000 located in central and northern Alabama. The company does, directly all the electric light and power business in some 40 cities and towns, and the street railway business in three cities. It furnishes all the current used by the Birmingham Railway, Light and Power Company, in Greater Birmingham and Bessemer, and by the Montgomery Light and Water Power Company in Montgomery, and all the current used by the local public service companies in Tuscaloosa and Alexander City. A number of large industrial power consumers are also served by the Company, including ore mines, steel mills, marble quarries, brick plants, cement mills, cotton mills, etc.

The property of the Company includes a 90,000 horsepower water power plant, one of the largest in the South—the capacity of this plant will later be increased to 110,000 horsepower. Two reserve steam turbine plants, one of 15,000 horsepower and one of 35,000 horsepower, together with a comprehensive transmission system af about 1,000 miles. The Company also control additional water power sites which it plans to develop.

This company is engaged in the manufacture and supply to its consumers of a necessity of everyday life—electricity. It is a company of commercial stability and of strength, backed by stores of wealth and guided by the smoothest minds that the commercial world can furnish. It is here to stay. The properties of this great company are dug, spiked and cemented into our ground, and so long as time shall last we may proudly hail their momentous structures and natural developments as a part of our own great county.

This company, by the general utility of their product, serve whole communities, towns and cities, in a variety of useful ways. We are indeed very proud to say that Clanton is among the towns that are served. It has become impossible to destroy the demand for their services without destroying the towns and cities they serve. Does not this fact then argue for the future of the Alabama Power Company as a permanent driving force for the industry and commerce of our great state?

Even now, after only seven years of successful operation, the Alabama Power Company enjoys the highest standing among all the great industries of the state, of which it has in this short time grown to be the most important. None exceed it in contibuting to the growth and upbuilding of the state. It is largest in service to the people of Alabama.

But the Alabama Power Company is a going growing concern, and well may we expect it to contain in its future, developments that mean much to Alabama. It is actually the commercial and industrial heart of the state, generating right here in Chilton County, the most powerful force known to man, and distributing it over about two-thirds of Alabama; turning the wheels of enormous factories, lighting great cities and small hamlets, transporting thousands of people to and fro, and performing myriads of other tasks, untiringly, increasingly, day after day, night after night, relieving mankind of much hard toil. These things all are done by the thundering waters of the Coosa as they rush through the great gates at Lack 12 turning the mighty turbines, generating 90,000 horsepower of electricity and passing on in their mad rush to the sea.

In no other state has nature so bounteously bestowed her blessings in such a great variety of natural resources as in Alabama. Her wonderful climate and fertile soil bring forth every kind of agricultural produce; her prodigious stores of coal, iron ore and limestone are found side by side and her rivers will, when further developed, furnish more of that mysterious energy of such stupendous power—electricity.

The Alabama Power Company has already developed part of the state's water power. The most important is the great power station, Lock 12, located on the Coosa River. This makes it possible to turn the wheels of factories without their having boilers and engines, without the burning of a single pound of coal. Picture this enormous saving and what it means. The average family consumes about 8 tons of coal a year. A steam generating plant whose capacity is 90,000 horsepower, must burn over 1,200,000 tons of coal in a year, not to mention the labor and other coal required to bring it to the plant.

The Company has other splendid water power sites for development on the Tallapoosa River, the Coosa River, and Little Rover on top of Lookout Mountain.

The development of these water powers not only makes available large amounts of electrical energy, but also makes these rivers navigable. This is of great importance, as it provides another means of transporting not only the raw materials of our state, but the products of Alabama's mills, factories, etc. Damming these rivers holds back the waters, limiting flood damages, which occur on the rich bottom lands along these streams saving many thousands of dollars each year for the farmers of Alabama.

The Alabama Power Company covers a large territory, and is not dependent upon any particular line of industry of business for its revenues. Its vast system and organization is burdened to its utmost to keep pace with the amazing growth of homes, stores, factories, foundries, railroad shops, mills, mines, machine shops, cement plants, brick plants, quarries, cotton mills, cotton gins, graphite plants, fertilizer plants, public railway, and an endless army of others in the territory it serves. To meet this great expansion, the Company must harness the undeveloped water power of the extensive properties that it has in reserve.

The future of Alabama is great because of the plans that are being formulated by this master industry, the Alabama Power Company. They plan to extend their present operations to other fields, and to open up other operations in new sites. There is now a chance for anyone who wishes to buy stock in this Company, and it is certainly a splendid thing in which to invest your money. It has the distinct advantages of being a company with a certainly active future. There is no doubt but their product will be more in demand ten years hence than now; and it is a good company founded on sound business foresight and managed in the same conservative legitimate way.

There are men of means in Chilton County and in Clanton, who are constantly seeking a safe and sane place to invest their money, and we heartily commend the Alabama Power Company to their consideration.

Mr. Leonard Williams, a well known Clanton man, is the manager of the Clanton operations of the Company. Under his direction we are sure the city will get the maximum efficiency from the concern. Any business our citizens may have with the company will be cheerfully taken care of by Mr. Williams, no matter what it is. He can wait on you with anything the company has to sell, from the smallest amount of electricity to the largest amount of stock in the company.

H. B. OLIVER SERIOUSLY ILL

Mr. H. B. Oliver of Verbena was carried to Birmingham last Saturday for an operation for appendicitis. At a late hour Wednesday afternoon we received the news that he was not expected to recover from the after effects of the operation. We hope this report is exaggerated, and that Mr. Oliver may be returned soon to his home and family and friends in Chilton County, restored to his health and vigor.

SHOULTS HAPPENINGS

Everyone was proud to see the rain last week; crops look so much better now.

Sunday was a very ugly day, but the inclement weather did not keep Miss Eva Hall and her Sunday School class from having their picnic. They had a nice time.

A larg congregation enjoyed an excellent sermon at Pleasant Hill Methodist Church last Sunday afternoon.

Miss Ollie Bearden from Maplesville motored out to Mr. John Ingram's last Saturday afternoon and carried Miss Myrtle, her cousin, home with her, and on Sunday Miss Myrtle, Miss Ollie and brother, Ruben, motored out to Miss Mae Hamrick's to eat a birthday dinner at the home.

Mrs. Jeff Ellis has returned to her home at Holt, Ala., accompanied by Miss Eva Hall. We are real sorry to see Miss Eva leave. We hope she will soon return. She is a great help in Sunday School and we wish she would reconsider and come back.

Mrs. C. T. Walker and daughter, Allie, went to Centreville last Wednesday to visit her daughter, Mrs. T. C. Snead, and also went to do some shopping.

Mr. Chancey Bearden and Mr. Julian Nichols from Selma, motored up here to visit relatives last Sunday.

The stork visited the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lawyer McGee last week and presented to them a fine baby girl.

Miss Birdie Hall returned to her work in Montgomery last Wednesday.

Miss Eliza Hall, deaf and dumb sister of Mrs. C. T. Walker, is making preperations to attend the deaf and dumb convention at Montgomery, July 1st, 2nd and 3rd. We hope she will get to go.

Canning time is at hand, the people here are all very busy, and especially the wise, preparing for next winter, when the days will be dark and cold, prices of eatables so high.

PLETCHER NEWS

A fire occurred in our town on last Monday night. The garage and blacksmith shop belonging to Carey Herrod was destroyed, also the grist mill belonging to Mr. W. T. Herrod, and one of the Wilson Brothers farm houses. Quite a bit of property was destroyed. Had the wind been from the north there would have been great danger for all the buildings in that row.

Miss Mary Belle O'Connor of Montgomery was the guest of Miss Louise Caldwell on Wednesday of last week.

Miss Elsie Caldwell has returned home from Prattville where she has been attending a house party given by Miss Myra Bell.

Little Miss Myrtle Rainwater, who has been visiting her grandparents, has returned to her home in Autaugaville.

Kate and Walter B. Mills, Jr., returned Sunday to their home in Birmingham, after a two-weeks visit with Mr. E. G. Caldwell and family.

Mr. E. O. Keen and little daughter of Sylacauga, have been visiting Mr. Keen's parents.

Mr. Clarence Minor left Friday for Birmingham.

Miss Eula Spain will arrive this week. While here she will be the guest of Miss Elsie Caldwell.

The boy scouts band of Clanton is getting in trim for the big day they plan to have here on July 3rd. Prof. Memoli, their efficient and unexcelled teacher from Birmingham, was here all day Tuesday instructing the boys for the music they will render on the 3rd.

PRESIDENT SIGNS THE WATER POWER DEVELOPMENT BILL

Way Now open for Development of Hydro-Electric Power on Coosa River in Chilton County.

Private enterprise may now go ahead with power development on Alabama's navigable waters. President Wilson has signed the water power bill.

Associated Press telegrams Friday announced this action. Private messages to the Alabama Power Company also brought the news.

Under conditions laid down in the water power bill private concerns may build power dams on navigable rivers one condition being that when the government calls for it the developing company must build locks in connection with the power development so as to enable navigation.

The immediate effect of the signing of the water power bill, in Alabama, will be automatic arrangement of plans by the Alabama Power Company for the building of another power dam on the Coosa River.

In all probality this dam will be located at Duncan's Riffle, about 18 miles south of Lock 12, where the company already has a dam generating 90,000 hydro-electric horse power. The dam at Duncan's Riffle is to be about as high as that at Lock 12, or about seventy feet, and will generate 100,0000 horse power.

The other sites on the Coosa which the company intends eventually to develop are at Lock 18 below Duncans Riffle, where a dam about as large as the others will be built to generate 75,000 horse power and one at Lock 7 above Lock 12, where 60,000 horse power will be generated.

Development of Coosa's power will not only furnish current for mines and cities, but the building of the three dams mentioned above and the three minor ones below Lock 18 by the government will do away with the Coosa Rapids and make that stream navigable the year 'round, from Rome Ga., to the gulf at Mobile. The Coosa Alabama will then be one great inland canal 847 miles long.

With the completed Coosa development and that of the Wilson dam at Florence, Ala., Alabama will have 830,000 hydro-electric horse power.

When it is realized that forty cities, several car lines, 35 coal mines, many cotton mills and graphite mills, and even steel mills are operated by the present supply of 90,000 horse power, the vista of what the complement of the Alabama scheme signifies it looms up broad to the point stupendous.

G.O.P. PLATFORM AS APPROVED BY NATIONAL BODY

PRINCIPLES OF PARTY CLEARLY SET FORTH AT CONVENTION HELD IN CHICAGO.

MANY VITAL ISSUES CITED

Unpreparedness for War, Agriculture, League of Nations Plank, the Mexican Situation, National Economy, High Cost of Living, Suffrage Amendment Among Foremost Topics.

The following is the complete platform adopted by the Republican national convention in Chicago:

The Republican party, assembled in representative national convention, reaffirms its unyielding devotion to the Constitution of the United States and to the guarantees of civil, political, and religious liberty therein contained. It will resist all attempts to overthrow the foundations of the government or to weaken the force of its controlling principles and ideals, whether these attempts be made in the form of international policy or domestic agitation.

For seven years the national government has been controlled by the Democratic party. During that period a war of unparalleled magnitude has shaken the foundations of civilization, decimated the population of Europe, and left in its train economic misery and suffering second only to war itself.

Unpreparedness for War.

The outstanding features of the Democratic administration have been complete unpreparedness for war and complete unpreparedness for peace.

Inexcusable failure to make timely preparation is the chief indictment against the Democratic administration in the conduct of the war. Had not our associates protected us, both on land and sea, during the final twelve months of our participation, and furnished us to the very day of the armistice with munitions, planes, and artillery, this failure would have been punished with disaster. It directly resulted in unnecessary losses to our gallant troops, in the imperilment of victory itself, and in an enormous waste of public funds literally poured into the breach created by gross neglect. Today it is reflected in our huge tax burden and in the high cost of living.

Unpreparedness for Peace.

Peace found the administration as unprepared for peace as war found it unprepared for war. The vital needs of the country demanded an early and systematic return to a peace time basis. This called for vision, leadership and intelligent planning. All three have been lacking. While the country has been left to shift for itself, the government has continued on a war time basis.

The administration has not demobilized the army of place holders. It continued a method of financing which was indefensible during the period of reconstruction. It has used legislation passed to meet the emergency of war to continue its arbitrary and inquisitorial control over the life of the people in time of peace, and to carry confusion into industrial life.

"Flounders Hopelessly."

Under the despot's plea of necessity or superior wisdom, executive usurpation of legislation and judicial functions still undermines our institutions. Eighteen months after the armistice, with its wartime powers unabridged, its war-time departments undischarged, its war-time army of place holders still mobilized, the administration continues to flounder helplessly.

The demonstrated incapacity of the Democratic party has destroyed public confidence, weakened the authority of government, and produced a feeling of distrust and hesitation so universal as to increase enormously the difficulties of readjustment and to delay the return to normal conditions.

Never has our nation been confronted with graver problems. The people are entitled to know in definite terms how the parties purpose solving these problems. To that end, the Republican party declares its policies and program to be as follows:

Constitutional Government.

We undertake to end executive autocracy and to restore to the people the constitutional government.

Congress and Reconstruction.

Despite the unconstitutional and dictatorial course of the president and the partisan obstruction of the Democratic congressional minority, the Republican majority has enacted a program of constructive legislation which, in great part, however, has been nullified by the vindictive vetoes of the president.

The Republican congress has met the problems presented by the administration unprepared for peace. It has repealed the greater part of the vexatious war legislation. It has enacted a transportation act, making possible the rehabilitation of the railroad system of the country, the operation of which under the present Democratic administration has been extravagant and wasteful in the highest degree. The transportation act made provision for the peaceful settlement of wage disputes, partially nullified, however, by the president's delay in appointing the wage board created by the act. This delay precipitated the outlaw railroad strike.

Legislation for the relief of the consumers of print paper, for the extension of the powers of the government under the food control act, for broadening the scope of the war risk insurance act, better provision for the dwindling number of aged veterans of the Civil war, and for the better support of the maimed and injured of the great war, and for making practical the vocational rehabilitation act that has been enacted by the Republican congress.

We passed an oil leasing and water power bill to unlock for the public good the great pent-up resources of the country; we have sought to check the profligacy of the administration, to realize upon the assets of the government, and to husband the revenues derived from taxation. The Republicans in congress have been responsible for cuts in the estimates for government expenditure of nearly $3,000,000,000 since the signing of the armistice.

We enacted a national executive budget law; we strengthened the federal reserve act, to permit banks to lend needed assistance to farmers; we authorized financial corporations to develop export trade, and, finally, amended the rules of the senate and house, which will reform evils in procedure and guarantee more efficient and responsible government.

Agriculture.

A large and contented body of farm proprietors is the backbone of the nation. National greatness and economic independence demand a population distributed between industry and the farm, and sharing on equal terms the prosperity which is wholly dependent on the efforts of both. Neither can prosper at the expense of the other without inviting joint disaster.

The crux of the present agricultural condition lies in price, labor, and credit.

The Republican party believes that this condition can be improved and agricultural production encouraged by the right to form co-operative associations for marketing their products subject to regulation by federal authority; the scientific study of agricultural prices, with a view to reducing the frequency of abnormal fluctuations; the authorization of associations for the extension of personal credit; a national inquiry on the co-ordination of rail, water, and motor transportation with adequate facilities for receiving, handling, and marketing food; the encouragement of our export trade, and the encouragement of the production and importation of fertilizing material and of its extensive use.

The federal farm loan act should be so administered as to facilitate the acquisition of farm land by those desiring to become owners and proprietors, and thus minimize the evils of farm tenantry.

Industrial Relations.

There are two different conceptions of the relations of capital and labor. The one is contractual, and emphasizes the diversity of interests of employer and employee. The other is that copartnership in a common task.

We recognize the justice of collective bargaining as a means of promoting good will, establishing closer and more harmonious relations between employers and employees, and realizing the true ends of industrial justice.

The strike or the lockout, as a means of settling industrial disputes, inflicts such loss and suffering on the community as to justify government initiative to reduce its frequency and limit its consequences.

We deny the right to strike against the government; but the rights and interests of all government employees must be safeguarded by impartial laws and tribunals.

Public Utilities.

In public utilities we favor the establishment of an impartial tribunal to make an investigation of the facts and to render a decison to the end that there may be no organized interruption of service necessary to the lives and health and welfare of the people. The decisions of the tribunals should be morally but not legally binding, and an informed public sentiment be relied on to secure their acceptance. The tribunals, however, should refuse to accept jurisdiction except for the purpose of investigation, as long as the public service be interrupted. For public utilities we favor the type of tribunal provided for in the transportation act of 1920.

In private industries we do not advocate the principle of compulsory arbitration, but we favor impartial commissions and better facilities for voluntary mediation, conciliation, and arbitration, supplemented by that full publicity which will enlist the influence of an aroused public opinion. The government should take the initiative in inviting the establishment of tribunals or commissions for the purpose of voluntary arbitration and of investigation of disputed issues.

We demand the exclusion from interstate commerce of the products of convict labor.

National Economy.

A Republican congress reduced the estimates submitted by the administration for the fiscal year 1920 almost three billion dollars, and for the fiscal year 1921 over a billion and a quarter dollars. Greater economies could have been effected had it not been for the stubborn refusal of the administration to co-operate with congress in an economy program. The universal demand for an executive budget is a recognition of the incontrovertible fact that leadership and sincere assistance on the part of the executive department are essential to effective economy and constructive retrenchment.

The Overman act invested the president of the United States with all the authority and power necessary to restore the federal government to a normal peace basis and to reorganize, retrench, and demobilize. The dominant fact is that eighteen months after the armistice the United States government is still on a wartime basis, and the expenditure program of the executive reflects wartime extravagance rather than rigid peace time economy.

Failure to Retrench.

As an example of the failure to retrench which has characterized the post-war policy of the administration, we cite the fact that, not including the war and navy departments, the executive departments and other establishments at Washington actually record an increase subsequent to the armistice of 2,184 employees. The net decrease in pay roll costs contained in the 1921 demands submitted by the administration is only 1 per cent under that of 1920. The annual expenses of federal operation can be reduced hundreds of millions of dollars without impairing the efficiency of the public service.

We pledge ourselves to a carefully planned readjustment to a peace-time basis and to a policy of rigid economy, to the better co-ordination of departmental activities, to the elimination of unnecessary officials and employees, and to the raising of the standard of individual efficiency.

An Executive Budget.

We congratulate the Republican congress on the enactment of a law providing for the establishment of an executive budget as a necessary instrument for a sound and business-like administration of the national finances, and we condemn the veto of the president which defeated this great financial reform.

Reorganization of Federal Departments and Bureaus.

We advocate a thorough investigation of the present organization of the federal departments and bureaus, with a view to securing consolidation, a more business-like distribution of functions, the elimination of duplication, delays, and overlapping of work, and the establishing of an up to date and efficient administrative organization.

War Powers of the President.

The president clings tenaciously to his autocratic war-time powers. His veto of the resolution declaring peace and his refusal to sign the bill repealing war-time legislation, no longer necessary, evidence his determination to restore to the nation and to the states the form of government provided for by the Constitution. This usurpation is intolerable and deserves the severest condemnation.

Taxation.

The burden of taxation imposed upon the American people is staggering; but in presenting a true statement of the situation we must face the fact that while the character of the taxes can and should be changed, an early reduction of the amount of revenue to be raised is not to be expected. The next Republican administration will inherit from its Democratic predecessor a floating indebtedness of over $3,000,000,000, the prompt liquidation of which is demanded by sound financial considerations.

Reduction in Tax.

Moreover, the whole fiscal policy of the government must be deeply influenced by the necessity of meeting obligations in excess of $5,000,000,000 which mature in 1923. But sound policy equally demands the early accomplishment of that real reduction of the tax burden which may be achieved by substituting simple for complex tax laws and procedure; prompt and certain determination of the tax liability for delay and uncertainty, tax laws which do not for tax laws which do excessively mulct the consumer or needlessly repress enterprise and thrift.

We advocate the issuance of a simplified form of income return; authorizing the treasury department to make changes in regulations effective only from the date of their approval; empowering the commissioner of internal revenue, with the consent of the taxpayer, to make final and conclusive settlements of tax claims and assessments, barring fraud, and the creation of a tax board consisting of at least three representatives of the taxpaying public and the heads of the principal divisions of the bureau of internal revenue to act as a standing committee on the simplification of forms, procedure and law, and to make recommendations to the congress.

Banking and Currency.

The fact is that the war, to a great extent, was financed by a policy of inflation through certificate borrowing from the banks, and bonds issued at artificial rates sustained by the low discount rates established by the federal reserve board. The continuance of this policy since the armistice lays the administration open to severe criticism. Almost up to the present time the practices of the federal reserve board as to credit control have been frankly dominated by the convenience of the treasury.

The results have been a greatly increased war cost, a serious loss to the millions of people who in good faith bought Liberty bonds and Victory notes at par, and extensive post-war speculation, followed today by a restricted credit for legitimate industrial expansion. As a matter of public policy we urge all banks to give credit preference to essential industries.

The federal reserve system should be free from political influence, which is quite as important as its independence of domination by financial combinations.

The High Cost of Living.

The prime cause of the "high cost of living" has been, first and foremost, a 50 per cent depreciation in the purchasing power of the dollar, due to a gross expansion of our currency and credit. Reduced production, burdensome taxation, swollen profits, and the increased demand for goods arising from a fictitious but enlarged buying power have been contributing causes to a greater or less degree.

We condemn the unsound fiscal policies of the Democratic administration which have brought these things to pass, and their attempts to impute the consequences to minor and secondary causes. Much of the injury wrought is irreparable. There is no short way out and we decline to deceive the people with vain promises or quack remedies.

But as the political party that throughout its history has stood for honest money and sound finance, we pledge ourselves to earnest and consistent attack upon the high cost of living by vigorous avoidance of further inflation in our government borrowing, by courageous but intelligent deflation of overexpanded credit and currency, by encouragement and heightened production of goods and services, by prevention of unreasonable profits, by exercise of public economy and stimulation of private thrift, and by revision of war imposed taxes unsuited to peacetime economy.

Profiteering.

We condemn the Democratic administration for failure impartially to enforce the anti-profiteering laws enacted by the Republican congress.

Railroads.

We are opposed to government ownership and operation or employee operation of the railroads. In view of the conditions prevailing in this country, the experience of the last two years, and the conclusions which may fairly be drawn from an observation of the transportation systems of other countries, it is clear that adequate transportation service both for the present and future can be furnished more certainly, economically, and efficiently through private ownership and operation under proper regulation and control.

There should be no speculative profit in rendering the service of transportation, but in order to do justice to the capital already invested in railway enterprises, to restore railway credit, to induce future investments at a reasonable rate, and to furnish enlarged facilities to meet the requirements of the constantly increasing development and distribution, a fair return upon actual value of the railway property used in transportation should be made reasonably sure, and at the same time to provide constant employment to those engaged in transportation service, with fair hours and favorable working conditions at wages or compensation at least equal to those prevailing in similar lines of industry. We indorse the transportation act of 1920 enacted by the Republican congress as a most constructive legislative achievement.

Waterways.

We declare it to be our policy to encourage and develop water transportation service and facilities in connection with the commerce of the United States.

Regulation of Industry and Commerce.

We approve in general the existing federal legislation against monopoly and combinations in restraint of trade, but since the known certainty of a law is the safety of all, we advocate such amendment as will provide American business men with better means of determining in advance whether a proposed combination is or is not unlawful. The federal trade commission, under a Democratic administration, has not accomplished the purpose for which it was created. This commission properly organized and its duties efficiently administered should afford protection to the public and legitimate business interests.

International Trade and Tariff.

The uncertain and unsettled condition of international balances, the abnormal economic and trade situation of the world, and the impossibility of forecasting accurately even the near future, preclude the formulation of a definite program to meet conditions a year hence. But the Republican party reaffirms its belief in the protective principle and pledges itself to a revision of the tariff as soon as conditions shall make it necessary for the preservation of the home market for American labor, agriculture, and industry.

Merchant Marine.

The national defense and our foreign commerce require a merchant marine of the best type of modern ship flying the American flag and manned by American seamen, owned by private capital, and operated by private energy.

We indorse the sound legislation recently enacted by the Republican congress that will insure the promotion and maintenance of the American merchant marine.

The immigration policy of the United States should be such as to insure that the number of foreigners in the country at any one time shall not exceed that which can be assimilated with reasonable rapidity, and to favor immigrants whose standard are similar to ours.

The selective tests that are at present applied should be improved by requiring a higher physical standard, a more complete exclusion of mental defectives and criminals, and a more effective inspection applied as near the source of immigration as possible, as well as the port of entry. Justice to the foreigner and to ourselves demands provision for the guidance, protection and better economic distribution of our alien population. To facilitate government supervision, all aliens should be required to register annually until they become naturalized.

The existing policy of the United States for the practical exclusion of Asiatic immigrants is sound, and should be maintained.

Naturalization.

There is urgent need of improvement in our naturalization law. No alien should become a citizen until he has become genuinely American, and adequate tests for determining the alien's fitness for American citizenship should be provided for by law.

We advocate, in addition, the independent naturalization of married women. An American woman should not lose her citizenship by marriage to an alien resident in the United States.

Free Speech and Alien Agitation.

We demand that every American citizen shall enjoy the ancient and constitutional right of free speech, free press, and free assembly, and the no less sacred right of the qualified voter to be represented by his duly chosen representatives, but no man may advocate resistance to the law, and no man may advocate violent overthrow of the government.

Aliens within the jurisdiction of the United States are not entitled of right to liberty of agitation directed against the government or American institutions.

Lynching.

We urge congress to consider the most effective means to end lynching in this country, which continues to be a terrible blot on our American civilization.

Law and Order.

The equality of all citizens under the law has always been a policy of the Republican party. Without obedience to law and maintenance of order our American institutions must perish. Our laws must be impartially enforced and speedy justice should be secured.

With regard to the sale and maufacture of intoxicating beverages, the Republican party will stand for the enforcement of the constitution of the United States as it shall be declared by the Supreme court.

Public Roads and Highways.

We favor liberal appropriations in cooperation with the States for the construction of highways, which will bring about a reduction of transportation costs, better marketing of farm products, improvement in rural postal delivery, as well as meet the needs of military defense.

The Service Men.

We hold in imperishable remembrance the valor and the patriotism of the soldiers and sailors of America who fought in the great war for human liberty, and we pledge ourselves to discharge to the fullest the obligations which a grateful nation justly should fulfill, in appreciation of the services rendered by its defenders on sea and on land.

Republicans are not ungrateful. Throughout their history they have shown their gratitude toward the nation's defenders on land and sea. Liberal legislation for the care of the disabled and infirm and their dependents has ever marked Republican policy toward the soldier and sailor of all the wars in which our country has participated. The present congress has appropriated generously for the disabled of the world war. The amounts already applied and authorized for the fiscal year 1920-21 for this purpose reached the stupendous sum of $1,180,571,893. This legislation is significant of the party's purpose in generously caring for the maimed and disabled men of the recent war.

Civil Service.

We renew our repeated declaration that the civil service law shall be thoroughly and honestly enforced and extended wherever practicable. The recent action of congress in enacting a comprehensive civil service retirement law and in working out a comprehensive employment and wage policy that will guarantee equal and just treatment to the army of government workers, and in centralizing the administration of the new and progressive employment policy in the hands of the civil service commission is worthy of all praise.

Postal Service.

We condemn the present administration for its destruction of the efficiency of the postal service when controlled by the government, and for its failure to properly compensate employees whose expert knowledge is essential to the proper conduct of the affairs of the postal system. We commend the Republican congress for the enactment of legislation increasing the pay of postal employees, who up to that time were the poorest paid in the government service.

Woman Suffrage.

We welcome women into full participation in the affairs of government and the activities of the Republican party. We urge Republican governors whose states have not yet acted upon the suffrage amendment to immediately call special sessions of their legislatures for the purpose of ratifying said amendment, to the end that all of the women of the nation of voting age may participate in the election which is so important to the welfare of our country.

Women in Industry.

Women have special problems of employment which make necessary special study. We commend congress for the permanent establishment of the women's bureau in the United States department of labor to serve as a source of information to the states and to congress.

The principle of equal pay for equal service should be applied throughout all branches of the federal government in which women are employed.

We demand federal legislation to limit the hours of employment of women engaged in intensive industry, the product of which enters into interstate commerce.

The League of Nations.

We favor a liberal and generous foreign policy founded upon definite moral and political principles, characterized by clear understanding of and firm adherence to our rights, and unfailing respect for the rights of others. We should afford full and adequate protection for the life, liberty and property, and all international rights of every American citizen, and should require a proper respect for the American flag, but we should be equally careful to manifest a just regard for the rights of other nations. A scrupulous observance of our international engagements, when lawfully asumed, is essential to our own honor and self-respect and the respect of other nations. Subject to a due regard for international obligations, we should leave our country free to develop its civilization along lines most conducive to the welfare and happiness of the people, and to cast its influence on the side of justice and right should occasion require.

The Republican party stands for agreement among the nations who preserve the peace of the world. We believe that such an international association must be based upon international justice and must provide methods which shall maintain the rule of public right by the development of law and the decision of impartial courts, and which shall secure instant and general international conference whenever peace shall be threatened, so that the nations pledges to do and insist upon what is just and fair may exercise their influence and power for the prevention of war.

We believe that all this can be done without the compromise of national independence, without depriving the people of the United States in advance of the right to determine for themselves what is just and fair when the occasion arises, and without involving them as participants, and not as peacemakers in a multitude of quarrels, the merits of which they are unable to judge.

Mexico.

The ineffective policy of the present administration in Mexican matters has been largely responsible for the continued loss of American lives in that country and upon our border; for the enormous loss of American and foreign property; for the lowering of American standards of morality and social relations with Mexicans, and for the bringing of American ideals of justice and national honor and political integrity into contempt and ridicule in Mexico and throughout the world.

The policy of wordy, futile, written protests against the acts of Mexican officials, explained the following day by the president himself as being meaningless and not intended to be considered seriously or in force, has but added in degree to that contempt, and has earned for us the sneers and jeers of Mexican bandits, and added insult upon insult against our national honor and dignity.

We should not recognize any Mexican government unless it be a responsible government willing and able to give sufficient guarantees that the lives and rights of American citizens are respected and protected; that wrongs will be promptly corrected and just compensation will be made for injury sustained. The Republican party pledges itself to a consistent, firm and effective policy toward Mexico that shall enforce respect for the American flag and that shall protect the rights of American citizens lawfully in Mexico to security of life and enjoyment of property in accordance with established principles of international law and our treaty rights.

The Republican party is the sincere friend of the Mexican people. In its insistence upon the maintenance of order for the protection of American citizens within its borders a great service will be rendered the Mexican people themselves, for the continuation of present conditions means disaster to their interests and patriotic aspirations.

Mandate for Armenia.

We condemn President Wilson for asking congress to empower him to accept a mandate for Armenia. We commend the Republican senate for refusing the president's request to empower him to accept a mandate for Armenia. The acceptance of such mandate would throw the United States into the very maelstrom of European quarrels. According to the estimate of the Harbord commission organized by authority of President Wilson, we would be called upon to send 59,000 American boys to police Armenia and to expend $276,000,000 in the first year and $756,000,000 in five years. This estimate is made upon the basis that we would have only roving bands to fight, but in case of serious trouble with the Turks or with Russia, a force exceeding 200,000 would be necessary.

Disregard of Life Claimed.

No more striking illustration can be found of President Wilson's disregard of the lives of American boys or of American interests.

We deeply sympathize with the people of Armenia and stand ready to help them in all proper ways, but the Republican party will oppose now and hereafter the acceptance of a mandate for any country in Europe or Asia.

For Association of Nations.

The Republican party stands for agreement among the nations to preserve the peace of the world. We believe that such an international association must be based upon international justice and provide methods which shall maintain the rule of public right by the development of law and the decision of impartial courts, and which shall secure instant and general international conference whenever peace shall be threatened, so that the nations pledged to do and insist upon what is just and fair may exercise their influence and power for the prevention of war.

We believe that all this can be done without the compromise of national independence, without depriving the people of the United States in advance of the right to determine for themselves what is just and fair when the occasion arises and without involving them as participants and not as peacemakers in a multitude of quarrels the merits of which they are unable to judge.

The covenant signed by the president at Paris failed signally to accomplish this great purpose and contains stipulations not only intolerable for independent people but certain to produce the injustice, hostility and controversy among nations which it proposed to prevent.

Praises Senators' Actions.

That covenant repudiated to a degree wholly unnecessary and unjustifiable the time-honored policy in favor of peace declared by Washington and Jefferson and Monroe and pursued by all American administrators for more than a century, and it ignored the universal sentiment of America for generations past in favor of international law and arbitration and it rested the hope of the future upon mere expedients and negotiations.

The unfortunate insistence of the president upon having his own way without any change and without any regard to the opinions of the majority of the senate, which shares with him the treaty-making power, and the president's demand that the treaty should be ratified without any modification, created a situation in which senators were required to vote upon their consciences and their oaths according to their judgment against the treaty as it was presented or submit to the command of a dictator in a matter where the authority and responsibility under the Constitution were theirs and not his.

The senators performed their duties faithfully. We approve their conduct and honor their courage and fidelity, and we pledge the coming Republican administration to such agreement with the other nations of the world as shall preserve the full duties of America to civilization and humanity in accordance with American ideals, and without surrendering the right of the American people to exercise its judgment and its power in favor of justice and peace.

Will Reform Taxes.

Pointing to its history and relying on its fundamental principles, we declare the Republican party has the genius, courage, and constructive ability to end executive usurpation and restore constitutional government to fulfill our world obligations without sacrificing our national independence; to raise the national standards of education and general welfare; to re-establish a peacetime administration and to substitute economy and efficiency for extravagance and chaos; to restore and maintain the national credit; to reform unequal and burdensome taxes; to free business from arbitrary and unnecessary official control; to suppress disloyalty without denial of justice; to repeal the arrogant challenge of any class, and to maintain a government of all the people as contrasted with government for some of the people, and finally, to allay unrest, suspicion, and strife and to secure the co-operation and unity of all citizens in the solution of the complex problems of the day, to the end that our country, happy and prosperous, proud of its past, sure of itself and of its institutions, may look forward with confidence to the future.

THE MISERY OF BACKACHE

Removed by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Muskegon, Mich.—"For six years I was so weak in my back at times that I could hardly walk. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was recommended to me and it made me good and strong again so that I am able to do all my work. I highly recommend your medicine and tell everyone I meet what it did for me."—Mrs. G. SCHOONFIELD, 240 Wood Ave, Muskegon, Mich.

Woman's Precious Gift

The one which she should most zealously guard is her health, but she often neglects to do so in season until some ailment peculiar to her sex has fastened itself upon her. When so affected women may rely upon Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, a remedy that has been wonderfully successful in restoring health to suffering women.

If you have the slightest doubt that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will help you, write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass., for advice. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman, and held in strict confidence.

One's tongue will behave if he has trained his temper to.

Acid Stomach

Makes the Body Sour

Nine Out of Ten People Suffer From It

It sends its harmful acids and gases all over the body, instead of health and strength. Day and night this ceaseless damage goes on. No matter how strong, its victim cannot long withstand the health-destroying effects of an acid stomach.

Good news for millions of sufferers. Chemists have found a sure remedy—one that takes the acid up and carries it out of the body; of course, when the cause is removed, the sufferer gets well.

Bloating, indigestion, sour, acid, gassy stomach miseries all removed. This is proven by over half a million ailing folks who have taken EATONIC with wonderful benefits. It can be obtained from any druggist, who will cheerfully refund its trifling cost if not entirely satisfactory. Everyone should enjoy its benefits. Frequently the first tablet gives relief.

CHINESE INFLUENCE IN LIMA

Celestials Occupy Prominent Place in Peruvian Capital—Natives Cling to Old Sport of Cock Fighting.

Lima, the Peruvian capital, is essentially a Spanish city, the population of which may almost be termed cosmopolitan. There the Chinese hold a considerable place of prominence. Celestials of higher caste have taken advantage of Peru's open-door policy and today there are temples and joss-houses and opium dens in Lima. Cock fighting is still the most popular sport, and it is impossible to appear in public without being pestered by a constant procession of "suerteros," venders of lottery tickets, says an exchange.

Another Peruvian city, Morococha, is a little world of its own considerably marked by Anglo-Saxon influence, mining being its exclusive industry. The miners work nine hours a day and seven days a week, and receive an average of something more than a dollar a day, which is considered a high wage from the Andean Indian point of view. The efficiency of the Indian workmen is curtailed by much coca chewing and hard drinking.

The railways of central Peru spread out in a Y, at the right hand end of which is Huancayo, something more than 200 miles from Lima. At every railroad station old women crowd through the cars selling the favorite nectar of the Incas, all purchasers drinking from the same cup, and generally several from the same filling. Nearly every traveler has his own supply of a more potent native beverage.

Ready for Emergency Work.

The mobile disaster unit is a recently formed branch of the American Red Cross which is completely organized and ready to respond instantly in case of a serious accident or disaster. The headquarters of this body are at Boston, and the membership consists of several hundred persons scattered around New England who stand ready to answer any call. It includes doctors, nurses and assistants, a complete 200-bed hospital with all the essentials, such as clothing, food, medicines and X-ray apparatus, with everything which could be called for, even to the garbage and ash cans. The details of this organization are said to be so complete that it could be moved within one hour's time from the receipt of the call.

Various Rumors Of Steel City.

Gadsden.—The announcement that the International Motor and Steel Company will build a large steel plant at Pidgeon Mountain, Ala., has revived rumors that the Tennessee, Alabama and Georgia Railroad is to be sold and become a part of a new trunk line in the South. It is reported from Chattanooga that officials of the road are now in New York in connection with its sale, and that the steel company will have a hand in the deal. It is also stated that plans are being formulated to build a large manufacturing town at Pidgeon Mountain, where the company owns large tracts of iron ore of the highest grade.

Work Of Bank Chief.

Montgomery.—Declaring the circular letter on the restriction and control of credits, mailed to all Alabama bankers, by D. F. Green, state superintendent, is "very timely," M. B. Wellborn, governor of the Federal Reserve Bank, at Atlanta, Ga., has written Mr. Green a letter of commendation. Mr. Welborn states Mr. Green's letter will be of great assistance in discouraging borrowers who are not using the funds borrowed for the mere essential purposes of industry, or the production of crops. The Federal Reserve Bank has been working along the same lines, he says and has been getting excellent results.

Scottsboro Praised.

Scottsboro.—The clean-up campaign has been an eminent success for Scottsboro. Never in the history of the town has it been freer from filth and unsightly objects. An organization campaign was put on about a week ago by the civic league to clean up the town. A number of towns of the state have entered a contest and a prize of $50 has been offered by the state health department for the cleanest town. The inspectors were here last Saturday and were profuse in their praises for the diligent work of the local civil association.

County Meet Is Held.

Troy.—A district conference of county superintendents of education was held in Troy at the state normal school. A number of important educators from over the state appeared on the program. A feature of the conference was an address given by the state superintendent of education. Many county superintendents from the southeastern part of Alabama were present.

Real Estate Is Active.

Huntsville.—The real estate market in Huntsville and Madison County is still very active in spite of the backward condition of the crops and real estate men declare their sales so far this year are far in advance of the business that had been done up to this time last year.

Crops Are Improved.

Ashland.—The crop outlook for Clay has been raised a great deal by the dry weather. The farmers throughout this section have been steadily at work for 10 days and are very hopeful.

Cordova.—Cordova and Dora citizens are working hand in hand on the section of the Bankhead Highway adjacent to and between the two towns. The long, wet winter and unusually rainy spring has left all the roads of Walker County in terrible shape. Around the towns of Dora and Cordova are some exceedingly bad mud holes. The citizens of both towns are determined that the road shall be in first class shape. All the work is being done at private expense.

Harman Succeeds Judd.

Montgomery.—A. F. Harman, superintendent of the Selma Public School system, has been named Superintendent of Education for Montgomery County. This action was taken by the County Board of Education following acceptance of the resignation of Zebulon Judd, who was elected superintendent last week to succeed William F. Feagin. Mr. Judd will return to his old position at Auburn as head of the department of secondary education at the Alabama Polytechnic Institute.

City to Wipe Out Debt.

Gadsden.—At an adjorned meeting of the council the mayor was empowered to execute the city's note for a sum not exceeding $30,000.00 to make up for any deficiency of revenue that may occur between now and October, when the tax money will begin to come in. The city is just now running behind, and in a condition not usual with Gadsden. It is figured that the floating debt will amount to $50,000.00 by October.

Principals in 44 Schools Approved.

Montgomery.—Names of high school principals for 44 Alabama counties, whose appointments were confirmed at the recent meeting of the state board of education, were announced by Spright Dowell, superintendent of education. These principals are elected by the boards of education of their respective counties, together with the counties in which they will serve during the 1920-21 session.

Fire Marshal to Make Inspection.

Montgomery.—William J. Williams, state fire marshal, returned to Montgomery from Anniston and Andalusia where he has been investigating several fires with the assistance of local fire department officials. Mr. Williams is arranging for a general electrical inspection which will cover the entire state. These inspections will be similar to those carried out in Montgomery during the past three weeks.

M. I. Is Named Honor School.

Marion.—The friends of Marion Institute are very enthusiastic over the recognition just given it by the War Department in the following telegram from the Adjutant General: "Marion Institute is designated as an honor school 1920. Secretary of War extends congreulations to you and to all concerned upon the high standard of efficiency attained by the military department of your institution."

Crops Making Good Progress.

Bridgeport.—With an entire week of ideal farming weather satisfactory progress has been made in cultivation of crops and further planting of corn. A large part of the lowland is yet to be planted, but with the promising outlook for several more days of fair weather, hopes are entertained of reasonable success in planting a fair sized crop of corn. Cotton looks promising considering the lateness of the season.

Lumber Demand Grows.

Tuscaloosa.—Tuscaloosa lumbermen report the demand for lumber much better. Many inquiries coming in and more sales being made. For the past two or three months the lumber business has been dull, but now that there is a slightly better demand sawmill men feel encouraged. But there is still a lack of cars for handling the output of the mills, but railroad men are working hard to remedy this.

Stock Sales Are Pushed.

Decatur.—Sale of stock in the Limestone-Morgan Bridge Company, which will build a bridge across the Tennessee River here, was pushed following the arrival from his at Rome, Ga., of Col. L. A. Dean, one of the promoters of the enterprise. Stock sales had lagged behind because of the absence of both Col. Dean and Capt. Grafton. Capt. Grafton is quite ill at a Chattanooga hospital.

First Cotton Bloom.

Mobile.—Harry Crawford, of Fairhope, Ala., brought the first cotton bloom of the season to this city. The first bloom to reach the city last year was also from Baldwin County.

Cotton Men to Meet.

Gadsden.—G. T. McEldery, prominent farmer and banker of Talladega, is in Gadsden arranging preliminaries for organizing an Etowah County branch of the American Cotton Association. He obtained the pledge of ten leading citizens to underwrite the expenses of the organization.

Goodwater.—All properties of the Goodwater Graphite Company were sold at Rockford under executions and the price paid was only about $40,000. Phil J. Scudder, Sr., and associates, of Shelbyville, Tenn., were the purchasers.

Crops Improve Slowly.

Birmingham.—Crop conditions in Alabama are improving, but slowly, with a late start and labor for this class of work is scarce, according to a weekly report given out here made up from information sent in by traveling representatives in Alabama. The following is the report: Northern Corn, 36 per cent late; oats 76 per cent; pasture good; cotton from 6 to 76 per cent; syrup goods but late; the season is badly behind on account of rains; land is wheedy.

TAFFETA SILK IN USE EVERYWHERE

TAFFETA silk is, by all odds, the most popular of the heavier weights in silk fabrics, its only close rivals, in the high regard of women, being crepe de chine and georgette. It is used for many of their belongings and for those of their little daughters. For evening and afternoon dresses it is the pre-eminent favorite, and its gentle rustle this summer is going to last as long as that of the leaves does.

All the designers need do to make salable frocks of taffeta is to follow the mode and introduce a little originality in the details of finishing decoration. Two very excellent examples, that are up to date and original, portray an afternoon frock that is made entirely of taffeta and are having a decoration of white yarn.

Navy blue in taffeta, with decoration of white yarn makes an ideal dress for midsummer, and it is this combination that is shown in one of the afternoon frocks patterned. White taffeta faces the upper part of the long tunic and forms the cuffs. Blue and beige or blue and tan make combinations as pleasing, and are very fashionable this season. In this dress the tunic is set on to a narrow yoke, which extends above the waist and fastens to the bodice. Two large buttons that repeat the colors used, call attention to this feature. The tunic is laid in three deep plaits at each side, giving a widened hip line and revealing its facing. Three-quarter length sleeves and a Chinese collar are items worth noticing in the design.

Navy blue, black, or any of the favored colors in silk will look well in a dress like the ruffle-trimmed model pictured. It has three corded shirrings at the waistline where bodice and skirt are joined, and a corded tuck defines the hip line. Elbow sleeves and a rolled collar high at the back add two very important style details to the design. The narrow frills on the skirt have picot edges, and there is a charming lace vest in the bodice. It is the only detail of this dress that is not made of the silk; even the smart bow at the waist is fashioned of it.

Negligees of American Design

WHEN negligees come up for discussion, the temptation is to pick out these varied and fanciful ones that reflect the costumes of other lands. But there are others of American design that are really better liked by our own people and that merit the preference shown them. They are graceful, dignified, more or less simple garments, often developed in beautiful fabrics. They reveal an appreciation of what can be done with lovely colors when designers are not restricted in using them. It is in the realm of negligees that they can give fancy free play and be more daring than even evening dress will warrant and a little journey into the shops convinces one that designers make the most of this privilege.

Speaking of dignity in this apparel, some of the new negligees have acquired so much of it that they might be easily mistaken for evening dresses. These made of light-colored brocaded silks and satins, like the handsome example pictured, leave one in doubt at first glance as to whether they were intended to fluish women by day upon but those within the walls of home, or to be placed on parade. There are just enough little touches about it, like the simple decoration of silk-covered cord finished with silk-covered balls, that relegate its excitement to the heavy quiet of home. But the fashionable darkness and dips that are worn with these negligees lend them the unmistakable flavor of boudoir dress.

The negligee pictured is a model that slips over the head and has a round neck split a little way down the front. Its edges are finished with silk-covered cord and silk-covered cord laces it at the front and hangs from the shoulders. The side seams are left open at the bottom and the material rounded off and bound with the covered cord.

Julia Bottomley

The Transparent Hat.

The type of hat said to be having the greatest sale for summer is the one made of transparent material. This may be hair braid, malines, organdie, georgette or lace. So heavy, in fact, is the call for transparent hats that it is difficult to secure hair braid in sufficient quantity to supply the abnormal demand.

Short Vamped Shoes.

Short vamped shoes are having a decided vogue—the popular pumps conforming to the trend too, but the upstate put out by the exclusive shops have a dozen pounded, and one has that if the vogue proceeds, perhaps too that it may become powerful to the foot.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

(By REV. P. B. FITZWATER, D. D., Teacher of English Bible in the Moody Bible Institute of Chicago.)

(Copyright, 1920, Western Newspaper Union.)

LESSON FOR JUNE 27

REVIEW: THE NOBLE LIFE OF SAMUEL.

SELECTION FOR READING—I Sam. 12:1-5, 13-25.

GOLDEN TEXT—I will teach you the good and the right way.—I Sam. 12:23.

ADDITIONAL MATERIAL—I Sam. 1:1-16:23.

PRIMARY TOPIC—Stories About Samuel.

JUNIOR TOPIC—A Boy Who Became a Great Man.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Strong Points in Samuel's Character.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Samuel's Service to His People.

The method of review must largely be determined by the teacher and the grade of the class. For the junior and intermediate grades a good way will be to make it biographical, centering in Gideon, Eli, Samuel, Eli's sons, Saul and David. Of course, the outstanding personality is Samuel.

For the older classes the following from Peloubet's Select Notes is an interesting and profitable method:

"This review, suited to older classes only, will deal with difficult questions involved in or suggested by the various lessons of the quarter, questions that you may not have had time to discuss adequately during the quarter. Assign one of these to each student, and divide the time evenly among them. The following list of topics may prove helpful, but it is intended to be only suggestive:

Lesson I. How to put religion into our state and national government.

Lesson II. How to utilize better than we are doing the power of women.

Lesson III. How to bring together and use the righteous and brave minority.

Lesson IV. How to single out and help the deserving poor.

Lesson V. How to develop the religious capacities of children.

Lesson VI. How to open the eyes of parents to their children's faults.

Lesson VII. How to bring to bear upon public questions the decisive power of prayer.

Lesson VIII. How to select the best leaders in church and state.

Lesson IX. How to develop individual initiative without the loss of discipline.

Lesson X. How godly men may influence the progress of affairs.

Lesson XI. How to inspire children with lofty ideals.

Lesson XII. How to make our lives serene and trustful.

A plan which can be adapted to all grades is the gathering of the main facts of each lesson and then stating its leading lesson.

The following are suggestions as to the leading lessons:

Lesson for April 4. As Jesus joined the disciples on the way to Emmaus, so he joins all who are journeying life's way in sorrow and says, "Tell me your troubles and perplexities." He wants us to confide in him.

Lesson for April 11. Deborah's judgeship shows that a woman is capable under God not only of the administration of justice, but of leading a nation forth to victory in time of war.

Lesson for April 18. The secret of Gideon's victory was his faith. The ground of his faith was God's word.

Lesson for April 25. Because Ruth forsook country, friends, and her gods for the true God, she has been accorded a place of honor in the ancestry of Christ.

Lesson for May 2. Because Samuel was given in answer to a mother's prayer and was dedicated by her to the Lord's service, the Lord was able to use him in a large way.

Lesson for May 9. Parental indulgence results in the shame and ruin of both Eli and his sons.

Lesson for May 16. When God's people repent of their sins and turn to him for pardon he will not only forgive, but will fight their battles and give victory.

Lesson for May 23. When the people took their eyes off God, their King, they desired a man as king in conformity to the practice of the heathen round about.

Lesson for May 30. Because Jonathan felt the call of God to deliver his people and waited for God's sign for him, he was able to go forward and win a victory in such a way as to show that God was with him.

Lesson for June 6. Because Saul disobeyed the command of God, judgment from the hand of God fell upon him.

Lesson for June 13. God looketh not on the outward appearance, but on the heart; his choices are not arbitrary.

Lesson for June 20. "The Lord is my shepherd. I shall not want."

That proposal to reduce the cost of leather by tanning sharks' hides may sound to the manufacturers as if it might be something personal.

HEALS RUNNING SORES

"I feel it my duty to write you a letter of thanks for your wonderful Peterson's Ointment. I had a running sore on my left leg for one year. I began to use Peterson's Ointment three weeks ago and now it is healed."—A. C. Gilbrath, 703 Reed St., Erie, Pa.

For years I have been selling through druggists a large box of PETERSON'S OINTMENT for 60 cents. The healing power in this ointment is marvelous. Eczema goes in a few days. Old sores heal up like magic; piles that other remedies do not seem to even relieve are speedily conquered. Pimples and nasty blackheads disappear in a week and the distress of chafing goes in a few minutes. Mail orders filled. Peterson Ointment Co., Inc., Buffalo, N. Y.

Republican National Campaign Opens in Earnest.

Headquarters Throughout the United States are Given Instructions to Get Busy.

Washington, June 22.—The Republican national campaign today swung into action throughout the country.

Before coming to his offices in the Senate office building this morning, Senator Harding, Republican presidential nominee, approved selections by the national committee of the personnel of the executive committee, which with the national committee chairman, Hays, will direct the campaign.

Acceptances have been received from those appointed on this committee and telegraphic and telephonic messages rushed forward during the night and outlined their duties and started them on the campaign.

Headquarters at New York, Chicago, Washington, and San Francisco, and sub-headquarters at Denver, previously established by Hays, were directed this morning to put themselves in shape for the most active campaign it is possible for the managers of the campaign to stage.

Chairman Hays indicated today that special attention is to be paid to the publicity feature of the campaign.

Careful plans are being laid for the education of the voters on the policy to be pursued by the Republicans if resorted to complete national power in the executive and continued in the legislative branches of the government.

Special stress is to be laid on the declaration of Senator Harding that there shall be an end to one-man power and a return to a constitutional form of government under the Republican party.

"It takes more than one man to run the American government," says Harding.

Senator Harding sat yesterday with the special committee of the national committee, which worked out details of the campaign plan and selected the executive committee. He resumed these conferences this morning to give his final approval to the work of the committee which had extended far into the night.

The Senator spent last night at his home, whipping into shape some of the many ideas he has gathered for his speech of acceptance. He plans to be ready to put the finishing touches on this important document within a few hours after the announcement of the Democratic platform to be adopted by the San Francisco convention.

Certainly it will be ready well in advance of July 22, the date determined upon last night for the notification ceremony at Marion, Ohio. The sub-committee of the national committee also announced the date for the Coolidge acceptance ceremonies as July 27 and the place as the governor's residence in Northampton, in Massachusetts.

On Harding's return to his offices today he entered upon the series of conferences he has invited with Republican leaders of every shade of political thought. These interviews are designed to harmonize the Republican views. Former factional differences are being ironed out or brushed aside as though they are non-existing.

Harding was cheered today by the unanimously favorable reports he has received from national committeemen on the reaction to his nomination all over the country. These reports came from John W. Weeks, Kentucky; S. D. Hiller, New York; Ralph E. Williams, Oregon; and J. T. Hamon, Oklahoma. Not one of these men was an original Harding man in the convention.

National Committeemen John C. King of Connecticut; Senator Kellog, of Minnesota; Senator Reed Smoot of Utah, and Chairman Hays, brought similarly encouraging reports on the favorable drift of public sentiment.

"The Republican ticket surely will win in November," they told Harding.

The Senator has decided to make his speech of acceptance from his front porch at the Marion, O., home.

It is not safe to buy land or to lend money and accept land as security without first investigating the title of the land. Often there are unpaid mortgages, judgments, or other liens affecting the title, which an abstract would set out. Therefore, when buying land or lending money thereon, it is important that an abstract of title be furnished. A few dollars spent for an abstract is cheaper than going ahead and having a law suit a little later on.

The issue is not Senator Harding, but pure Americanism.

When all is said and done, the issue is pure Americanism.

Col. Bryan is right. The Democrats will have to "go some" to beat the Republican ticket and platform.

Senator Harding does not promise to leave his or his party's position on any important question, uncertain.

Senator Harding's greatest asset is his common sense. His head is not in the air. His feet are on the ground.

The commanding strength of Senator Harding is that he is a modest, earnest, yet intensely patriotic American citizen.

Because a voter does not agree with any plank in a party platform is no ground for the statement that the platform is uncertain.

President Wilson has made himself the shining mark by assuming that he is the entire Democratic party, label, record, principles and all.

The Democratic convention will assemble in San Francisco to ascertain what sort of a programme and candidate President Wilson will demand.

Singular how the Democratic party persists in going to Europe for candidates. It is reported that Colonel House is grumshoeing for a man by the name of Davis.

As in the case of 16 to 1 free silver fever, the country needs a kindergarten education in finance and economics. Sound principles seem to have been frogotten by many.

"We get them (the railroads) out of the hole in ninety days," proclaims Former Railroad Administrator McAdoo. Yes, and placed the United States and the taxpayers in a hole to the tune of about a billion dollars in less than two years' government operation of the roads.

A TRAINED LEGISLATOR FOR THE WHITE HOUSE

With the election of Warren G. Harding to the presidency, government by theory and intuition will give place to government by experienced experts, based on proved principles of sound national management. Instead of a professor from an institution of learning seeking to apply to the federal government the dogmas of a college curriculum we shall have a trained legislator and executive who will conform his administration to the lessons he has learned during his term in the United States Senate preceded by two years as lieutenant governor of his State and four year as a member of the Ohio Senate.

When Senator Harding enters the White House on March 4th next he will have completed six years service as a senator from his state—six years of apprenticeship for the work of Federal administrator. As never before in the history of the country, the past seven years have demonstrated how necessary it is that the chief executive shall have had that previous acquaintance with legislative branch of the government indispensible to the proper appreciation of his relations to it. Mr. Wilson's complete failure to comprehend the point of view of congress, and his refusal to concede to the duly elected representatives of the people the part the Constitution decreed that they shall play in national affairs, have been responsible for the almost constant friction that has existed between them. The cost to the people of that lack of co-ordination can never be expressed in dollars and cents, but is has been enormous; and, in addition, national prestige has suffered a setback that will require the most careful attention from a Republican administration to repair.

Not only has Senator Harding learned in the school of experience of the relations between the executive and legislative branches that must be maintained if our government is to continue to express the popular will as our forefathers provided in the constitution, but he has learned to respect the opinions of his fellow senators and of others chosen by the people to represent their views. It is here, again, that the Wilson administration has signally failed to perform its allotted part in our scheme of government. It has been totally impossible for the Wilson type of mind to conceive that it is not infallible, and to realize that the views of the people can be more nearly expressed through the composite expression of their leaders than through the utterances of a single individual. His has been a one-man government, uninfluenced by the opinions of accepted authorities.

Every act of the senate, and of congress, necessarily is a compromise product—a composite of the thought of the members who compose the majority of that body. It is not too much to say that an act of importance never passes the Senate that is entirely acceptable to any Senator. Every Senator has surrendered some of his personal preferences in order that the act may become a law, and in that surrender he has admitted his own fallibility and recognized that the voice of the many is more likely correct than his own individual opinion.

That is the school in which Senator Harding's conception of popular government has been formed, and to those tenets he will hold the executive department once he has taken control. His cabinet will be composed of men of recognized authority in the problems of their particular department, selected to act as real aids to the President in the performance of his duties, rather than to furnish plausible support for executive opinions already made known. President Harding will personify the policies adopted by the Republican party as a whole and embodied in its national platform, and in the carrying out of those policies the country will witness the closest co-operation with his official advisers and with his party associates in congress.

INSPIRED REPUBLICANISM

The Republican party platform as adopted by the Chicago Convention is an inspiration to every patriotic American determined to rid his country of the Democratic encumbrance which has been upon it for so long, and substitute for it the enlightened policies of Republicanism. The platform is a damning review of the excesses and extravagances that have characterized the administration of the government for the past seven years, and a resolute determination to bring prompt and effective reform the moment Republican candidates assume the reins of government. Its planks accurately diagnose the ills in the body politic and prescribe remedies that are sure to bring relief and cure when applied. Refreshing Americanism runs through the document from start to finish. The pledges it contains were designed and entered into for the frank purpose of perpetuating American institutions and for contributing to the welfare of American citizens.

While recognizing our concern for the preservation of world peace and recording itelf as standing "for agreement among the nations" to keep that peace, the party insists that anything the Unied States may do in that direction must be done "without the compromise of national independence, without depriving the people of the United States in advance of the right to determine for themselves what is just and fair." How different are such sturdy declarations from the appeals for the "supreme sacrifice" with which ous ears have been assailed for many months!

"We undertake to end executive autocracy," the party declares, "and to restore to the people their constitutional government." Therein is embodied the with and substance of present-day Republicanism. The ending of executive autocracy entails a vast amount of national housecleaning, some of which has already been accomplished by a Republican congress. Much remains to be done, however, which can only be achieved through the co-operation of an executive of the same party. Once that autocracy has been eliminated and its works consigned to oblivion, realignment of the government with the principles of popular rule will be the commanding duty with which a Republican administration will concern itself.

The party asserts what is the fact that there is no "short way out" from the high cost of living, but "we do pledge ourselves to earnest and consistent attack upon the high cost of living by rigorous avoidance of further inflation of our government borrowing, by courageous and intelligent deflation of overexpanded credit and currency, by encouragement of heightened production of goods and services, by prevention of unreasonable profits, by exercise of public economy and stimulation of private thrift and by revision of war-imposed taxes unsuited to peace-time economy."

The measures for reconstruction which the party proposes to adopt once it has been reinstated in authority are clearly set forth in the platform. The settlement of industrial disputes through the voluntary acceptance of the decision of important tribunals; the broader recognition of the farmer in legislation, federal appointments in national expenditures, assisted by the re-enactment of the budget bill vetoed by the president; readjustment of the tax laws; the enforcement of anti-profiteering legislation; the encouragement of foreign trade; the early revision of the tariff along protective lines; liberal co-operation with states for highway improvement; the development of the conservation of our natural resources; general provision for disabled veterans of the World War; enforcement of the civil service law; the encouragement of home owning; insistence upon the protection of American citizens in Mexico—all are enunciations of principles which must be adhered to if our independent-republican government is to endure.

When Governor Coolidge made his reply to the Massachusetts delegates returning from Chicago he said: "After all, officers are ended and they fade away. Friendship and the esteem in which men hold each other may remain forever." This is a key to Governor Coolidge's character.

While the country seems to be troubled and divided on the real meaning of President Wilson's Covenant of the League of Nations, let the voters remember that it means the tearing down of the protection principle by which the entire country has grown strong, and the farmers and thousands of small manufacturers throughout the west, have prospered.

Vice President Marshall says: "I am an old man who has torn his hair for Bryan, slaved for Parker and done his hardest for Wilson, and I am about ready to retire from politics." Having performed those thrilling and unrenumerative duties, the Vice President is entitled to be placed on the retired list. There will be many other Democrats to join him.

THE THREE-MILL TAX

Editor Union-Banner:

Please allow me space in your paper to say a few words about the 3-mill school tax. I have always favored good schools. I have always favored two-teacher schools. I believe we get more good out of them than we do a one-teacher school. I have always got the best benefits from a two-teacher school. In the first place, one teacher can't give the time to all the grades that they ought to. Now, it looks like we will not even have a one-teacher school, for if the three-mill tax is defeated there will not be money enough to run a three-months school, and that means for the next ten years. The schools will have to be put back on the same old plans, and you know what that means. Where a is teacher that we can get for $40 or $50 a month now.

Now, let us think the matter over and see what it means to us. We have had this tax on us for the last three years; now, let us think what that means to our children if we lose out. It just means no education to the majority of our children.

Now, Mr. Tax Payer, it is up to us now, whether we have any schools or not. We will have to pay more supplement than our tax will amount to, so let us all go out to the election on the 13th day of July and cast your vote in the interest of our boys and girls of Chilton County, who will be our future officers.

WHAT THE SCOUTS WILL DO HERE ON JULY THE 3RD.

It is going to be a big time for everybody. Games, Contests, Races, Music, Fireworks and everything for a Good Time.

YOU CAN'T MISS HEARING THE BAND

The Clanton Boy Scouts are perfecting the plans for their celebration here on the Third of July, and everything now looks like a day of much fun for the boys and entertainment for the visiting people.

The band will play the biggest card in the entertainment of the people. Everybody will enjoy plenty of good music and these boys are able to fill the bill completely in that respect. Prof. Memoli of Birmingham, who is teaching the boys in the band, will have charge oft hem on that day.

At 9:30 o'clock in the morning the Boy Scout parade will form at the depot and proceed to the grounds (place to be announced later). There will be a flag raising ceremony on arrival at the scene of the day's proceedings, accompanied by a lecture on the Declaration of Independence.

At 10:30 the games will begin, which will include foot races, tug-of-war, sack races, potato races, etc. There will also be a fiddlers contest about this time of the day. All the fiddlers can get their instruments tuned up and ready. Prizes will be given to the winners in the contest.

At 12 o'clock, the dinner hour, there will be a break in the program, and everybody who has dinner with them will have a chance to spread their baskets in any place they choose.

At 1 o'clock the program will start again with baseball games, volley ball, tennis, etc. These games will entertain the crowds all the afternoon. The teams to play ball will be announced later.

All during the day the Scouts will serve ice cream and cold drinks. All Scouts and scout officials from everywhere are invited to come and be with the Clanton Troop.

On the night of the 3rd the fire works display will be held at the railroad crossing. This promises to be about the best thing on the program. There will be plenty of music by the band all through the day's proceedings.

The people of Chilton County are urged to come to Clanton and spend that day and enjoy the festivities with the boys.

Roberts Says Name of Wilson Will Defeat the Democrats in the U. S.

The President Wants to Run Again and His Ambition Puts a Damper on the Hopes of All Others at San Francisco.

San Francisco, Cal., June 22—It has been a matter of general knowledge that the President is a tentative and anxious candidate to succeed himself. He is thoroughly and sincerely convinced that he alone is able to serve in what he considers the "emergency of the world."

To those who know that the President is fatally stricken, that in all probability he will never make another public appearance, it seems incredible that Mr. Wilson should be regarded as exceedingly formidable.

And yet there is no President headquarters at San Francico which does not reflect a poignant fear that Mr. Wilson will be able to secure the nomination.

It is said in whispers to-day that Bainbridge Colby comes to San Francisco as the personal representative of the President and that in making his first speech to the Convention, he will nominate the President. There is no doubt but that the platform prepared by Carter Glass and Homer Cummings is the handiwork of Mr. Wilson, and it is reported that W. G. McAdoo retired from the field because he had never been able to secure the support of the President, and that as a result there is bitterness between the father and the son.

The Wilson shadow as a result of the foregoing, freezes the hopes of all candidates at San Francisco, and yet it is not regarded as possible that the convention will be swayed to such an extent as to nominate the President and send the party headlong into defeat.

The League of Nations plank, providing for reservations that do not nullify, will be inserted in the platform without a fight, it is learned, although on the floor W. J. Bryan is likely to make it an issue.

It is regarded as doubtful that a wet plank will be included.

Practically all the candidates hesitate to support the wet plank for fear lest its insertion would mean the nomination of Governor Cox. The plank to be proposed however, and which will have support on the floor, will endorse the amendment but leave to the respective states the solution of the moot question as to what actually consitutes intoxicating liquor.

The Georgia contest will be decided Saturday in favor of the delegation commitated to Attorney General Palmer and against that under the leadership of Hoke Smith and Tom Watson. It is said to-day that the committee will act unanimously and will not waste time in inquiring into the merits involved. The Georgia delegation incidentally will be asked to bring the Alabama delegation into the Palmer fold since the retirement of McAdoo, for whom it was understood the Alabamians in the majority would vote. Palmer has a fine chance, it is claimed.—Hugh Roberts in Birmingham Age-Herald.

(We notice that Hugh now thinks that President Wilson and his League of Nations ideas will send the Democratic party to utter defeat this fall. It will not only do it in November, Hugh; it has already done it, and it makes no difference who the Demmies nominate to be the goat.—Editor.)

HARDING WILL BE NOTIFIED OF NOMINATIOM JULY 22

PARTY TO NOTIFY VICE-PRESIDENTIAL NOMINEE ON JULY 27—LEADERS IN ALL-DAY CONFERENCE

Washington, June 21—Senator Harding will be formally notified of his nomination as the Republican presidential candidate July 22 at his home in Marion, Ohio.

Governor Coolidge of Massachusetts will be notified of his nomination by the Republican party for vice-president July 27, at his home in Northampton, Mass.

The dates for the two notification ceremonies were decided to-day at a conference in Washington, at which Senator Harding, National Chairman Hays and a sub-committee of the Republican national committee participated.

The conference at its session, which lasted all day and into the early night also agreed on an executive committee to have general charge of the campaign.

While the conference was in progress Mr. Hays issued a statement in praise of both Senator Harding and Governor Coolidge, as that measuring "up to every requirement of a presidential candidate" and informally approving the Senator's announced intention of conducting a "front porch" campaign.

Mr. Hays, in a conference with news paper men announced that the center of activity in the conduct of the coming campaign would be Chicago, the place where he expects to spend the most of his time. He said, however, that the New York office would be no less important than it had been in the past. Headquarters also will continue to be maintained, he said, in Washington and San Francisco, with a branch office in Denver.

In declining to discuss campaign issues, Mr. Hays said, he felt compelled to do so until after Mr. Harding had made his speech accepting the nomination.

The Right Man.

Chairman Hays, in his formal statement said

"Senator Harding possesses just those vital qualities of mind and of heart necessary today, and in the time just ahead. His poise of mind, his soundness of judgmeat, his hold on fundamentals, his appreciation of the needs of the day and of tomorrow, his love of the people from whom he came and of whom he is one, and his faith in them—this magnificent grasp of large affairs, his great native ability and his training in statesmanship, his regard for the opinion of others, his experence and success in the handling of men, his proper appreciation of his country's position as a responsible factor in the world's future, but with the fullest realization of the absolute importance of our own supreme nationalism, his sterling Americanism, his righteous character and manhood, and withal his thorough humanness, all qualify him in the most exceptional degree for the tremendous responsibilities which will soon be his. He will make a splendid candidate and a great president. The country will love him, honor him, trust him and follow him, just as all who know him love and trust him, and the world will honor him.

"Too, in Governor Coolidge we have a candidate for vice president who measures up to every requirement of a presidential candidate. Fortunate, indeen, is the country."

Prior to his conference with the national committee members, Mr. Harding held conference with Senator Kellogg of Minnesota, former Senator Albert J. Beveridge of Indiana, a former progressive leader; former Senator Marion Butler of North Carolina, and Judge Peter C. Pritchard, who received the vote of the North Carolina delegation in the Chicago convention for the presidential nomination. All pledged their support in the campaign. Senator Smoot paid the nominee a farewell visit before leaving for his home in Utah.

FIRST COTTON BLOOM SENT IN FOR CHILTON COUNTY

Late Wednesday evening as we were printing this issue of the paper we received our first cotton bloom of this season for Chilton County. Was sent to us by Mr. Enoch Driver of Route 2. He says he found the first one on his field on Tuesday. Chilton County is nearly as forward as any other county in reporting the first bloom, as the first one for the state was announced only las week.

J. D. Sims of Jemison was here on Wednesday. He is going to open up a house furnishings business at Jemison in the next few days. The firm will be known as Sims & Roper.

U. S. TRADE BALANCE OF 17 BILLION AGAINST WORLD

The Amount which the United States Has Pillaged up Since Start of The Great World War.

Washington, June 22.—Since the beginning of the world war in 1914 the United States has rolled up a trade balance of approximately seventeen billions of dollars against the world. This exceeds by several billions of dolars the tota baance in favor of the United States from 1875 to 1914. Department of commerce figures today show that the trade balance made in favor of the United States during the fiscal year ending in 1914 one month before the war began, was $1,094,419,600, and in the next year ending June 30, 1916, it was $2,135,599,375. During the following year the total was $3,330,693,209.

Meantime the United States had entered the struggle and in the year ending June 30, 1918, the first full fiscal year of America's participation the balance was $2,974,055,973, in the next year ending last June 30, however, it was $4,164,564,618.

During the first eleven months of this fiscal the balance was only $2,788,451,602, but exports were larger in these eleven months than in any other full fiscal year in the nation's history, as against the previous 12 months record of $7,252,282,686, as made during the last fiscal year.

Alabama Minister Relieved

Stomach Troubles Made Him Feel Sick at Meal Times, But Now Always Enjoys His Meals.

DO YOU enjoy your meals? Eat without the dread of the after effects?

Lack of appetite, and a disagreeable, sick-at-the-stomach feeling after meals, usually indicate that your digestive organs are not working properly. As a result you will feel weak, lose weight and lack the energy that is to be derived from well-digested food.

A [illegible] help in [illegible] such [illegible] to [illegible]

Ala., who writes: "I had stomach trouble. When I would go to eat, I would turn sick. I took one bottle of Zirex, and it cured me. Am always ready for my meals and enjoy them. I think it is a fine medicine."

If your food hurts you, if your appetite is poor, if you are pale, weak and run-down, and have other symptoms that indicate your system needs help, try Zirex. It will put iron into your blood and help build you up. Take it according to directions, and if not benefited by the first bottle, the manufacturer guarantees will protect you.

CONDENSED CLASSICS

THE PRISONER OF ZENDA

By ANTHONY HOPE

Condensation by Prof. William Fenwick Harris

Anthony Hope, known outside the world of books as Sir Anthony Hope Hawkins, was born in London, Feb. 9, 1863, the son of a clergyman. He married an American woman. It is to be hoped he may have many more children of the brain to follow in the footsteps of "The Prisoner of Zenda" and "The Dolly Dialogues."

He was educated at Marlborough, and at Balliol College, Oxford, where he took honors in letters and was president of the Oxford Union, which means that he was already a man of mark in his undergraduate days. By way of a profession he became a barrister of the Middle Temple in 1877. But if the pursuit of the law interferes with the production of a thrilling tale, may he never have a case to prepare.

His first book was "The Prisoner of Zenda," which has probably remained his best known one. It had a large bearing when turned to the stage, and the public demanded a sequel, which came in "Rupert of Hentzau." After Zenda quickly followed "The Dolly Dialogues," which, by their easy and debonaire grace, invitably suggest Lawrence Sterne. His books have been numerous, as "The King's Mirror" and "Tristam of Blent," and he has written plays as well, as "The Adventure of Lady Ursula." A touch of sureness and precision lend distinction to his prose; he has an unusual power of interesting his readers in his personages and their doings.

RURITANIA was not England, or the quarrel between Duke Michael and Rudolf Rassendyll could not have gone on, with the remarkable incidents which marked it, without more public notice being directed to it. It is perhaps as strange a thing as has ever been in the history of a country that the king's brother and the king's personator, in a time of profound peace, near a placid, undisturbed country town, under semblance of amity, should wage a desperate war for the person and life of the king.

Yet such was the struggle between Black Michael and Rudolf Rassendyll, both of the royal house of Elphberg, but of very differing antecedents. The one was well known to the royal palace at Strelsau; the other was at home at 305 Park lane, London, West. The kinship between the two was quite an accident, dating from the year 1733, when a dashing young prince, later known to fame as Rudolf the Third of Ruritania, paid a visit to London. There he was courteously entertained and was a great favorite with the ladies, especially Amelia, countess of Burisdon, and Baroness Rassendyll. In the end the prince left England rather hastily under a cloud, but not before he had fought a somewhat sanguinary duel with Countess Amelia's husband. In the years since there have appeared at intervals in the family of the Rassendylls certain sons who have been marked by the long, sharp, straight nose and the dark red hair of the royal house of Ruritania.

The years pass, many of them, and another Rudolf of Elphberg is about to be crowned king of Ruritania. The same nose, the same red hair distinguish him. The loyal half of the population of Ruritania could not sleep at night till the coronation was safely over. For the late king had left another son, by a second and morganatic marriage, Black Michael, duke of Strelsau and lord of Zenda. Though Michael bore none of the marks of the Elphbergs, he had been his father's favorite, and he cast a longing eye on the throne; all the cut-throats and blackguards of Ruritania seconded his wish, for Michael was a man after their own hearts.

Curious that young Rudolf Rassendyll should be moved by an idle curiosity to witness the coronation of Rudolf of Ruritania; still more curious that he, too, should bear the familiar nose, the same red hair. So thought Colonel Sapt, aide to the king, and Fritz von Tarlenheim, his close friend, as they came upon the young Englishman in the forest of Zenda, making his way afoot to Strelsau. So, too, thought the king when he appeared a moment later. But scandals of the past can no more be concealed in Ruritania than in England. As young Rassendyll later told the tale, first the king frowned, "then gradually the corners of his mouth began to twitch, his nose came down (as mine does when I laugh), his eyes twinkled, and, behold, he burst into the merriest fit of irrepressible laughter, which rang through the woods and proclaimed him a jovial soul.

"'Well met, cousin!' he cried, stepping up to me, clapping me on the back, and laughing still. 'You must forgive me if I was taken aback. A man doesn't expect to see double at this time of day, eh, Fritz?'

"'I must pray pardon, sire, for my presumption,' said I. 'I trust it will not forfeit your majesty's favor.'

"'By heaven! you'll always enjoy the king's countenance,' he laughed, 'whether I like it or not.'"

All the good fellowship in the world, however, could not permit royal scandals of the past to be raked up at a coronation. Rudolf Rassendyll must not show his face at this moment in the capital of Rudolf of Raritania. "But by thunder," cried the king, "you shan't leave Ruritania today. For you shall dine with me tonight, happen what will afterward."

That was just the trouble, "happen what will afterward." One bottle led to another, until they were all as full of wine as they had any right to be. At last the king set down his glass and leaned back in his chair.

"'I have drunk enough,' said he.

"'Far be it from me to contradict the king,' said I. Indeed, his remark was most absolutely true—so far as it went. But still another bottle—this from Black Michael, praying that he drink for the love that he bears his brother. Could the king refuse? He could not. Was the wine drugged? The morning answered yes.

"'If he's not crowned today,' cried Sapt, 'I'll lay a crown he's never crowned.'

"'By heavens, why?'

"'The whole nation's there to meet him; half the army—aye, and Black Michael at the head—shall we send word that the king's drunk?'

"'That he's ill,' said I, in correction.

"'Ill!' echoed Sapt, with a scornful laugh. 'They know his illness too well. He's been ill before! As a man grows old he believes in fate. Fate sent you here. Fate sends you now to Strelsau. You'll go?'

"'Yes, I'll go,' said I, and I turned my eyes on the prostrate figure of the king.

"'Tonight,' Sapt went on in a hasty whisper, 'we are to lodge in the palace. The moment they leave us you and I will mount our horses and ride here at a gollop. The king will be ready, and he must ride back with me to Strelsau, and you ride as if the devil were behind you to the frontier.'"

So began those wondrous days of adventure which saw the throne of Ruritania occupied by an Elphberg with all the traces of the stock, though not "of the blood." "The play actor," Rupert of Hentzau called him, when he came to know the secret, but "as good an Elphberg as ever sat upon it," declared Sapt at the end.

The wild ride to Strelsau, with Sapt instructing the English Rudolf most minutely in his past life, his family, his tastes, pursuits, weaknesses, friends, companions and servants—as Ruritania knew them—the etiquette of the court, what would be expected at the coronation—and above all of the Princess Flavia.

"God save the king!" cried the people after the coronation had been safely managed.

"God save 'em both!" whispered Sapt as his mouth wrinkled into a smile.

But if things went well at Strelsau with Rudolf Rassendyll, now crowned as Rudolf the Fifth of Ruritania and the accepted lover of the Princess Flavia, fortune did not smile on the other Rudolf at Zenda. For Black Michael had had word from there that cleared for him the mystery of the coronation. Riding as fast as horses could lay feet to the ground, he seized poor Rudolf of Ruritania and held him prisoner. But then ensued a pretty pass.

"Aye, but he can't speak," roared Sapt in grim triumph. "We've got him. How can he denounce you without denouncing himself? 'This is not the king, because we have kidnaped the king and murdered his servant.' Can he say that? Hang me if Michael won't expose himself, if he tries to expose you."

But the most difficult situation for a loyal gentleman—and that was Rudolf Rassendyll—arose from the Princess Flavia. "I had to keep the princess devoted to me—and yet indifferent to me; I had to show affection for her—and not feel it. I had to make love for another; and that to a girl who—princess or no princess—was the most beautiful I had ever seen. How I succeeded in carrying out my program will appear hereafter."

How they fell in love, he with her and she with him, is part of the story. And how, forgetting self, he rescued the king, and robbed himself of love and throne and almost life. When he had fallen sorely wounded:

"Fritz," he called, "is the king still alive?"

"Aye, friend—dear friend;" said he, tender as a woman, "thanks to the most gallant gentleman that lives, the king is alive!"

All's well that ends well. But of the Princess Flavia?

"If I can never hold sweet converse again with her, or look upon her face, or know from her her love, why, then, this side the grave, I will live as becomes the man she loves; and for the other side I must pray a dreamless sleep."

How to Treat A Torpid Liver

The liver is the largest and most important organ in the body, and when the liver refuses to act, it causes constipation, biliousness, headaches, indigestion, gas, sour stomach, bad breath, dysentery, diarrhoea, pains in back and under shoulder blades and under ribs on right side. These symptoms lead to colds, influenza or other serious troubles unless corrected immediately.

An inactive liver places an extra burden on the kidneys, which overtaxes them and causes the blood to absorb and carry into the system the impurities that the liver and kidneys have failed to eliminate.

When you treat the liver alone, you treat only a third of your trouble, and that is why you have to take purgatives every few nights. Calomel or other ordinary laxatives do not go far enough. If you would treat your kidneys and blood while treating the liver you would put your entire system in order and frequent purgatives would then be unnecessary.

Dr. W. L. Hitchcock many years ago recognized these important facts, and after much study and research, compounded what is now known as Dr. Hitchcock's Liver, Kidney and Blood Powders, three medicines combined in one. This was the Doctor's favorite prescription for many years, being used by his patients with marked success. It is a harmless vegetable remedy that will not make you sick, and you may eat anything you like while taking it.

Get a large tin box from your druggist or dealer for 25c, under his personal guarantee that it will give relief, tone up the liver, stimulate the kidneys to healthy action and thereby purify the blood. If your dealer will not supply you, it will be mailed direct by the Hitchcock Medicine Co., Atlanta, Ga., upon receipt of price.—Adv.

FARM STOCK

DISEASES CARRIED BY DOGS

Animal Should Be Handled in Such Way as Best to Further Welfare of the Community.

Many diseases of man and domestic animals are carried by dogs. Everybody, of course, knows that the dog is responsible for rabies, but it is not so generally known that the dog is equally responsible for other fatal diseases. Among them may be mentioned hydatid and gid in man and stock, tapeworm in man and especially in children, tongue worm in man and stock, "measles" in sheep, cysticercosis of the liver in stock. Some of these parasites depend so absolutely on dogs as carriers that they would become extinct if dogs were not available as hosts. Dogs probably play a part, also, in the spread of diseases due to fungi, such as ringworm and favus, and they certainly play a part in the spread of diseases that may be carried by fleas and ticks.

The United States department of agriculture, while recognizing the dog as a useful domestic animal, insists that care must be taken to minimize the danger of diseases spread by them. In a general way, say the specialists of the department, there are three kinds of dogs—the ownerless dog, the other person's dog, and your own dog.

There Are Three Kinds of Dogs—The Ownerless Dog, the Other Person's Dog and Your Own Dog.

The stray dog which recognizes no owner, they say, does not fit into the modern scheme of civilization and must be eliminated. A dog that is allowed by the owner to wander at large will have substantially the same habits of life, the same sort of food, and be practically as dangerous as the ownerless dog. You have the right to insist, they point out, that such dogs keep off your premises.

Your own dog should be handled in such a way as best to further the welfare of the dog and the community. He should be kept in restraint and not allowed the full freedom of the house or even of the outside premises. He should not be allowed to be familiar with people, and especially with children. The dog should be kept free from external parasites by frequent baths and, if necessary, other appropriate measures, and should be freed from internal parasites by suitable measures and kept free by adequate attention to his food. He should only be allowed to leave the yard or the kennels in company with some person, and wherever conditions call for it should be kept in leash. When away from home the dog should be muzzled with a reliable metal muzzle, not with a strap muzzle that would be cruel to the dog if tight enough to be effective and which is usually so loose as merely to give a false sense of security, since it permits the dog to bite.

PURE-BRED SIRES SAVE CASH

Texas Breeder Finds Best Is Cheapest Whether With Cattle, Hogs or Other Animals.

"We have been in the cattle business for more than 35 years and have always kept the best pure-bred sires we could buy."

With this remark in a letter to the federal bureau of animal industry, C. H. Faires, a Texan, applied for enrollment in the "Better Sires—Better Stock" campaign.

"We have always tried to teach the people to use pure-bred sires of all kinds of stock," he added. "Our motto is the 'best is the cheapest' of anything we raise whether it be cattle, horses, mules, sheep, poultry or dogs. We have found this paid as well with dogs as with everything else."—United States Department of Agriculture.

CATTLE SHRINK IN TRANSIT

Owner Loses Considerable by Not Taking Proper Precautions in Shipping Live Stock.

Investigations by the Colorado agricultural college are beginning to show that shrinkage of live stock when shipped to market can be greatly reduced. The most important thing is comfortable car and not much crowding. The next thing is to have the animals well fed and contented when they are loaded and until they are sold at the terminal market. In other words, plenty of feed and water and comfortable quarters are most important.

"Some farmers," says R. W. Clark, live stock specialist for that institution, "ship regularly with little or no shrinkage, while others at all times have enormous shrinkage."

DODSON STOPS SALE OF CALOMEL

"Dodson's Liver Tone" is Taking Place of Dangerous, Sickening Chemical, Say Druggists

Every druggist in town has noticed a great falling off in the sale of calomel. They all give the same reason. Dodson's Liver Tone is taking its place.

"Calomel is dangerous and people know it." Dodson's Liver Tone is personally guaranteed by every druggist who sells it. A large bottle doesn't cost very much but if it fails to give easy relief in every case of liver sluggishness and constipation, just ask for your money back.

Dodson's Liver Tone is a pleasant tasting, purely vegetable remedy, harmless to both children and adults. Take a spoonful at night and wake up feeling fine; no biliousness, sick headache, acid stomach or constipated bowels. It doesn't gripe or cause any inconvenience all the next day like violent calomel. Take a dose of calomel today and tomorrow you will be weak, sick and nauseated. Don't lose a day.—Adv.

BREAK IN TRAIN'S SCHEDULE

Fair Driver of Auto Had a Hunch, and the Sequel Proved She Was Correct.

Let me recommend a ride in a new car with a woman driver as the best prescription for a thrill that will last a lifetime, writes a correspondent. Mine came when, after reluctantly accepting an invitation to ride from a friend who had just received her new machine, we mounted the incline to a grade crossing in a suburb and started across the tracks. In the exact middle the engine stopped and nothing we could do had the slightest effect on it. While working we were approached by an excited flagman.

"A limited is due here in two minutes," he said, "and it never has stopped at this station."

"It will today," calmly replied my friend. And it did, but not before it had been flagged and the train crew helped boost us from the rails.

More Critical.

"Kind sir," began the measly mendicant, "the Lord loves even the meanest and most humble of us, and—"

"How did you enjoy the exhibition at the zoo?" "I thought it was a beastly affair."

MAN IS AFTER INFORMATION

After Listening to Much Sage Advice Bill Jones Wants One Matter Cleared Up.

Our friend Bill Jones is a traveling man and needs rest, but unfortunately he doesn't sleep well. He has consulted a number of doctors in the various towns he visits, and being a systematic person has made a sort of digest of the advice he has received. It sums up as follows:

Don't sleep on your left side, as that creates a pressure on the heart.

Don't sleep on your right side, as it interferes with the action of the right lung.

Don't sleep on your back, as that is bad for the nervous system.

Don't sleep on your stomach, as that causes a pressure bad for the digestion.

"Don't sleep in a chair, as the body cannot properly relax.

Bill wants to know if anyone can tell him how to keep from falling off when he sleeps standing up.

Intruders.

"Why don't you take children in the apartment house?"

"Their crying," replied the janitor, "is liable to interfere with the phonographs and player pianos."

TIME MAKES LITTLE CHANGE

Booth Tarkington Relates Anecdote to Show How Characteristics Prevail to the End.

Novelist Booth Tarkington was talking about the cowardly attack that a gang of Germans had made on a solitary French officer in the restaurant of the Hotel Adlon in Berlin.

"The Germans," he said, "were unspeakable in the beginning, and they will be unspeakable to the end."

He shoook his head thoughtfully.

"People can't change," he said. "Henry Labouchere was born a fearless wit, and a fearless wit he died. A few hours before his death, you know, Labouchere's nephew upset a tiny spirit lamp that was burning by the bedside. The dying man awoke out of a fitful doze and saw the miniature conflagration.

"'Flames?' he said, 'Not yet, I think.'

"And he laughed quizzically and dozed again."

Delayed.

"Started work in your garden yet?"

"No. My neighbor's been so busy working in his I haven't had the heart to borrow his tools."

Highway Improvement

ROADS STAND TRUCK TRAVEL

Comprehensive Experiments and Tests Now Being Made by Bureau of Public Roads.

State highway departments are vitally interested in the successful outcome of comprehensive experiments and tests now being made by the bureau of public roads of the United States department of agriculture. One state engineer recently declared that millions of dollars in his state are involved in the proper design of road surfaces, which make up one of the problems being investigated by the federal engineers.

The coming into general use of the heavy motor truck has practically revolutionized the science of road building. Big new problems came when loads weighing 10 to 15 tons took the place of vehicles that placed a weight of one-fourth as much or less. The roads built ten years ago were constructed before this fact could be realized—which is one of the reasons why many "permanent" roads have proved to be impermanent.

Constructing Road Sections for Impact Tests.

One of the testing experiments being made by the federal bureau involves the use of a 40-section roadway in the Arlington farm, owned by the department of agriculture. Each section was built from a different type of material, or with a different method of construction. The same use is given to each section, so that eventually the type of construction best suited to heavy traffic will prove itself.

TREE PLANTING BY ROADSIDE

Shade Is Great Help in Keeping Pavement in Prime Condition—Beauty Is Added.

There is a newly discovered benefit in tree planting by the roadside. It has been learned of late that the shade or partial shade of roadside trees is a great aid in keeping the pavement in prime condition. The authorities tell us that during the hot days of summer improved roadbeds are injured by the direct rays of the sun and that the partial shade of trees planted by the roadside enables the cement or other pavements to stand much longer unimpaired. Roadside trees will far more than pay for themselves by assisting in preserving good roads. Then there is the beauty of shade trees, and if fruit trees are planted think of the abundance of peach, plum, pear, cherry, apple and other fruit trees growing by the roadside which in the aggregate would amount to millions of dollars if generally planted through the fruit growing sections of the United States.

URGE CHANGE IN ROAD RULES

British Columbia Favors Alteration to Encourage Motorists From Other Sections.

Changes in the highway regulations now in force in British Columbia are being urged by local automobile and trade associations as a means of inducing motorists from other parts of Canada, and from the United States, to travel in the province. The present rules, which differ considerably from those followed elsewhere on the continent, are declared to deter tourists from including the region in their itineraries. Legislation intended to remedy this condition is being considered by provincial government officials.

INCONSISTENCY IN FARMING

Roadside Often Neglected by Farmer Who Is Provided With Most Modern Equipment.

Often a farm is seen provided with the best of equipment, good fences, fine premises and well painted buildings, yet the roadside is wholly neglected. Such inconsistency is like putting a dirty collar on a clean shirt.

DEPENDENT ON GOOD ROADS

Many Farm Crops Must Be Hauled Some Distance to Railroad Stations and Markets.

Farming is essentially dependent on the condition of country roads; for whatever is not produced on the farm must be hauled to the farm, and many crops of the farm must be hauled away to the railroad stations and local markets.

LONG LIST OF SYMPTOMS

North Carolina Lady Was Nervous, Weak and Suffered Greatly, but Relief Soon Came After She Took Cardui.

Asheville, N. C.—Mrs. J. A. Sluder, of 45 Woodrow avenue, this city, recently made the following statement:

"I was in a very run-down condition after . . . I wasn't able to go.

"I was nervous, weak and couldn't do my work.

"I felt like, at times, no matter what happened, I couldn't get up a spark of interest.

"I was depressed, blue, and continually on the lookout for something to happen.

"I couldn't sleep to do any good, and had to force myself to eat when meal time came.

"I suffered some pain in my back and sides, but the worst trouble was weakness and depression.

"I decided to try a tonic.

"My sister had gotten such fine results from Cardui, I began using it.

"Soon I noticed I would get hungry, and sleep at night, and this, of course, was a great help.

"I grew less nervous.

"The depression left me and soon I was well and strong.

"I enjoy good health, thanks to Cardui." Ask your druggist about it. —Adv.

WHY DRUGGISTS RECOMMEND SWAMP-ROOT

For many years druggists have watched with much interest the remarkable record maintained by Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder medicine.

It is a physician's prescription.

Swamp-Root is a strengthening medicine. It helps the kidneys, liver and bladder do the work nature intended they should do.

Swamp-Root has stood the test of years. It is sold by all druggists on its merit and it should help you. No other kidney medicine has so many friends.

Be sure to get Swamp-Root and start treatment at once.

However, if you wish first to test this great preparation send ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., for a sample bottle. When writing be sure and mention this paper.—Adv.

Saved An Operation

MR. W. F. NELSON, a merchant of Hixon, Tenn., says: That the daughter of one of his neighbors, Mr. James Roberts, was in such a condition with female trouble that an operation was advised, and the young lady was sent to Chattanooga for its performance. She dreaded the operation, and STELLA VITAE having been recommended, decided to try that first. She has taken six bottles and is happily on the road to recovery. She is able to do her usual work and is in better health than for years before, but continues to use it. She writes: "STELLA VITAE will do all you claim." Her father says "She began to improve at once, after taking STELLA VITAE."

Children Cry For Fletcher's CASTORIA

Special Care of Baby.

That Baby should have a bed of its own all are agreed. Yet it is more reasonable for an infant to sleep with grown-ups than to use a man's medicine in an attempt to regulate the delicate organism of that same infant. Either practice is to be shunned. Neither would be tolerated by specialists in children's diseases.

Your Physician will tell you that Baby's medicine must be prepared with even greater care than Baby's food.

A Baby's stomach when in good health is too often disarranged by improper food. Could you for a moment, then, think of giving to your ailing child anything but a medicine especially prepared for Infants and Children? Don't be deceived.

Make a mental note of this:—It is important, Mothers, that you should remember that to function well, the digestive organs of your Baby must receive special care. No Baby is so abnormal that the desired results may be had from the use of medicines primarily prepared for grown-ups.

SOCIETY AND PERSONALS

MRS. R. E. LUCKIE, Editor.

SURPRISE PARTY FOR VISITORS

One of the most enjoyable social affairs of the week among the younger set was a surprise party given at the home of Miss Mary Upchurch for Miss Kate Rainer.

After the guests "dropped in" several games were indulged in till a late hour, then went to Upchurch's Drug Store for ices.

Those enjoying this party were: Misses Kate Rainer, Alice Stanfield, Birdie Teel, Anice Kemp, Warene Spigener and Margaret Hester, Messrs Dick Hayes, Evans Edwards, Herbert Davis, Claudie Pipes, Grady Heflin, Lucian Duncan, Billie Orr and Joe Mullins.

CALLOWAY - HENLEY

At the Methodist Parsonage on Friday night Miss Gorie Calloway of Maplesville and Mr. Fred Henley were quietly married, in the presence of only a few friends. Rev. E. C. Maye performed the ceremony. The bride was handsome in a blue suit with accessories to match.

Mr. and Mrs. Henley left for their home in Maplesville.

MRS. BROADHEAD HOSTESS

A very interesting meeting of the Womens Missionary Society was held at the home of Mrs. J. R. Broadhead on Monday evening. Mrs. Roberts opened the meeting with scripture reading, followed by prayer by Mrs. Maye. The social service program was splendidly conducted by Mrs. W. W. Fox.

A delicious salad plate with tea was served by Misses Jewell Popwell and Theo Headley.

After an absence of about two weeks from the city, Miss Della Latham returned home Monday bringing her little niece, Mary Ellis with her.

MRS. LUCKIE HONOREE

As a special courtesy to her sister Mrs. R. E. Luckie, who is her house guest, Mrs. Clarke Harper entertained at a pretty porch party Thursday morning. The porch, where three tables were arranged for bridge, was attractive with its decorations of fern and shasta daisies. The score prize was a deck of cards, while the guest prize was a dainty piece of lingerie. A lovely salad plate was served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. M. Calhoun. —Columbus Ledger.

POSTMASTER'S EXAMINATION

At the request of the Postmaster General the United States Civil Service Commission has anounced an examination to be held at Montgomery, Ala., on July 14th, 1920, for the position of postmaster at Clanton, Ala. This office has an annual compensation of $1800.

To be eligible for this examination an applicant must be a citizen of the United States, must actually reside within the delivery of the office and have so resided at the time the present vacancy occurred.

Applicants must have reached their 21st but not their 65th birthday on the date of the examination.

Application Form 2241 and full information concerning the requirements of the examination may be secured from the postmaster at the place of vacancy, or from the Civil Service Commission, Washington, D. C. Applicantions should be properly executed and filed with the commission at Washington, D. C., in time to arrange for the examination of the applicant.

SUNDAY SCHOOL CLASS MEET

On last Monday evening at the home of Mrs. Martin Nix the E. C. Maye Sunday School class held a most interesting meeting. The porch where the guests were received was lovely with decorations of hydrangia. The guests were received and served Chero-Cola by Misses Evelyn Potts Nix and Mary Heard. The meeting was presided over by the president, Mrs. Barney Roberts, and a mother's program was enjoyed. The class presented the president, Mrs. Roberts, with a Sunshine Bag, as a going-away gift, as a token of her faithful and never failing services to the class.

A lovely salad plate was served by Misses Warene Spigener and Gladys Mae Nix. The guests of the class for the afternoon were Mesdames Earl Gowan, Grady Reynolds, Forrester, and L. F. Gerald.

MISS UPCHURCH ENTERTAINS

Among the lovely social affairs of the week was a pretty luncheon given by Miss Mary Upchurch on Wednesday, when she complimented Miss Kate Rainer of Elba. At the noon hour the guests were invited to the dining room where covers were laid for eight and a betutiful lunchceon served.

The central decoration of the table was a basket of sweet peas surrounded by nasturtiums and ferns.

Rook was played in the early afternoon. Later the party went to Mims Swimming Pool. This happy crowd consisted of Misses Kate Rainer, Marie Thomas, Alice Stanfield, Anice Kemp, Mary Sue Mullins, Warene Spigener, Gladys May Nix and Birdie Teel.

Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Upchurch were visitors to Birmingham Wednesday.

Mr. A. S. Prince is in New Orleans on business for a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. Mallie White left for a short visit to New Orleans.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Mullins are visiting relatives in Clanton this week.

Mr. and Mrs. DeVaughn of Birmingham spent several days with Mr. and Mrs. G. O. McKee last week.

Mr. Curry Thomas returned to Clanton after spending the week-end in Birmingham.

Miss Leona Pipes has returned home from Hollins, Va., where she was a student during the past season.

Mrs. D. S. Wingard and son are visiting relatives in Shelby this week.

Misses Dewey Branch and Cuba Keith spent the week-end in Birmingham.

Mrs. Marion Foshee has as her guest this week Mrs. Tom Lowe and daughters.

Whet up your appetite for music and prepare to attend the concert to be given by the Clanton Boy Scouts Band at the High School Building in Clanton on Saturday night, June 26. They will have a program that will satisfy you, no matter how hungry you are for the jazz. Prof. Memoli has brought the boys to the front in the short time he has been teaching them and when you hear them play at this concert, you will be surprised at the skill they show.

SIMPLY GETTING ALONG FINE NOW

Well known Mobile Lady suffered of Stomach Disorder, Kidney Trouble, Constipation, and Dizzy Spells.

Declares her relief is complete since taking Dreco, the new root and herb juice remedy.

"I am gettnig along simply fine now and I don't have to take an enema each day, as I formeriy did, since Dreco, the great remedy, has done so much for me," says Mrs. John T. Fred, 109 Government Street, Mobile.

"Dreco is the greatest medicine I ever encountered in my life; it has done for me what nothing else has done, and that is why I want every one to know about it, sot hey too, may get well.

"For a long time I have suffered from constipation and kidney trouble, severe pains in my back and my limbs caused much suffering. I could not stoop over for the pains, and my tite failed and I was growing very weak and falling off in weight.

Two bottles of Dreco have relieved me of all my pain and my bowels act regularly as a clock. My appetite has returned and I have gained in weight. Does anyone wonder what I am happy over by deliverance from pain, and that I should want every one to know and to profit by my experience?"

Dreco is now sold by all good druggists throughout the country, and is highly recommended in Clanton by Upchurch Drug Co.

Miss Eloise Kemp left Monday for an extended visit to relatives in Lake Charles, La.

Eric Hart of the Jones Hardware Company has been away on his vacation the past week. He visited his mother at Demopolis for a few days.

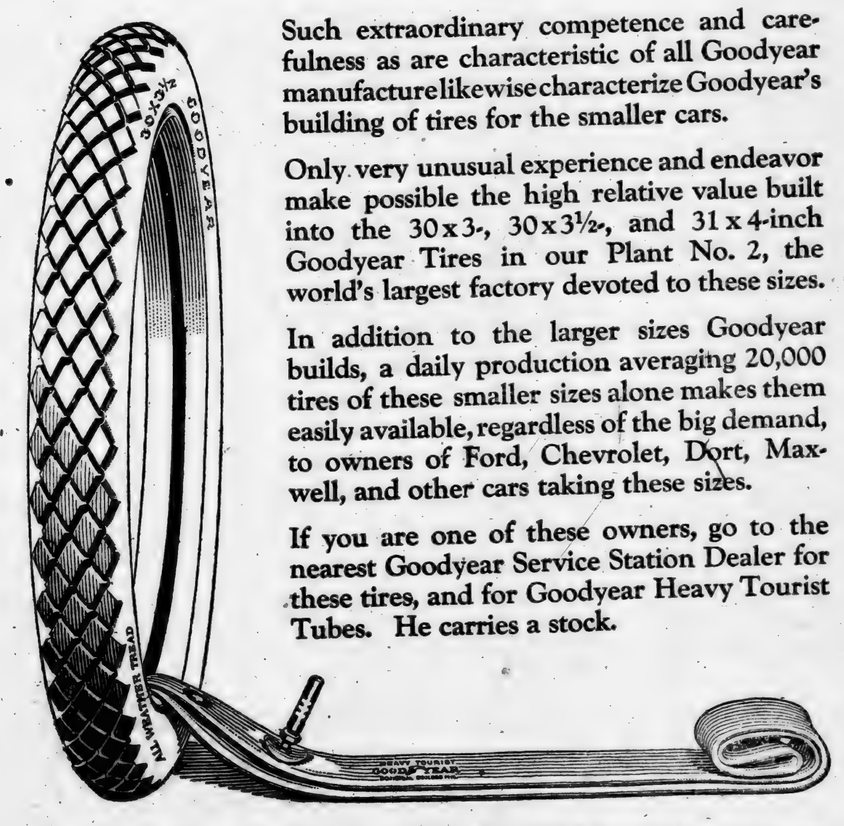
Merit That Makes Mileage —In Tires for the Smaller Cars



Such extraordinary competence and carefulness as are characteristic of all Goodyear manufacture likewise characterize Goodyear's building of tires for the smaller cars.

Only very unusual experience and endeavor make possible the high relative value built into the 30x3-, 30x3½-, and 31x4-inch Goodyear Tires in our Plant No. 2, the world's largest factory devoted to these sizes.

In addition to the larger sizes Goodyear builds, a daily production averaging 20,000 tires of these smaller sizes alone makes them easily available, regardless of the big demand, to owners of Ford, Chevrolet, Dort, Maxwell, and other cars taking these sizes.

If you are one of these owners, go to the nearest Goodyear Service Station Dealer for these tires, and for Goodyear Heavy Tourist Tubes. He carries a stock.

30x3½ Goodyear Double-Cure Fabric, All-Weather Tread — $23.50

30x3½ Goodyear Single-Cure Fabric, Anti-Skid Tread — $21.50

Goodyear Heavy Tourist Tubes are thick, strong tubes that reinforce casings properly. Why risk a good casing with a cheap tube? Goodyear Heavy Tourist Tubes cost little more than tubes of less merit. 30x3½ size in waterproof bag — $4.50

ENTERTAINMENT AT BAKER SCHOOL FRIDAY NIGHT.

Mr. J. V. Best, one of the Trustees of the Baker School, was in town on Tuesday, and asked us to announce that there will be an entertainment at the schoolhouse on Friday night of this week.

The teachers of the school are planning the program of exercises for the occas.on, and promise to make it interesting for all who will come. Besides the entertainment features there will be ice cream and cold drinks and other refreshments of various kinds for sale. The proceeds from the sales will be used in improving the school building.

The Baker school district is one of the most progressive in the county, and we hope the people of the adjoining neighborhoods will co-operate in their effort to improve their school. When you go to Baker schoolhouse you can be assured that the people there will treat you right. If you don't believe it ask Tom Littlejohn or Uncle Dock Wells. They attended the old time singing there a few days ago at which occasion Uncle Dock had his wonderful experience with the big chicken pie.

DISASTROUS HAIL STORM

The Banner has been informed that a most severe hail and rain storm visited upon the Union Grove community last Wednesday evening which resulted in the complete destruction of the crops over a wide section of that prosperous community. The rainfall is said to have been so heavy that the land was washed very badly. So complete was the destruction to the crops that some of the farmers will abandon their fields without the hope of making anything at all on them this season.

BRIDGES FALL IN

Judge Reynolds informs us that two bridges in the county have fallen in during the past few days making it necessary for the county to build new ones.

The first one to give away was the big bridge over Yellow Leaf Creek just of Thorsby on the Collins Chapel Road. It fell last Thursday as the creek was swollen by the excessive rain in the night before. When it fell Carter Willis was on it with his team of Mules. By the aid of several other people Mr. Willis succeeded in getting his mules out without much injury.

The other bridge fell Monday of this week, also with a team of mules in it at the time. It was the new bridge near Sam Curry's in Dry Valley.

EARL BARRETT DROWNED

News has been received in Clanton of the drowning of Earl Barrett, a young man of 18 years of age, at Edgewood Park in Birmingham Tuesday night.

Young Barrett was the only son of James Barrett of Birmingham, nephew of Mr. George Mims of Marberry. He was attending the opening of the swimming pool at the park when he drowned.

BRIDGE NOTICE.

The Commissioners Court of Chilton County, Ala., will meet at Yellow Leaf Creek, near Thorsby, Ala., June 29, 1920, at 10 o'clock, A. M., for the purpose of receiving bids to erect a steel bridge over said creek. The right to reject any and all bids is hereby reserved.

PLEASANT GROVE

Times are progressing very well at this place as the people are all well, and crops are looking good.

Sunday was very well spent here. There was preaching by Rev. Jeff Deason, and also communion service in the morning. Our singing society met in the afternoon and we had some very good singing. The songs were conducted by Prof. James Franklin, Mr. George Spivey and J. S. Wright. Organists were Misses Delia Champion, Bevie Childress, Nora Franklin and Mrs. Fleetwood Rasberry. Mr. and Mrs. Cleckler and Mr. and Mrs. Robinson from Pate's Chapel were with us. We very greatly appreciate their co-operation and expect them to be with us again. We also invite all others to meet with us in our song services.

As stated before, we met on the first and third Sunday afternoons, but on account of conflicting with the other societies have changed our time to the second and fourth Sundays in the afternoon. We hope for a great revival of the Master's work and we believe that a revival in the sacred musical field would greatly assist in this blessed cause.

Our dear poet, Edgar Allen Poe, has said of music, "It is in music perhaps that the soul most nearly attains the great end for which when inspired by the poetical sentiment it struggles—the creation of supernal beauty. It may be indeed that this sublime end is now and then attained in fact. We are often made to feel with a shivering delight that from an earthly harp are stricken notes which could not have been unfamiliar to the angels."

I have been requested to announce in this letter that the cemetetry here will be cleaned off July 9th. Everybody that is interested in this cemetery is invited to come and help in the work.

MT. NEBO.

The Mt. Nebo Singing Society met Sunday afternoon, June 27th, with a large audience and a good class. The singing was opened with song by S. A. Henley, Chairman. Prayer by Rev. Albert Foshee. Leaders appointed were Glover Smith, W. G. Culp, Blanco Durbin, Calvin Parrish, Sim Henley and Sam Culp. Organists were W. G. Culp, Mrs. Zella Scott, Zelma Lowery. One important feature of the program was a duet rendered by Prof. C. C. Parrish and Miss Claudia Smith. We were glad to have the Liberty class with us Sunday afternoon, and any time they will come; also anyone else who is interested in singing.

A party of Clanton disciples of Ike Walton will leave here by auto on next Sunday for Dead Lake Fla., to spend a week of sport in quest of the finny inhabitants of that region. As this is the most famous fishing resort in the Southern states, we know these gentlemen will have some tall fish stories on tap when they return. The party includes George Polk, Hub Nabors, Fate Maddox, Burk Hart, and Tom Woods.

CHILTON COUNTY ABSTRACT CO.

M. D. FOSHEE, MANAGER.

It is not safe to buy land or to lend money and accept land as security without first investigating the title of the land. Often there are unpaid mortgages, judgments, or other liens affecting the title, which an abstract would set out. Therefore, when buying land or lending money thereon, it is important that an abstract of title be furnished. A few dollars spent for an abstract is cheaper than going ahead and having a law suit a little later on.

Abstracts of Title Promptly Prepared at Reasonable Charges.

CLANTON, - ALABAMA.

THREE-MILL TAX

Clanton, Ala., June 30, 1920.

Dear Editor:

No doubt, by this time practically every voter in the county is aware of the fact that on the 13th day of July he will have the opportunity of casting his ballot for or against the retention of the present three-mill tax levied in the county for school purposes. "Where your treasure is there your heart is also." Now, it is not an easy matter to write or talk about taxes. Robert E. Lee once said, "Duty is the sublimest word in the English Language." Now the true parents treasure is his children. Since there has been so much said about taxes recently I shall take the privilege of calling your attention to some of the ways that we people in Alabama pay an enormous tax and yet are not aware of the fact that we are paying these taxes.

According to government statistics recently obtained by the Birmingham Age-Herald, the people in the State of Alabama during the past twelve months consumed over 120,000,000 cold drinks. Now, my friends the revenue on these cold drinks cost us $1,072,000, which went to the support of the Federal government. Then again, the exact estimate according to the same statistics shows that the people of Alabama consumed daily an average of 350,000 or to be exactly accurate 127,750,000 glasses of soda-water during last year. A conservative estimate from the above of the actual cost of the cold drinks consumed by the people of Alabama would be not less than $10,000,000 annually. How much did the public school funds of the State of Alabama amount to last year? $5,000,000. Thus it is "self-evident" that we spend twice as much in Alabama for cold drinks as the State is able to give for her public schools. According to the estimate if these drinks were all in "Coca-Cola" or "Chero-Cola" bottles placed end to end, they would stretch 3,487 miles, or from the Atlantic Ocean to the Pacific Coast, with about 300 miles left over.

At a certain railroad station in Chilton County where there are only two stores handling cold drinks they sell about $1,500 worth of cold drinks annually. The school building in that community together with the equipment of the same is worth not more than $800. How does this sound for the future generations yet to come? Now, this community sells less drinks than the average towns of Chilton County. The peopel of Chilton County spend more than twice as much each year for cold drinks alone as the three-mill tax would cost them.

Now, Mr. Voter, when you cast your ballot on the 13th day of July remember the welfare of the boys and girls of Chilton County, also with out a doubt you will recall the fact "ONE ALABAMA SCHOOL ROOM IN EVERY THREE HAD EITHER NO TEACHER OR A POOR TEACHER THIS YEAR!" Next year threatens to be even worse! If the tax is defeated there will be practically no schools in Chilton County, but the heavy cosumption of cold drinks and other beverages will not only hold its own with these conditions, but will show a decided increase as a result. This is your business, I have explicit confidence in the judgment and into your hands will be trusted the future welfare of your most sacred treasure—your boys and girls.

Yours very truly,
J. L. JOHNSON.

CREAM SUPPER

There will be a cream supper at Collins Chapel in the grove at J. H. Collins's Friday night, July 2nd. A special invitation is extended to everybody as there will be plenty of eats and drinks for all who are there.

CLANTON INFIRMARY FULL

We are informed that the Clanton Infirmary is filled to its capacity with patients at present. This is not because there is an abnormal amount of sickness in Clanton and surrounding communities but is due to the fact that people are beginning to realize that Drs. Gragg and Marcus, with the assistance of their efficient and faithful nurse, Miss Gardner, can take as good care of sick folks right here in Clanton as they can in any hospital in Birmingham and Montgomery.

Don't forget that Sunday School day will be observed at the Methodist Church Sunday morning at the eleven o'clock hour. Everybody is urged to come and enjoy the very interesting program which has been arranged, especially the parents of the children.

L. & N. train No. 1 will not make stops at Clanton for a while yet. The railroad has gotten out an injunction against the order of the public service commission requiring them to stop No. 1 at Clanton.

MR. W. Y. NIX HERE.

Mr. W. Young Nix, that sterling citizen and staunch Republican from over at Maplesville, was in Clanton Monday to see Major Simpson about his land valuation. Mr. Nix and Mr. Simpson did not have any trouble in adjusting their matters satisfactorily to both, and as Mr. Nix dropped in to see the editor just as he was leaving for his home he possessed that same cordial smile and pleasing disposition which he carries with him always. Most people lose their smiles and put on long faces when you begin to fool with them about tax matters; but the smile that Mr. Nix wears is of that variety that won't come off easily.

A few cases of typhoid have been reported in Clanton. Those who are lucky in escaping this dreaded disease should take further precautions to avoid it by swatting the fly and keeping their premises clean and sanitary. Special care should be exercised in the use of pure water, milk and ice.

LAND VALUATIONS COMPLETED

Major H. M. Simpson, Tax Adjuster for Chilton County reports that he has completed his hearings with the land owners of the county relative to valuations of their property for taxation by the State. In this work Mr. Simpson has proven himself thoroughly qualified for holding a diplomatic post, for none but a born diplomat could get by with as few scars as he has done in this tax raising business. We have heard no complaints against the Tax Adjuster, and so far as we can learn the tax valuations for our county are satisfactory to most of the people. To say the most of the matter, if they are not satisfied, they are not kicking very much.

FELL IN SLAB PIT

John McDowell's little girl fell in the slab pit at George Jones saw mill at Idella last Saturday and was very severely burned.

Omar Reynolds, son of Judge L. H. Reynolds, has gone to Columbia University to take a special summer course. He will be there six or eight weeks and will return in time to resume his law course at the University of Alabama this fall. He will complete the law school of the U. of A. in one more year, after which he plans to do post-graduate work at Harvard or Yale before beginning active practice.

SHOULTS HAPPENINGS

Rev. J. D. Martin preached another fine sermon at Pleasant Grove last Sunday. A large congregation was present.

A revival will begin here the Fourth Sunday in July.

Everyone seems to be preparing to celebrate the birth of our nation, the Fourth of July.

The farmers of this community are all about through with their work; but there is danger in quitting too soon.

Sheriff Gore was in our community one day last week, and destroyed a wild cat still. There are too many Christians in this community to allow such things to go on at our doors, to ruin our young boys. There is a time coming when every knee shall bow down and every tongue confess Christ; and it may not be long.

Mr. W. P. Hicks received a message from his brother, Holland, in Birmingham, who has had an operation for appendicitis, and has been very low; but now he is doing nicely, but not able to sit up any yet.

The friends of Mrs. Sanford Kelly will be delighted to learn that she is able to sit up.

A jolly crowd of young folks enjoyed a great time swimming in the beautiful Oakmulgee Creek one afternoon last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifton McGee and children spent Saturday night with Mrs. McGee's brother, W. P. Hicks.

Mr. Grover Merchant and family from Tabernacle spent last Saturday and Sunday with Mrs. Merchant's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Hamrick.

Miss Ruby Shoults and Miss Pearl Kelley from Lawley attended preaching at Pleasant Grove Sunday.

Miss Jessie Latham and sister, Daisy, from Lawley, spent Sunday with Misses Lucy and Allie Walker.

Mrs. Grady Bailey from Selma returned to her home Sunday accompanied by her sister, Mrs. John Mitchell. Mrs. Mitchell will see some doctors while in Selma; she is afraid she has cancers.

Mr. C. T. Walker was called to Clanton last Saturday on business.

Mrs. Cleve Latham visited her sick brother, Farmer Shoults, at Lawley, last Saturday, and she said he is not much better. He has just returned from Montgomery where he has been in hospital for a few weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Hamrick visited relatives in Perry County last week.

Some of the teachers of Pleasant Grove Sunday School are planning to attend the Sunday School teachers training school at Stanton next week. This will be a great benefit to the teachers.

TRIP TO ORVILLE

Tax Collector J. D. Collins is preparing for a trip to the great stock farms at Orville, below Selma, for a few days between the first and the fifteenth of August. He plans to make the trip through the country in autos as has been done heretofore, when several of our farmers have gone on such trips. Mr. Collins says he would like to have as many Chilton County farmers as possible to go with him on this trip. Those who can do so may notify Mr. Collins of their intentions of going and he will arrange passage there and return for $2.50 a man. The trip will be a valuable one, as those modern stock farms in that part of the state are certainly worth seeing.

ARCHITECT EMPLOYED FOR THE GRAMMAR SCHOOL BUILDING.

Announcement is made this week by the building committee of the Clanton Grammar School that Mr. Green, Architect, of Birmingham has been employed by the authorities to draft plans for the additional story to be built to the present Grammar School Building, which is provided for by the recently authorized bond issue of the Town of Clanton. It is the expectations and plans of those in charge of the matter to have the new building ready for the opening of the school this fall.

MORALITY OF YOUNG PEOPLE.

Editor Union-Banner:—Will you allow me space in our most appreciated paper to say a few words in regard to what Miss Era Sanders said about the morality of our young people. Let me say right here that when I read Miss Sanders' letter it made me feel so full of appreciation that I couldn't keep from writing. I have two girls and four little boys and I appreciate them and hope my friends will help me to see after them that they may come up in the good old fashioned way, so far as virtue is concerned. Fathers and mothers, let's all try to take care of one another's children. I will do all that I can, for I certainly do want my children to be reared so that they will be appreciated by those who care for the moralities of our nation.

I thank you for this space, Mr. Editor. J. M. WILLIS.

LANDE-MARGOLIS WEDDING IS POSTPONED.

The Banner has received the following telegram from Nashville:

"Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Margolis announce the postponement of the wedding of their daughter, Sadie, to Mr. Maurice Lande of Clanton, Ala., owing to illness in the family. The exact date of the wedding to be announced later."

The United States Health Department advises and asks for a vigorous campaign against rats all over the country, as bubonic plague has appeared in a number of the Gulf ports, and is liable to spread to the inland towns. Clanton has an over-supply of rats and we should get rid of them even if we must pay for having them killed. Some of the cities are paying ten cents apiece for every rat killed.

SUNDAY SCHOOL CONVENTION.

The following is the program for a Sunday School Convention to be held at Evergreen, three miles west of Verbena, on July 11, 1920:

10:00. Sunday school.
11:30. The Sunday School, What and Why? by J. B. Northcutt.
12:00. Adjourn.
1:30. Devotional services by G. W. Speer.
1:40. The Teacher and the Home; How they Can Help Each Other, by R. L. Duffey.
2:00. How to Double Your Sunday School, by J. B. Atkinson.
2:20. The Spiritual Life of the Sunday School, by J. L. Johnson.
2:40. Making the Lesson Interesting to the Class, by Miss Mary Carr Gibson.
3:00. Sunday School Progress since our last Convention,
3:15. Address by D. J. Flummer.
3:30. Our Sunday School Leaders between Sundays, J. C. Pattillo.
4:00. Adjourn.

FEW COMPLAIN SAYS MOORING

CHAIRMAN OF TAX COMMISSION SAYS 60 PER CENT BASIS IS ESTABLISHED FACT.

ORGANIZE EVERY COUNTY

Representative of Lawyers to Tour State and Set Up Bar Association.

Montgomery.—John S. Mooring, chairman of the state tax commission, who returned to the capitol after a tour of inspection in six counties, states that the equalization of taxes on a 60 per cent basis has gone far enough to authorize the statement that this equaliaztion is an established fact. Appeals from the ruling of tax adjusters, he states, are few and far between. During his absence from Montgomery Mr. Mooring visited the counties of Jefferson, Fayette, Etowah, Calhoun, Talladega and Shelby.

To Organize Every County In State.

Montgomery.—The executive committee of the Alabama Bar Association, adopted a resolution for the employment of an attorney to visit every county in the state and endeavor to effect as many county bar organizations. This representative of the state bar association will be appointed by Mr. Crum, chairman of the executive committee. It was also decided that hereafter, all applications for membership in the state bar association must be accompanied by the admittance fee.

Injunction Granted.

Montgomery.—A temporary writ of injunction, restraining the Alabama Public Service Commission from enforcing an order by that body June 9, requiring the Louisville and Nashville Railroad to have their interstate train number one, stop at Clanton, was awarded by Judge Leon McCord, of the Montgomery County circuit court. The order was issued subsequent to a petition filed in the equity division of the court by the Louisville and Nashville, praying such an injunction.

Centennial Coin Committee Meets.

Montgomery.—The special committee, of which Mrs. Thomas M. Owens, director of the state department of archives and histor , is chairman, charged with the duty of selecting and obtaining adoption of an original design for the Alabama centennial coin authorized by act of Congress, held a short conference at the capitol. Further plans concerning the issuance of the coin by the government mint were discussed.

Educators Meet In Mobile.

Mobile.—Needs of the public schools and several other important educational matters were discussed at a meeting of the county and city superintendents of schools, and boards of education, at Mobile. The conference was called by Spright Dowell, state superintendent. The counties represented were Mobile, Choctaw, Washington, Baldwin, Monroe, Clarke and Escambia.

Capital Increased.

Decatur.—The capital stock of the Tennessee Valley Bank will be increased to $150,000. Authority for the increase was voted at a meeting of the stockholders here. The directors were also given authority for an additional increase in capitalization of $50,000, whenever they see fit. This bank has a chain of branches in 16 north Alabama towns and cities, and has dfeposits of $5,000,000. It is one of the largest financial institutions in the state.

New Hospital Is Opened.

Andalusia.—The Andalusia City Hospital, recently incorporated, is opened for business. Plans for an extension are now being drawn, which will increase the capacity to 32 beds. The Covington County Hospital will also be ready for business within the next few weeks, with a $100,000 structure to be erected this Fall. Covington County now has three hospitals, two at Andalusia and one at Florala.

May Ask For Congressional Action.

Gadsden.—Capt. W. P. Lay is seriously considering the advisability of calling the Coosa-Alabama River Improvement Association together, to lay plans for congressional action looking to the opening of both the Alabama and Coosa Rivers to navigation. The fact that the Alabama Power Company will shortly begin construction of huge power dams on the Coosa means that most of the rapids that prevent navigation will soon be eliminated.

Welfare Meetings Held.

Montgomery.—Mrs. L. B. Bush, director of the Alabama State Child Welfare department, returned to Montgomery after attending education group meetings held in various parts of the state. Among other important subjects discussed at these group meetings was better salaries for teachers. At each session, Mrs. Bush brought to the attention of those present the importance to enforcement of the child welfare laws of the state.

No Protests Made On Tax.

Talladega.—Out of a total of approximately 3,000 cases to date, no appeal has been taken from the valuation placed by J. B. Russell, tax adjuster, on the taxable properties in Talladega County. Every case heard thus far has been settled in a satisfactory manner, it is said and no dissatisfaction among the tax-payers of the county has been expressed.

Sugar Rate Is Reduced.

Mobile.—As the result of a fight waged by the chamber of commerce traffic bureau in behalf of Mobile's shipping interests, the rate on sugar from New Orleans has been ordered reduced from 26½ cents to 21½ cents by the Interstate Commerce Commission, it is shown in a copy of the ruling just received by Traffic Manager R. G. Cobb. The new rate becomes effective August 13.

Board Is Reorganized.

Huntsville.—Paul Speake, for several years a member of the city board of education, has been elected president of that body and Mrs. Alberta Boswell, the only other long-time member, has been elected vice-president. Prof. Frank W. Williams was elected secretary. The board is now organized for the selection of teachers.

Sprinkler Is Bought.

Athens.—The commercial club authorized Secretary Sarver to go to Nashville and purchase a street sprinkler, and he closed the deal with the City of Nashville for a sprinkler which has been in use about six months. A committee was sent out later for donations from merchants and business men for funds to pay for it, amounting to a little over $500.

Appeals For Jewish Relief.

Montgomery.—Gov. Kilby before leaving for the National Democratic Convention at San Francisco, issued a statement urging the people of Alabama to support the Jewish war relief campaign, which opened June 27, and will continue through July 3.

School Tax Meets Defeat.

Heflin.—The special 3-mill tax for schools purposes in this school precinct of Cleburne County, was defeated at an election by the small majority of 12 votes. There was no organized opposition to the tax, however.

Dam Gets $4,000,000.

Sheffield.—Official news has just been received in Sheffield that $4,000,000 more has been allotted by the government to continue the work at Wilson Dam. This amount will be sufficient to meet expenses for another year. It will require about $6,000,000 or $7,000,000 additional to complete the work.

New Plant At Andalusia.

Andalusia.—The McGowin Lumber Company is installing equipment to manufacture shuttle blocks. There is a great demand for the article at present, the product being shipped to Northern points, and is also being exported to England.

Fruit Is Plentiful.

Mountain Creek.—The high cost of living has been reduced to a great extent in this section by the unprecedented crop of plums, whortleberries and blackberries. There has never been a moe plentiful crop of this fruit here.

Work On Dam Proceeds.

Bridgeport.—Government work on the lock and dam at Widows Bar on the Tennessee River continues making steady progress. A number of gasoline locomotives have been added to the equipment.

Field Day Is Success.

Bridgeport.—The field day sports indulged in by the Columbian Woodmen in their great rally for new members were enjoyed by a large number of people. The races furnished much amusement.

Roads Are Surveyed.

Fort Payne.—Highway engineers who have been stationed in this county for the past two months have about completed the survey of both proposed routes of the Birmingham-Chattanooga highway, which the state will build through this county.

Improvements At Nitrate Plant.

Florence.—Bids for the proposed construction work to be done at United States Nitrate Plant No. 2, and at Waco quarry in Franklin County, were opened in Maj. Bundy's office at the plant. Representatives of the various companies submitting bids were present, but the awards have not been announced. The bids opened covered the greater part of the $1,000,000 appropriation made to complete nitrate plant No. 2 as a munitions plant.

Road Route Inspected.

Sylacauga.—Several members of the committee from points south passed through Sylacauga to look into the matter of selecting the permanent route through this section to be decided on. There is every prospect that the old route, as used, will be made permanent. As a result of Winter and Spring rains, considerable damage was done to the highway, but considerable repair work has already been done, and more will be accomplished soon.

Flag of Washington

FOURTH OF JULY 1920

Ring the tuneful bells of Freedom,
Let their music float afar,
Look aloft and see our banner
Of the glorious stripe and star;
Crowned with vict'ry, bathed in splendor
Upon many a field of fame,
Heroes brave have died around it,
Each with an immortal name.

'Neath its folds our fathers triumphed
In the valiant days of yore,
And in battles for their country
They that beauteous banner bore;
Not a star today is missing,
Not a stripe a tarnish knows,
As it waves in conscious splendor
From the sun lands to the snows.

Let our Eagle guard it ever
For the honor it has won,
As he bathes his noble pinions
In the light of Freedom's sun,
Proud to see his emblem floating
'Gainst the vaulted azure sky;
Hear him shriek his proud approval
Every fourth day of July.

On the land and on the ocean,
Far as human eye can see
Lips repeat the deathless story
Of the Banner of the Free;
Born amid the storms of battle
Not a shame its glory mars;
And new nations wake to freedom
At the glitter of its stars.

Mirrored in our crystal rivers,
Streaming from our mountain peaks,
Loved by freemen for its beauty
It for Right and Homeland speaks;
Time will never dim its glory
While in heaven shines the sun;
Ever linked to song and story
Is the flag of WASHINGTON.

American's Creed

I believe in the United States of America as a government of the people, by the people, for the people, whose just powers are derived from the consent of the governed; a democracy in a republic; a sovereign Nation of many sovereign States; a perfect Union, one and inseparable, established upon those principles of freedom, equality, justice and humanity for which American patriots sacrificed their lives and fortunes. I therefore believe it is my duty to my country to love it; to support its Constitution; to obey its laws; to respect its flag and to defend it against all enemies.

William Tyler Page

"United States of America."

The name was original with Jefferson, and appears in the final paragraph of the Declaration of Independence, as follows: "We, therefore, the representatives of the United States of America, in general congress assembled, appealing to the Supreme Judge of the world for the rectitude of our intentions, do, in the name of the good people of these colonies, solemnly publish and declare, they these colonies are, and a right ought to be free and independent states."

Made Jefferson Immortal.

The Declaration of Independence was drawn up by Thomas Jefferson, who was only thirty-three years old. This remarkable manifesto, into which it has been said Jefferson "poured the soul of a continent," was adopted as he had drawn it, with the exception of a few unimportant changes.

Use of Doan's, However, Brought Complete Recovery and the Results Have Been Lasting.

"I used to think my back would surely break," says Mrs. H. S. Fiz, prominent lodge woman, 340 Carpenter Street, Reading, Pa. "My back pained me constantly. I was as helpless as a baby and a nurse had to stay with me all the time. The kidney secretions burned and passed as often as every ten minutes. Sometimes my eyes were almost closed by the swollen sacs beneath them and my limbs, too, swelled twice their normal size. For almost a year I was practically helpless and never expected to get downstairs again. I had been told that nothing could be done for me, and had given up all hope of ever getting better. My condition was critical when I was told about Doan's Kidney Pills. I began using them and the results made me hopeful of getting well again. The pain in my back eased up and my swollen limbs started to look more natural. I kept on using Doan's and became entirely well. I owe my life to Doan's."

WHAT SHALL WE HAVE FOR DINNER?

A change of menu is one of the constantly recurring problems of the day, and the progressive housewife is not satisfied with a monotonous diet. Variety in the serving of food does not depend so much upon the purse as upon the trained mind which is able to work out suitable dishes, fitted to the amount one is able to spend for food.

Honey Muffins.—Sift together three cupfuls of flour, four teaspoonfuls of baking powder, one-half teaspoonful of salt. Add two tablespoonfuls of melted butter, three eggs, well beaten, one cupful of strained honey and one cupful of milk. Bake in well buttered muffin tins.

Snowballs.—Make a batter of one cupful of cream or top milk, two tablespoonfuls of sugar, the yolks of four eggs, two teaspoonfuls of baking powder, and flour to make a drop batter. Fold in the stiffly beaten whites. Fill buttered cups and bake in a hot oven. Serve with crushed strawberries and cream.

Southern Sally Lunn.—Take four cupfuls of flour, three egg yolks, beaten very light, one cake of compressed yeast dissolved in a little warm water, two cupfuls of scalded milk, cooled; stir in a tablespoonful of melted butter, and after all the ingredients are well mixed add the stiffly beaten whites. Set to rise, and when light bake in well buttered muffin pans.

Blueberry Muffins.—Take two eggs; beat well; add one cupful of sugar, one cupful of milk, two teaspoonfuls of baking powder, two tablespoonfuls of melted butter and two cupfuls of flour sifted with the baking powder. Add two cupfuls of blueberries; mix well and bake in buttered muffin pans in a quick oven.

"Soup makes the soldier," said Napoleon I, but Napoleon III wisely suggested that "a soldier could not be made on soup made out of nothing."

SUMMER FOODS.

Have a good bed of spinach to use as long as the family enjoy it, then can what is left for winter, adding a few carrots, a stalk of celery and an onion for flavor. This mixture is especially good for small children just beginning to eat vegetables.

Baked Spinach.—Wash two pounds of spinach and cook without adding more water. Drain when tender, chop. Mash the yolks of two hard-cooked eggs and mix with the spinach; season well with salt and pepper. Line a deep buttered baking dish with the spinach, dot with bits of butter or cubes of salt pork. Beat three eggs lightly, add four tablespoonfuls of milk, three-fourths of a cupful of grated cheese, the chopped egg whites, one-fourth teaspoonful of mustard and paprika to taste. Pour into the spinach, mold and bake till the custard sets.

Molded Salmon.—Take two cupfuls of cold boiled salmon or a can of salmon, one tablespoonful of lemon juice, one egg yolk, two teaspoonfuls of sugar, one tablespoonful of flour, one teaspoonful of salt, paprika and mustard to taste, two tablespoonfuls of melted butter, two-thirds of a cupful of milk, one-fourth of a cupful of vinegar, one tablespoonful of gelatin softened in one-fourth cupful of cold water. Mix the dry ingredients, beat in the butter and milk, add vinegar. Cook in a double boiler, stirring until the mixture thickens. Add the gelatin, then the salmon, mix well and pour into molds. Serve on a bed of lettuce with any desired dressing.

Wilted Cucumbers With Sour Cream.—For those who can enjoy a cucumber without crispness this is a tasty dish. Slice cucumbers and put into salted water until wilted. Rinse in fresh, cold water and dry on a cloth. Season with salt and pepper and serve with thick sour cream poured over them.

Stuffed Peppers.—Parboil shapely green peppers, cut off the stem ends and scoop out the pulp and seeds. Fill the shells with seasoned crumbs, sausage or any chopped cold meat. Bake until well done, basting with melted butter. Serve on toast.

Rutabagas are so often served mashed and seasoned that we tire of the good vegetable; the following will be something to give variety: Cut with a French potato cutter sufficient balls from a large rutabaga, cook until tender, then serve in a good sauce. Rinse the turnip balls in cold water to which has been added a little vinegar, which will add flavor and blanch them at the same time. For the sauce, fry a small onion chopped fine, one small carrot also chopped, in a tablespoonful of butter; when a pale brown add one and one-half tablespoonfuls of flour and cook until the mixture bubbles; add one and one-half cupfuls of white stock or milk and cook until creamy. Season with one and one-fourth teaspoonfuls of salt, a few dashes of pepper and paprika, and cayenne. Pour over the turnips and garnish with parsley. Another sauce which is very good which may be served on diced turnips or turnip balls is a white sauce—a well beaten egg yolk, parsley and a bit of lemon juice.

GOOD THINGS FOR THE FAMILY.

A beefsteak pie is not a common dish yet it supplies more than one valuable food element.

Beefsteak Pie.—Take three-quarters of a pound of round steak, grind fine, using some of the fat. Season with salt and pepper. Beat two eggs, add two cupfuls of milk. Mix one and one-half cupfuls of flour, one and one-half teaspoonfuls of baking powder, then mix with two cupfuls of milk. Add to the meat and stir, mixing well. Turn into a buttered baking dish and bake in a moderate oven for an hour.

Date Custard.—Pour boiling water over one-half cupful of dates, stone and cut into small pieces. There should be one-half cupful after stoning. Scald one and three-fourths cupfuls of milk, add, moisten three teaspoonfuls of cornstarch with a little cold milk. Add salt and cook fifteen minutes. Add two well-beaten eggs, the stoned dates and a teaspoonful of vanilla. Turn into the individual molds and serve cold.

Egg Night Cap.—Beat one egg until light. Add one cupful of milk and two tablespoonfuls of sugar and a pinch of salt. Scald one cupful of milk and just at the scalding point pour gradually over the egg mixture, grate a little nutmeg over the top and serve hot. This is a good drink to stimulate the stomach, drawing the blood away from the head and inducing sleep.

Grape Foam.—Beat one egg until light. Add two tablespoonfuls of sugar, one wine glass of grape juice, one-half teaspoonful of lemon juice. Mix well and pour into a water glass; fill with cold water. Use a second glass, pouring back and forth until well mixed. Serve with cracked ice.

Tomato Chowder.—Take one and one-half cupfuls of tomatoes, six medium sized potatoes, three medium sized onions. Dice the potatoes, mince the onions, cut a slice of salt pork into dice and fry a light brown. Add the onions, and cook until a light brown. Add the potatoes, tomatoes and paprika to season. Cover with boiling water and simmer forty-five minutes. Add three cupfuls of milk, bring to the boiling point and serve.

Call to mind for a moment that a nation's rise and fall can be measured absolutely by its art; that a healthy and vigorous period shows itself in strong, pure art, and a period of debasement and vice in a low and vicious art.

THINGS TO THINK ABOUT.

The deduction made by our government scientists whose mission is to figure out just what kinds of foods are necessary to sustain the human body, is that the high cost of food is killing thousands of Americans and undermining the health of thousands of others. The reason for the casualty list is that the most expensive foods are necessary to sustain the health. Economy and necessity causes housewives to select the cheaper foods and thereby deprive their families of the important food principles.

The disease which is prevalent in undernourished children has made a great advance in the last few years. The word "acidosis" is so new that it is not yet in our dictionary. White bread and other starchy foods are consumed most extensively, as they are in most poor families, they bring on acidosis. The principal symptom is difficulty in breathing, as the lungs are trying to eliminate the excess of poison.

Such foods as cakes, pies, hominy, bread, potatoes and hot cakes should never make up more than half the menu. Young and old should eat spinach, chard, cabbage, carrots, lettuce, turnips, onions, apples, pears, oranges, grapefruit, and other fruits, as berries.

Where it is possible to have but a small garden spot, vegetables of various kinds may be grown and thus reduce the cost of living and furnish the family with the needed food. String beans served with butter, milk, bacon fat or in salads will furnish food which contains a right proportion of the food principles.

It is pleasant to be reminded that sugar is a luxury that could be largely eliminated with no bad effects. Now that summer is with us, a diet of fresh vegetables, fruits and milk in plenty and at regular intervals will not be a diet difficult to follow.

Adhesive plaster is a most useful household remedy for various things from sore fingers to corns and callouses.

RECOMMENDED TO THE SEAMSTRESS

THE fairly efficient seamstress who has what the French call "a sense of clothes," can take a small allowance in money and dress much better on it than richer women who lack good taste. Also she gets more pleasure out of her achievements and there are a good many women in this favored land who have the knack of doing much with little. Thanks to the wide publicity given by newspapers to all matters of dress in centers of fashion no American need ever be behind the times in styles.

Two afternoon gowns shown in the picture here, may be recommended to the seamstress who undertakes to make her own dresses. They offer a choice between long, straight lines for those who admire the slim silhouette and curved ones for those who are too slender, or those who find unbroken lines unbecoming to them.

Trimolette with an open or drop-stitch stripe, makes the handsome straight line dress. The design is simple but original, achieving a sleeveless jacket effect in the body which slips over an underbodice carrying the sleeves. Wide satin ribbon, in a soft quality, makes a short crushed band across the front, simulating a girdle, and square buttons are set at each side where it terminates. The elbow sleeves are finished with turn back cuffs that employ a band of ribbon and buttons in the same way. There is a very simple neck with sailor collar at the back.

A plain satin underskirt and bodice supply the foundation for the attractive frock of georgette, which might be made of voile. It features the new neck mode—high at back and open in front, and very full ruching of plaited silk with pinked edges, at the bottom of a full, short tunic. The girdle is a folded length of bias satin.

Little Maids in Silk Attire

IT IS, or it ought to be, a great occasion for the very little girl when she arrives at the splendor of her first silk dress. With it she has responsibilities thrust upon her; she must be taught to be careful to keep it clean and thus comes the beginning of her training in neatness and the unfailing charm of daintiness. Fashion decrees silk coats and frocks for little maids by the time their third birthday dawns and has selected sprightly taffeta as the prettiest and most practical of weaves for them, although neither crepe de chine nor georgette are denied them. But these softer silks are used in light colors for dress-up times while taffeta is sturdier and extends its usefulness to coats and dresses that will stand more wear.

Taffeta in dark blue makes the charming little frock shown in the picture on a little girl of four. It has a quaint flavor of old times (which it is easy to achieve in taffeta) with its short baby waist, round neck and wide, ruffled collar. The bottom of the waist is finished with a frill and band of the silk, the band having slashes in it for a narrow ribbon girdle to slip through. Short ruffled sleeves are caught up at the elbow and tied with ribbon. White sox and black slippers are in keeping with this little affair of other days.

Either taffeta or cotton will be successful in the pretty embroidered frock shown. It is scalloped at the bottom and set on to a narrow yoke also cut in wide scallops. A very simple stitchery like feather or cat stitching runs parallel with the scallops and little rose buds are embroidered above it. The same decoration appears on turned back cuffs that finish elbow sleeves and there is a sash of the dress material slipped through slashes cut in the body of the frock.

Julia Bottomley

THAT SPLASH OF COLOR.

Organdie and novelty cotton frocks are good looking. Imported embroidered voiles dotted in vari-color are given the splash of interest by a vivid sash of organdie with butterfly loops and trailing sash ends. Another treatment which is very effectively used in these voiles and in the organdie frocks is two-inch insertions of shirred ruffles or of tucked organdie in a contrasting shade, which gives a much more hand-worked effect than the insertion of narrow laces. Yellow organdie is used in this way with gray organdie and white tulle in the pale colored frocks.

Novelty Ribbons.

New novelty ribbons are brilliant affairs of the woman whose expenditures must be restricted, for they may be fashioned into evening bodices of bright color and rich effect, as well as into girdles and sashes.

YOU NEVER CAN TAME A WILD-CAT

Mr. Dodson Warns Against Use of Treacherous, Dangerous Calomel.

Calomel salivates! It's mercury. Calomel acts like dynamite on a sluggish liver. When calomel comes into contact with sour bile it crashes into it, causing cramping and nausea.

If you feel bilious, headachy, constipated and all knocked out, just go to your druggist and get a bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone for a few cents which is a harmless vegetable substitute for dangerous calomel. Take a spoonful and if it doesn't start your liver and straighten you up better and quicker than nasty calomel and without making you sick, you just go back and get your money.

If you take calomel today you'll be sick and nauseated tomorrow; besides, it may salivate you, while if you take Dodson's Liver Tone you will wake up feeling great, full of ambition and ready for work or play. It's harmless, pleasant and safe to give to children; they like it.—Adv.

FRECKLES

Now Is the Time to Get Rid of These Ugly Spots.

There's no longer the slightest need of feeling ashamed of your freckles, as Othine—double strength—is guaranteed to remove these homely spots.

Simply get an ounce of Othine—double strength—from your druggist, and apply a little of it night and morning and you should soon see that even the worst freckles have begun to disappear, while the lighter ones have vanished entirely. It is seldom that more than one ounce is needed to completely clear the skin and gain a beautiful clear complexion.

Be sure to ask for the double strength Othine, as this is sold under guarantee of money back if it fails to remove freckles.

If You Need a Medicine You Should Have the Best

Have you ever stopped to reason why it is that so many products that are extensively advertised, all at once drop out of sight and are soon forgotten? The reason is plain—the article did not fulfill the promises of the manufacturer. This applies more particularly to a medicine. A medicinal preparation that has real curative value almost sells itself, as like an endless chain system the remedy is recommended by those who have been benefited, to those who are in need of it.

A prominent druggist says "Take for example Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, a preparation I have sold for many years and never hesitate to recommend, for in almost every case it shows excellent results, as many of my customers testify. No other kidney remedy has so large a sale."

According to sworn statements and verified testimony of thousands who have used the preparation, the success of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is due to the fact, so many people claim, that it fulfills almost every wish in overcoming kidney, liver and bladder ailments; corrects urinary troubles and neutralizes the uric acid which causes rheumatism.

You may receive a sample bottle of Swamp-Root by Parcels Post. Address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., and enclose ten cents; also mention this paper. Large and medium size bottles for sale at all drug stores.—Adv.

PUBLIC HIGHWAYS

AID NATIONAL FOREST ROADS

Secretary Meredith Favors More Liberal Financial Co-operation in Western States.

Speaking before highway representatives for western states, Edwin T. Meredith, secretary of agriculture, stated his belief that in the western states, where large areas of government lands are located, the federal government should adopt a system of financial co-operation more liberal to the states than is the case in the rest of the country.

"I think we must recognize the fact that the existence of these large areas of government lands places these states in a somewhat different situation from the remainder of the country," said Mr. Meredith, "and that it would be only equitable for the federal government to increase its percentage of co-operation over the present basis. I am also heartily in favor of continuing the appropriations for the building of national forest roads. These forests constitute a great natural resource, and their preservation and development is a national responsibility which ought to be met in full measure.

Mr. Meredith advocated active continuation of present federal and state co-operation in connection with state road systems with the systems of adjoining states in order that the working out of an adequate highway program for the whole United States may proceed in an orderly manner. He also advocated the continuance of work now going forward under the federal aid road act.

"As 1921 is the last year covered by the act," he said, "it would be highly desirable, in my opinion, for congress to make another provision as promptly as possible for the continuation of the work under the present system by an appropriation of at least $100,000,000 for each of the four fiscal years beginning with 1022."

MAINTENANCE COST OF ROADS

Ultimate Economy of Concrete Road Depends on the Small Amount Needed to Keep It Up.

The cost of a road involves not only first cost but the cost of keeping it in continuously usable condition. If this were not so, the cheaply built gravel road would be entirely suitable for our main traveled thoroughfares. The ultimate economy of the concrete road depends upon the extremely small amount of money required to keep it in excellent condition. The only maintenance needed on a well built concrete road is that necessary to keep filled with tar the joints and the cracks that may develop. The 1919 report of the state commissioner of highways of New York gives the average cost of maintenance for the three years 1915, 1916, and 1917 as follows: Macadam, $976.00 per mile per year for the maintenance of 2,408 miles; gravel, $824.00 per mile per year for the maintenance of 178 miles; first-class concrete, $124.00 per mile per year for the maintenance of 264 miles.

ROADS AS COMMUNITY ASSET

The Better They Are the More Likely They Are to Prove an Investment to Farmers.

The better the roads are, the more likely they are to prove an investment and consequently stand as a community asset. Without roads that can be used, regardless of weather and season, we might as well be living along the trails that our forefathers used when beasts of burden were literally such and marketing meant almost nothing.

BULLETIN IS OF IMPORTANCE

Useful Contribution From United States Department of Agriculture on Weather.

The highway weather bulletin is an important and useful contribution from the United States department of agriculture, made doubly so by recognition of the fact that the state of the roads is more important than the weather and that you needn't worry about the weather if the roads are paved.

TOY WILLIAMS, MISSIONARY

Many people in this country and especially those who frequent our Baptist churches, have heard more or less about missionaries to China. We have been drumded for contributions for missions and told many stories of how things were being done for the Chinks over there who have never heard of the Savior of the World.

The subject we must confess has been a dry one for many people and some of us have passed the matter up with a very little thought and a corresponding amount of contribution in the mission box.

When it was announced last Sunday that Rev. J. Toy Williams of Canton, China, would speak at the Clanton Baptist Church Sunday night on the life of a missionary in China, there flashed up at once in Clanton more interest in missions than has been manifest here in the past ten years. Everybody was going to hear the story, and when the hour arrived the old church was filled to its capacity.

This great interest was precipitated by several causes that were more or less individually applicable to this particular occasion. The first of these facts is that Toy Williams is originally a Clanton man, having grown up in the Mulberry Community and spent his boyhood days hoeing cotton on his father's farm and going to the neighborhood schools between crops. Later he taught school at various places in the county and was one of our most esteemed teachers.

He was engaged in teaching in the county schools when he answered the call of the ministry. Courses at the Howard College and the Baptist Seminary at Louisville completed his ministerial training and then he packed his grip for China. The past seven years have been active ones for him as a missionary in the city of Canton and adjacent country.

Rev. Williams is at home on a furlough now and it was a mighty great pleasure for his many friends here to listen to him describe conditions in the Orient and relate his experiences. Chinese missions was not at all a dry subject for those who listened to him on Sunday night.

In the cause of his lecture he presented one of the Chinese idols, a small wooden god, and told how an old lady had kept it in her houseboat all her life believing that it protected her from destruction by the evil spirits. He showed us one of the tiny shoes with which the feet of the Chinese women are bound. But this torturing practice he said, is fast disappearing now in the light of Christian era of higher civlization that is sweeping the country of the yellow people.

THE CLANTON BAND

Those who attended the splendid concert given by the Boy Scouts Band of Clanton on Saturday night, came to realize as never before that the band is no longer a joke, but a reality. Almost every piece rendered by the boys which included several new selections showed that remarkable progress had been made in the harmony, time and unity of the pieces rendered, and the money invested for the past six weeks instruction that they have received from Mr. Memoli, the great band expert and instructor of Birmingham, is money well spent.

As an institution or organization the people now have reason to be proud of their band. There are very few if any towns in the entire Southland that possess a boys band of 18 pieces. Apart from this, the large investment of not less than $1,500 by the parents of the boys makes the organization worthy of the financial support and hearty endorsement of every citizen of Clanton.

Some may think it an easy thing to play any one of the instruments comprising the band. They will soon become convinced otherwise if they once try it for themselves. The great bands of our country, some of which it has been the writer's pleasure to listen to, have only attained to their efficiency after years of training either as individuals or as a collective body. The marked improvement of the boys during the past six weeks through the training of Mr. Memoli is an evidence of great possibilities for the band in the future which not only for the reasons mentinoned above, but because of their ability as a band will give Clanton a reason to be justly proud of them. We are glad to learn that an effort will be made to have the instructor come regularly once or twice a month to teach them new selections and to attain to greater efficiency.

Next Saturday, July 3rd, they will render several pieces during the patriotic celebrations of the day led by their very competent instructor; and if you now think it is the same old band that you used to hear last year, you will be very pleasantly surprised and convinced that this is not true, and give them your patronage by purchasing all the ice-cream you can eat and coca-cola you can drink, to help pay the future expenses for the continued improvement of the band.

REV. P. G. CARTER.

DISCREDIT UPON WILSON NOT NATION.

From the beginning of his administration, Woodrow Wilson has been unable to distinguish between himself and the United States government. In his public utterances from time to time he has assumed that he and the government are identical—that he is the government. He has lost sight of the fact that the government is composed of three coordinate branches, the legislative, the executive and the judicial, the legislative being the first and vested with the greatest powers. At best the executive is only a part of the government and a minor part at that.

In one of his most recent utterances President Wilson declared that the United States stands discredited before the world because of its failure to ratify the Peace Treaty with the League of Nations Covenant incorporated therein. A delay which will ultimately extend over a period of two years, in the ratification of a peace treaty, must bring discredit somewhere, and it is pertinent therefore, to examine the truthfulness of President Wilson's statement, that the United States stands discredited. The United States entered the war to defend its own rights by joining in the defeat of Germany and its associates. Our purpose was intensely practical and we were not actuated by any visionary idealism such as that which Woodrow Wilson afterwards expressed. When the purposes for which we entered the war had been accomplished the war should have been terminated by negotiation of a plain treaty of peace imposing upon the offending nations such obligatons as the events justfied. There would have been no delay in securing ratification of such a treaty.

On March 4, 1919, thirty-nine members of the Senate notified President Wilson that they were opposed to the incorporation of extraneous matter in the peace treaty, and that they were desirous of an immediate negotiation of peace. This was extending to the president the 'advice of the Senate' which the constitution requires him to receive and consider. Assuming that he alone constituted the government, Woodrow Wilson rejected the advice of the Senate, forced the League Covenant into the treaty, and by that act caused the delay which has since ensued.

The United States government would stand discredited indeed if one of its coordinate branches should deliberately surrender or evade its constitutoinal duty of passing judgment upon treaties which bind this nation in its relation with the other nations of the earth. Fortunately the members of the Senate neither evaded the responsibilities nor surrendered their power. When President Wilson proposed to surrender American sovereignty to super-state, they defeated that effort by an overwhelming vote, members of his own party joining in the refusal to bind the United States to the League Covenant in the form which President Wilson proposed.

The sum and substanct of the whole matter is that President Wilson assumed a power he did not possess. The whole world knew that President Wilson had been notified by a sufficient number of Senators to defeat the league covenant, that they were opposed to its incorporation in the treaty. The world knew, therefore, that the United States could not be bound by any agreement he personally might make with that purpose in view. If promises have been made or moral obligations assumed, they were assumed by Woodrow Wilson acting in defiance of the plain terms of the Constitution which he was sworn to uphold. Woodrow Wilson stands discredited not only before the United States but before the world. The United States government preserves its sovereignty and integrity, and has won the respect of the other nations of the earth.

COUNTY SINGING CONVENTION TO BE AT COUNTY HIGH SCHOOL

The next session of the Chilton County Singing Convention is to be held at the County High School building in Clanton on the Third Sunday in July (18th).

Mr. J. Monroe Smith, the secretary of the Convention, and other local promoters of the cause of music in the county, are busy getting details in shape for the coming event which will no doubt be made one of the best in the history of the organization.

Such reputed singers as Patton, Merritt and others, will be here to add the great force of their presence to the occasion. At that time Prof. Patton will be teaching a school at Liberty Hill and he will be here with his entire class from that place.

Prof. Merrtt will be remembered by those who attended the special session of the convention at the high school last November. He was there and his directing caught up a most hearty response from all who heard him.

SINGING AT COOPERS

There will be an all day singing at Coopers on the First Sunday in July. Everybody is invited to attend and bring dinner and new song books.

Stomach Troubles Made Him Feel Sick at Meal Times, But Now Always Enjoys His Meals.

DO YOU enjoy your meals? Eat without the dread of the after effects?

Lack of appetite, and a disgreeable, sick-at-the-stomach feeling after meals, usually indicate that your digestive organs are not working properly. As a result, you will feel weak, lose weight and lack the energy that is to be derived from well-digested food.

A valuable help in correcting such conditions is mentioned by the Rev. E. K. McKenzie, of Route 1, Section, Ala., who writes: "I had stomach trouble. When I would go to eat, I would turn sick. I took one bottle of Ziron, and it cured me. Am always ready for my meals and enjoy them. I think it is a fine medicine."

If your food hurts you, if your appetite is poor, if you are pale, weak and run-down, and have other symptoms that indicate your system needs help, try Ziron. It will put iron into your blood and help build you up. Take it according to directions, and if not benefited by the first bottle, the money-back guarantee will protect you.

Ask your druggist.

NON-RESIDENT NOTICE

The State of Alabama, Chilton County Circuit Court in Equity.

Addie Crumpton, Complainant, vs. Thomas Crumpton, Defendant.

In this cause it is made to appear to the Register by the affidavit of Complainant, Addie Crumpton, that the Defendant is a non-resident, and that his place of residence and post-office address is unknown, and that such address cannot be ascertained after a reasonable effort; and, further, that in the belief of said affiant, the Defendant is of the age of 21 years:

It is therefore ordered by the Register that publication be made in the Union-Banner, a newspaper published in the County of Chilton, once a week for four consecutive weeks, requiring him, the said Defendant, Thomas Crumpton, to plead, answer or demur to the bill of complaint in this case by the 1st day of July, 1920, or in thirty days thereafter, a decree pro confesso may be taken against him.

Done at office in Clanton, Ala., this 4th day of June, 1920.

W. D. SPIGENER, Register.

KILL THE RAT—SWAT THE FLY

(By P. G. Carter)

Two very undesirable guests, shall we say pests, seem to abound and apparently to flourish in the enterprising city of Clanton. One is the rat, the other the fly,—the first a breeder of bubonic plague and the other the carrier of disease especially such as attack the bowels. The housefly is also a frequent disseminator of typhoid fever and of other diarrhoeal diseases. Flies breed in filth, and carry on their legs which under a microscope are seen to be thickly covered with hairs, numerous microbes and possibly other germs which they pick up from stable manure and similar knids of filth and deposit them on the food and other things over which they crawl.

In the case of the rat, bubonic plague is said to be transmitted by the fleas which they carry in their fur or skin, coming in contact with the unfortunate victim of this terrible plague. Not only are preachers fond of chickens, but rats have a particular likikng for them, and since frys are worth something like $1.00 each certainly it is economy for farmers, merchants, and householders alike, to wage a distinctive warfare on this terrible pest. Some of the following methods well known might be suggested:—Rat traps, the preparation known as Rough-on-Rats, which they say much like the taste of, or a good fox-terrier may prove very helpful. For the destruction of the fly there are specially prepared powders, also wire cages or traps that can be secured, and of course the well-known fly swatter. But first of all every housekeeper should see that his house is well screened against the fly.

Some of the citizens are endeavoring to dispose of these pests, but frequently their efforts are nullified because so many others do not cooperate. The pests themselves are bad enough, the diseases they breed are worse. Clanton as a whole is a healthy city. Let us make it even more so, by the hearty co-operation of all in keeping down such pests that seek to undermine and destroy them.

CLANTON BAPTIST CHURCH

We were glad to have with us on Sunday night the Rev. Toy Williams recently returned from Canton, China. The high esteem in which he is held as a Chilton County product, was manifested by the large congregation that filled the churches and listened to his story of the great work, and the progress of Christianity now being accomplished in China. The spirit of the meeting was good, the large congregation entering heartily into the congregational singing led by the pastor. The preliminary exercises of the meeting in spirit were like many of the regular evening services held in this church of late. The morning service was also very well attended, though automobiles took a large number of the members to other sections of the county either on social visits or all day singings or some other similar attractions to the detriment of their local church, leaving many seats vacant.

The regular services will be observed next Sunday, and the subject of the morning service in keeping with the spirit of Independence as celebrated on July the 4th.

We heartily welcome all visitors to our congregation and urge the Baptists of the city to unite with the church where they can make their influence count for something in the community where they live. Every citizen needs the church, and the church needs them, which is the most valuable asset any community can have. Come and enjoy an hour with us next Sunday and we believe you will desire to come back again. The church on earth is the foretaste of the eternal church in heaven.

P. G. CARTER, Pastor.

TOM PATTERSON DEAD

On last Sunday, at his home near Calera, occurred the death of Mr. Tom Patterson, well known in this part of the county. He was the son of Mr. J. W. Patterson of Poplar Springs.

Tom has been in poor health for some time, and his death was not a great surprise to his friends.

He was buried in Providence Beat 16 Cemetery, Monday.

He leaves a wife and three or four little children.

SUFFERING IS TERRIBLE STATES H. P. DAVISON

RED CROSS COMMISSIONER DESCRIBES RAVAGES OF DISEASE AND HUNGER.

COMMENDS JEWISH RELIEF

Says That Men, Women and Children Are Dying and That It Is America's Duty To Send Them Aid.

H. P. Davidson, leader of the American Red Cross during the late war, has just issued a statement in which he heartily commends the relief work which is being accomplished in Eastern Europe, and which has been brought about by the campaign inaugurated in the United States by the Jewish War Relief Committee.

Mr. Davison outlines the awful sufferings he witnessed in the stricken districts, and no better imaginative picture could be depicted of these awful conditions than to use the language given by the great humane leader in the following:

"This area includes the new Baltic states, Poland, Czecho-Slovakia, Ukraine, Austria, Hungary, Roumania, Montenegro, Albania and Serbia.

"The reports which come to us make it clear that in these war-ravaged lands, civilization has broken down. Disease, bereavement and suffering are present in practically every household, while food and clothing are insufficient to make life tolerable.

"'Men, women and children are dying by thousands and over vast once-civilized areas there are to be found neither medical appliances nor medical skill sufficient to cope with the devastating plagues.

"According to reports of the American Red Cross and the commissioner of the League of Red Cross Socities, made in a signed statement to the American government, wholesale starration is threatened in Poland this summer unless she can procure food supplies in large quantities.

"A telegram to the League of Red Cross Societies, March 20, stated that there are now approximately 250,000 cases of typhus in Poland and in the area occupied by Polish troops.

"This is already one of the worst typhus epidemics in the world's history. In Galicia, whole towns are crippled and business suspended. In some districts there is but one doctor to each 150,000 people. During the year 1919 about 2,400,000 refugees and prisoners entered Poland.

"In the Ukraine, typhus and influenza have affected most of the population. In villages of two to three thousand, half the people were ill at the same time and there was almost no medical care. In many cases a territory of forty miles in diameter had but one physician. Some doctors who had twenty to thirty thousand patients could get no medical supplies whatever and had nothing better to give the sick than oral instructions. Pauperism is intensified every day.

"A report from Vienna said: 'There are rations for three weeks. People are apathetic, fatalistic, tired. One hundred thousand school children in Vienna are reported as underfed and diseased because of food shortage and lack of fuel. At least 25,000 hospital beds have become useless owing to lack of medical supplies. Death stalks through the streets of Vienna and takes unhindered toll. The general death rate has risen 46 per cent since 1913 and the mortality for tuberculosis 250 per cent.'

"Budapest is one vast city of misery and suffering. The number of deaths is double that of births. Of 160,000 children in the schools, 100,000 are dependent on public charity. There are 150,000 workers idle.

"In Roumania tuberculosis is spreading in an alarming and unprecedented manner. All energies are devoted to keeping the typhus epidemic at bay.

"Typhus and smallpox have invaded the four countries composing Czecho-Slovakia, and there is lack of medicines, soap and physicians. The shelves of their pharmacies and their hospitals are bare.

"In Serbia typhus has broken out again and there are but 200 physicians to minister to the needs of that entire country. In Montenegro, where food is running short, there are but five physicians for an estimated population of 450,000.

"Anyone familar with conditions throughout Central and Eastern Europe and also familiar with the organization and relief work done by the Joint Distribution Committee, should welcome an opportunity to assist you in your undertaking in the interests of suffering humanity. In my travels and observations as Chairman of the War Council of the American Red Cross I had occasion to study the needs of the peoples within those countries and also an opportunity to observe the excellent work done by the Joint Distribution Committee, the importance of which seems to me greater today, even, than during the distressing period of the war.

"I hope you will meet with success, which I am sure will be the case if it is possible for you to clearly present the situation to the public."

WHAT THE SCOUTS WILL DO HERE ON JULY THE 3RD.

It is going to be a big time for everybody. Games, Contests, Races, Music, Fireworks and everything for a Good Time.

YOU CAN'T MISS HEARING THE BAND

The Clanton Boy Scouts are perfecting the plans for their celebration here on the Third of July, and everything now looks like a day of much fun for the boys and entertainment for the visiting people.

The band will play the biggest card in the entertainment of the people. Everybody will enjoy plenty of good music and these boys are able to fill the bill completely in that respect. Prof. Memoli of Birmingham, who is teaching the boys in the band, will have charge oft hem on that day.

At 9:30 o'clock in the morning the Boy Scout parade will form at the depot and proceed to the grounds (place to be announced later). There will be a flag raising ceremony on arrival at the scene of the day's proceedings, accompanied by a lecture on the Declaration of Independence.

At 10:30 the games will begin, which will include foot races, tug-of-war, sack races, potato races, etc. There will also be a fiddlers contest about this time of the day. All the fiddlers can get their instruments tuned up and ready. Prizes will be given to the winners in the contest.

At 12 o'clock, the dinner hour, there will be a break in the program, and everybody who has dinner with them will have a chance to spread their baskets in any place they choose.

At 1 o'clock the program will start again with baseball games, volley ball, tennis, etc. These games will entertain the crowds all the afternoon. The teams to play ball will be announced later.

All during the day the Scouts will serve ice cream and cold drinks. All Scouts and scout officials from everywhere are invited to come and be with the Clanton Troop.

On the night of the 3rd the fire works display will be held at the railroad crossing. This promises to be about the best thing on the program. There will be plenty of music by the band all through the day's proceedings.

The people of Chilton County are urged to come to Clanton and spend that day and enjoy the festivities with the boys.

The House of Whispers

By WILLIAM JOHNSTON

Copyright by Little, Brown & Co.

UP TO DATE GHOSTS

Fiction readers who like haunted houses and mysterious noises in the night, and ghost doings that baffle explanation, should stop, look, and read right here. For "The House of Whispers" is well named. It's even more fascinating than the old-time haunted house, because it's a mystery apartment in a big city building—the lovely heroine, for instance, can creep along a ledge from one window to another in the dead of night, and a wonderful pearl necklace can disappear from a wall-safe and find its way back again, and the superintendent and his employees can fasten a charge of murder on the hero, and there might be room in the walls for secret passageways. But there is nothing new-fashioned or queer about the loyalty and devotion of the heroine for her lover in trouble; it's the same glorious thing that has thrilled us all ever since true love ceased to run smooth. And of course she gets the reward that she deserves—and they live happily ever after.

CHAPTER I.

—1—

With an exclamation of annoyance I crumpled up the note from my great-uncle Rufus and flung it on the floor. My disappointment at its contents was the one thing needed to complete the utter misery of a wretched day.

Only that morning my roommates, Birge and Roller, fortunate fellows, had been informed that their applications for the ambulance service had been accepted. Our year of happy companionship had come to an abrupt end.

"Cheer up, old man," cried the optimistic Birge, "your luck will change some time."

"Right," said Roller, as he stooped to give a final tug to the straps of his new kit bag, "a chap as crazy about Adventure as you are is bound to meet her soon."

"Stop it," I cried in desperation. "It is you two who are to have the great opportunity. Soon you'll be seeing shrapnel burst, airplanes battling, regiments charging, heroes dying, and I—I'll be sitting here alone in a hall-room, eating my heart out with lonesomeness and envy, spending my days at an uncongenial desk, and my nights, God knows how, after you fellows have gone."

"You never can tell," chirped old Birge, "all kinds of strange things happen right here in New York. You may be the one that has had a bellyful of adventure before we return—if we do."

His last three words gave us all a sobering thought. There was a chance, more than a chance, that never again on this earth would we three be together again. Eight of our college mates had preceded Birge and Roller to the great battlefield. Already three of them lay in hero graves somewhere under the lilies of France.

The silence of a sad parting fell on us. The taxicab came and we drove together to the pier with hardly a word spoken.

As we shook hands at the gangplank old Roller spoke again, a glisten of tears in his eye, something almost prophetic in his voice.

"Nelson," he said, "I feel it in my bones that something is going to happen to you soon, something thrilling."

"I wish to God something would!" I answered bitterly.

Disconsolately I waved them a last adieu from the dock. In a black mood I railed against the fate that had left me behind, poignantly lamenting the lack of the eight hundred dollars that would have set me free to accompany them.

Two letters, thrust under the door in lodging-house fashion, awaited my homecoming. One of them I recognized at once as my mother's weekly billet of good advice, and tossed aside to be read when I was in a better frame of mind. The other was in a cramped, unfamiliar handwriting. As I studied the envelope curiously a suspicion as to the writer's identity flashed into my mind and eagerly I tore it open. My great-uncle, Rufus Gaston, was an old, old man. It must be from him. What could he be writing to me about? Rufus Gaston was rich—worth many millions.

It was merely an invitation to dine with him and his wife. Disgustedly I flung it aside. It capped the climax of my dissatisfaction with everything. Here were my two chums starting off to the war, and here was I, Spalding Nelson, twenty-six, strong in physique, save for a "football knee" that had barred me from military service, thirsting for excitement, left behind in the prosaic business world and now bidden to an uninteresting meal with two decrepit old relatives. I made up my mind not to answer the note. My great-uncle Rufus could go hang, for all of his millions. I would not go near him.

The sight of my mother's letter lying unopened on my desk served to recall to me that it was she who had prevented my going. Poor mother! She and I had been at cross-purposes ever since my father's death while I was a youngster. It seemed to me that always she had opposed everything I wanted to do.

After I left college she had found a place for me in the office of one of my father's friends in the little western city where our home was. I had been two years getting away to join Birge and Roller in New York. Most of all she had set herself against my going to France. She did not believe in war. I was the only man left in the family. She was far from well. If anything should happen to her, my young sisters had only me to look to. When these pleas had failed to move me she had not hesitated to remind me that I was in her debt.

Unfortunately this was true. My years at college had cost me more than my small patrimony. I had borrowed freely from her, expecting soon to be able to repay her. Like all young graduates I had vastly overestimated my earning capacity. Three years had elapsed and I still owed her eight hundred dollars.

"I do not see," she had written me, "how you can honorably feel free to go while you are in my debt. To furnish you funds at college your mother and sisters practiced many economies. The girls are now reaching an age when their expenses will be much greater. I need the money for them. The least you can do is to pay it back before you give up your position and go off on wild-goose chases."

For this argument I could find no answer. My obligation to her was a debt of honor that must be paid before I could be my own master. Each week I had been putting away five dollars, and as it accumulated had been sending her a money order.

While I was debating what to do I began to read my mother's latest letter. The first part of it repeated her many arguments. She wrote:

"Two days ago I received a letter from my father's brother, Rufus Gaston, upon whom you called when you first went to New York. He asked about you and made me a proposition concerning you. I did not venture to give him an answer. Your views and mine are so seldom in accord. I gave him your address and suggested that he write to you himself. Probably he has done so by this time."

Hastily I rescued my great-uncle's crumpled note from the floor and smoothed it out. If Rufus Gaston—with his millions and no direct heir—had made a proposition concerning me, his letter took on a vastly more interesting complexion. Carefully I reread it, seeking for some hidden meaning between the lines, but it gave no clue to what he had in mind. He merely expressed the hope that I would be able to dine with him and his wife informally next Thursday evening.

What could it mean? It was at least well worth looking into. Mr. Gaston was seventy-four. He had made a fortune in the South American trade, retiring at sixty-five. There was only himself and his wife. On the Gaston side, through my mother, my sisters and I were the only blood relations. I wondered if it could be that old Rufus was thinking of making me his heir—heir to the Gaston millions!

As I penned a cordial acceptance of his dinner invitation I determined to set myself to pleasing the old couple, whom I had met only once, on the occasion of my call. A few years ago I would have despised the thought of catering to wealth, but since I had discovered how difficult it was to earn money and how much more difficult to save it, my views had changed.

I could hardly wait for the day he had set for me to dine with them to arrive. I found myself approaching their residence fully three-quarters of an hour before the time named. When I discovered how early I was I decided to loiter in the park for a few minutes. Old Rufus recently had given up his Avenue residence and now lived in one of those stately apartment buildings erected in the East Eighties. I turned into Central park opposite my great-uncle's street and dropped into the first bench I came to, depositing beside me a bunch of roses I had purchased as my first move toward winning my great-aunt's affections. Lighting my pipe I gave myself up to pleasant reveries, from which I was aroused by finding my roses tossed suddenly to the ground at my feet.

"Pardon me," I said indignantly, "but those belong to me."

"Benches ain't for bundles," croaked an evil voice beside me.

Recovering my flowers, I turned to find seated beside me a rat-eyed young fellow, cheaply dressed, eyeing me with an insolent stare. As I looked at him he began crowding over toward me. Plainly it was his intention to oust me from the bench.

"There's plenty of room on those other benches over there," I suggested resentfully.

"Beat it yourself if you don't like it here," he retorted, blowing the smoke from a cheap cigarette in my face. "I got a date here, and I'm going to stay, see?"

I answered with an angry retort and hot words followed. We had almost come to blows when the bushes opposite us suddenly parted. I caught sight for just a second of a villainous face, that of a man about forty, an unforgettable face with a red scar across the left cheek. He raised one finger in an imperative gesture, signaling to my unwelcome companion on the bench. With a profane exclamation of dismay, the rat-eyed fellow sprang up and walked hastily away along the park path. Wondering what it was all about, I watched him out of sight around a turning of the asphalt and then glanced toward the apartment house where in a few minutes I was to be a guest.

As I looked a young girl came out of the house and walked slowly toward the park. At the corner she hesitated. She seemed to be debating whether to continue on down the avenue or to turn into the park. Apparently the lure of the greenery won her, for she came on slowly toward where I was sitting. As she drew nearer I observed her with interest, for she was one of the prettiest girls I ever had seen. Her slim figure, her dainty ankles, her carriage, everything about her suggested the patrician. Her face, rosy and youthful, was set off by a jaunty feathered toque, from under which a pair of soft, black, roguish eyes, shaded by long lashes, looked out above a dainty nose, just a bit tip tilted, on either side of which a fugitive dimple played.

To my great amazement she walked right up to me and stopped short. I observed then that she seemed to be greatly agitated. Involuntarily I sprang to my feet and removed my hat, feeling certain that she had mistaken me for someone else.

"You Were to Wear One, Too."

She looked straight at me with an odd tightening of the lips. Into her great dark eyes came a look in which pride and fear seemed to mingle with utter loathing.

"I am here," she said.

In my confusion I mumbled something, I hardly knew what. She looked me up and down with a puzzled air and raised her hand to a red carnation she was wearing.

"You were to wear one, too."

"I don't understand," I answered.

"Didn't you," she asked hesitatingly, "didn't you come here about the papers—"

"What papers?"

"You know—"

"I don't know," I replied. "I know nothing about any papers. You must have mistaken me for someone else."

"But this was the place—this bench—the first bench?"

"I sat down here quite by accident."

"Oh!" she exclaimed with a sigh of relief. "And you're not wearing a red carnation, either."

I recalled then with misgiving that the ill-favored youth who just a moment ago had disputed the bench with me had been wearing a red carnation, and that he had muttered something about having a date. Yet it did not seem possible that a girl of this sort would be having a rendezvous with a scamp like him. I determined if possible to ascertain the girl's mission.

"I am merely waiting here," I hastened to explain, "until it is time for me to keep a dinner engagement with some relatives in the apartment house from which you came."

As I spoke I noticed that the hair and features and [illegible] eyes and that she was looking with relief at a little college pin I was wearing. She was blushing now from confusion at her mistake, and the rising red in her cheeks added greatly to her exquisite loveliness.

"I was to meet someone here," she faltered; "you quite understand, don't you?"

"I understand perfectly," I answered, and recalling the scar-faced man who had been lurking in the bushes, I hurried on to say, "but if I can be of any service—"

"No, no," she sobbed, apparently overwhelmed by whatever it was that was besetting her. "It's nothing—nothing anyone can help."

"Tell me about the man you were to meet here."

"Who are you?" she demanded, her suspicion suddenly rising at my question. "You're not a detective?"

"Far from it," I answered amusedly. "I'm just plain Spalding Nelson, on my way to dine with my great-uncle Rufus Gaston."

"Oh!" she said, relieved, "their apartment is on the same floor as ours."

"Tell me about the man you were to meet," I insisted. "I may have seen him."

"Did you? What was he like?" she demanded eagerly.

"Don't you know him?" I countered.

"No, I never saw him. I don't even know who he is. I only know that there was to be a man waiting here on this bench this evening. We were both to wear red carnations. I was to come here alone, to see him and to get the—"

She stopped abruptly and tearing off the flower she was wearing, trampled it viciously under her foot.

"Not so loud," I warned her, fearful lest they might still be lurking about and overhear us. "There were two of them."

"Two," she whispered, turning pale.

"Yes, one waiting here on this bench, and the other, a villainous scar-faced fellow, hiding in the bushes yonder."

"I dare not go on with it," she sobbed, "I dare not! I dare not! Oh, what shall I do?"

"The thing to do now," I replied, "is for you to let me accompany you back to your home. They will make no further attempt to meet you this evening, since my presence has spoiled their plans. Come, let me escort you, Miss . . ."

As I hesitated over the name she answered simply:

"Bradford—Barbara Bradford."

She pondered for a moment over my suggestion and then turned to walk with me toward the apartment house.

"What were the men like?" she asked.

I described them as best I could, though really the impression that the youth on the bench had left was vague. His voice, an insolent, hoarse, uncultivated one, was almost all I could recall about him.

"I wonder who they were? I wonder how they knew?"

"Knew what?"

Her lips tightened into a straight line.

"I can't tell you. I daren't. It isn't my secret."

By this time we had reached her home and the bowing doorman was swinging back the great iron door for us. It had been my intention to announce my arrival, but recalling that Miss Bradford had said that the Gaston apartment was on the same floor as hers, I stepped with her into the elevator. When it had descended, leaving us together in the corridor, she turned to me and offered her hand.

"Thank you so much, Mr. Nelson."

"I wish you'd let me help you," I cried.

She shook her head.

"Well, promise me one thing," I insisted.

"What is it?"

"That you never again will go alone to the park to meet those men."

A tremor shook her body, and once more a look of terror crept into her eyes.

"I can't promise that. I must meet them. I must! I must!"

I reached out and took her hand.

"Promise me, then, that before you go again you will let me know."

"You must not try to stop my going," she cried desperately and freeing her hand turned quickly and unlocking her door left me standing there alone, staring after her.

Perplexed beyond measure as to what I ought to do, after a moment I pressed the bell and was admitted to the Gaston apartment and to the presence of my aged relatives.

Under the same roof with the heroine.

Speedy Relief From Habitual Constipation

The liver is the largest and most important organ in the body, and when the liver refuses to act, it causes constipation, biliousness, headaches, indigestion, gas, sour stomach, bad breath, dysentery, diarrhoea, pains in back and under shoulder blades and under ribs on right side. These symptoms lead to colds, influenza or other serious troubles unless corrected immediately.

An inactive liver places an extra burden on the kidneys, which overtaxes them and causes the blood to absorb and carry into the system the impurities that the liver and kidneys have failed to eliminate.

When you treat the liver alone, you treat only a third of your trouble, and that is why you have to take purgatives every few nights. Calomel or other ordinary laxatives do not go far enough. If you would treat your kidneys and blood while treating the liver, you would put your entire system in order and frequent purgatives would then be unnecessary.

Dr. W. L. Hitchcock many years ago recognized these important facts, and after much study and research, compounded what is now known as Dr. Hitchcock's Liver, Kidney and Blood Powders, three medicines combined in one. This was the Doctor's favorite prescription for many years, being used by his patients with marked success. It is a harmless vegetable remedy that will not make you sick, and you may eat anything you like while taking it.

Get a large tin box from your druggist or dealer for 25c, under his personal guarantee that it will give relief, tone up the liver, stimulate the kidneys to healthy action and thereby purify the blood. If your dealer will not supply you, it will be mailed direct by the Hitchcock Medicine Co., Atlanta, Ga., upon receipt of price.—Adv.

Lafayette

CHAMPION OF FREEDOM

General Lafayette, From a Picture Made Late in Life

He came to fight for Freedom's cause
Against a tyrant's power,
When Washington at Valley Forge
Had reached his darkest hour.
His army fought beside our own,
And, when the task was done,
Another nation had been born,
For victory was won.

A boy in years—a man in heart—
Son of a mighty race,
He wrote his name in mighty deeds
That time shall not erase.
He brought new hope, and faith, and strength
In time of black despair,
And freedom triumphed on our soil
For France was fighting there.

And then across the many years
By history's glorious chance,
Against oppression's heavy hand
Our soldiers fought for France;
And when the last hard fight was won
We well had paid the debt
That always had been ours to pay
To France and Lafayette.

Independence hall came into existence without any thought of the part it was destined to play in the birth of the nation. Necessity really created it. It appears, from documents well authenticated, that the Provincial assembly of Pennsylvania had been meeting in a house, annually rented in Philadelphia, until May 1, 1729. It was shortly after this date that the assembly voted £2,000 toward the purchase of ground for the building and its construction. It was designed by Andrew Hamilton, a barrister of Philadelphia, who in making his plans, provided for two wings, one of them Congress hall. In 1732 ground for the building was broken, but the construction dragged on for some years before the work was finished, although certain rooms were used for some years before the whole was completed.

Construction of Congress hall began in 1787, and was completed in 1789, and the remaining wing of Independence hall, known as "City Hall," was started in 1789 and finished in 1791.

Colonies' Second Petition.

In 1775, on the 8th of July, the second Continental congress adopted a second petition to the king. This congress, which was held at Philadelphia, was the same which later adopted the Declaration of Independence. On the same day of the same year Lord Dunmore, the royal governor of Virginia, fearing a general uprising of the colonies, took refuge with his family aboard the Fowney, a British warship stationed at Yorktown.

In 1776, on the 8th of July, the Declaration of Independence was proclaimed from the steps of the state house at Philadelphia, and read aloud to the army at New York.

Lafayette

CHAMPION OF FREEDOM

General Lafayette, From a Picture Made Late in Life.

He came to fight for Freedom's cause
Against a tyrant's power,
When Washington at Valley Forge
Had reached his darkest hour.
His army fought beside our own,
And, when the task was done,
Another nation had been born,
For victory was won.

A boy in years—a man in heart—
Son of a mighty race,
He wrote his name in mighty deeds
That time shall not erase.
He brought new hope, and faith, and strength
In time of black despair,
And freedom triumphed on our soil,
For France was fighting there.

And then across the many years,
By history's glorious chance,
Against oppression's heavy hand
Our soldiers fought for France;
And when the last hard fight was won
We well had paid the debt
That always had been ours to pay
To France and Lafayette!

Independence Hall

Independence hall came into existence without any thought of the part it was destined to play in the birth of the nation. Necessity really created it. It appears, from documents well authenticated, that the Provincial assembly of Pennsylvania had been meeting in a house, annually rented in Philadelphia, until May 1, 1729. It was shortly after this date that the assembly voted £2,000 toward the purchase of ground for the building and its construction. It was designed by Andrew Hamilton, a barrister of Philadelphia, who in making his plans, provided for two wings, one of them Congress hall. In 1732 ground for the building was broken, but the construction dragged on for some years before the work was finished, although certain rooms were used for some years before the whole was completed.

POULTRY FLOCKS

HOW OFTEN TO FEED FLOCK?

Much Depends on Whether They Are Confined or on Free Range—Good Plan Outlined.

Just how frequently chickens should be fed depends on whether they are confined or on the range. Some poultrymen feed their flocks twice a day, while others feed them three times a day. The best plan is to feed fowls in confinement three times a day and those having free range in summer twice a day. When there is a very long interval between feeds it is difficult to keep fowls busy which are kept in confinement. Idle fowls often contract bad habits, such as feather pulling and egg eating, besides going out of condition from lack of exercise.

In case it is not convenient to feed three times a day, the moistened mash may be fed in the morning, and at the same time the noon feed of grain may be scattered in the litter, which will keep the fowls busy a great part of the day.

For those who cannot conveniently feed their fowls early in the morning a good plan is to scatter grain plentifully in the litter after the birds have gone to roost. This grain will furnish feed for the early morning, say poultry specialists in the United States department of agriculture.

Some poultry keepers can look after their fowls only once a day. If this is in the morning, moistened mash may be fed, followed by throwing grain in the litter to furnish feed for the remainder of the day. If it is in the evening, before dark, a moistened mash may be given, and either after the fowls go to roost or in the morning, before daylight, grain may be scattered in the litter for eating during the day.

PLANS FOR BROODING DUCKS

Mother Duck or Hen Is Quite Satisfactory Where Small Numbers Are Being Reared.

Those rearing ducklings in small numbers usually accept the services of the mother duck or mother hen, according to which is used to do the hatching, for the purpose of brooding, and when only a few are reared this is a satisfactory method. Where ducks are raised in large numbers, however, artificial methods are always employed and the brooding is done by individual brooders or by long, hot water pipe systems heated by coal-burning boilers.

PROVIDE FOWLS PURE WATER

No Excuse for Permitting Them to Drink Impurities From Puddles—Cause of Diseases.

Fowls are not very discriminating in regard to water, and appear to enjoy drinking from puddles of foul water just as much as from pure and wholesome sources. That is no excuse for permitting them to do so, however, and the impurities in such water often cause serious losses. Either drain the stagnant pools or

PREVENT SPREAD OF ALL DISEASE

Cleaning and Disinfection of All Railroad Stock Cars Is of Utmost Importance.

OTHER VEHICLES INCLUDED

All Carriers Which Have Contained Animals Affected With Communicable Diseases Must Be Cleaned and Disinfected.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

The cleaning and disinfection of railroad stock cars is an important means of preventing the spread of infectious diseases of live stock. In connection with federal control over the interstate transportation of live stock, administered by the bureau of animal industry, it is required that all such cars or other vehicles which have contained animals affected with a communicable disease, such as tick fever, scabies of sheep and cattle, hog cholera, etc., be cleaned and disinfected under bureau supervision before being again used in interstate commerce.

Federal Inspection.

All live stock received at public stockyards or at official slaughtering establishments are inspected at the time they are received by employees of the bureau of animal industry. If any animals are found to be affected with a communicable disease the carrier which brought them to their destination is at once notified to have the car or other vehicle set aside and thoroughly cleaned. After that has been accomplished it is disinfected under the personal supervision of a federal employee.

Cars Must Be Cleaned.

Various states also have regulations requiring that cars must be cleaned and disinfected before being used in the transportation of certain classes of live stock. The bureau of animal industry co-operates with such states by having its employees at central markets supervise the cleaning and disinfection of cars in compliance with the requirements of the state to which any stock may be destined.

An idea of the magnitude of this work may be gathered from the fact that during the fiscal year ended June 30, 1919, bureau employees personally supervised the disinfection of 44,843 cars. In addition a large number of motor trucks were handled in the same manner.

DIFFERENT CROPS FOR SILO

Canadian Peas Are in Right Condition When Pods Become Yellow—Same With Soy Bean.

Canada peas and oats are in condition to go into the silo when a stage of maturity is reached where the pea pods are becoming yellow and the oat heads are showing the first indications of ripening. Clover will contain the proper amount of dry matter if allowed to stand until somewhat more than one-half of the blossoms are brown. Soy beans are in the proper stage of maturity for silage when the plant shows signs of approaching maturity. The beans should be well developed and the pods beginning to turn yellow.

Cow peas should show the same conditions as described for soy beans.

OBTAIN LARGER CORN YIELD

Field Selection of Seed Ears Is Best, According to Reports From Ohio Station.

The Ohio station reports that selecting seed ears from the standing corn increased yields three and a quarter bushels to the acre. One reason why field selection is best, the station points out, is that it gets the ears which excel because of inborn merit, rather than those favored by growing on a rich spot in the field or produced from a one-stalk hill. The superior ear that comes from a three-stalk hill on the average soil of the field is better for seed purposes.

CONTROL OF GARDEN PESTS AND DISEASE

Insects May Be Poisoned by Spraying With Solution.

Plant Lice May Be Repelled With Soap Suds, Kerosene Emulsion or Tobacco Decoction—Dust Surface Mulch Is Good.

Insects which attack vegetables may be divided into two groups—those which eat or chew the leaves or fruit, and those which suck the plant juice.

Biting insects may be poisoned by spraying the plants with poisonous solutions or by dusting them with poison powders. Potato beetles, flea beetles, cabbage worms, striped cucumber beetles and similar biting insects may be held in check by spraying the plants with arsenate of lead paste at the rate of two pounds to 50 gallons of water. The spray sticks better, especially on smooth plants like cabbage, if a little soap or molasses is dissolved in the spray. The arsenate of lead may be obtained as a dry powder, mixed in a quantity of flour or air-slaked lime and dusted on the plants.

Sucking insects like plant lice may be held in check by spraying with soap suds, kerosene emulsion or tobacco decoction. Most insects are also repelled to a greater or less degree by the presence of fine dust, which tends to close their breathing pores. For that reason, it is best to keep the surface soil well tilled to maintain a dry, surface dust mulch. Wood ashes, air-slaked lime, insect powder or tobacco dust sprinkled on and about the plants also help to keep down insects.

Most fungous diseases such as celery rust and potato blight, may be held in check by spraying with bordeaux mixture; four pounds copper sulphate; four pounds lime; 50 gallons water.

Where both insects and fungi are present, it is well to add two pounds of arsenate of lead paste to the 50 gallons of bordeaux mixture. This combination spray is to be recommended especially for potatoes to control the potato beetle and potato blight. Detailed information on the control of garden insects will be found in extension service circular 15, of the University of Missouri college of agriculture.

PAINTING INTERIOR OF SILO

Not Advisable to Use Lead and Oil on Wooden Structures—Carbolineum Is Favored.

In painting the interior walls of the wood silo do not use lead and oil paint; use carbolineum or some other creosote wood preservative. One of our subscribers advised us that he painted the interior of his silo with lead paint and the paint came off in small scale, says Heard's Dairyman. After feeding silage for some time the cows showed signs of poisoning and seven died. A chemical analysis of the contents of the stomachs showed that lead poisoning was the cause of death.

EGG CIRCLE BENEFITS

The object of a community egg circle is to secure and improve better strains of poultry; to produce more eggs of good color and size; to handle eggs more carefully in order to avoid waste; to pack a uniform grade of clean, fresh eggs, in order to be able to guarantee them and thus create a reputation; to market same more directly to the consumers; to purchase supplies in a co-operative way; and to do such other things as may prove of benefit to the members and the community.—United States Department of Agriculture.

MILLIONS OF GIANTS PUT ON JOB

Germs of Blood Diseases Meet Conquering Foe.

Germs of Eczema, Tetter, Pellagra and other forms of blood troubles make their headway in exact accordance with the scarcity of red corpuscles in the blood.

When these corpuscles are multiplied and strengthened to the extent of being capable of overthrowing disease germs, then and only then, does the disease begin its losing battle.

Sul-Ferro-Sol is a mineral water rich with the one element (iron) that strengthens and multiplies red corpuscles—it makes them by the million.

One teaspoonful of Sul-Ferro-Sol taken 3 times a day quickly displays the wonderful effects of this remedy.

CUSTOMS FIFTY YEARS AGO.

Who among us would say to-day, "I never use a Dentifrice; I never have to?"

Yet Fifty years ago, odd as it may seem, not one person in 1,000 used a Dentifrice—or even a tooth brush.

So to-day, after more than 30 years of persistent publicity of Allen's Foot-Ease, the Antiseptic Powder for the Feet, not many well-turned-out people care to confess, "You know I never have to use a Powder for the Feet!"

More than One Million five hundred thousand pounds of Powder for the Feet were used by our Army and Navy during the war.

The reason is this: Confining the feet in Leather or Canvas Shoes is bound to create friction more or less. Allen's Foot-Ease removes the friction from the shoes. It is this friction which causes callouses, corns and bunions. You know what friction does to your motor-car axle. Why not remove it from your footwear by Shaking into your Shoes to-day, Allen's Foot-Ease, the cleanly, wholesome, healing, Antiseptic powder? "Ziron Did Us Both Good," Writes Mr. Gentry, of Norene, Tenn.

IT is a well-known medical fact, that iron is a necessary constituent of the blood, and that blood lacking iron is the cause of many troubles that only iron will cure.

Ziron, a scientific compound of iron with other valuable ingredients, is the remedy to take when your blood needs more iron, and your system requires a tonic. Ziron is mild and harmless, does not stain the teeth, and is good for children as well as adults.

Mr. P. G. Gentry, of Norene, Tenn., writes: "Ziron Iron Tonic has made good in my family. I have used it to a very great advantage to myself and my 14-year-old boy. It did us both good. I think it is a good medicine for what it is recommended."

If you are pale, weak, tired, feel down and out, take Ziron. It will put iron into your blood, and should help build you up.

Get a bottle from your druggist today, and give ZIRON a fair trial. Sold by him under a money-back guarantee.

MR. AND MRS. J. N. GUEIN ENTERTAIN

A lovely buffet supper was given in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Henley last Tuesday evening by Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Guein of Maplesville. Never before was this attractive home lovelier than on this occasion. The home was made bright by a profusion of sweet peas and nasturtiums with potted flowers and plants gracefully arranged.

Dancing was indulged in until a late hour when a lovely buffet luncheon was served to about forty guests. Music was furnished by the Victrola. The central ornament of the table was an immense cut glass bowl of hydrangia.

The out of town guests were Mr. and Mrs. G. O. McKee, Mrs. Lula Powell, Miss Anice Kemp, Messrs. Earl Henley and Burton Higgins of Clanton; Misses Thelma DeVaughn and Audrey Moore of Birmingham, Otis Gardner of Centerville, and Vivian Shoutler of Stanton.

Miss Mae Roberts arrived in Clanton Tuesday morning after a visit of several weeks to Denver.

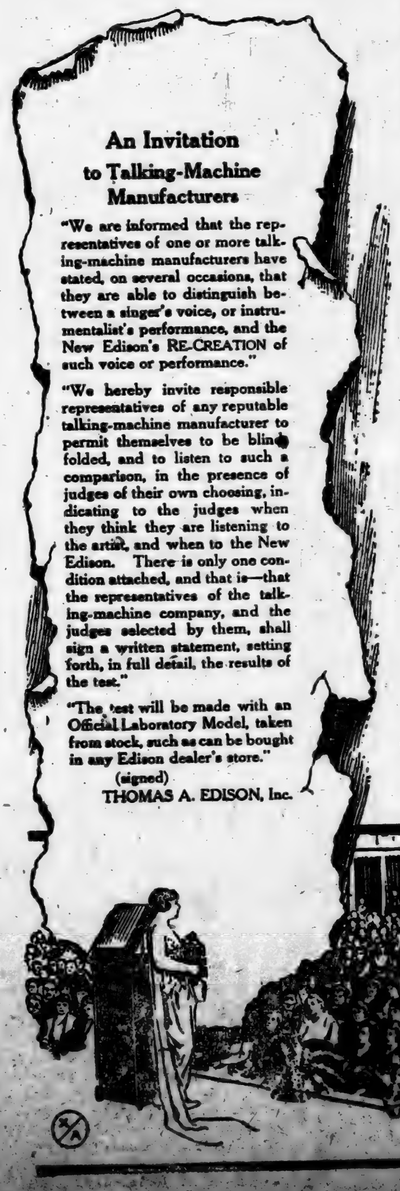
by the Edison Laboratories, and come in to hear the phonograph which stands behind it.



An Invitation to Talking-Machine Manufacturers

"We are informed that the representatives of one or more talking-machine manufacturers have stated, on several occasions, that they are able to distinguish between a singer's voice, or instrumentalist's performance, and the New Edison's RE-CREATION of such voice or performance."

"We hereby invite responsible representatives of any reputable talking-machine manufacturer to permit themselves to be blindfolded, and to listen to such a comparison, in the presence of judges of their own choosing, indicating to the judges when they think they are listening to the artist, and when to the New Edison. There is only one condition attached, and that is—that the representatives of the talking-machine company, and the judges selected by them, shall sign a written statement, setting forth, in full detail, the results of the test."

"The test will be made with an Official Laboratory Model, taken from stock, such as can be bought in any Edison dealer's store."

We have it in our store—the Official Laboratory Model specified in the challenge.

Read the "Invitation to Talking-Machine Manufacturers." It's printed here, just as the Edison Laboratories sent it out.

The NEW EDISON

"The Phonograph with a Soul"

The Official Laboratory Model has proved its Realism in 4000 Comparison Tests, made before 3,500,000 people all over the United States and Canada. For instance, in Los Angeles recently an audience of 1,500 people was unable to tell the difference between the living voice of Miss Marie Morrisey, world-famous contralto, and her RE-CREATION by the New Edison.

There's a way for you to test the wonderful Realism claimed for the Official Laboratory Model in this sweeping challenge. We give Mr. Edison's Realism Test. Come in and let us give it to you.

The price of the new Edison has advanced less than 15% since August 1, 1914. Mr. Edison has absorbed the bulk of the increased cost of material, skilled labor, and taxes. He is determined to keep the New Edison within the reach of everyone. But conditions may force a price-advance. Buy your New Edison now! Our Budget Plan makes it easy. ODD FELLOWS CELEBRATION AT THORSBY JULY THE 17TH

The Thorsby Lodge No. 588 I.O.O.F. will have a day of celebration and a picnic on Saturday, July 17th. The boys up there are planning to have a big time and they invite all the Odd Fellows in the county to come and help them out. But the invitation is not confined to Odd Fellows alone. Everybody is invited to come and bring a basket of dinner and enjoy the day and help make the occasion one of success.

Congressman Huddleston of Birmingham has agreed to be there and make a public address. This will be worth going to hear.

THE COOPER SINGING

Last Sunday, July 4th, there was an all day singing at Chestnut Creek, Cooper, Ala.

Mr. S. M. Yates, Jr., was elected as chairman of the day. Messrs D. S. Robinson and O. L. Devaughn were appointed a committee to arrange the program for the day.

At the morning session interesting music was rendered, led by Messrs R. F. Murphy, C. C. Parrish, R. T. Grant, Lee Robinson, T. L. Robinson, L. T. Grant. At eleven o'clock Rev. T. J. Deason preached an interesting sermon using as his text 31st, 32nd and 41st verses of the 25th chapter of St. Matthew. Practically everyone remained in the house during the sermon thereby showing their appreciation of the well prepared and well delivered sermon.

In the afternoon session the people were entertained with music led by Messrs Lee Grant, Gip Melton, J. M. Cleckler, R. M. Robinson, O. L. Devaughn, Glover Smith, C. H. Robinson.

The organists, who added largely to the excellent music of the day, were Messrs Lee Grant, Jr., Ralph Grant, Earnest Murphy, Lee Robinson, C. H. Robinson and Mrs. Herbert Devaughn.

The people of Cooper sustained the noted hospitality on the occasion, and the very best of order prevailed.

THORSBY NEWS

Thorsby enjoyed a dry plank on her Fourth this year. The only wet goods being a nice shower of rain.

Mr. E. E. Hanson was a Birmingham visitor Friday and Saturday of last week.

Mrs. Rebecca J. Poole, wife of J. M. Poole, died at her home here on Friday night, July 2nd, at 9:00, p.m., after a lingering illness of more than a year. She was 66 years old and a life-long and devoted member of tht Baptist Church. Surviving her is her husband, one son, O. J. Poole, and one grand-child. Funeral services were held Saturday afternoon at New Salem, Rev. W. P. Lowery officiating.

Mr. J. M. Scott is in Thorsby for a few days visiting relatives and friends.

Miss May Parnell is home for a visit, having been in Birmingham taking a business course.

Generally when folks get dead-locked like the Democrats have been in San Francisco, they have had something else to drink besides grape juice.

Mr. Bennett Forsman has moved his family to Ensley, where Mr. Forsman is employed by the Tennessee Coal and Iron Company.

Mr. Albert Anderson was a visitor to the Magic City last week.

The Lutheran Sunday School picnic was held in the church's grove Monday, and was very well attended. While the weather was cloudy, the day passed without any rain. Many prize contests were held, and the tables were loaded down all day with all kinds of choice fruits. After everyone had eaten all they could there was enough left to have another picnic the next day. Thorsby has always been on the map when it comes to picnics and well-filled baskets.

Mr. Ed Billingsley and family from Chickasaw, Ala., are spending a few days here with relatives and friends. Ed has been away for three years, but he looks natural, with the exception that he has got fat. He weighs close to 120 now.

Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Childress were Sylacauga visitors a few days last week.

Mr. Harry Peterson of Prattville spent the Fourth here with his relatives and friends.

Miss Anna Werness of Birmingham was at home for a few days recently.

Thorsby is to have a very able speaker here July 17th, when Congressman Huddleston of the Ninth District will deliver an address on Odd-Fellowship, at the Odd Fellows celebration.

Judge Sam M. Adams has bought out the store of W. G. Maynard and tells us he is going to add some new stock. He hopes to get his share of business here at Thorsby.

It looks like the Democrats could have used better judgment in getting someone to open up their convention last Monday with prayer. But they lived up to the administration's policy by giving a Roman Catholic Knight of Columbus the most important job as far as prayer is concerned.

Mr. Sam M. Pate was a visitor to Shelby a few days recently.

Miss Erma Erickson left Friday for an extended visit to Wisconsin.

Mr. Jake Kimbrough spent the 4th in Birmingham.

Mr. J. H. Goddard is able to be out again after being confined to his bed for about 5 weeks.

Rev. J. M. Graham, formerly of this place but now of Birmingham, preached the sermon at the Congregational Church last Sunday morning.

It has been reported from a reliable source that Dr. Albert M. Woolley, formerly a Thorsby doctor, had dropped dead at a small town near Tuscalooss, Ala.

A CARD OF THANKS

Editor Union-Banner:

Please allow me space in your paper to thank the good and kind people of South Calera for their kindness and willing hand during the illness and death of Thomas Patterson, my son. I hope in my heart I can return their help some day.

MRS. LAURA PATTERSON.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Moore left Tuesday night for an extended visit to their daughter, Mrs. Crump in Jacksonville, Fla. Before they left Mr. Moore came around and made arrangements for the Union-Banner to come to him while he is on his vacation.

THE THREE-MILL TAX QUESTION

Clanton, Ala., July 7, 1920.

Dear Editor:

Please allow me to say a few words more to the voters before the tax election next Tuesday.

The outlook for the passage of the tax is indeed encouraging since so far there has appeared very little or really no outspoken oppositoin to the proposed tax.

One of the objections that I have heard to the passage of the tax is, that if the tax passes and the railroads, merchants, and lumber interests pay the majority of the tax they will raise their prices to such an extent that the consumers will have to pay the tax in the end. Now, let us see if this argument is true. Doesn't the railroads charge all the freight and passenger fares that the laws of the State, public service commission and inter-state commerce commission will permit them to charge? The railroads will charge just the same freight and passenger rates without the tax that they would with the tax. The lumber industries of the county base their prices on what they receive at markets outside of Chilton County and when the people of the county buy lumber they have to pay these prices. So your lumber will not be any cheaper if the tax is defeated than if it carries. If the farmers pay indirectly the taxes of the corporations then why so much objection to the exemption of the Alabama Power Company from taxes for ten years? If we pay their taxes why not exempt all the railroads, lumber mills, merchants, etc., and let the farming interests pay the taxes directly.

I want you to carefully study the following reasons why I feel that you should vote for the tax.

1. If the three-mill tax is retained it will not increase the annual rate of your taxes over what it was last year.

2. Every dollar of this money will remain in Chilton County and will be used for maintaining the schools of the county on an equal basis.

3. The compulsory attendance period of all schools must be free. You cannot force people to pay supplement during that period but you can tax them and remember the average persons tax should be less than his supplement.

4. If the tax fails we cannot hope to run more than three months free school. While if it passes we can run not less than five and probably six months free school.

5. The farming interests will not pay more than one-third of this tax and it will only cost the average farmer $2.00 per year in taxes.

6. Your vote for this tax means better support for our schools. Better support means better teachers in better schools. Better teachers in beter schools means better future citizens.

7. Remember the jail house and court house of this county are worth more than all the school buildings of the county, the high school included.

8. A vote against the tax means no schools at all.

The biggest job Chilton County can do is to give her children a good education. Chilton County must have YOUR aid if this biggest job is to be well done. Will you help? In no other way can you do so much to help the cause of education and help lift the county to a higher plane of moral, social, intellectual and spiritual betterment than by casting your vote for the three mill tax on July 13th, 1920.

Yours truly,
HOWARD L. FOSHEE.

CLANTON BAPTIST CHURCH

Regular preaching services will be held next Sunday morning at 11 and at night at 8:00 o'clock.

Owing to the threatening weather last Sunday night the service was dismissed. The subject announced for that service will be carried over to next Sunday night, which will be "The Glorious Flag," with which we hope to have some special musical numbers.

The picture of the new church is now on exhibition at the Upchurch Drug Store. From the picture it will be seen that the structure will be a great credit to the city of Clanton. By all means, see the picture.

We cordially welcome you to all the services of our church and Sunday School, B. Y. P. U., Preaching services and the Prayer Meetings held every Wednesday night.

JAMES M. COX NOMINATED AT SAN FRANCISCO CONVENTION

In Confusion and Excitement of the Nomination, Convention forgets About Vice-President.

San Francisco, July 6.—Jas. M. Cox, Governor of Ohio, was nominated for President of the United States in the Democratic National Convention at 1:40 o'clock on Tuesday morning. The nomination came at the conclusion of a forty-four-ballot struggle in which he had steadily beaten down the forces of William G. McAdoo, former Secretary of the Treasury, and President Wilson's son in law.

When the balloting on the forty-fourth vote had voted to a point where Cox had 702 votes and was rapidly approaching the necessary two thirds, or 729, Sam B. Amidon of Kansas, manager of the McAdoo forces and vice chairman of the democratic national committee, took the platform and moved that the nomination of Governor Gox be made unanimous. Immediately there was a roar from the tired and worn delegates which lasted for a full four minutes before Chairman Robinson could put the question on Amidon's motion to suspend the rules and nominate Cox by acclamation.

In the confusion and excitement of a nomination the body forgot about a nomination for vice-president but the leaders were figuring on a list, which prominently included Mr. Franklin D. Roosevelt of New York, assistant secretary of the Navy. The crowd was demonstrating its release from the deadlock and leders arranged an adjournment until noon Tuesday to canvass the question of the second place in the meantime and to meet again prepared to complete the ticket.

DEAD BABY FOUND IN CREEK NEAR LOMAX

Last Monday, a party of fishermen consisting of Rassie Burnett, Enoch Traywick, Lee Traywick, Gannt Robinson and Arthur Robinson, were all seining for bait in the creek a mile north of Lomax. They dragged a sack out of the creek that gave forth a terrible smell, and they at first thought it was a sack of cats somebody had drowned. When they emptied the sack to see what was in it the body of an infant child was discovered. The child was wrapped in an old skirt and placed in two sacks.

The sheriff of Chilton County was summoned and he at once went with his deputies and took charge of the situation. A thorough investigation of all clues that could be started led the officers to find out that Lula Maherg, a young girl of 17 years was the mother of the dead baby. When pressed for testimony by the Coroner's Jury the young girl opened up the whole mystery by acknowledging that she was the mother of the child and that she threw it in the creek herself. She said the baby was born on the bank of the creek about ten o'clock last Tuesday night. Her first story said that the child was alive when thrown into the creek, but later she changed her testimony and said she thought it was dead.

This incident has brought to light one of the most gruesome stories of crime and iniquity that has happened in this county in many a day, and it remains yet to be seen what will be further brought to light when the preliminary trial is held.

Cox Nominated For President

Nomination is Made at Conclusion of Forty-Four Ballot Struggle.

Henchmen of Cox Fought Steadily Until the Forces of W. G. McAdoo Ex-Secretary of Treasury Were Beaten Back.

Auditorium, San Francisco—James M. Cox, governor of Ohio, was nominated for President of the United States in the democratic national convention at 1:40 in the morning. The nomination came at the conclusion of a forty-four-ballot struggle in which he had steadily beaten down the forces of William G. McAdoo, former Secretary of the Treasury.

When the balloting on the forty-fourth vote had gotten to a point where Cox had 702 votes and was rapidly approaching the necessary two-thirds, or 729, Sam B. Amidon of Kansas, manager of the McAdoo forces and vice chairman of the democratic national committee, took the platform and moved that the nomination of Governor Cox be made unanimous. Immediately there was a roar from the tired and worn delegates which lasted for a full four minutes before Chairman Robinson could put the question on Amidon's motion to suspend the rules and nominate Cox by acclamation.

The motion was formally voted over with a rolling chorus of ayes and a crashing of the brass bands.

State standards which had surged back and forth in the desperate battles of the deadlock raced to the front of the hall and to a place before the platform.

In the confusion and excitement of a nomination the body forgot about a nomination for vice president, but the leaders arranged an adjournment until noon to canvass the question of second place in the meantime and meet again prepared to complete the ticket.

The Cox band wagon movement really started before the recess for dinner.

Appeal To Tammany.

During the interval both sides of the fight made deserate apeals to Tammany. Throughout the evening New York's vote stood the same, 20 for McAdoo and 70 for Cox. On the third ballot of the evening session the slide to Cox started and before the leaders of the opposition could realize it the votes were flopping over in twos and threes and fours in a fashion which sent him over the majority mark and put him at a new level. After that the going was easy. Georgia went into the Cox column with her entire 28, the withdrawal of Palmer had released not only the Pennsylvania delegation, but other delegates who wanted to slide to the Cox column. The accessions of twos, threes and fours soon grew into blocks and when the forty-fourth ballot was well on its way the votes were tumbling into the Cox column so fast that his nomination seemed an assured fact beyond all doubt.

The coming development was obvious to the McAdoo men, and Amidon of Kansas, rushing to the platform, secured recognition from Chairman Robinson. Everybody who recognized Amidon knew what he was up there for, and the convention knew Cox was nominated several minutes before the motion was put.

Quickly Clear ODut.

With the nomination the convention gave an exhibition of relaxed energy. After dancing and hopping about the auditorium for five minutes or more the delegates cleared out, leaving the big hall abysmal and dark.

Totals forty-second ballot were:

McAdoo 427, Cox 540½, Palmer 8, Davis 49½, Cummings 3, Owen 34, Clark 2, Colby 1, Glass 24.

The changes were: Cox gained 43, carrying him within seven and a half of a majority; McAdoo lost 33, Davis lost 6 and Palmer's voted had dwindled to 8.

Forty-third ballot totals: McAdoo 412, Cox 467, Palmer 7, Davis 57½, Cummings 2, Owen 34, Clark 2, Colby 1, Glass 5½.

The changes on the forty-third ballot of the necessary two-thirds. McAdoo lost 15, Davis gained 8.

The thirty-seventh ballot as officially announced follows:

McAdoo 405, Cox 386, Palmer 202½, Cummings 3, Owen 33, Davis 50½, Glass 1, Clark 2, Adams 1, Bonniwell 1, Lewis 6.

The changes were: Palmer lost 38½, Cox gained 9, McAdoo gained 6, Davis gained 22½.

When the chairman announced no choice on the thirty-seventh the Cox, McAdoo and Palmer factions rose up and called to one another to join and end the deadlock.

The organ and band, which always seemed to be ready for the McAdoo rooters, lit into "Over There." It was all the McAdoo people needed to start up a parade. They took their tip from the music balcony and with Texas leading, started a procession of the McAdoo states.

Thirty-eighth ballot totals:

McAdoo 405½, Cox 383½, Palmer 211, Davis 50, Cummings 4, Owen 33, Glass 1, Clark 3.

The changes were: McAdoo gained one-half a vote, Cox lost 2½, Palmer gained 8½, Davis lost one-half vote.

Palmer Delegates Released.

C. C. Carlin of Virginia, one of the Palmer managers, took the platform and announced that Attorney General Palmer had authorized him to release his delegates. Carlin moved a recess of twenty minutes so the convention could decide what course to take.

Carlin told the convention the Attorney General was disinclined to delay the proceedings of the convention longer and he was authorized by him to "unconditionally and finally release his delegates."

Shouts of "Hurrah for Palmer!" rent the hall.

Totals thirty-ninth ballot: McAdoo 440, Cox 468½, Palmer 74, Davis 71½, Cummings 2, Owen 32, Clark 2, Colby 1.

Cox gained 85, McAdoo gained 34½, Davis gained 21½, and Palmer retained 74 of his 211.

Totals fortieth ballot: McAdoo 467, Cox 490, Palmer 19, Davis 76, Cummings 2, Owen 33, Clark 2, Colby 1.

On the fortieth ballot the changes were:

McAdoo gained 27; Cox gained 21½; Davis gained 4½, and Palmer retained 19.

Forty-first ballot totals: McAdoo 460, Cox 497½, Palmer 12, Davis 55½, Cummings 2, Owen 35, Glass 24, Clark 2, Colby 1.

The changes on the forty-first ballot were:

McAdoo lost 7, Cox gained 7½, Davis lost 20½ and the Palmer vote was reduced to 12.

Virginia Flops to Glass.

Virginia flopped back totally to Glass with her 24, taking 8 which she had cast for McAdoo and the 9½ which had been cast for Cox.

In Pennsylvania McAdoo gained 2 and Cox gained 2. Fourteen votes stayed with Palmer.

The Pennsylvania result was in doubt again and another poll was ordered.

During the recess between the forty-first and forty-second ballots Georgia caucused and it was decided to stick with McAdoo for another ballot. Some change was hinted at but not defined.

A roll call was ordered on a motion to adjourn until 10 o'clock.

Former Governor Linebaugh of Oklahoma moved it and the Cox people opposed it, fearing the effect of an overnight rest on their lead.

Palmer Releases Delegates.

Attorney General Palmer at 9:45 o'clock, at the close of the thirty-eighth ballot, released his delegates and left the democratic national convention free to move out of its deadlock and nominate a presidential candidate.

At the end of the second ballot, after the recess, when the Palmer vote had touched 211 and it was apparent that it could be driven no higher, former Representative C. C. Carlin of Virginia, Mr. Palmer's manager, took the platform and announced the withdrawal of the Attorney General from the race. Chairman Robinson, in presenting him, told the convention significantly that he was presenting a man who had an announcement to make which he was confident the convention would want to hear.

Expectation was in the air and the convention, which only a moment before had been in the height of disorder in a rackety demonstration, quieted down like magic until a pin might almost have been heard to drop in the great auditorium as Carlin took the speaker's place and said in substance:

"I am about to make an announcement of great surprise to this convention, at the conclusion of which I shall move a recess for twenty minutes to give the convention opportunity to decide what course it shall take.

"A. Mitchell Palmer asks me to express his sincere thanks and appreciation to every delegate who has voted for his nomination, but he is unwilling to delay the proceedings further, and has authorized me to finally, positively and absolutely release every delegate pledged to him that the convention may proceed to nominate the next President of the United States."

There was a roar of "Hurrah for Palmer!" as the line broke and the convention went into a recess. The denouncement, coming at the end of thirty-eight hard-fought and fruitless ballots, gave the same effect as does an over-inflated automobile tire when it bursts with a bang and then sizzles down.

JAMES M. COX

Democratic Nominee for President of United States.

Two Points of View.

The Idealist—What a subject for a poem!—the wild waves beating themselves into creamy foam on the rocks!

The Realist—Never mind about a poem—what an advertisement for my shaving soap!

First Christian Governor.

Cyprus was the first country to have a Christian governor—the Roman pro-consul Sergius Paulus, who had been converted by the Apostle Barnabas.

Small Comforts.

Life is made up, not of great sacrifices or duties, but of little things, in which smiles and kindnesses, and small obligations given habitually are what win the heart, and comfort.—Sir Humphry Davy.

A Good Piece of Work.

BANK DEPOSITS SHOW INCREASE

TOTAL DEPOSITS IN STATE BANKS JUNE 10, AMOUNTED TO $105,695,423.32.

PROSPERITY IS WIDESPREAD

Farmers of State Are In Better Financial Shape Than Ever Before.

Montgomery.—Total deposits in 251 State banks and twenty-one branches in Alabama on June 10, amounted to $105,695,423.32, as against $84,952.81 on June 30, 1919, according to the State Superintendent of Banks. This shows an exceedingly healthy condition of affairs in Alabama, that prosperity has been widespread and confined to no particular section. In the face of labor shortage and a short cotton crop, the farmers of Alabama have profited greatly and are in better financial shape than ever before, and prospects are improving daily for them, and some measure the shortage of help is less than it was last year. Many of the boys are home from the army, and many others engaged in some form of war work away from home, have returned and taken up agriculture again under the stimulus of good prices, and the cheaper living conditions on the farm, as contrasted with the expense of town, the prospects in all lines of business in the State were never brighter, nor business itself on a more substantial footing.

Coal Production Grows.

Birmingham.—Coal production in Alabama for the week, as given out by Frank V. Evans, statistician for the Coal Operators Association, amounted to 305,595 tons, against 293,887 tons for the previous week and 321,000 for the week ending June 12. The output at mines for the week ending June 5 amounted to 292,151. The production this June is greater than it was during the same month a year ago.

Holcombe Continues As Sheriff.

Montgomery. — William H. Holcombe, Jr., will continue to serve as sheriff of Mobile county. The supreme court dismissed the case brought by Joseph G. Bowen seeking to oust Holcombe from office. Bowen alleged that Holcombe failed to comply with the corrupt practice act.

Pershing Sends His Regrets.

Birmingham.—General John J. Pershing will not be able to attend the Rainbow reunion in Birmingham. An engagement in New England makes it impossible to attend, he states, in a personal letter. He expresses his regret at not being able to accept the invitation extended.

Court Has Large Docket.

Gadsden.—When the United States court meets here in August it will have a large docket to consider and 90 per cent of the docket will be composed of violations of the prohibition law, which have taken place since the last sitting of the court.

No Protests Filed.

Talladega.—With the ultimate time limit of ten days having almost expired, no appeal from the assessed valuations fixed on properties in Talladega county by J. B. Russell, tax adjuster, has thus far been filed. This is considered an unusual record.

County Taxes Settled.

Montgomery.—P. B. Dorlan, Mobile, the only county tax collector in Alabama with a record of 20 years continuous service to his credit, called at the state auditor's office, where he made settlement for this year's tax returns from Mobile.

Baptists Meet July 13.

Talladega. — Representatives from 89 Sunday schools, which comprise the Coosa River Baptist Association will meet here Tuesday, July 13, for an all-day convention.

Liquor Is Found.

Huntsville.—A 12-gallon keg of corn whiskey was found buried in a pile of coke in the rear of a local Bakery, by one of the employes of the establishment.

Sixty-five Teachers Needed.

Talladega.—D. A. McNeil, superintendent of education, states that fully sixty-five more teachers are needed to supply all the schols in this county.

Weevils Appear.

Anniston.—The boll weevil has made his first appearance of the season in this county in a city cotton patch.

Letter Carriers of State Meet.

Birmingham.—On July 5 and 6 the eighteenth annual convention of the Alabama Rural Letter Carriers' Association was held in Birmingham the sessions being held in the auditorium of the Chamber of Commerce. Birmingham was also the host of the first annual conference of the Alabama Federation of Rural Carriers, which met here for two days, July 5 and 6. Sessions of the convention were held in the ball room of the Hillman hotel.

Baptists Launch Rural Campaign.

Birmingham.—The Sunday school department of the executive board of the Alabama Baptist Convention, in co-operation with the Sunday school board of the Southern Baptist Convention, is launching the biggest summer rural campaign in the history of Alabama Baptists. Its purpose is that of teaching and training officers and teachers for more efficient work in the local Sunday Schools.

Changes In Offices of State.

Montgomery.—New faces in old offices, and well known faces in new offices, were noted at the capitol, when John W. Abercrombie officially became superintendent of education for Alabama, C. B. Rogers took his place as the chairman of the board of control, in the office at the head of the suite occupied by that department, and William F. Feagan took charge of the warden general's office.

Forest Reserves Are Established.

Birmingham.—In an effort to protect the timber of northern Alabama and the watershed of the great Black Warrior river basin, national forest reserves are being established. This reserve is approximately 200 square miles in area. John Forney, special attorney for the department of agriculture, made this announcement. The land is located in Franklin, Winston and Lawrence counties.

Wage War on Boll Weevils.

Mountain Creek.—Reports from all over this section agree that the boll weevil is plentiful. Industrious people are fighting the weevils energetically. Cotton looks well, and it is growing rapidly. The dry growing weather has favored the young cotton and held the weevil back.

Prisoner Is Hopeful.

Anniston.—Edgar Caldwell, negro, condemned to die July 30, for the murder of Cecil Linton, Dec. 15, 1918, thinks he is going to the coal mine instead of the gallows. Caldwell, in statements made to Sheriff Parker, expressed confidence that he would escape death.

Planning Dog Show.

Birmingham.—The annual bench show of the Birmingham Kennel Club, held during the Alabama State Fair, will be greater and more interesting this year than ever before. It is expected that not less than 300 dogs will be placed in the contests.

1,968 Cases Disposed Of.

Birmingham.—Total of 1,968 civil cases were disposed of in the circuit court during the term beginning January 1, 1920 and ending June 30, 1920, according to the semi-annual report made to Gov. Thomas E. Kilby by the clerk of the circuit court.

Corn Pest Active.

Centerville.—The farmers in Bibb county having corn in the low lands on Cahaba river are greatly disturbed over the appearance of a grass worm, or caterpillar, which is working havoc with the young corn.

Expense of Power Investigated.

Florence.—The Florence chamber of Commerce has appointed a committee to investigate the cost of installation of a hydro-electric plant on Cypress Creek for the purpose of supplying light and power for the city of Florence.

Half Holidays For Employes Sought.

Gadsden.—It is said 127 members of the Business and Professional Women's Club have asked the business houses of Gadsden to grant their employes a half holiday on Thursdays during July and August.

War Waged on Rats.

Greenville.—J. L. Perdue, health officer, has sent out a request to the citizens to assist in the war against rodents. The order was issued as a precaution against bubonic plague.

Veterans Given Furlough.

Mountain Creek.—Many of the veterans at the Old Soldiers' Home here are planning to visit friends over the state, with the furlough granted at this season of the year.

Crop Conditions Improve.

Greenville.—The crop conditions in Butler County are greatly improving, but farmers say they are far from being in such condition that a good yield is probable.

Many Attend Normal School.

Florence.—Over 400 students are attending the summer school of the State Normal here, the three dormitories being filled with students.

County Organizes Agricultural Club.

Florence.—An agricultural club has been organized at Green Hill, this county.

Fish And Oyster Men To Confer.

Mobile.—Representatives of the fish and oyster industry from the entire gulf coast section will meet in Mobile, July 10, for the purpose of forming the association for the promotion of that industry, and will spend the following day on an inspection of local facilities and points of interest hereabouts. The party will consist of both wholesale and retail dealers from the several important centers of the industry along the coast.

DEVELOPMENT OF TRUCK BUSINESS

Motor Industry in Rural Territory Has an Important Effect on Marketing Costs.

WAR BROUGHT ABOUT CRISIS

Conditions Precipitated Action by Creating Demand for Transportation Facilities of All Kinds—Difference in Plans.

Three general causes have contributed to the exploitation of the motor truck industry in rural territory—an industry which has an important effect on farm-marketing costs. These causes are: (1) the growth of our large cities and the consequent development of near-by producing areas to provide for part of the food needs of those cities; (2) the failure of the railroads to keep pace with the expansion of their short-haul business; (3) development of the motor truck by manufacturing interests and the consequent extension of their sales cam-

The crisis in the transportation field, brought about by national war emergency, afforded stimulus to the development of rural motor transportation more powerful than any other general influence. Doubtless the motor truck, in any event, would have established itself as a factor in the rural field, but ordinarily this would have been a slow process, involving the many preliminary steps. War conditions precipitated action by creating a very unusual demand for transportation facilities of all kinds. It has been necessary only to develop the opportunity. Such development necessitates or presupposes a certain familiarity with the problem as a whole. That such familiarity did not exist among those interested in developing rural motor routes was shown by preliminary investigations, initiated by the bureau of markets, United States department of agriculture. An attempt was made more than a year ago to conduct a general preliminary survey of rural motor routes established or in process of establishment. The purpose was to secure basic information regarding the desirability of establishing such routes, the methods undertaken by the beginners in this field, and the measure of success which had been attained during the early period of operation.

Truck Is Newcomer.

The information collected shows considerable differences in the plans adopted by the average inexperienced operator. The word "inexperienced" is used advisedly in view of the fact that the motor truck is a comparative newcomer in the field of transportation and there has not yet been time for many of the important preliminary problems to be worked out and a general understanding of possibilities secured. The results of the department's investigations in this field have been compiled in a bulletin, "Motor Transportation for Rural Districts," which will be sent on request. PUREBREDS NEEDED AT HOME

Wisconsin Bank Offers to Advance Money to Customers Who Wish to Purchase Holsteins.

The Better-Sires campaign conducted by various states in co-operation with the bureau of animal industry, United States department of agriculture, is developing the fact that bank credit is as available to the progressive live stock farmer as to the progressive business man of the city.

A letter received by the bureau of animal industry reports the following announcement published by a Wisconsin bank to its farmer patrons:

"Why not keep some of those purebred Holsteins at home? Many fine animals will be sold at the first annual sale of the Brown County Holstein Breeders' association to be held in the Brown county fair grounds West De Pere, Wis., The ——bank is ready to stand back of any of its customers who wish to purchase some of the stock to be offered for sale and who do not feel able at present to carry the investment. Call at the bank, and the accomodation can be easily arranged."

MARKET INFLUENCED LARGELY BY SUPPLY

Lowest Prices Prevail After the Heaviest Shipments.

With Decreasing Stocks Prices Advance, Sometimes Recovering Much of Early Decline—Careful Study Will Assist.

The man engaged in either selling or buying perishable produce will do well to familiarize himself with the usual course of the market in such lines during a season. The natural market course, according to marketing experts of the United States department of agriculture, is somewhat as follows:

It starts high with active movement even for inferior stock because the demand has the sharp edge of novelty and appetite. The price gradually declines and poor stock becomes harder to sell as the supply increases. Lowest prices arrive soon after the heaviest shipments begin, and a glut may occur, especially if many sections are shipping at once and there is much poor stock. Then, with a decreasing supply, prices advance, sometimes recovering much of the early decline, but usually not reaching the opening prices because demand is far less keen at the end of a long season. If the last of the shipments are inferior, as happens frequently with many perishable crops the season may close at or near bottom prices.

The common or natural market developments do not always take place as might be expected. Quite frequently superior quality of the main crop or absence of general competition will bring higher prices in mid season. Unexpected shortage may cause the reserve stock in storage to sell at high prices at the close of the season, especially the less perishable crops like potatoes, onions, apples, cabbage, etc. Careful study of crop, shortage, supply, and shipment should enable a fairly good judgment to be made of the outcome. However, quickly perishable short season crops like strawberries or melons are very irregular, and so it is difficult to form a reliable market judgment of them.

BEAUTIFY FARM HOME YARDS

Shrubbery, Flower Beds and Good Lawn Involve Comparatively Small Amount of Labor.

The dwelling is the headquarters of the farm business. Chores are done before breakfast and often after supper, the stock need close attention, certain farm seeds are kept in the house, the hired man may sleep there, and the women folks take care of the poultry; thus it is almost essential that the house be reasonably close to the other buildings.

The value of the house constitutes an important part of the real estate value of the farm, says the United States department of agriculture. On the higher-priced corn-belt farms and the low-priced cotton-belt farms the value of the dwelling represents from Modest Farm Home Showing Simple and Effective Beautification by Inexpensive Planting.

5 to 15 per cent of the real estate value of the farm, while in the eastern part of the United States this percentage is more commonly 20 per cent or over.

The beautifying of the yard by shrubbery, flower beds, and a good lawn involves the occasional use of manure, the introduction of fertile soil, the use of a team and of small farm tools, all of which are available on the average farm.

Series of Pictures and Stereopticon Slides to Be Used to Boost "Better Sires."

The department of agriculture is preparing a series of motion pictures and stereopticon slides for use in the "Better Sires" campaign. It is probable that the motion pictures will be ready for issue next fall.

INVENTIVE GENIUS ROBS CALOMEL OF NAUSEA AND DANGER

Doctors' Favorite Medicine Now Purified and Refined from All Objectionable Effects. "Calotabs"—the New Name.

What will human ingenuity do next? Smokeless powder, wireless telegraphy, horseless carriages, colorless iodine, tasteless quinine,—now comes nauseless calomel. The new improvement called "Calotabs" is now on sale at drugstores.

For biliousness, constipation and indigestion the new calomel tablet is a practically perfect remedy, as evidenced by the fact that the manufacturers have authorized all druggists to refund the price if the customer is not "perfectly delighted" with Calotabs. One tablet at bedtime with a swallow of water—that's all. No taste, no nausea, no griping, no salts. By morning your liver is thoroughly cleansed and you are feeling fine, with a hearty appetite. Eat what you please—no danger—go about your business.

Calotabs are not sold in bulk. Get an original package, sealed. Price, thirty-five cents.—(adv.)

"You think it has a calming influence?"

Acts on the Liver, Regulates Kidneys, Purifies the Blood

The liver is the largest and most important organ in the body, and when the liver refuses to act, it causes constipation, biliousness, headaches, indigestion, gas, sour stomach, bad breath, dysentery, diarrhoea, pains in the back and under shoulder blades and under ribs on right side. These symptoms lead to colds, influenza or other serious troubles unless corrected immediately.

An inactive liver places an extra burden on the kidneys, which overtaxes them and causes the blood to absorb and carry into the system the impurities that the liver and kidneys have failed to eliminate.

When you treat the liver alone, you treat only a third of your trouble, and that is why you have to take purgatives every few nights. Calomel or other ordinary laxatives do not go far enough. If you would treat your kidneys and blood while treating the liver, you would put your entire system in order and frequent purgatives would then be unnecessary.

Dr. W. L. Hitchcock many years ago recognized these important facts, and after much study and research, compounded what is now known as Dr. Hitchcock's Liver, Kidney and Blood Powders, three medicines combined in one. This was the Doctor's favorite prescription for many years, being used by his patients with marked success. It is a harmless vegetable remedy that will not make you sick, and you may eat anything you like while taking it.

Get a large tin box from your druggist or dealer for 25c, under his personal guarantee that it will give relief, tone up the liver, stimulate the kidneys to healthy action and thereby purify the blood. If your dealer will not supply you, it will be mailed direct by the Hitchcock Medicine Co., Atlanta, Ga., upon receipt of price.—Adv.

Fads And Fancies Of Fashion

THIN FROCKS FILL THE STREETS.

THE shop windows and the streets are furnishing a panorama of enticing things for midsummer wear, with dresses of sheer cotton fabrics the outstanding item in the display. Women have returned to fine and practical fabrics and are using the simpler methods for decorating them, as tucks, frills, ribbon borders and narrow lingerie lace. For the street, voile is in the lead, either plain or figured, embroidered or printed. Chiffon taffeta is its closest rival and is often made up with georgette crepe. Georgette also redeems satin and makes it midsummerish by suppying satin frocks with sleeves, tunic or other details in their composition that make them look cool.

For dressier frocks organdy and voile are both used and St. Gall swisses with embroidered dots are reappearing at prices that are somewhat lower than they were earlier in the season. Wide tucks are in great favor in voile and on organdy dresses, while frills seem the natural order of things for both swiss and organdy. The latter material is much used for collars, cuffs, bands, sashes, fichus and frills on dresses of other materials.

In the picture above there is a dress of white organdy at the left and one of China blue voile at the right. The organdy dress, worn by Irene Castle will help to uphold that talented lady's enviable taste in the selection of clothes. Frills of lace make the medallions and other trimming in the skirt and rows of the same lace form the deep cuff. The long sleeves and collar high at the back are late innovations in summer styles. A wide tuck headed by a frill of lace calls attention to the distended hip line and even the crushed girdle is of organdy with a little frill of lace running along the center of it. The slender type will do well to study this dress.

The pretty dress of plain voile at the right has a skirt covered by tiers of narrow, scant flounces and a plain short sleeved bodice, ending in two ruffles at the natural waist line. What makes this simple affair so chic is the ribbon that borders all edges. It is cleverly managed, showing the borders of the flounces finished with loops and ends, on alternating flounces, at both sides, small bows on the sleeves and in the back at the end of the shirring about the waist line. It suits its youthful wearer and is calculated to make her toy sailor boy leave his happy nursery and break his wooden heart when she discards him.

THE SUMMER HOSTESS

SUMMER vacations bring visits and return courtesies to the members of nearly every family, with their responsibilities resting on "the lady of the house." In these servantless days the problem of entertaining without being overburdened is going to test the abilities of many a hostess whose strength hardly matches her hospitality and her ambition to make guests have a good time. There are hardly any rules that can be laid down which will insure so desirable a result, but one thing is certain: the thought that a hostess is overtaxed and worried will spoil the visit of any intelligent guest. Therefore in the circumstances it is best to plan things that will keep one's visitors in the open and allow them to amuse themselves as much as possible.

Week-end house parties are about the pleasantest events that our summers record on memories that like to dwell upon them. They are recommended to the mother who wants to entertain for her young people. One can fill two or three days with happy times for youths and maidens, especially if there s a river, lake or the sea within easy reaching distance. Water sports, fishing, beach parties, picnics an hikes take care of the days. Camp fires, story telling, dancing and tableaux are recommended for evenings. Both the girls and boys are just as happy when they are required to make themselves useful about the house in the morning as when they have no tasks. The hostess, entertaining a house party of young folks, should provide them with a substantial breakfast and if she has no help, let them assist with straightening up the house. A picnic lunch for the middle of the day is the best way of disposing of lunch, and a hearty dinner, rather early in the evening, makes way for three or four hours for pastime afterward.

A wide porch and a graphophone are the best of aids to entertaining. Youthful guests will stand a good bit of letting alone, for like children they are easily amused for a short time. Costume dances and parties provide a lot of fun and of these the Japanese and Indian parties require little in the way of preparation. Expeditions into the woods for flowers entice town and city-bred guests and everyone enjoys boating, singing and dancing.

Julia Bottomley

Stripes Supersede Plaids

Just at present there is a decided leaning to striped fabrics as against plaids; but fashion changes are so frequent that no one can say from day to day what the major demand will be. Striped skirts are now active rivals of the big gay plaids that have held the center of the stage for so long, and both hair-line and the wider and more conspicuous stripes are featured. Knife plaiting is also being accorded a great deal of favor, as against the accordion plaiting, because only an expert can replait the accordion plaited models once they are out of shape, and the process is an expensive one.

Take Care of Your Shoes.

By the exercise of a little care, says the Thrift Magazine, the life of leather shoes may be considerably prolonged. It is a well-known fact that if a wet shoe is placed too close to a fire; the interior of the sole is sometimes utterly ruined before the surface of the leather shows appreciable signs of injury. Wet shoes should be dried slowly and shoe trees inserted to prevent their losing shape and becoming uncomfortable. It is economy to keep at least two pairs of shoes, wearing them in rotation. Some shoe manufacturers claim that two pairs of shoes worn alternately will outwear three pairs of shoes worn consecutively.

Cannot Praise this Remedy too Highly

THE WAY ONE LADY FEELS AFTER SUFFERING TWO YEARS

Judging from her letter, the misery and wretchedness endured by Mrs. Charlie Taylor, R. F. D. No. 1, Box 144, Dillon, S. C., must have been terrible. No one, after reading her letter, can continue to doubt the great healing power of PE-RU-NA for troubles due to catarrh or catarrhal conditions in any part of the body. Her letter is an inspiration to every sick and suffering man or woman anywhere. Here it is: "I suffered two years with catarrh of the head, stomach and bowels. Tried two of the best doctors, who gave me up. I then took PE-RU-NA and can truthfully say I am well. When I began to use PE-RU-NA, I weighed one hundred pounds. My weight now is one hundred and fifty. I cannot praise PE-RU-NA too highly, for it was a Godsend to me. I got relief from the first half bottle and twelve bottles cured me. I advise all sufferers to take PE-RU-NA."

As an emergency remedy in the home, there is nothing quite the equal of this reliable, time-tried medicine, PE-RU-NA. Thousands place their sole dependence on it for coughs, colds, stomach and bowel trouble, constipation, rheumatism, pains in the back, side and loins and to prevent the grip and Spanish Flu. To keep the blood pure and maintain bodily strength and robustness, take PE-RU-NA.

You can buy PE-RU-NA anywhere in either tablet or liquid form.

DEVELOPMENT OF TRUCK BUSINESS

Motor Industry in Rural Territory Has an Important Effect on Marketing Costs.

WAR BROUGHT ABOUT CRISIS

Conditions Precipitated Action by Creating Demand for Transportation Facilities of All Kinds—Difference in Plans.

Three general causes have contributed to the exploitation of the motor truck industry in rural territory—an industry which has an important effect on farm-marketing costs. These causes are: (1) the growth of our large cities and the consequent development of near-by producing areas to provide for part of the food needs of those cities; (2) the failure of the railroads to keep pace with the expansion of their short-haul business; (3) the development of the motor truck manufacturing interests and the consequent extension of their sales campaigns.

Crisis in Transportation.

The crisis in the transportation field, brought about by national war emergency, afforded stimulus to the development of rural motor transportation more powerful than any other general influence. Doubtless the motor truck, in any event, would have established itself as a factor in the rural field, but ordinarily this would have been a slow process, involving the many preliminary steps. War conditions precipitated action by creating a very unusual demand for transportation facilities of all kinds. It has been necessary only to develop the opportunity. Such development necessitates or presupposes a certain familiarity with the problem as a whole. That such familiarity did not exist among those interested in developing rural motor routes was shown by preliminary investigations, initiated by the bureau of markets, United States department of agriculture. An attempt was made more than a year ago to conduct a general preliminary survey of rural motor routes established or in process of establishment. The purpose was to secure basic information regarding the desirability of establishing such routes, the methods undertaken by the beginners in this field, and the measure of success which had been attained during the early period of operation.

A Type of Motor Truck That Requires Skill for Most Efficient Operation.

Truck Is Newcomer.

The information collected shows considerable differences in the plans adopted by the average inexperienced operator. The word "inexperienced" is used advisedly in view of the fact that the motor truck is a comparative newcomer in the field of transportation and there has not yet been time for many of the important preliminary problems to be worked out and a general understanding of possibilities secured. The results of the department's investigations in this field have been compiled in a bulletin, "Motor Transportation for Rural Districts," which will be sent on request. The Better-Sires campaign conducted by various states in co-operation with the bureau of animal industry, United States department of agriculture, is developing the fact that bank credit is as available to the progressive live stock farmer as to the progressive business man of the city.

For the street, voile is in the lead, either plain or figured, embroidered or printed. Chiffon taffeta is its closest rival and is often made up with georgette crepe. Georgette also redeems satin and makes it midsummerish by supplying satin frocks with sleeves, tunic or other details in their composition that make them look cool.

For dressier frocks organdy and voile are both used and St. Gall swisses with embroidered dots are reappearing at prices that are somewhat lower than they were earlier in the season. Wide tucks are in great favor in voile and on organdy dresses, while frills seem the natural order of things for both swiss and organdy. The latter material is much used for collars, cuffs, bands, sashes, fichus and frills on dresses of other materials.

In the picture above there is a dress of white organdy at the left and one of China blue voile at the right. The organdy dress, worn by Irene Castle will help to uphold that talented lady's enviable taste in the selection of clothes. Frills of lace make the medallions and other trimming in the skirt and rows of the same lace form the deep cuff. The long sleeves and collar high at the back are late innovations in summer styles. A wide tuck headed by a frill of lace calls attention to the distended hip line and even the crushed girdle is of organdy with a little frill of lace running along the center of it. The slender type will do well to study this dress.

The pretty dress of plain voile at the right has a skirt covered by tiers of narrow, scant flounces and a plain short sleeved bodice, ending in two ruffles at the natural waist line. What makes this simple affair so chic is the ribbon that borders all edges. It is cleverly managed, showing the borders of the flounces finished with loops and ends, on alternating flounces, at both sides, small bows on the sleeves and in the back at the end of the shirring about the waist line. It suits its youthful wearer and is calculated to make her toy sailor boy leave his happy nursery and break his wooden heart when she discards him.

THE SUMMER HOSTESS

SUMMER vacations bring visits and return courtesies to the members of nearly every family, with their responsibilities resting on "the lady of the house." In these servantless days the problem of entertaining without being overburdened is going to test the abilities of many a hostess whose strength hardly matches her hospitality and her ambition to make guests have a good time. There are hardly any rules that can be laid down which will insure so desirable a result, but one thing is certain: the thought that a hostess is overtaxed and worried will spoil the visit of any intelligent guest. Therefore in the circumstances it is best to plan things that will keep one's visitors in the open and allow them to amuse themselves as much as possible.

Week-end house parties are about the pleasantest events that our summers record on memories that like to dwell upon them. They are recommended to the mother who wants to entertain for her young people. One can fill two or three days with happy times for youths and maidens, especially if there s a river, lake or the sea within easy reaching distance. Water sports, fishing, beach parties, picnics an hikes take care of the days. Camp fires, story telling, dancing and tableaux are recommended for evenings. Both the girls and boys are just as happy when they are required to make themselves useful about the house in the morning as when they have no tasks. The hostess, entertaining a house party of young folks, should provide them with a substantial breakfast and if she has no help, let them assist with straightening up the house. A picnic lunch for the middle of the day is the best way of disposing of lunch, and a hearty dinner, rather early in the evening, makes way for three or four hours for pastime afterward.

A wide porch and a graphophone are the best of aids to entertaining. Youthful guests will stand a good bit of letting alone, for like children they are easily amused for a short time. Costume dances and parties provide a lot of fun and of these the Japanese and Indian parties require little in the way of preparation. Expeditions into the woods for flowers entice town and city-bred guests and everyone enjoys boating, singing and dancing.

Stripes Supersede Plaids

Just at present there is a decided leaning to striped fabrics as against plaids; but fashion changes are so frequent that no one can say from day to day what the major demand will be. Striped skirts are now active rivals of the big guy plaids that have held the center of the stage for so long, and both hair-line and the wider and more conspicuous stripes are featured. Knife plaiting is also being accorded a great deal of favor, as against the accordion plaiting, because only an expert can replait the accordion plaited models once they are out of shape, and the process is an expensive one.

Take Care of Your Shoes.

By the exercise of a little care, says the Thrift Magazine, the life of leather shoes may be considerably prolonged. It is a well-known fact that if a wet shoe is placed too close to a fire; the interior of the sole is sometimes utterly ruined before the surface of the leather shows appreciable signs of injury. Wet shoes should be dried slowly and shoe trees inserted to prevent their losing shape and becoming uncomfortable. It is economy to keep at least two pairs of shoes, wearing them in rotation. Some shoe manufacturers claim that two pairs of shoes worn alternately will outwear three pairs of shoes worn consecutively.

Cannot Praise this Remedy too Highly

THE WAY ONE LADY FEELS AFTER SUFFERING TWO YEARS

Judging from her letter, the misery and wretchedness endured by Mrs. Charlie Taylor, R. F. D. No. 1, Box 144, Dillon, S. C., must have been terrible. No one, after reading her letter, can continue to doubt the great healing power of PE-RU-NA for troubles due to catarrh or catarrhal conditions in any part of the body. Her letter is an inspiration to every sick and suffering man or woman anywhere. Here it is: "I suffered two years with catarrh of the head, stomach and bowels. Tried two of the best doctors, who gave me up. I then took PE-RU-NA and can truthfully say I am well. When I began to use PE-RU-NA, I weighed one hundred pounds. My weight now is one hundred and fifty. I cannot praise PE-RU-NA too highly, for it was a Godsend to me. I got relief from the first half bottle and twelve bottles cured me. I advise all sufferers to take PE-RU-NA."

As an emergency remedy in the home, there is nothing quite the equal of this reliable, time-tried medicine, PE-RU-NA. Thousands place their sole dependence on it for coughs, colds, stomach and bowel trouble, constipation, rheumatism, pains in the back, side and loins and to prevent the grip and Spanish Flu. To keep the blood pure and maintain bodily strength and robustness, take PE-RU-NA.

You can buy PE-RU-NA anywhere in either tablet or liquid form.

Party cheers and partisan eulogies cannot take the place of pricniples or truth.

Chairman Cummings' "key-note speech" was typical of the Wilson plan of government by emotion.

Son-in-law McAdoo has profited by his tuition in the Wilson school of politics. He knows how to dissemble and conceal.

Judging from Chairman Cummings' eulogy, the Democratic party and the nation will go to smash when Woodrow Wilson passes away.

Thoughtful Americans are not swept off their feet or deprived of their good sense by the cheers for President Wilson, in a convention made up of hand-picked Wilson delegates.

According to Chairman Cummings, Woodrow Wilson is Jefferson, Jackson, Garfield, McKinley and Lincoln all rolled in one. Is not this overdoing it? The country is inclined to smile.

"Senator Reed is permitted to appear before the committee on credentials," reads a headline. This, in a "democratic" convention, does not sound very much iike Jeffersonian democracy.

The New York Sun and Herald are right when they say that "the Democratic party it not fit, and cannot by any act of the San Francisco convention, become fit, to manage the United States Government."

SOME THINGS HE DID NOT MENTION.

The following subjects were omitted by Chairman Cummings in his key-note speech at the Democratic National Convention at 'Frisco.

The wicked waste and extravagance under the democratic administration during the war.

The scandals in the war administration already revealed by congressional investigating committees.

The high cost of living due largely to the errors of the present administration.

The effort on the part of the president to coerce the Senate.

The false position in which the president placed the United States before the world.

The serious and pressing problems of peace adjustment.

The refusal of the president to compromise with the Senate and ratify the covenant.

The refusal of the president to accept the Knox Resolution.

The failure of the president to give adequate attention to our domestic affairs.

The making good of the president's threat to force the league of nations into the present pure American campaign.

The first day's proceedings at San Francisco demonstrated that Woodrow Wilson is the Democratic party. Hence Woodrow Wilson is the issue. The Democrats and Woodrow Wilson have made the choice. They must take the consequences.

After telling of Warren G. Harding's early musical achievements in playing a horn in the Marion town band, the National Republican remarks: "You can't imagine Woodrow Wilson playing anything on a horn but a solo, and that is one reason that Senator Harding will be so much of an improvement."

Progressive Republicans all over the country are coming out for Senator Harding for president. They perceive what is the undoubted fact that the people of America have only one real hope for advanced, practical, up-to-date and progressive legislation and administrtion and that is the election of a Republican president and a Republican congress.

Farmer Wilson's steam roller at San Francisco is doing wonderfully good work in fitting the ground for a big increase in the crop of Republican United States Senators this fall. A democratic factional split in several otherwise hopeless states can scarcely be avoided.

Permanent Chairman Robinson in the Democratic National Convention, set up the old claim that the Wilson Covenant of the cLague of Nations, as reported by the President would forever stop war. He knows better than that. No one but a Democratic politician seeking votes for his party will make any such claim.

The people of Chilton County are urged to come out to the election next Tuesday and vote for the three-mill school tax. If we are to have any schools worth while in the future we must have this tax. Don't forget to come out and vote, and don't let your neighbor forget it.

Already Son-in-Law McAdoo is charged with insincerity, not by Republicans, but by Democrats.

HARDING CLOSE FRIEND OF COL. ROOSEVELT.

Washington, July 6.—Recalling Senator Harding's efforts to secure official sanction for Col. Roosevelt to lead a force of volunteers overseas, we wish to remind our readers that the two were on the most friendly terms before the latter's death.

It is certain that in the presidential campaign much attention will be focussed on the relations between Senator Harding and the late Col. Theodore Roosevelt; in fact, references to the close acquaintanceship that existed between the ex-President and the Republican nominee for many years previous to the former's death already have appeared in the press. Probably no more convincing proof of the high esteem in which Senator Harding was held by the Colonel can be found than in Mr. Roosevelt's selection of the Senator to introduce and lead the fight for the amendment to the army bill which was designed to permit the recruiting of a volunteer division of soldiers. No citizen had a more profound conviction of the righteousness of our cause in the world war than Col. Roosevelt, and there was no desire nearer his heart than to be allowed to go overseas with a fighting unit and meet the Huns' face to face. He would have subordinated everything else to the accomplishment of that ambition, and in selecting the champion of his own cause on the floor of the Senate he picked out the man whom he considered most in sympathy with his aspirations and most likely to win success for his project.

Senator Harding presented this Rosevelt amendment and spoke effectively in its favor. In the course of his remarks he paid a eulogy to the patriotism of Roosevelt that ought to be taken to heart by every friend of the former president. "It is designed," said Senator Harding, in referring to his amendment, "to give form to a Rooseveltian expression of eager and ready Americanism and to provide an army of Amercians who believe in him and his gospel of Americanism, and afford him and them the simplest means of proving that American expression and American action are in compelling accord. * * * The amendment has in view a possible volunteer army for immediate and intensive training, to be recruited by Col. Roosevelt, a former Commander in Chief of the United States Army and Navy. It opens the way to provide the earliest possible armed American force to participate in the battles on the western front of Europe. It provides the advance guard of American ideals, bearing the oriflame of New World liberty, New World civilization, and New World humanity, and armed assurance of our everlasting committal to maintained national rights."

"There are but two living men who are ex-commanders in Chief of the armed forces of the nation," continued Senator Harding. "To accept of one of them, who has already seen actual and honorable service on the field of battle, the tender of one or more divisions of volunteers who shall typify the American eagerness to further our cause on European battlefields is the natural thing and the heartening thing and the harmonizing thing to do. It will be the first manifestation of the American spirit, the first earnest of the American consecration, the tangible evidence of American intent. * * * I believe it can be raised; I know it can be raised under Col. Roosevelt's inspiring leadership. * * * I venture to say that 90 per cent of the thoughtful sentiment of this land is ready to approve the hastened recruiting of this volunteer army under Col. Roosevelt. There is but one Theodore Roosevelt in the world, and I am glad all know of him as a citizen of the United States of America."

That Mr. Roosevelt had wisely chosen his representative in the Senate is attested by the fact that the Harding-Roosevelt amendment was adopted by that body by a vote of 56 to 31. Unfortunately an imperious order came from the White House to the Democratic conferees to strike the provision from the bill, and it was thus lost."

JULY TERM COUNTY COURT IN SESSION HERE MONDAY

The followng cases on the County Court docket were disposed of by Judge Reynolds last Monday:

Thomas Henley, charged with vagrancy, continued.

Charley Cleckler, charged with violating prohibition laws, continued to August court.

Jim Mims, charged with assault and battery, forfeitore and alias capias, bond fixed at $500.

Lum Bearden, charged with violating prohibition laws, defendant was discharged.

Lexie Mims, charged with petit larceny, plead guilty, fined $25 and costs, and sentenied to one day and one night in jail.

Ormon Mims, charged with petit larceny, plead guilty, fined $25 and cists, and sentenced to one day and one night in jail.

John Ellison, charged with violating prohibition laws, continued to next Saturday.

Albert Gore, charged with violating prohibition laws; continued.

Charges have been entered in the county court against Monroe Wyatt and Elijah Weldon for keeping their store open on Sunday. It is alleged that the above parties violated a state law in keeping their store in Clanton open on Sundays. The case will be tried in the County Court at its next term the first Monday in August.

The only way to keep Ohio from having the next president is to turn socialist and vote for Gene Debs. We wonder if they would claim him then if he were elected?

DOWN IN TENNESSEE

'Way down in Tennessee, the editor of The Jellico Carry-On, under the heading of "The Next President," begins with, "Some of us have about come to the place where we don't care a rap whether the man is a Democrat, eRpublican or on the force. But there are other things he must be. We would like a man who can devote a little attention to the affairs of Uncle Sam and less to Corsica and the Isle of Man. We want a plain old-fashioned American; not a dreamer nor a theorist or an International star gazer. Harding and Coolidge seem endowed with the qualifications. If we can't have Harding, give us a Democrat just as good, because this is an election to choose a president of the United States and not for the League of Nations."

COUNTY SINGING CONVENTION TO BE AT COUNTY HIGH SCHOOL

The next session of the Chilton County Singing Convention is to be held at the County High School building in Clanton on the Third Sunday in July (18th).

Mr. J. Monroe Smith, the secretary of the Convention, and other local promoters of the cause of music in the county, are busy getting details in shape for the coming event which will no doubt be made one of the best in the history of the organization.

Such reputed singers as Patton, Merritt and others, will be here to add the great force of their presence to the occasion. At that time Prof. Patton will be teaching a school at Liberty Hill and he will be here with his entire class from that place.

Prof. Merrtt will be remembered by those who attended the special session of the convention at the high school last November. He was there and his directing caught up a most hearty response from all who heard him.

BRIDGE NOTICE.

The Commissioners Court of Chilton County, Ala., will meet at Yellow Leaf Creek, near Thorsby, Ala., July 19, 1920, at 10 o'clock, A. M., for the purpose of receiving bids to erect a steel bridge over said creek. The right to reject any and all bids is hereby reserved.

L. H. REYNOLDS,
Judge of Probate.

CHILTON COUNTY ABSTRACT CO.
M. D. FOSHEE, MANAGER.

It is not safe to buy land or to lend money and accept land as security without first investigating the title of the land. Often there are unpaid mortgages, judgments, or other liens affecting the title, which an abstract would set out. Therefore, when buying land or lending money thereon, it is important that an abstract of title be furnished. A few dollars spent for an abstract is cheaper than going ahead and having a law suit a little later on.

Abstracts of Title Promptly Prepared at Reasonable Charges.

"SOMETHING WRONG HERE."

Synopsis.—Circumstances having prevented Spalding Nelson, clerk, from joining the American forces going to France, he is in a despondent mood when he receives an invitation to dinner from his great-uncle, Rufus Gaston. On his way to the house he meets, under peculiar circumstances, a young girl, apparently in trouble, to whom he has an opportunity to be of slight service. She lives in the same apartment building as Rufus Gaston, and he accompanies her home.

Although I tried to pretend an interest in their conversation and absently answered their questions about my family, my thoughts kept constantly recurring to the strange trouble of the girl across the hall, her plight interesting me far more than the purpose for which my great-uncle had sent for me. I had expected that he would broach that subject himself, but the coffee arrived and still the conversation had been limited to stilted family chat. As we returned to the living room, I decided to give him a lead:

"My mother wrote me—" I began.

"Oh, yes," said old Rufus, looking relieved.

"Yes, yes, of course," echoed Mrs. Gaston.

I waited for one or the other of them to proceed but for some reason they both seemed at a loss for words.

"You tell him, Rufus," said my great-aunt at last.

His tired old eyes studied my countenance carefully, searchingly, as if he was trying to read my soul.

"What is it?" I asked impatiently.

"It is this," said old Rufus, speaking slowly and with effort, as if he hated to disclose his intentions. "Three days from now—that will be Sunday morning—my wife and I are going to Maine to be gone for some months. We have leased a furnished cottage there and shall take our servants and our motor with us. We do not like to leave this apartment wholly untenanted, and it occurred to Mrs. Gaston that you might occupy it in our absence."

I am afraid my countenance at that moment must have betrayed my consternation. My great expectations vanished, blew up, disappeared. They did not want me for an heir but for a caretaker. What a fool I had been to imagine for one moment that this penurious old couple had contemplated doing anything for me. They wanted me to do something for them. A sarcastic refusal of their proffer trembled on my lips but was stayed by my great-aunt speaking:

"It will enable you to save your room rent. Mr. Gaston will pay the rent in advance before we go. There will be no one here to serve you meals so you will have to get them elsewhere, but I will arrange with my laundress to come in once a day to make up your room, and you'll be under no expense."

Her suggestion that I would have no room rent to pay decided me. Two other considerations also influenced me. It might be a plan on the part of the old people to try me out and see if I was trustworthy, and then, dwelling under the same roof with Barbara Bradford, I might have opportunities of seeing her again, and who knows, perhaps of assisting her out of her mysterious plight.

"I shall be very glad indeed to come," I found myself saying. "It was nice of you both to think of me."

"Something Wrong Here—In This House—I Tell You!"

"We'll consider the matter settled," announced old Rufus. "We are unused to guests here, so you had better come at ten on Sunday, an hour after we have started."

"Rufus," suggested my great-aunt apprehensively, "had you not better give him the combination of the wall safe? My jewels are there, and in case there should be a fire—"

"Why not take them with you?" I interrupted.

"They are a nuisance when you are traveling," she objected.

"A safe deposit box would be better, then."

"No," said old Rufus shortly. "Both my safe deposit boxes are full and there is no use hiring another one. The jewels will be all right where they are. In case of fire you can remove them to a place of safety. This is the combination—see that you remember it—six right, four left, two right, eight left, 6,428."

"I'll remember it," I replied, mentally repeating it over and over again.

"And now, my dear," said the old gentleman, "if you will get the keys from my desk, we can permit our nephew to depart."

My great-aunt left the room to do his mission. The minute she was safely out of hearing old Rufus' whole manner underwent a startling change. Into his deep-set gray eyes came a look of terror. His face became ashen, and the withered hand with which he clutched my arm was trembling violently.

"Listen, boy," he hissed, leaning forward that he might speak into my ear and looking about apprehensively as if he feared to be overheard. "Listen—there's something wrong here."

My first thought was that he had been suddenly stricken with senile dementia, but recalling his perfectly rational conduct throughout the rest of the evening, I dismissed the theory as absolutely untenable. His fear, whatever caused it, certainly seemed very real.

"Something wrong?" I repeated, wonderingly. "What do you mean? What is it?"

He clutched my arm in a still tighter grasp, and his voice, suppressed to a terrified whisper, became more insistent.

"I don't know," he breathed. "I wish I did." He glanced timorously about and went on. "There's something wrong! I sense it. I feel it. I cannot find out what it is. All kinds of queer things happen. I am always hearing voices—whispers, whispers, whispers! That is why we are going away. My wife thinks it is on account of my health. I don't want her to know. Please, please, Spalding, find out what it is before we return. I have no son. There is no one else but you to do it. Solve the mystery for me. Find out about the whispers. Promise me you will. Ssh—not a word to her! Not a word!"

He withdrew his hold on my arm and laid his finger on his lips as he heard his wife returning. With a visible effort he straightened up, and when she entered the room he apparently had entirely recovered his self-possession and was his natural self again, a dignified, world-weary old man.

"I can't find your keys, Rufus," said my great-aunt, "you had better get them yourself."

The minute he left the room she hastened to my side and she, too, began to whisper mysterious warnings, exhibiting a terror hardly less than her aged husband's.

"This is a house of mystery," she announced. "I'm always hearing strange sounds here. He doesn't know"—with a nod in the direction old Rufus had gone, "and I do not want him to. That is the reason I am taking him away. Solve the mystery of it before we return. I'll pay you. I'll make it well worth your while."

Her husband's shuffling in the passage warned her of his return, and she quickly dropped my arm. As he entered she was telling me in quite normal tones to be sure to remember her to my mother the next time I wrote.

Old Rufus handed me the keys, explaining which was which.

"And remember," said my great-uncle, as he escorted me to the door, "you are not to come until Sunday morning at ten, after we have gone. And remember the combination of the safe—Remember!"

The insistent way in which he repeated the word conveyed to me forcefully that what he most wanted me to remember was the strange warning he had given me, and as I clasped his hand in parting I tried by the firmness of my grip to let him know that I understood.

"Remember," repeated my aunt, too, as she stood there in the door a little behind him, at the same time giving me a significant look.

Yet, puzzling as had been the conduct of both of them, my memories that night were not of their warning nor of the combination of the safe nor of the hour at which I was to arrive. They were of the most beautiful eyes I ever had seen and of the haunting terror written in them.

CHAPTER II.

Sunday morning came at last.

It was hardly eight when I set out for my new quarters, taking with me only one small handbag and leaving my two trunks for the expressman. In the time intervening since my visit to the Gaston home I had done but little except speculate on the mysterious warnings that both of the old people had surreptitiously given me. It seemed so utterly improbable and impossible that there could be any inexplicable mystery about a home in a modern, up-to-date apartment house in the center of a civilized city. And if there was a mystery, why did they stay there? Why didn't they move?

Yet, as I pondered over the matter, I was convinced that both my great-uncle and his wife were rational. I dismissed without hesitation the theory that there could have been any supernatural happenings to affright them. It was probable, I decided, that their fears might have been played on by some conspiracy on the part of their servants to induce them to spend a season in Maine. Perhaps there was some specter from my great-uncle's past now rising to confront him that he was seeking to hide from his wife. It might be that she knew of it or had received threats and was trying to conceal the matter from him. There are few men of millions without some secret shameful pages in their lives. As I remembered that old Rufus Gaston's dollars had been made in South America, all that I had heard and read of plots and counterplots below the equator came buzzing into my brain. If such should be the case, that some betrayed conspirator now was seeking vengeance, more than ever I welcomed the unexpected chance that had thrown this opportunity for adventure in my prosaic path.

Yet maybe their warnings were justified. There was Barbara Bradford, who lived under the same roof, on the very floor with them. She seemed to be caught in the web of some plot, to be living in fear of some mysterious peril.

Was she, I wondered, in any way connected with the mystery that overhung the Gaston home? Did my great-uncle and his wife know her? Her mis[illegible] the park had been to get [illegible]s. Could they have been in an [illegible] involved with what was [illegible]mente" my great-uncle's peace of mind? How I regretted now that I had not asked the Gastons if they knew Miss Bradford. How I welcomed the opportunity I was now to have of living in the same apartment house with her, close at hand if ever I could serve her. I was glad now that circumstances had prevented my going to France with Birge and Roller.

As I arrived at my great-uncle's corner, I saw Miss Bradford approaching from the opposite direction. She was in riding togs. I timed my steps to reach the corner as she did. Would she, I wondered, consider our strange meeting a few evenings before sufficient introduction to justify her speaking to me.

"Good morning, Mr. Nelson," she greeted me pleasantly. "Making an early call, aren't you?"

"I'm coming here to live for a while," I answered, falling into step with her. "The Gastons are going to Maine and have asked me to occupy their apartment while they are away."

As we chatted we had entered the building, and as before I went into the elevator with her. As I left her at the door, wondering if she had had any more encounters in the park, yet hardly daring to ask, she turned to me, half apologetically, and said:

"Mr. Nelson, since you've come to live here in the house, I must be careful. We have not been introduced, and my people will think it strange if they see me speaking to you. You understand, don't you? You must not speak to me or recognize me until—"

"Until what?" I cried eagerly.

"Until we can manage to be properly introduced."

"Yet," I insisted, "you promised to let me help you."

"I have not forgotten. I'm grateful, really I am. Perhaps I may call on your services. I may have to. If I do, I'll find some way of letting you know."

"Some secret way," I suggested, half sarcastically.

"Perhaps," she laughingly nodded as we separated.

As I took out the keys my great-uncle had given me and entered the apartment, I looked about me with a wholly new interest. That little word "mine" makes a vast difference in the way we regard things. Now that these luxurious quarters were to be my home, temporarily at least, I looked about curiously. Certainly at first glance there was nothing mysterious in the atmosphere. Setting my bag down I began an immediate inspection of the rooms.

The Gaston apartment, I discovered, occupied one whole side of the sixth floor of a twelve-story building. Around the elevator shaft that came up through the center was a small square court with four doors, two opening into the Bradford apartment opposite and two into the one I was occupying. The east apartments were known as Six A and the west as Six B. The door by which I had entered led into a lofty foyer, connecting by sliding doors with a great dining room, and beyond it, in the front of the house, with a reception or living room that ran the entire width of the apartment. Back of the elevator, with a separate door for the servants' use, were the kitchen, the butler's pantry, a servant's sitting room and two bedrooms. From the foyer a long hall ran almost the length of the building. On the servants' side it was blank as to doors, save for the passage from the pantry to the dining room, but on the other side several doors opened into spacious sleeping rooms, each with its own bath. As I was wondering which of the bedrooms my great-aunt had expected me to occupy, I noticed still another door which I found led into a small bedroom on the servants' side of the house but unconnected with their quarters. While it was less elaborately furnished than the rooms opposite, it was comfortable enough, and it had a spacious bathroom adjoining. The fact that the bed here had been left turned down was evidence enough that it was intended for my occupancy. Returning to the foyer to get my bag and unpack it, I was startled by the ringing of the front doorbell.

I sprang eagerly to answer it. It must be Miss Bradford. Probably she had reconsidered and had decided to take me into her confidence. Who else could it be? There was no one else who knew I was in the apartment. It must be Miss Bradford!

With an exclamation of welcome on my lips I flung open the door. A man stood there—an utter stranger. In my disappointment I was almost closing the door in his face, but as if anticipating my thought he quickly advanced one foot over the sill and kept it there.

"Well," I demanded, almost savagely, "what do you want?"

"Oh, it is you, is it?" he replied, eyeing me with what seemed to me a most insolent stare.

"What do you mean?" I asked, bewildered. Certainly I never had seen this person before. He was short and stocky, with sparse nondescript hair and weak, shifty blue eyes. His face

"You Must Not Speak to Me or Recognize Me Until—"

had an unhealthy pallor, as if he lived long away from the sunlight, and was sunken in, as if from undernourishment, yet the breadth of his shoulders and his huge rough hands seemed to indicate physical strength beyond the ordinary.

"You're Mr. Spalding Nelson, aren't you?"

"That's my name," I answered shortly.

"Mr. Gaston's—" He paused, as if trying to recall the relationship.

"Mr. Gaston's great-nephew."

"I guess you are him, all right," he said, in a manner of evident relief. "I'm Mr. Wick, the superintendent of the house."

"Of course," I answered, feeling rather foolish at my own vexation.

"Mr. Gaston told me you were coming in this morning," he hastened to explain.

"He gave me a description of you," Mr. Wick went on, unperturbed, "and the boys in the hall were pretty sure it was you that came in, but—"

"But what?"

"I couldn't understand it. You didn't announce yourself. It seemed funny, your coming in with the young lady from next door."

"It just happened that way," I explained, now understanding his mystification. "I met her as I was coming in."

"Twice," he said, rather insolently.

"I can't see that it is any of your business," I retorted angrily, "if it happened a dozen times."

His manner at once became apologetic, and he hastened to offer obsequious explanations.

"Mr. Gaston asked me to take particular notice. The other evening when you were coming to dinner he told me to tell the hall boys to look at you closely so that they could identify you as the right party when you came in today. That was how it happened. You see, sir, in a house of this sort we have to be careful. It doesn't do to let strangers prowl about without finding out who they are and what they are doing."

The hero's troubles begin.

CALOMEL DANGER TOLD BY DODSON

Says You Cannot Gripe, Sicken, or Salivate Yourself if You Take "Dodson's Liver Tone" Instead

Calomel loses you a day! You know what calomel is. It's mercury; quicksilver. Calomel is dangerous. It crashes into sour bile like dynamite, cramping and sickening you. Calomel attacks the bones and should never be put into your system.

When you feel bilious, sluggish, constipated and all knocked out and believe you need a dose of dangerous calomel just remember that your druggist sells for a few cents a large bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone, which is entirely vegetable and pleasant to take and is a perfect substitute for calomel. It is guaranteed to start your liver without stirring you up inside and can not salivate.

Don't take calomel! It can not be trusted any more than a treacherous wild cat. Take Dodson's Liver Tone, which straightens you right up and makes you feel fine. Give it to children because it is perfectly harmless and doesn't gripe.—Adv.

The Deceiver.

"It was simply heartrending! They were entertaining a party of friends with a ouija board seance. The control had just assured them in the most unmistakable manner that they need fear no ill, when a noise was heard in the basement, and they got a fleeting glimpse of three robbers making off with the last of the liquor. ADOPT PLATFORM WITHOUT CHANGE

GOES THROUGH UNSCATHED AS FRAMED BY THE RESOLUTIONS COMMITTEE.

PROHIBITION NOT MENTIONED

Bryan Snowed Under Following Dramatic Debate the Vote Being 959½ to 155½.

San Francisco.—The democratic platform, as framed in the resolutions committee, declaring for the peace treaty, expressing sympathy for Ireland and saying nothing at all about prohibition, came unscathed through a furious floor fight and was adopted without amendment in a great avalanche of applause.

W. J. Bryan led the fight for adoption of his bone-dry plank, but it was buried after a dramatic day of debate by a majority so overwhelming that he did not even ask for roll calls on the four other minority reports which he had prepared.

The convention snowed Bryan under on a roll call, which followed a dramatic debate, the vote being 959½ to 155½.

In the battle for the platform, as framed, the administration forces were led by Secretary Colby and Senator Glass of Virginia during a debate in which both sides stirred the delegates and spectators to repeated bursts of emotional enthusiasm.

Without a roll call the convention also voted down Mr. Bryan's plank for the publication of an official newspaper by the federal government.

The Bryan profiteering plank also was rejected by acclamation.

In quick succession the convention then voted down also the plan offered by Mr. Bryan declaring against compulsory military training in peacetime.

The Bryan League of Nations plank shared the same fate, going out in a great chorus of "noes."

The plank for a commission to investigate the feasibility of a soldier bonus also was rejected without a roll call.

The Legue of Nations plank as adopted by the convention recognizes America's obligations to her allies and the smaller nationalities of the world and advocates the speedy fulfillment of those obligations without impairing American sovereignty or running counter to the laws on which the government is based.

While advocating "immediate ratification of the (Versailles) treaty without reservations which would impair its essential integrity," it does "not oppose the acceptance of any reservations making clearer or more specific the obligations of the United States to the league associates."

The platform reaffirms President Wilson's repeated declarations "that all our duties and obligations as a member of the League of Nations must be fulfilled in strict conformity with the constitution of the United States, embodied in which is the fundamental requirement of declaratory action by the Congress before this nation may become a participant in any war."

The labor plank is one which working men can indorse and support. It recognizes the rights of labor and at the same time is opposed to any one class of the people jeopardizing the public welfare. Labor is assured a square deal.

There is nothing in the expression of sympathy for Ireland at which England could take offense. While recognizing the principle of self-determination, the democratic party does not propose to throw "international comity and usage" to the winds.

Something more substantial than sympathy is recommended for Armenia, but the Armenian mandate is rejected.

The attitude toward Mexico is helpful and sympathetic. Mexico should be given every opportunity to work out her own salvation and attention is called to the progress made by the new government in restoring the country to a peace basis. Recognition and "systematic assistance" are promised Mexico when the government has proved its ability to maintain law and order and signifies its willingness to meet international requirements.

To woman's suffrage, highway improvement, the development of inland waterways, government aid for soldiers, economy in the public's business and war on profiteers, the democratic party pledges its support. The platform as a whole deals with a wide variety of subjects.

Stills Are Destroyed.

Huntsville.—The destruction of two illicit distilling plants on Hester Creek was reported by Prohibition Officer Craft. Both plants, which were fully equipped, were destroyed and 1,000 gallons of beer poured out. No arrests were made.

Still Is Destroyed.

Heflin.—A 120-gallon still was found and destroyed near the Georgia line, and along with it 1,000 gallons of beer. No arrests were made.

·ROAD· BUILDING

STANDARDIZING ROAD TESTS

Conference of Engineers Expected to Eliminate Confusion and Other Difficulties.

Confusion and other difficulties that have come from the use in different states of varying tests for materials used in road construction are expected to be eliminated by a recent conference held in the offices of the bureau of public roads, United States department of agriculture. Highway testing engineers representing most of the states attended. From their suggestions a system of standardized tests is to be evolved.

Manufacturers of road materials, as well as the federal and state highway departments, have been inconvenienced, because materials that would meet the requirements of one state would be rejected in another often because of different interpretations of specifications. Much of this work is done co-operatively by the federal and state governments under the federal aid road act, which is one of the reasons why it has been thought advisable to set up national standards that will be in effect in all states.

The conference was held under the auspices of the National Association of State Highway Officials. This organization will promulgate the standardized tests. It is expected that use of the tests will be generally adopted, although their use by the states will be voluntary.

A number of state highway testing engineers, in addition to a number of engineers of the bureau of public roads, attended the conference.

ADVANTAGES OF GOOD ROADS

Promote Self-Respect in Community and Cheapen Cost of Transportation to Markets.

Good roads promote self-respect in a community. They make possible social intercourse. They bring the benefits of churches and schools within the reach of all. They help to keep the boys on the farm. They cheapen the cost of transportation of farm products to the markets and thus add to the farm profits. They add to the value of farm lands much more than they cost. They mark the degree of civilization of the rural community.

GOOD ROADS AND DRIVEWAYS

As Essential on Farms as Public Highways to Enable Farmer to Handle Produce.

A well-ordered farm should have well-ordered roads and driveways to and around the buildings. In other words, private roads on the farm are as important to the interests they serve as the public roads over which the farmer's produce is marketed. A good road from the farmer's gate to his marketing place should not be depreciated by a poor road from the gate to the barn or packing house.

FEDERAL AID FOR MISSOURI

Bureau of Roads Approves Forty-Nine Projects at an Estimated Cost of $5,948,910.

Forty-nine federal aid road projects, an aggregate of 459.29 miles at an estimated construction cost of $5,948,910, have been approved by the federal bureau of roads. This announcement was made by the state highway board here today. The federal government is to pay $2,606,975, and the state and counties the remainder.

IMPROVED ROADS AID FARMER

Make It Possible to Produce Vegetables and Fruits for Canning and City Markets.

Rich agricultural land limited to cereal crops on unimproved roads may be made to yield a much higher return where with an improved road it is practicable to produce vegetables and fruits for canneries and city markets.

False Claims.

WE hope there is no Mother who thinks she can treat her sick baby without calling in a Physician, or with remedies that she uses for herself.

Most Mothers know that Baby requires remedies especially prepared for babies, yet there are some who think that what is good enough for them is good enough for Baby, and it is to these Mothers we appeal to give nothing to their babies that is not specially prepared for babies or recommended by their Physician.

False claims may kill, but false claims can never restore your child.

Children Cry For Fletcher's CASTORIA

Mothers Must Use Care.

Why do we so often call your attention to imitations of Fletcher's Castoria? Because it is a baby's medicine and imitations are always dangerous, particularly imitations of a remedy for infants.

Your druggist may not keep an imitation but they are to be found on drug-store shelves. Reliable druggists think only of the welfare of their customers. The other kind only of the greater profit to be made on imitations.

Your own judgment tells you that Fletcher's Castoria having for over thirty years at great expense held up its reputation, must jealously guard it. Then, it follows that this company must use the very best of material. Must employ experts in the selection of the herbs. Must retain skilled chemists in its manufacture.

Your same good judgment must tell you that these irresponsible imitators are trading on your credulity and the reputation built up by Mr. Fletcher, during all these years, for his Castoria.

ITCH!

A WAR-TIME ILL THAT'S SPREADING HUNT'S SALVE CURES IT!

BRED in the war trenches of Europe, a wave of ordinary ITCH is spreading over the country. This skin disease, history shows, has always prevailed, following wars and the concentration of armies. It was common during the Civil War and following that conflict. There was an epidemic of the Itch after the Spanish-American War. Now history is repeating itself after the great European struggle.

Returned soldiers and those with whom they come in contact will find a recognized remedy for the Itch in Hunt's Salve, commonly known as "Hunt's Itch Cure." Many a veteran of the late '90's will testify to its merits.

If directions are followed HUNT'S SALVE will prove a never failing cure for all forms of the Itch, and your druggist will tell you so. He sells HUNT'S SALVE under a strict guarantee to refund the purchase price to any dissatisfied user.

A Medford, Oklahoma man, among thousands who praise HUNT'S SALVE, says:

"Some people dislike to call it the Itch, but candor compels me to admit I had it badly. Your Hunt's Salve, however, cured me after many other remedies had totally failed. One box completed the cure—the first application afforded wonderful relief. My advice to those who have to scratch, is to use Hunt's Salve."

Hunt's Salve is especially compounded for the treatment of Itch, Eczema, Ringworm, Tetter and other itching skin diseases and is sold on our guarantee by all reliable drug stores, or it will be sent direct by mail if your local druggist cannot supply. Price 75c per box.

Worn Down, Out of Heart

Georgia Lady, Worn-out and Tired, Tells How She Was Helped by Ziron Iron Tonic.

THE personal experience of Mrs. Nannie Phillips, of Powder Springs, Ga., is printed below in her own words:

"I was in a worn-out condition. My stomach was out of order. I didn't sleep well. I was tired all the time. I couldn't half eat, and didn't rest well at night.

"I would get out of heart and blue. I would feel like I was going to be down in bed. Yet I kept dragging around.

"We heard of Ziron, and from what I read, I was sure it wouldn't hurt me if it didn't help me. But after taking it, I found it really helped me, and I sent back for more. I ate better, felt much stronger. I am sure Ziron is a splendid tonic."

Many people who are worn down and disheartened, due to stomach disorders and nervous ills, find relief by toning up their blood with Ziron Iron Tonic.

Tell your druggist you want to try Ziron on our money-back guarantee.

Even Intestinal Indigestion Responds to This Mineral Water

Wonderful Results From Sul-Ferro-Sol Proven.

At a government investigation as to the merits of Sul-Ferro-Sol as a remedy for indigestion, it was conclusively proven that this remedy had been of benefit to all of the 55 witnesses examined.

One of these witnesses swore that he had suffered from indigestion for 29 years and that he had been cured permanently by taking Sul-Ferro-Sol.

Another who had suffered from intestinal indigestion for 10 years, tried Sul-Ferro-Sol and swore: "It helped me wonderfully—more than anything else I've ever taken."

Sul-Ferro-Sol causes the stomach to produce its own pepsin.

Booklet giving details mailed on request. Liberal bottle one dollar, (6 for $5), at all drug stores or postpaid upon receipt of price. The Sul-Ferro-Sol Co., Desk B, Montgomery, Ala.

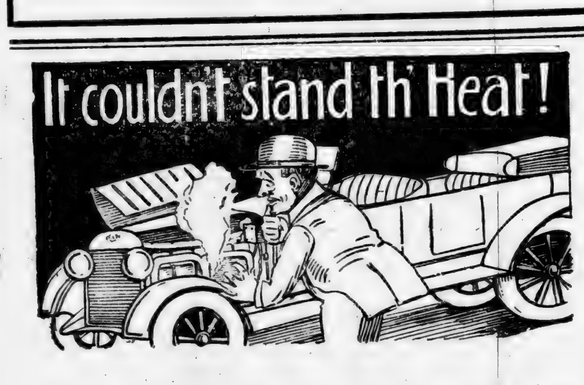
It couldn't stand th' Heat!



So It Vaporized and Went "Blooey!"

Here is this unfortunate motorist, right out in the "sticks," forty miles from nowhere, with his engine hot as blazes, the oil vaporized, and him facing the cold fact that he can't budge another foot until he can get a fresh supply of oil—

If he had had his crank case filled with "GREEN FLAG" he would not now be gazing into his engine in blank helplessness—

Motor Oils of inefficient quality, or insufficient viscosity (body) quickly break down under the terrific temperature generated by the rapidly operating motor—

You'll always "play safe" against these troubles and expenses by using "Green Flag" Motor Oil of the correct grade for YOUR car—

COULD GET NO REST DAY OR NIGHT SAYS PROMINENT DEACON.

Pains in limbs and feet, constipation and Stomach Disorder made Life a Burden.

Has been down and out, could't go about at all, but thanks Dreco, the new medicine, I'm greatly improved.. "I have been in very bad condition and couldent get about, had hard pains in my feet and limbs, bnt I'm now able to get about on crutches since taking only two bottlts of Dreco, and I'm sure proud of it says Mr. W. R. Morrison, the well known farme of Lethohatchie, Ala. Mr. Morrison is prominent as a church going man and is a deacon in the Baptist Church.

"After I had taken three doses of Dreco, I began to geel the effects and I got a good night's sleep; something I hadn't had in many a night. My bowels began to get regular kidneys got active, that vile taste in my mouth disappeared, and the pains in my limbsand feet eased up. I am sixty two years old, and I have never seen any medicine to epual Dreco. It truly is a wonder, and I praise it and wish the manufacturers every success which they surely deserve."

All druggists now sell Dreco and it being especially introduced in Clanton by Upchurch Drug Company.

OAK HILL

The Fourth has been a glorious one with us. We celebrated three days instead of one. We began on Saturday by attending the reunion of the Williams family at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Dave Williams, which was a day long to be remembered by those who attended. At eleven o'clock we had preaching by Rev. R. M. Honeycutt, followed by Uncle Henry Williams, brother of Mr. Dave Williams, who, with his daughter, Katie and his grand daughter, Lorine Gallops, of Pell City, were attending the reunion. At noon a bountiful dinner was spread and was enjoyed by all, and especially by old Brother Mate of Mammouth, Ala., who motored all the way down here with his two sons and a Mr. Trotter, to attend the Williams reunion. He was very lively and his jokes attracted the attention of all.

An hour or two was spent in making pictures, and the remainder of the evening was spent in singing. But about 4:30 o'clock a sadness fell over the crowd, as they began to say good bye and God bless you and be with you till we meet again.

Then at supper we had some more good things to eat, and from 8:00 o'clock to 10:00 we had some more good singing led by Bro. R. F. Murphy. Then we all retired for a bit of sleep and rest, for we were all tired by this time.

The next thing we knew it was Sunday morning. At 10:00 o'clock we assembled at the church for Sunday School, and we heard a fine sermon by the pastor, Rev. S. L. Crouch. In the afternoon we went to the singing at Oak Grove, which we enjoyed very much. And last but not least, on Monday morning, the 5th, at 8:00 o'clock, we started on our Sunday School picnic to Lock 12. The truck was loaded to its full capacity, there being 47 on it, and two cars loaded with women and children following close behind them. After several hours of bumping over the rough roads we reached the end of our journey. After taking some time in sight seeing and making pictures we assembled back at the truck, and such a dinner you never saw. And we did all eat and we were filled.

And then we made some more pictures and fished a while, looked some more and then loaded up the old truck, which began to puff and to groan under her great load of humanity, but slowly she rolled up and down the hills, and soon we were in Clanton, where we almost drank and ate up all the cold drinks and ice cream in the drug stores.

On our way home the people along the road and in Thorsby and Jemison gave us hearty cheers of welcome as we passed through. With the careful management of our chauffeur, Mr. A. L. Glasscock, we reached our destination without an accident, except the puncture of a pair of silk hose and a pair of pants, which were so badly torn that one man had to keep his seat all the time we were in Clanton. But we are very thankful to our Creator that it was no worse.

Members of the immediate family attending the reunion at Mr. Williams Saturday, the 3rd, were: Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Williams of Shelby, Ala., Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Long of Mammouth, Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Williams of Moreland, Mrs. Minie Northcutt and family of Jemison, R. 2., Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Glasscock of Jemison, Ala.

Remember the singing Sunday evening. We invite everybody to come and sing with us.

Respectfully,
ELLEN GLASSCOCK.

HANDS, ARMS, LIMBS ASLEEP

And Was Run-Down, Weak and Nervous, Says Florida Lady. Five Bottles of Cardui Made Her Well.

Kathleen, Fla.—Mrs. Dallas Prine, of this place, says: "After the birth of my last child...I got very much run-down and weakened, so much that I could hardly do anything at all. I was so awfully nervous that I could scarcely endure the least noise. My condition was getting worse all the time...

I knew I must have some relief or I would soon be in the bed and in a serious condition for I felt so badly and was so nervous and weak I could hardly live. My husband asked Dr. ——about my taking Cardui. He said, 'It's a good medicine, and good for that trouble', so he got me 5 bottles...After about the second bottle I felt greatly improved...before taking it my limbs and hands and arms would go to sleep. After taking it, however, this poor circulation disappeared. My strength came back to me and I was soon on the road to health. After the use of about 5 bottles, I could do all my house-work and attend to my six children beside."

You can feel safe in giving Cardui a thorough trial for your troubles. It contains no harmful or habit-forming drugs, but is composed of mild, vegetable, medicinal ingredients with no bad after-effects. Thousands of women have voluntarily written, telling of the good Cardui has done them. It should help you, too. Try it. E 74

MOSE THOMAS ARRESTED ON CHARGE OF RAPE

The sheriff went out Monday night and brought Mose Thomas of Beat 16 to jail on a warrant sworn out by J. C. Wilson charging Thomas with rape. Thomas is a farmer and a man of previous good standing in his community. It is alleged that the criminal act was committed some time in February.

The charge against this man is a capital offense and is not a balable case. He will have to remain in jail until the preliminary trial. If the evidence is then sufficient to hold him on the charge he will have to remain in jail for final disposition of the case in the court.

FINED $100 IN COUNTY COURT

CLANTON BAPTIST CHURCH

Two fine congregations were present last Sunday, both morning and evening. The flag service at night was much enjoyed by all present. Loyalty on the part of all the members in their attendance and some missionary work by inviting and by bringing others to the services will soon fill up the church with the present increasing cngregations.

There will be services at the church next Sunday morning at 11 a.m. and Sunday School at 10:00 a.m. beginning promptly on time. The senior B. Y. P. U. will meet at 7 p.m. There will be no night service on account of the Revival Services to be conducted by the members of the Presbyterian Church.

Make our church your home church. We extend you a cordial welcome.

P. G. CARTER, Pastor.

SENATOR REED STRIKES BACK

Addressing a mass cnvention at Kansas City after the Democratic National Convention, Senator Reed of Missouri denounced the Wilson League as "a league of treason and a covenant of national death."

He said "if there is one lesson this country needs to learn, it is that this is not a one-man country."

He denounced the Democratic convention as "a convention afflicted with blind staggers."

He said that Robert Lansing was the only man the President took to France who knew anything about international law, and he was removed from office by the president because he insisted on warning the people of the true meaning of this League."

Resolutions were adopted denouncing the action of the Democratic National Convention in refusing Senator Reed a seat.

More Democratic harmony.

TWO HEADS BETTER THAN ONE

Senator Harding has announced that if he is elected president he will take the vice-president into his consideration of matters of government. We think this is a splendid idea, and one that should commend the Republican nominee to the thoughtful consideration of the people. The Vice-President should be a more active official than he has been in the past. He should be consulted in all the grave questions that confront the chief executive, because it is a universally recognized truth that two heads are better than one.

More especially is this true when we consider what a splendid official Mr. Coolidge will be in the vice-president's chair.

IT WILL BE THE SAME RESULT

Lincoln and Douglas of Illinois were opposing candidates for president. Roosevelt and Parker of New York were opposing candidates, and now Ohio furnishes the two condidates. It doesn't happen often.—Montgomery Advertises.

Lincoln and Roosevelt, Republicans were elected in the above cases, and this time the Republicans will win with Harding.

THE MORNING AFTER

As usually, after a lengthy debauch, there is a bad taste in mouth. This is the result of the Democratic debauch in the San Francisco Convention. It has left a bad state of nerves, a wicked resentment among the friends of the several candidates, and torn the party into fragments.

Senator Reed was hit with the Wilson steamroller, and went home after the third day, tearful, disconsolate and mad.

W. J. Bryan was flattened out by the same Wilson steamroller, cheered by the mob, and hopelessly defeated by the same mob. He wept also as he witnessed the turning of his bread into stone.

McAdoo, the Crown Prince, refused to be a candidate, and was made to parade before the convention for 44 long ballots, with a bunch of hay just out of reach.

Palmer, the faithful Fidus Achates of the White House, the guardian of the ark of the covenant, was held in leash by the Wilson and administration forces to prevent the nomination of Cox. He too was left by the roadside, embalmed in a thin immortality by the Tammany-Taggart steam roller.

There were some twenty more would be candidates whose chagrin and disappointment bode no good for the candidate put across by the anti-Wilson machine.

The morning after has left a brown taste in the mouth of Democracy; it has brought the bright light of day to a scene of political debauchery and riot unsurpassed in the history of the cuntry.

Too bad to waste so much money and energy for nothing but defeat.

NOTICE TO THE PUBLIC

Thorsby Wheat Mill will not be running before the 28 of this month, on account of not being able to get the nessesary repairs done sooner.

Dr. T. M. Dennis and brother Aaron Dennis, attended the sale of Jersey cattle at Ashby, Ala., last week.

SHOULTS HAPPENINGS

Everybody enjoyed the good singing at Pleasant Grove Sunday. Prof. James Franklin from near Jemison was there. He sung a while after Sunday School, and in the afternoon. Prof. Franklin will begin a singing school about the first of August.

The crops in this community are looking fine; people are well pleased over the good prospects for a bountiful harvest, corn especially.

The people of this community were a little excited last Saturday night about mid night, when three buildings burned down at Lawley, near here. The buildings that burned were Mr. W. P. Collins store, Mr. Lum Hicks store and the postoffice, all in a row. The origin of the fire is not known. We do not know about the insurance.

Miss Daisy Latham from Lawley is spending a few days with Miss Allie Walker.

Mr. John Mitchell and family spent Sunday with relatives at Lawley.

Miss Eva Hall is spending a few days with Miss Jessie Latham at Lawley.

Mr. Fred McGee and family from near Randolph spent Sunday with his father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene McGee.

Mr. Ed Hall, Miss Eliza Hall, Mr. C. Hall and wife, attended the funeral services of their nephew, Mr. Roy Lawley Monday. Roy died in the hospital at Montgomery last Saturday night; was buried at Tabernacle Methodist Church Monday. He was a young man just 22 years old. A father, two sisters, one brother and a great number of relatives and friends are left to mourn his loss. His mother died about 18 years ago.

We are sorry to say that Miss Fannie Moore, sister of Mrs. J. R. McAfee was carried to hospital in Selma last week for an operation. She was doing nicely when last heard from and her many friends hope for a speedy recovery.

CANE CREEK

The Singing Social met at this place last Sunday and held a nice singing. Everybody enjoyed it.

The directors were Mr. E. F. Taylor, Mr. Willie Cleckler, Mr. Virgile Smith, Mr. Rennie Robinson.

The organists were: Miss Evie Jones.

The singing will be postponed next Sunday afternoon on account of the singing conventio at Claton.

Everybody is urged to come next second Sunday evening.

HIGHLAND

There will be an all day singing at this place the Fourth Sunday in this month.

The Christian Harmony song book will be used in the morning and the new 1920 books in the afternoon.

Everybody come and bring books and well filled baskets.

NOTICE TO MEMBERS OF THE CO. SINGING CONVENTION

All members of the Chilton County Singing Convention, and others interested are urged to attend the business session next Saturday at 2:00, p.m. at the County High School building, at Clanton.

As published elsewhere, Sunday will be spent in singing at this place.

J. M. SMITH, Sec'y.

BARBECUE & PICNIC

We are asked to announce that there will be a barbecue and picnic at Clanton Ford, near Adams Station, on Saturday, July 24th.

Everybody is invited to come and have a big time with us.

Henry Cox Shot By Whit Brown

Henry Cox, a prominent citizen and well-to-do farmer of Collins Chapel community, was shot by Whit Brown on last Saturday night about nine o'clock. Brown is also a farmer who lives near the County Poor House.

The weapon used was a single barrel shot gun and Cox was shot in the back three times.

The reports of the affray say that Cox was passing Brown's place on his way home from Clanton and stopped his team in the road and went over into Brown's water melon patch, supposedly for the purpose of getting some melons. Brown was watching his melon patch armed with his gun and when Cox started out with the melons he fired on him. Cox was shot down. Brown did not go to see whether he had killed the man or not, and says he did not even know who it was. He telephoned the officers that he had shot a man and stayed at home till the officers arrived and took charge of him.

Cox lay on the ground where he fell near the road for about two hours when he was found by a passer-by. He was picked up and carried to his home a few miles up the road, and remained in an unconscious state for several hours. He was carried to an infirmary in Birmingham Sunday and is reported as doing fine. He is expected to recover in a short time.

Brown was brought to jail on Sunday morning where he remained till Monday, when he made bond for the amount of $500 on charge of assault with intent to murder. The preliminary trial will be held in the county court the first Monday in August.

CHILTON COUNTY W. M. U.

The Chilton County W. M. U. Quarterly meeting will be at New Cedron Church July 24th, 1920.

Saturday, 10:00, devotional service, —Col. 1:1-18, by Superintendent.

Song for the new year, "Jesus shall Reign."

Minutes for July meeting read; roll call of societies.

10:30 a talk by Mrs. Hyman, State worker.

10:00. Sermon, by the Pastor.

12:00. Dinner.

1:30. Young Peoples Program.

We would be glad if all the churches in the Chilton County Association would be represented. It is a good work if we could get the people interested—it is the Lord's work.

Mrs. W. J. Billingsley, Pres.
Miss Bertha Littleton, Secy.

Squire A. F. Childress of Thorsby was a visitor to Clanton last Saturday. Mr. Childress had some interesting things to say in regard to the crop prospects. When we asked him about the coming of the pink boll worm he said he thought that there was no use for them to come because the boll weevil would have all the cotton before they get here. He reported some damage to corn by the grass worms.

Rev. E. L. Wilson of Kentucky, now Evangelist of the East Alabama Presbytery, will begin a ten days meeting on next Sabbath, the 18th, in the Clanton Methodist Church, at 11:00 o'clock. During the week following the services will be at 10:00, a.m., and 8:00, p.m.. All persons most cordially invited to attend all these services.

WAR ON RATS IN ALABAMA

Bubonic Plague Uncomfortably Near the Southern Boundary of Our State.

Birmingham.—The only comprehensive educational survey ever made of Alabama, was that of 1919 by the Department of the Interior. It is infinitely more than an educational report—it is an economic study of Alabama, made possible by an act of the Legislature creating the Alabama Education Commission and authorizing the Commission to employ all necessary assistants to make the report absolutely authentic and trustworthy. The task is designated by the Department of the Interior as Bulletin 41.

In view of the recent decision of the Supreme Court of Alabama rendering null and void the income tax law passed by the last Legislature, and of the appeal of Gov. Kilby to Alabamians to make returns on their property of full 60 per cent value, some figures in the report on Alabama's "true" and "assessed" valuation are highly interesting. Fig. 1 on page 20 of the report shows that in 1880 the assessed tax values of the State were a fraction more than $100,000,000, while the true valuation was approximately $400,000,000. But Fig. 1 shows a good deal besides that. It shows that while the assessed valuation has been increased only to approximately $700,000,000, the true valuation has increased from $400,000,000 to about $3,000,000,000.

Commenting upon the wide disparity between true and assessed tax values, the report says:

The crux of the whole matter is how to readjust the State's unsatisfactory tax system; how to equalize among the rich and poor; and how to enforce the revenue code fairly over the State.

War On Rodents In Alabama.

Montgomery.—A statewide campaign for the extermination of rats in Alabama will begin in Montgomery. W. K. Sharp, accompanied by another expert, are expected to begin the instruction of citizens in trapping and destroying the rodents which are carriers of bubonic plague. These two experts are sent from Washington to assist in riding Alabama of rats.

The work in Montgomery will be carried on under the direction of Dr. W. A. McPhaul, county and city health officer. In the course of a week or ten days, as soon as the work is well under way here, the government experts will go to Birmingham, for the organization of a rat killing campaign in Birmingham. They expect to cover the entire state during the Summer months.

People To Boil Drinking Water.

Gadsden.—Dr. John Shahan, laboratory expert of the Etowah County board of health has submitted a report of his examination of the water furnished the people of Gadsden, by their municipality owned water works, which has caused a sensation since it alleges that pollution is to be found at every turn. Analysis of samples from the river, from the filters and from downtown hydrants, the report says, show that the water is dangerous for drinking purposes, and the board of health is planning to recommend the installation of a chlorination plant, it is said. Meanwhile, authorities are advising the people to boil their drinking water until a correction can be made.

Negro League Meets.

Gadsden.—That negroes are aware of the necessity and importance of cooperation, was demonstrated here by the large number present at the opening session of the annual meeting of the Alabama State Negro Business League. The feature of the opening session was what the leaders of the league call a symposium discussion on the subject: "What Cooperative Business Is Most Needed by the Negroes and How to Develop It."

Iron Production For 1920 Growing.

Birmingham.—Alabama's pig iron production for 1920 will exceed that of the previous year and will not be much under the totals of 1918, judging from the figures for the first half of the year from semi-official sources. Alabama is given credit for 1,208,233 tons for the six months, of this amount 210,105 tons are for the month of June.

Union Men Testify.

Birmingham.—Mandamus proceedings are being brought by Horace C. Alford against the jury commission of Jefferson County in which it is sought to compel the commission to fill the jury box with the names of every person in the county qualified for jury service. An effort is being made by comparison of the books of labor organizations with the jury lists for a number of years past to show that members of organized labor qualified for jury service are not summoned by the commission.

Improvements On the Coosa.

Gadsden.—Capt. W. P. Lay, "father of Coosa River development," is being urged through telegrams and letters from various points in the Coosa-Alabama Valley to call a meeting of the Coosa-Alabama River Improvement Association. The success of the water-power bill, coupled with the contemplated improvements on the river to be made by the Alabama Power Company, makes possible and feasible the opening of the Coosa for navigation from Rome, Ga., to the Alabama River, and thence to the Gulf. The power company is expected to build at least two great dams, one at Duncan's Riffle and one at Lock 18. This will remove most of the rapids now existing above Lock 18. By the expenditure of a sum comparatively small in proportion to amounts spent on other river projects, the government then will be enabled to develop the remainder of the river and to provide for its navigation from Rome.

Plunkett Is Killed.

Hamilton.—News has reached here of the killing of A. L. Plunkett in the eastern part of Marion County. Plunkett was under bond at Hamilton and failing to appear for trial, a deputy sheriff and his bondsmen went to his home with the intention of arresting him and delivering him up on his bond. The report is that Plunkett resisted arrest, and made an attempt to cut the deputy sheriff with a knife, and failing, turned on R. M. McGough, one of his sureties on the forfeited bond. McGough retreated to escape, upon further attack by Plunkett, fired one shot from a revolver, which took effect in Plunkett's chest, and from which he died in a few minutes.

Officially Report Fourth Plague Case.

Mobile.—The fourth case of bubonic plague was officially reported in Pensacola. Citizens in mass meeting demanded that the commission pass an ordinance providing for rat extermination. The last case of plague was Henry Hudson, driver of an express company. He was inoculated with serum. Mayor Sanders said that the ordinance requested would be enacted by the commission as soon as it could be advertised to meet the requirements of the law. Word came from the surgeon general's office at Washington that unless rats in Pensacola are killed the city would be placed under quarantine.

Thieves Not Particular.

Birmingham.—Two stores were robbed in Birmingham, according to police reports, cigars, lard, sugar and clothing being lost. The Gist and Jones Drug Company reported 600 pounds of sugar and 675 cigars taken. The rear door had been bored. Forty pounds of lard and various articles of clothing valued at $150 were taken and brought $1,017, which will be turned over to the internal revenue treasury. These cars were siezed when parties were arrested on charges of transporting liquor on which the tax had not been paid.

New Raise For Miners Unlikely.

Birmingham.—Total average increases allowed mine workers, on the wage scale in effect Oct. 31, 1919, should not exceed 27 per cent, according to a telegram received from Henry M. Robinson, member of the bituminous coal commission appointed by President Wilson to investigate conditions. The United Mine Workers claim that the award meant a $1 per day increase, while the operators have been paying a 20 per cent increase.

Annual Meeting of Amateur Press.

Birmingham.—The United Amateur Press Association of America will hold its twenty-fourth annual convention in Birmingham this week. Many amateur publishers and editors will be in attendance from the north and a large number are expected to be present from the southern states.

New Banks Open.

Montgomery.—Announcement was made by the state banking department that the two banks which were granted charters recently have been opened for business. The new institutions are the Hodges State Bank of Hodges, Franklin county, and the Bank of Slocomb, Geneva county.

Birmingham.—The City Commission voted down the ordinance by Commissioner Burruss providing for a million-dollar bond issue for street improvements, the vote being four to one against. It was proposed to raise money in this manner to be expended at the rate of $200,000 per year.

Old Soldiers' Picnic.

Anniston.—The annual picnic of the Calhoun County Confederate Veterans is to be held at Oxford Lake on July 22 and extensive preparations are being made for the event. The committee has issued an invitation to all the old soldiers, their widows, wives, sons, daughters and friends.

Woman Struck By Car Dies.

Birmingham.—Mrs. Clara Miller, age 55, was almost instantly killed at the corner of Twenty-First Street and Seventh Avenue, South, when she was struck by an automobile driven by Mrs. Walter H. Moscroll. According to witnesses, the automobile was being driven at a high rate of speed and made no effort to stop until almost upon the unfortunate woman. Mrs. Miller is said to have been, almost [illegible]

FIRST CONVENTION THIRD PARTY MEN

FOUNDATION STONES FOR A NEW PARTY ALL LAID IN CHICAGO.

WRANGLE OVER A NAME

Single Tax Party Joins With Forty-Eight in Their First National Convention.

Chicago.—Foundation stones for a new party on which to unite all third party movements were laid when the committee of 48 and the single tax party joined in their first national convention to draft a platform and pick nominees who, they hope, will win the support of ten or a dozen liberal organizations.

The first day's session, devoted to keynote speeches and organization work, developed as many different views as there were factions represented. Rules, resolutions and nominations for prominent officials were debated step by step and at times acrimoniously. Allen McCurdy of New York, the temporary chairman, and J. A. H. Hopkins, head of the committee of forty-eight, who called the convention to order, maintained order with difficulty.

Division between the liberal and radical elements was brought out in the rules debate when Swineburne Hale of New York said the state delegations were divided "51 per cent liberal and 49 per cent radical." He was pleading for a change in the rules that would prevent the radicals being out-voted by the majority liberals, but the majority ruled and his plea was lost.

Opposed To LaFollette.

Participation of the single taxers in the convention followed an earlier session at which hey decided to present their platform demands and views on candidates. They are understood to be willing to accept either Charles H. Ingersoll or Amos Pinchot, one of the leaders of the committee of forty-eight, for presidential nominee. They are opposed, their leaders say, to accepting Robert E. LaFollette, the favorite presidential candidate of the forty-eighters, and may bolt the convention and select their own ticket if LaFollette is nominated.

Determination of the single taxers' course was declared to be contingent upon three things. First, the platform which they said, must include a single tax plank; second, the candidate and third, the name of the party.

Wrangle Over Name.

The party name promises to develop a fight. Members of the single tax group want some reference to their name incorporated in the party name. The labor party of the United States, whose convention is now under way is willing to join the third party movement and probably will accept LaFollette as a candidate, but demands that the word "labor" be included in the party designation.

As organized, the committee of forty-eight committees numbered 539 accorded delegates, with a majority of 270 required to nominate. The 539 included, in addition to the forty-eighters and single taxers fraternal delegates from the Non-Partisan League. Triple Alliance of the Northwest, Farmers National Council, People's Money League, the Producers League and Consumers League and several other organizations. The committee of forty-eight embraces a number of well known liberal leaders, some of whom were prominent in the bull moose movement of four and eight years ago. The committee was formed last year at St. Louis, with a member for each state.

EMPRESS EUGENIE DIES.

Was Powerful Factor In European Politics For Decades.

Madrid.—The former Empress Eugenie, of France, died here.

Eugenie Marie De Montijo, former empress of France, was born in Granda, Andalusia, Spain, May 5, 1826. She was the second daughter of Count Manuel Fernandez De Montijo, Duke of Peneraurda, and Maria Manuela Kirkpatrick of Closeburn, Dumfrieshier, Scotland. Her maternal grandfather was William Kirkpatrick, United States consul at Malaga, who was a native of Scotland, but a nationalized American.

The empress had great influence over her husband and on several occasions acted as regent during the absence of the emperor when he was traveling or with his army in the field. This was in 1859, 1865 and 1870, the latter date during the Franco-Prussian war.

Bread for Fighting Men.

It is scarcely possible to "say exactly how many loaves are baked daily for our men at the front," but it would run into many hundreds of thousands. In one bakery alone in France 120,000 two-pound loaves are produced every day by a small army of 400 bakers—all enlisted army men who wear their khaki as proudly as any of the troops in the front-line trenches. The work goes on night and day without ceasing, and the bread is delivered at [illegible]

EATONIC Users —Do This—Get the Greatest Benefits

Chicago, Ill.—Thousands of reports from people all over the U. S. who have tested Eatonic, show the greatest benefits are obtained by using it for a few weeks, taking one or two tablets after each meal.

Eatonic users know that it stops Belching, Bloating, Heartburn, and Stomach Miseries quickly, but the really lasting benefits are obtained by using Eatonic long enough to take the harmful excess acids and gases entirely out of the system. This requires a little time, for Eatonic takes up the excess acidity and poisons and carries them out of the body and of course, when it is all removed, the sufferer gets well, feels fine—full of life and pep.

If you have been taking an Eatonic now and then, be sure and take it regularly for a time and obtain all of these wonderful benefits. Please speak to your druggist about this, so that he can tell others that need this help. Adv.

VALUE OF FEATHERED STOCK

More Poultry Kept on Farms in United States Than All Other Livestock Combined.

Unusual interest in systematic poultry improvement throughout the country is apparent from reports received by the United States department of agriculture in connection with the "Better Sires—Better Stock" campaign. Figures collected thus far indicate that more poultry is kept on farms in the United States than all other livestock combined, and that a greater proportion of the poultry is of pure blood than any other kind of livestock.

Of the Meat Furnished by the Farm to the Farmer and His Family Poultry Constitutes About 10 Per Cent.

The records also refute the frequent assertion that most livestock raisers take little interest in feathered stock, leaving it largely to the women.

A Connecticut farmer who recently enrolled in the "better sires' movement is an example of the interest of men in improved poultry. He listed 30 cattle and 1,939 poultry—all of pure breeding. No other breeding stock was kept on the farm.

SWIMMING HOLE FOR DUCKS

While Not Considered Essential for Growing Fowls, It Is Wise to Provide This Feature.

While water to swim in is no longer regarded as essential for duck growing, the fowls enjoy this feature so much that we have always considered it wise to provide a small swimming hole for them. However, in raising young ducks for market they will fatten sooner without swimming. However, they must have all the water they want to drink and it should be deep enough for them to immerse their heads in.

GET AFTER LICE VIGOROUSLY

Peculiar Fact That Vermin Will Infest Some Fowls in Flocks While Others Go Free.

If one of a promising flock seems to make slower progress in growth, has a dull looking plumage and pale face—look for lice. It is queer how lice will infest some birds in a flock while others seem practically free from it. Unless you get after them vigorously, they will certainly stunt the bird.

POULTRY NOTES

Select vigorous birds.

Grow your own poultry feed.

Supply an abundance of fresh water.

• • •

Don't allow growing chicks to crowd.

Goslings do not need feed until they are 24 to 36 hours old.

Dispose of the male birds not later than June 1. Market a better quality of eggs.

• • •

Young turkeys do not bring out of the shell so much unused yolk as do young chickens, hence they must be fed earlier.

• • •

The heavier breeds, such as Rocks and Reds, and Orpingtons, will not take the perches as readily as Leghorns and Anconas.

Lost 65 Pounds in Weight and Had to Give Up Work. Has Been Well Since Using Doan's

"Being exposed to extreme heat when working as an engineer, and then going outdoors to cool off, caused my kidney trouble," says Karl Goering, 8513 N. Orkney St., Philadelphia, Pa. "In cold weather and when it was damp, my joints and muscles would swell and ache, and often my limbs were so badly affected it was only with great misery I was able to get around. For a week I was laid up in bed, hardly able to move hand or foot.

Mr. Goering

"Another trouble was from irregular and scanty passages of the kidney secretions. I became dull and weak and had to give up my work. Headaches and dizzy spells nearly blinded me and I went from 265 to 200 in weight. Nothing helped me and I felt I was doomed to suffer.

"At last I had the good fortune to hear of Doan's Kidney Pills and began taking them. I soon got back my strength and weight and all the rheumatic pains and other kidney troubles left. I have remained cured."

FOR BEAUTIFICATION OF ROAD

Praiseworthy Idea Is That of Planting Trees in Streets of the Various Cities.

Now comes Charles Lathrop Pack, president of the American Forestry association, who urges the beautification of roads. Mr. Pack suggests that we cease building monuments for at least ten years, until the proper perspective can be given the situation, and that all the roads of the country, old and new, be planted in honor of the men and women who entered war work. He also suggests that committees work out plans for the placing of groves, so that we may in time have a national extended memorial.

The suggestion has been taken up in many parts of the country. A unique instance is the work of the people of Minneapolis, who are planning as far ahead as 1951. Trees are being trained there for 50 years hence, the American elm, of the vase type, being used. A fund of $50,000 has been set aside for the care of these trees. Mr. C. M. Loring is the chief of the park system of Minneapolis, and this scheme is his contribution to the memorial. The trees will be planted 60 feet apart.

Other cities are also alive to what can be done in this work. Washington plans to have a driveway between Potomac and Rock Creek parks, and memorial tree planting is under discussion there. In Cincinnati, a boulevard starting in the down-town section may be improved in this manner.

Concerning the Garden.

The delights of a garden don't need classifying, but some of the difficulties do. The first is to find the right place in which to make the garden. It should be in a locality where the sun will shine on it for at least five hours each bright day. It should not be where the soil is so thin and the rocks so near the surface that the garden will burn out during the summer. It should not be under or near large trees; the trees will not only keep the sun off, but will draw all the moisture and plantfood from the soil. Nor must the garden be in a spot that gets flooded.

Co-ordination of Work.

Through the association of commerce the city of Milwaukee is planning to centralize all of the city's activities among the foreign born. The plan calls for a general committee, whose representatives are drawn from the various civic, social, and patriotic bodies and for an executive committee of five members to be appointed from the general committee. The co-operation of a member from each of these bodies will obviate all duplication of work and will mean a large increase in the ground covered in the coming year.

Her Heartlessness.

"I hear tell that Gabe Gawkey is figuring on getting a divorce from his wife," said a neighbor. "What's the matter with her, anyhow?"

"She's plumb heartless," replied Gap Johnson of Rumpus Ridge, Ark. "He talked about taking some spring medicine and she up and told him that the best kind to suit his case was a buck-saw and ax. That there infernal lady ain't got no more feelings than a snapping turtle!"—Kansas City Times.

Community's Benefactor.

The man who owns an attractive home, large or small, is a real benefactor to the community. He is particularly fortunate if he can build the house himself. Then he can say with satisfaction: "When I am gone at least I shall have left a monument in the shape of this house. The town is more attractive than it would have been if I had not built my home here."

When Love Grew Cold.

My most embarrassing moment happened when I was twelve years old. I was in love. It was on a winter morning, and my mother was sending me to the store, when the boy I loved passed by. I went out of the house as fast as I could, but I slipped and fell down the stairs. It was so funny he laughed out loud at me. I never looked at that boy again.—Her daughter.

DODSON SOUNDS CALOMEL'S DOOM

The "Liver Tone" Man Warns Folks Against the Sickening, Salivating Drug.

Ugh! Calomel makes you sick. It's horrible! Take a dose of the dangerous drug tonight and tomorrow you lose a day.

Calomel is mercury! When it comes into contact with sour bile, it crashes into it, breaking it up. Then is when you feel that awful nausea and cramping. If you are sluggish, if liver is torpid and bowels constipated or you have headache, dizziness, coated tongue, if breath is bad or stomach sour, just try a spoonful of harmless Dodson's Liver Tone tonight.

Here's my guarantee—Go to any drug store and get a bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone for a few cents. Take a spoonful and if it doesn't straighten you right up and make you feel fine and vigorous, go back to the store and get your money. Dodson's Liver Tone is destroying the sale of calomel because it can not salivate or make you sick.—Adv.

Aristocrats Among Sweaters

NECESSITY—that humble and useful mother of inventions—brought forth some years ago after her kind the humble and useful sweater and its early intention and seeming destiny, was simply to be comfortable. Mankind adopted it and has required nothing further than comfort from it all these years. Women adopted it and have led it a merry chase into the land of fancy and changing styles. She requires that it be novel, varied, chic, first, and somewhat useful afterward, and it is far from humble or plain now. There are in fact so many diversified kinds of sweaters that pictures of them might provide illustrations for a calendar of the year.

July presents us with such delightful affairs in the smart company of sweaters as that new model shown in the picture. It appears to be of fiber silk knitted so as to show a solid rib alternating with an open mesh. It is a slip-over model, among the neatest of this popular variety, and is very nicely adjusted to the figure with definite fit about the shoulders and bust, and a charming management of the waist. It appears that we cannot tell the story of anything these days without adding a little yarn to it. Yarn trims everything—hats, blouses, frocks, and provides a double cord for the waist of this sweater and a single one for the neck. Little yarn balls finish the cords that are tied in the simplest bows.

This sweater has some own sisters that are hand crocheted of silk yarn in many of the bright sweater tones. Usually they are finished at the bottom with a deep fringe. Narrow picot-edged ribbon may be used for finishing touches or long narrow sashes hand-crocheted to match.

Besides these rather luxurious silk sweaters in open work designs there are many in light-colored wools; as a rule women who crochet or knit make them for themselves. But the machine-made sweaters are so attractive that no one need long for anything better. Some women buy a plain, machine-knit sweater and crochet an edge about it in yarn of a light contrasting color. This is easy to do and gives a distinctive personal touch to the garment.

Ribbons Inspire Accessories

WHEN the young woman's fancy isn't turned to thoughts of love it must certainly be occupied with thoughts of sports apparel for midsummer. It doesn't seem possible that there can be time left for anything else in minds that succeed in thinking up so many sporty clothes. Everything from hats to shoes is permeated with this flavor of out-door pastimes.

Gifted and ingenious designers are taking advantage of their ribbon opportunities and converting lovely ribbons into smart soft hats for sports wear. This is not a new venture for the ribbon hat has proved so practical for sports and also for between-seasons wear, that it is here to stay. A feature of these hats that makes them strong with the tourist is that many of them are collapsible and may be carried in a suit case or small bag. Another merit that everyone likes is their flexibility. Brims may be turned up or down and drawn into lines that are most becoming to the wearer. Faille and satin ribbons are most popular for hat making.

A group of these sports hats shown above reveals how successfully ribbons have played their part in this type of headwear and the most natural step in the world was taken by the designer who made bags and scarf to match. In the set at the top, bright green tricolette and faille ribbon make a soft hat and side scarf, the ribbons in white—shirred in a puff about the edges of the scarf and across the front of the hat. The circle of green is very little wider than the ribbon shirred over it.

Just below at the right, there is a hat made of white faille ribbon with picot edge and a bag to match in which the ribbon covers a foundation of white satin. The mounting is silver metal and the handles are of the ribbon. At the left there is a brilliant set made of white satin ribbon having black embroidered figures over it. This hat is made over a light frame and is a dignified example of sports styles. The ribbon is ingeniously managed in the bag, being folded to bring the embroidered figures to the center.

Leather Belts.

New leather belts are interesting. To begin with, they are most of them quite narrow, and as a second thing they are worn often at a point above or below the waistline of the coat or frock they go with. One is a narrow belt of glazed dark blue leather, with a narrow binding of black on each side. This part of the belt reaches around the waist. Then there are two ends of the belt of braided thongs of the leather which are loosely tied and hang down at the side, front or back.

Tells How Ziron Iron Tonic Helped His Daughter After Operation for Appendicitis.

AFTER any serious illness, the first thing you notice when you begin to get around is your lack of strength and energy—a tired, weak feeling.

The sooner you get your strength back the better. The thing to do is to eat plenty of good, nourishing food, get all the fresh air you can, exercise conservatively, and take Ziron Iron Tonic three times a day.

Your doctor will tell you this is sound advice, and urge you to follow it.

Read this letter from Mr. J. B. Kelly, vice-president of the First National Bank, Graceville, Fla.: "My daughter had been in bad health since last April. She was operated on for appendicitis. She has been taking Ziron for two weeks. Her appetite is better than it has been. Her nerves are better, and she says she feels better . . . I know that Ziron is good for weak and feeble people."

Ziron is a scientific, reconstructive tonic, prepared from valuable strength-building ingredients, for weak people with thin blood. Druggists sell Ziron on a money-back guarantee. Try it

Relief for Torpid Livers and Habitual Constipation

The liver is the largest and most important organ in the body, and when the liver refuses to act, it causes constipation, biliousness, headaches, indigestion, gas, sour stomach, bad breath, dysentery, diarrhoea, pains in back and under shoulder blades and under ribs on right side. These symptoms lead to colds, influenza or other serious troubles unless corrected immediately.

An inactive liver places an extra burden on the kidneys, which overtaxes them and causes the blood to absorb and carry into the system the impurities that the liver and kidneys have failed to eliminate.

When you treat the liver alone, you treat only a third of your trouble, and that is why you have to take purgatives every few nights. Calomel or other ordinary laxatives do not go far enough. If you would treat your kidneys and blood while treating the liver, you would put your entire system in order and frequent purgatives would then be unnecessary.

Dr. W. L. Hitchcock many years ago recognized these important facts, and after much study and research, compounded what is now known as Dr. Hitchcock's Liver, Kidney and Blood Powders, three medicines combined in one. This was the Doctor's favorite prescription for many years, being used by his patients with marked success. It is a harmless vegetable remedy that will not make you sick, and you may eat anything you like while taking it.

Get a large size box from your druggist or dealer for 25 cents under the personal guarantee that it will give relief, tone up the liver, stimulate the kidneys to healthy action and thereby purify the blood. Keep it in the house and when you or any member of the family begins to feel "out of sorts," give a dose or two and relief will follow. It is a reliable remedy.

Somebody broke the heart of Democracy.

Tammany and Taggart turned the trick for Cox.

Ohio will not be the only Waterloo for the Democrats.

It is certain that the next president will come from Ohio.

President Wilson was not so popular with the Democrats as he thought he was.

After all that loud talk, the Democrats paid no attention to a bonus to soldiers.

Plenty of bets ready that Senator Harding will carry Ohio by 50,000 plurality.

"Jimmy" Cox cares more about some other issues than the Wilson League of Nations.

Attorney General Palmer defeated McAdoo, and Palmer is a cabinet officer. Will he follow Secretary Lansing

The nomination of "Jim" Cox has made the paramount issue something besides the Wilson Covenant of a League of Nations.

END OF AUTOCRACY, BUREAUCRACY AND HYPOCRICY

The nomination of Cox tells the knell of Wilsonism. To that extent the American people will thank the star of their destiny. But the election of Cox would record on the fair pages of our history the triumph of Tammany and Taggartism over the sane and decent element which constitutes the great American majority. That, however, it a contingency that need not be feared if every voter in the land attends the polls November 2.

The people will not turn from a Louis XIV now in power to a Louis XV now in expectancy. They will not put an end to official servilism by entrenching in power what gives promise to being official corruption. They will not strike the paw of the lion from the Capital Dome to make place for the claws of the Tiger. They will shout, "The King is dead!" but they will not follow it with "Long Live the King!" Despotism has had its day. Constitutionalism will be restored; and the wiles of the demagogue, to be exhibited in the approaching campaign, must yield to the logic of the statesman.

Yet, it will not do for Republicans to flout the ticket of the opposition. What Cox lacks in conservatism he makes up in political cunning. His announcement that he "will carry the cause to the many homes of service and sacrifice" well indicates the hysterical appeal which he proposes to make to the people. He will seek to distract public attention from eight years of Democratic misrule by convincing the people that he has the panacea for ills which are either imaginary, or, where they exist at all, are a result of the gross incapacities of his own party. He will know when to employ silk-hat argument, and at what time to hand out shirt-sleeve oratory. Cox is for votes first. Let principles take care of themselves. His will be the sort of campaign that tickles the fancy of the thoughtless, full of "pep" and ginger—and wind. But the people have had a long time for bitter reflection. They have had an allopathic dose which has at least the virtue of restoring them to sound thinking. They are fully aware that the example of eight years of dictatorship has not been lost on the Democratic nominee, who would fain emulate Wilson as a ruler, not an administrator.

Cox's record in the national arena of politics is not one at which to "point with pride." He served something less than two terms as Representative in Congress from the 3rd Ohio district. During that period he introduced 931 bills, of which 916 were for pensions, incerases of pension, or to remove charges of desertion, three or four were inconsequential measures, several provided for public buildings in his Congressional Distrct, and but one, to make trade agreements with foreign nations, bore any trace of constructive thought. This record is so weak as to be impossible of comparison with the admirably constructive statesmanship of Harding in the United States Senate. And next to the need of a return to constitutional government, our greatest cry is for constructivism in legislation. Cox's attitude on the league of nations will be dictated by what he discovers in the course of the campaign to be expedient.

The Democratic drums will roll, and the trumpets will blare, and all the vast influence of the Democratic publicity bureaus, many of them operated at government expense, will be turned over to the candidate. But the people will sit tight and compare Cox's eloquence and bureaucratic fustian with the "front porch" deliberate statements of Warren Harding. Then a march en masse on the polls in November will result in the restoration of sane, clean and constitutional government through a Republican landslide.

COX vs. HARDING

After 44 ballots the Democratic convention nominated a candidate. Gov. Cox is the surviver in a battle royal extending through 14 hours, engendering bitter animosities that cannot fail to make more complete the wreck of the party at the November elections. Unlike the Republican convention which nominated a man on the tenth ballot acceptable to practically all the other candidates, who saw that their own hopes had vanished, the Democratic gathering chose one who had been in the forefront of the fight from the start, and who won out simply because his assault on his opponents was the strongest. Senator Harding was a compromise candidate, behind whom all factions of the pre-convention period have composed their differences and are now working together enthusiastically for his election. Governor Cox emerges out from the top of a heap of struggling aspirants for the prize. His nomination is with the assent neither of the Wilson nor of the Bryan forces. Both were bitter against him, and friends of both return from the convention with the memories of the struggle rankling in their hearts. It may be that they will not openly support the Republican candidate, but such aid as they appear to give Cox will be of the spiritless sort that will harm rather than help his campaign.

Senator Harding won because of his faultless record in public and in private life. There were no flaws which could be magnified by his political opponents into obstacles to Republican success in November, nor to which the other aspirants for the nomination could take exception. He is a man of proven executive ability, of demonstrated statesmanship, and lovable personal characteristics. Gov. Cox, too, served for four years as a representative of his State at Washington, but he would never be called a legislator, much less a statesman. One searches his congressional record in vain for anything he did or said calculated to further the welfare of his country. But he was not even neutral. Of the hundreds of bills that he introduced, practically every one was to make exceptions to the laws of Congress or to the regulations promulgated by the executive departments under those laws, such as special pension grants, bills to remove charges of desertion from soldiers' records, or to grant other special relief to his supporters back home which they were denied under the law. Senator Harding's five years' record in the Senate has been essentially constructive. Governor Cox's four years record in the House was essentially destructive.

Senator Harding was chosen by his party as a man whose administration would contribute most to the welfare of the nation. Governor Cox was selected by the partisans at San Francisco because he is a notorious vote-getter and therefore most likely to continue the Democratic party in power at Washington. Senator Harding's election would mean the emancipation of the government from partisans who seek to profit from the spoils of victory and its administration by men of demonstrated desire and ability to contribute to nation's prosperity. Gov. Cox's election would mean the continued perversion of legitimate governmental machinery into its grip on the Treasury and the rest of the executive branch.

This is the first time both the leading parties presented printer's devils to the voters, as candidates for president.

Three key-note speeches and forty-four ballots were required to arouse much enthusiasm in the Democratic party. Finally it ended in a riot and a lot of bad feeling.

Mr. W. J. Bryan says that the White House, Wall Street and the liquor interests contended for the honor of nominating the Democratic candidate for president. Which won?

The nomination of Governor Cox by the Democrats is a stern rebuke of President Wilson and a mandate to him that his Covenant of a League of Nations will be very much ignored by the Democrats themselves.

Candidate Cox defeated four cabinet officials, several Democratic senators, hundreds of federal officers and a secret but none the less powerful influence of the White House. Yet President Wilson says he is pleased.

At the end of Monday's session of the San Francisco convention a friend met W. J. Bryan, and said he hoped to hear another speech from him.

"Oh no," said Bryan. "This is not my kind of a convention."

"Can't you change it to your kind of a convention?" he was asked.

"The leopard cannot change its spots," was Mr. Bryan's reply.

If You Are Easily Tired Out, Your Blood Needs Purifying

Clogged-up Impurities Will Undermine Your Health.

The first symptoms are usually a loss of appetite, followed by a gradual lessening of energy, the system becomes weaker day by day, until you feel yourself on the verge of a breakdown.

This whole condition is but the result of impurities in the blood that show that nature needs assistance in giving the system a general housecleaning.

Nearly everybody just now needs a few Bottles of S. S. S. to clean the system of impurities.

S. S. S. is without an equal as a general tonic and system builder. It improves the appetite and gives new strength and vitality to young and old.

YOU'VE BEEN WAITING FOR IT!

Pathé Single-Dollar Club

A DOLLAR—AND YOU'RE IN!

Pathé Single-Dollar Club

TODAY'S THE DAY!

NEVER mind the freight congestion—never mind the reasons why more phonographs have been shipped to us within the last few months—what counts is that we have succeeded in getting 200 Model 7 Pathé Phonographs—and 200 people are going to lay down one small dollar and get the very instrument they have been planning to own, delivered at home and set up and playing that same day.

Starts at a dollar!
Starts at a dollar!
Starts at a dollar!

If you've got a dollar you're not going to be disappointed this time in getting a Pathé Phonograph. All you need to insure getting it is one little ornery dollar. The main thing is to be quick. If you don't want to find yourself outside get busy! Get Busy! GET BUSY!

Just 200 members!
Just 200 members!
Just 200 members!

It's up to you to get in while the getting is good. The Pathé Phonograph is likely to advance in price—we can't tell how soon—so take a tip from us and get one now. Records? That's another proposition. The Pathé Single Dollar Club takes in phonographs only. Don't bleat about the H. C. L. when a dollar does this. You've always wanted a good phonograph—here's your chance to get the best there is—a chance for you and a chance for 199 other lucky people.

Get into the "200"

The Pathé

COSTS NO MORE THAN THE ORDINARY
Phonograph

Model 7 is one of the most popular Pathé Models. It is supreme in design, in material and in workmanship and supreme in tone—the one big thing that really counts with any phonograph. It is mechanically right; and it plays all makes of records perfectly, bringing out every detail of every record, whether it's instrumental, operatic, vocal, band or jazz. You will never know the real enjoyment of music until you own a Pathé Phonograph—and that might as well be now.

In Model 7 Pathé Phonograph the Pathé artistic standard is faithfully typified. Mahogany or oak (Golden and fumed); all exposed parts nickel-plated; universal tone arm; Pathé perfect tone control; Pathé reproducer; sapphire ball; double-spring motor. 18" wide; 19½" deep; 41½" high. A beautiful instrument which produces beautiful music—as you want it.

Come into our store and ask for Mr. Edison's
REALISM TEST

IT reveals to you the Supreme Realism of the New Edison, the phonograph with which Mr. Edison has challenged the talking-machine manufacturers of the world.

It shows you the charm of music's imagery. It transports you to the far-away. It makes you lose consciousness of your surroundings.

This Fascinating Test

enables you to determine, in an interesting and scientific way, whether the Realism of the New Edison gives you the same emotions as the living singer's voice—as the sound of the actual instrument—or as the performance of great bands and orchestras.

Noted Psychologists

endorse this entertaining experiment as the correct way to ascertain the New Edison's Realism.

You, too, may enjoy this experiment. We invite you to try it.

It will answer, once and for all, your questions, "Can I have the voices of living singers at my beck and call, in my own home? Can I have the great orchestras and bands of the world exactly as they sound?"

Our Budget Plan

Pays for your New Edison by systematizing your entertainment expenditures. Ask about it.

ODD FELLOWS CELEBRATION AT THORSBY JULY THE 17TH

The Thorsby Lodge No. 588 I.O.O.F. will have a day of celebration and a picnic on Saturday, July 17th. The boys up there are planning to have a big time and they invite all the Odd Fellows in the county to come and help them out. But the invitation is not confined to Odd Fellows alone. Everybody is invited to come and bring a basket of dinner and enjoy the day and help make the occasion one of success.

Congressman Huddleston of Birmingham has agreed to be there and make a public address. This will be worth going to hear.

TEACHERS EXAMINATION

The next regular teachers examination will be held at the high school building in Clanton on July 19, 20, 21, 1920. Any applicant with whom I am not personally acquainted will have to furnish references and identity by someone known by me and place proof of moral character.

This examination is the last that will be given for third grade certificates. While second and first grades will continue for another year on the present basis.

The examination will begin promptly at 10 o'clock, but all applicants should be present for registration by 9 o'clock.

Proved What It Would Do In a Two Days Trial

Mr. Gordon of York, Ala., declares he is rid of Constipation, Indigestion, sluggish liver, and Kidney Trouble.

Heard so much about new medicine, was anxious to try it, and now he is glad that he did.

"I had heard much about this new medicine, Dreco, I was anxious to try it, and after two days I was convinced that it was grand medicine," stated Mr. R. B. Gordon, a well known farmer of York, Ala.

"I have suffered all my life from stomach trouble, indigestion, constipation and a sluggish liver. I've taken medicine after medicine, but none ever did them temporary good, but I [illegible] It seemed to be the very thing my stomach needed, and the indigestion ceased almost immediately and the sluggish acting regulated and in a smooth natural manner. My liver got active and the biliousness passed off. My appetite increased and my nerves became calm so that I could sleep like a baby. Dreco is a great medicine and I think every one should be told about it.,,

All druggist now sell Dreco and it is being especially introduced in Clanton by Upchurch Drug Company.

CHILTON COUNTY ABSTRACT CO.

M. D. FOSHEE, MANAGER.

It is not safe to buy land or to lend money and accept land as security without first investigating the title of the land. Often there are unpaid mortgages, judgments, or other liens affecting the title, which an abstract would set out. Therefore, when buying land or lending money thereon, it is important that an abstract of title be furnished. A few dollars spent for an abstract is cheaper than going ahead and having a law suit a little later on.

COUNTY SINGING CONVENTION TO BE AT COUNTY HIGH SCHOOL

The next session of the Chilton County Singing Convention is to be held at the County High School building in Clanton on the Third Sunday in July (18th).

Mr. J. Monroe Smith, the secretary of the Convention, and other local promoters of the cause of music in the county, are busy getting details in shape for the coming event which will no doubt be made one of the best in the history of the organization.

Such reputed singers as Patton, Merritt and others, will be here to add the great force of their presence to the occasion. At that time Prof. Patton will be teaching a school at Liberty Hill and he will be here with his entire class from that place.

Prof. Merritt will be remembered by those who attended the special session of the convention at the high school last November. He was there and his directing caught up a most hearty response from all who heard him.

WHAT IS THE OFFICIAL TEST OF COWS.

Prepared by W. H. Eaton, Dairy Husbandman.

Prepared by Extension Service, Auburn, Ala.

During the past year a number of dairy breeders in Alabama have placed their herds under official test and a considerable number of cows are making creditable records. The Extension Service is frequently in receipt of inquiries concerning official testing, what it is, how conducted and the value of the same.

Any owner of a registered dairy animal in Alabama may have his herd officially tested by first making application to the breed association in which his animals are registered and at the same time making application to the Dairy Department for supervision of the test.

The owners of cows under this test must pay all expenses of testing, expenses to be collected by the Dairy Department. The owner must also report to the breed association the weight of milk produced by individual cows during twelve calendar months.

In order to qualify for entry in the Advanced Registry or Register of Merit a Jersey cow must produce 350 pounds of fat in one year when the test is started, at two years of age or younger. This amount is increased one-tenth of a pound per day for each day the cow is over two years of age. The [illegible] requirements for a cow five years old or over is 360 pounds of fat. If a cow is not capable of making a fair record, when given an opportunity, she is not worthy of a place in a pure bred herd. An official record will increase the value of both the cow and her offspring in proportion to the record made.

RYE FOR WINTER GRAZING

To carry livestock without grazing is always expensive. Some grain is often necessary, but grazing furnishes the margin of profit. Permanent pastures may furnish green feed during the "growing" months of the year, but permanent pastures furnish very little grazing from late fall through the winter. Hence, it is usually more expensive to carry cattle through that season than any other. How to provide temporary pasturage for winter is therefore an important question.

Rye is well adapted to the production of green feed when such feed is usually scarce. It may safely be planted earlier than either of the other small grains. While grazing from rye is not quite as palatable as from oats, yet the former is readily grazed by stock when other grazing is scarce. Rye is also a most dependable crop, withstanding unfavorable conditions better than oats or wheat.

SOCIETY AND PERSONALS

MRS. R. E. LUCKIE, Editor.

MRS. HANCE ALRED HOSTESS

Mrs. J. Hance Alred proved a very charming hostess on last Wednesday evening, when she entertained the Card Club. In the living room where three tables were arranged for the game of bridge, vases of garden flowers were attractively arranged. Mrs. R. E. Luckie was awarded a dainty hand-made handkerchief for the highest score.

A delicious ice course was served at the conclusion of the game to the following members: Mesdames Grady Broadhead, Victor Heard, Harvey Chandler, N. S. Johnson, Grady Reynolds, Guy Roberts, T. C. McSwain, H. M. Simpson, Watts Moore, Eric Hart, and L. F. Gerald.

MISS HESTER ENTERTAINS

Among the enjoyable social features of the week was a spend-the-day party given by Miss Beverly Hester on Wednesday in compliments to Miss Haley.

The central decoration of the table was an immense bowl of nasturtiums. There were covers laid for six. Those enjoying this occasion were: Misses Kathleen Mullins, Leona Pipes, Ruth Holley, Roberta Curry and Mrs. J. Hance Alred.

Mr. Ruben Reynolds and Miss Lessie Reynolds, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Guy Roberts, motored to Birmingham Sunday to attend the Rainbow Division Reunions.

Judge and Mrs. L. H. Reynolds motored to Birmingham Tuesday, returning Wednesday. Mrs. John Newell and children accompanied them.

Master Ernest Askins of Sylacauga arrived Tuesday to spend some time with his grand parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Culver.

Mrs. Grady Borland of Albany, Ga., is visiting relatives here this week.

Mr. Willie Edwards of Pittsburg, Pa., is home for a week.

Mrs. Ida Popwell and daughters, Mary and Mildred, spent last Saturday night with her sister, Mrs. Cora Mims in the Bethel settlement.

Mrs. Tinsie Downs of Mississippi is visiting relatives and friends in Chilton County.

Don't wait too long to go to the big sale at the New York Store.

MISS PIPES COMPLIMENTS MISS HALEY

Miss Leona Pipes was hostess last Thursday entertaining a few of her friends at a luncheon at her home, complimenting her house guest, Miss Ruth Haley of Marion. In the centre of the table was a large vase filled with roses which made an attractive decoration for this occasion. Covers were laid for Misses Haley, Beverly Hester, Kathleen Mullins, Roberta Curry, Willie B. Jones, Mrs. Hance Alred and the hostess. In the afternoon games were played.

EDAWRDS - TUCKER

A pretty home wedding which occured last Sunday, July 4th, at 2:30 o'clock, was that of Mrs. Ava J. Manning-Edwards and Mr. Rufus Earl Tucker, of Birmingham, at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. O. Manning. A very impressive ceremony was performed by Rev. B. Lawrence of Birmingham. A large circle of friends and relatives witnessed the ceremony.

The young couple left immediately for their home in West End, Birmingham, carrying with them the good wishes of all their friends.

W. S. Clark of Beat 5 was among the visitors to Clanton Wednesday.

Don't fail to attend the sale at the New York Store.

Mr. R. J. Downs has been busy this week on the telephone lines in Clanton. We hope that he will be able to get them in much better shape.

The House of Whispers

By William Johnston

THE GASTON PEARLS.

Synopsis.—Circumstances having prevented Spalding Nelson, clerk, from joining the American forces going to France, he is in a despondent mood when he receives an invitation to dinner from his great-uncle, Rufus Gaston. On the way to the house he meets, under peculiar circumstances, a young girl, apparently in trouble, to whom he has an opportunity to be of slight service. She lives in the same apartment building as Rufus Gaston, and he accompanies her to the house. Gaston and his wife are going to Maine for a trip and want to leave Nelson in charge of the apartment. He accepts. Gaston and his wife tell their great-nephew of mysterious noises—"whispers"—which they have heard in the house. On his way to the Gaston apartment next Sunday Nelson again meets his accidental acquaintance of a few days before, Barbara Bradford. She urges him not to allow the fact of their being acquainted to be known. The hero takes an instinctive dislike to the superintendent, Wick, of the building.

"Quite a proper precaution," I admitted.

"The elevator boy reported your arrival," he continued, "but he wasn't quite sure it was you. The fact that you were chatting with the young lady bothered him, and me, too. Mr. Gaston told me you were a stranger in the city, and I didn't expect to find you knowing one of the Bradfords."

It was on the tip of my tongue to say, "Well, you see I do know her," when I recalled her request that I would not recognize her until we had been introduced in some fashion. I contented myself with saying merely: "Well, I hope you are satisfied now."

"Of course, Mr. Nelson, of course," he answered, though his looks belied his words. Manifestly he was still puzzled over my acquaintance with Miss Bradford.

"I hope you will find it comfortable here," he said, plainly trying to continue the conversation. "If there's ever anything the matter, just call me on the house phone; Mr. Wick, the name is."

"I will," I said, and he unwillingly withdrew.

"If there's ever anything the matter . . . " Was there something sinister in the superintendent's parting remark? Once more the warnings of my relatives flashed into my mind. What was wrong in the house? Why did he anticipate that I might be calling him up? Why did he exhibit such an interest in me and in my acquaintance with the girl across the hall? Somehow the man's whole aspect had impressed me unfavorably.

I carried my bag back to my bedroom and unpacked it. The various attachments in the bath looked so inviting that I stripped and amused myself for half an hour testing the variety of showers and sprays provided. Donning my bathrobe I leisurely smoked an excellent cigar from a box old Rufus had thoughtfully—or perhaps thoughtlessly—left open on his desk, and then returned to the inspection of my new quarters.

As it was Sunday, I had a whole day of leisure before me, and I felt that if I was to clear up the mystery that had driven the old couple out, it was incumbent on me to make a minute study of my surroundings. Only in the little rear sitting room was there any atmosphere of hominess. All the rest of the place was done in the best department store style, even to the richly bound sets of standard authors which lined the walls of the living room, most of which I found had their pages uncut.

My search of the place—and it was thorough, extending even to the empty canisters in the pantry and kitchen—revealed nothing whatever that gave any hint as to the cause or explanation of old Rufus' fears. The place seemed the least likely of all places in the world to hide any mystery, just a great, modern, luxurious apartment, equipped with every possible device for the comfort and convenience of its occupants. It would have to be an up-to-date ghost to find itself at home here.

But wait! Perhaps the safe held some clue to the problem they wanted me to solve. But where was the safe? I had not noticed it anywhere in my repeated journeys through the rooms. I made another tour looking for it. More than likely it had been located in some inconspicuous place purposely. But where? At last I located it, behind a faded crayon portrait of Mrs. Gaston, in the little sitting room.

I lifted the picture to the floor and stood hesitant before the safe. Should I, or should I not, open it? The fact that they had given me the combination seemed to imply that I had a perfect right to inspect its contents.

"Six to the right, four to the left, two to the right, eight to the left."

As I turned the knob I repeated the combination to myself. There was a little click, and the steel door came open. Reaching in I drew forth two old-designed jewel cases of leather, both apparently locked. I took them out pocket the keys my great-uncle had given me and toyed with them thoughtfully. Among them were two tiny keys that undoubtedly belonged to the jewel cases. Had I the right to use them? I decided that I had.

The first case I opened contained, so far as my limited knowledge of precious stones enabled me to judge, nothing but a bunch of cheap junk, bits of finery from another century, coral earrings that Mrs. Gaston may have worn when she was a little girl, combs of jet, amber beads, quaint hoop earrings and a ring or two, merely the trinkets of a vain old woman, treasured from the time when the money to buy them was scarce. There was nothing in the lot that any self-respecting thief would take, precious as they may have been to their owner. I locked up that case and returned it to the safe and opened the other.

As I raised the lid an involuntary exclamation of amazement and admiration escaped me. There, nestling in the center of a velvet-lined tray, lay gleaming the most wonderful mass of iridescent pearls I ever had laid eyes on, surely worth a vast fortune. Turning them over and over admiringly in the light, at last I laid them back in the tray and began to investigate the other treasures the casket contained. In other traps in the box I found diamonds galore, a great solitaire that must have been all of seven carats, dinner rings, bar pins, crescents, stars, earrings, and in a compartment all by itself, a tiara of rubies and diamonds. There was also a variety of other gems, pins and rings wrought in curious designs with rubies, diamonds, sapphires, and pearls, some unset diamonds and loose fragments of pieces that had evidently been torn apart to add to other settings, the collection of a woman with unlimited money to spend.

With trembling hands I restored the jewels to their hiding place, twice testing the knob to make sure that the combination had set. The unexpected sight of such a vast fortune in gems had filled me with strange emotions, with thoughts so evil I hardly dared admit them to myself. There must have been nearly half a million dollars' worth of precious stones in that one casket. The Gaston pearls in themselves were a fortune.

If only they were mine!

To every honest man at times come temptations as great as come to any criminal. No man knows whether or not he is honest until he has been put to the test. I knew! I was tempted, strongly tempted, to take my great aunt's jewels. What was to hinder? The old couple were to be absent for months. They had left me in charge and had given me their keys and the safe combination. There would be abundant time for disposing of the jewels before their theft was discovered. With the money they would bring I could satisfy my craving for adventure. I could travel the world over.

Yet, as I look back at it, all the time I was thinking these thoughts, I knew I would not take the jewels. A normal man cannot steal. Even when his desires lead him to theft, his mind points out the folly and his conscience the wrong.

Resolutely I put the thought of the jewels out of my head—or tried to—

There, Nestling in the Center of a Velvet-lined Tray, Lay Gleaming the Most Wonderful Mass of Iridescent Pearls I Ever Laid Eyes On.

and stretching myself out on a couch gave myself up to pleasant reveries about my delightful new acquaintance, the girl who lived just across the hall. I pictured myself finding some way of winning her confidence and of helping her out of her mysterious trouble. And what if eventually old Rufus should make me his heir? Surely I would need a mate with whom to share the joys of having a fortune. With visions of Barbara Bradford seduced with my great-uncle's choicest jewels I fell asleep.

It was almost [illegible] when I was awakened by the [illegible] and [illegible] had receipted for them and had unpacked, I suddenly realised that I was hungry, for I had eaten nothing since breakfast. Hastily I donned my clothes, stopping only to count my money. With a week's salary in my pocket and no room rent to pay for several months, surely I could afford a good dinner to celebrate the change in my fortunes.

As I went out I stopped in the lower hall to chat with the telephone girl, ostensibly to ask her to take any messages for me, though I was expecting none.

"You're Mr. Nelson, ain't you?" she asked, eyeing me with curious interest.

"Yes," I replied, "Mr. Spalding Nelson. I am occupying the Gaston apartment while they are away."

A flicker of amusement crossed her face, with just the suggestion of a sneer.

"I hope you'll enjoy living here."

"Why not?" I replied carelessly. "If any one calls, say that I will be home by ten, Miss—"

"Nellie Kelly," she added.

As I chatted with her the elevator had descended again, and three persons emerged, one of them being she for a sight of whom I had been intentionally loitering. One of the two persons with her was plainly the mother and the other I took to be an older sister. She resembled Barbara strongly, but there was a world-weary look in her face, and her beauty seemed to me to be marred by a weak, sensitive, passionate mouth. But I had no eyes for her, so absorbed was I in the appearance of the girl I had met in the park. If I had thought her beautiful then, she was ravishing now. Her raven hair was piled high and caught back with a great Spanish comb. An ermine-trimmed evening coat of brocade swathed her figure, opening at the front just enough to give me a glimpse of her bared white neck. Involuntarily my hand went to my hat, but into her eyes came a haughty look and one hand went to her lips for just a second, as if she were warning me again not to recognize her. I stood there abashed as she swept by me to the waiting motor. The telephone girl's voice jarred me back to my senses.

"I thought you was a friend of the Bradfords," she said sarcastically.

"Sure he is," said the voice of Mr. Wick behind me. "Didn't you hear the boys telling me he came in twice with Miss Bradford?"

"Well, what of it?" I answered lamely and fled from the house, indignant at this open prying of the employees into my affairs, yet entirely at a loss to know how to stop it. How could I tell them I knew Barbara Bradford, when she had just cut me dead?

Feeling vaguely dissatisfied with my first day in my new home, I boarded a 'bus and rode downtown to a little French cafe, where my comrades and I had been accustomed to go when we were in funds. All about me were merry Sunday evening dinner parties, and I was alone. Birge and Roller had gone, and Miss Bradford had refused to recognize me. I hurried through my dinner, paid my check, and was leaving the restaurant when at a corner table I spied the scar-faced man whom I had seen in the park a few evenings before.

He looked up and caught my glance. Into his face came a strange expression, a look of malignant hate, not unmingled with fear. Boldly I returned his gaze. I was tempted to walk right up to him and ask him what he had been doing in the park, and why he had warned his mate away when he saw me there. Yet I had no right to interfere. Miss Bradford had not taken me into her confidence. I had only suspicions to go on that the two men had been there to attempt some wrong on the girl.

Slowly I left the restaurant, puzzled more than ever by the malevolent glance he had given me, and perplexed as to how I was going to serve Miss Bradford, when she would not even recognize me.

CHAPTER III.

My great-aunt's pearls were gone—stolen—vanished from the wall safe!

Still discrediting the evidence of my own eyes, I lighted a match and peered into the steel-lined recess. It was empty. On the table beside me was one of the two jewel boxes it had contained, the one filled with worthless trinkets. The other, which had contained the priceless Gaston pearls and the other rich treasure, had vanished.

Today was Saturday. Six days before I had arrived in the apartment. There had been two jewel cases then. With my own hands I had put them both back safe in their hiding place. I recalled having tested the knob to make sure that the combination had set. Yet since that time someone had opened the safe. Someone had removed the jewels. Who could it have been?

To the best of my knowledge there had been but two persons in the rooms, old Mrs. Burke, my aunt's trusted laundress, and myself. Certainly I had not taken the jewels, and it seemed absurd to suspect Mrs. Burke, who had been in Mrs. Gaston's employ for years and had long been entrusted with a key to the servants' entrance. Yet who else was there to suspect?

Recovering a little from my bewilderment I hastened to the telephone. I must notify the superintendent and also the police that the apartment had been robbed. I decided, now that I should wear my great-great Rufus of the robbery, [illegible] merely had said that they were going to Maine. Never mind, there was nothing that they could do in their absence. Probably I could get their address from the superintendent, or from Mr. Gaston's bankers. The first thing to do was to notify the superintendent.

But wait! With my hand on the telephone, I stopped short. It dawned on me that in all likelihood I would be the one most under suspicion.

If detectives were called in, I could see that their first move would be to lay the theft to my door. They would investigate everything about me, and I remembered with distress that I, Spalding Nelson, just now was out of a job—and far worse, stood discredited at the only place of employment I had had in New York.

My discharge had come that very morning like a thunderbolt out of a clear sky. The reason for my peremptory dismissal I had not been able to fathom. In some mysterious fashion my employer's wrath had been roused toward me. Why, I could not imagine. Certainly my life, especially since my two comrades had gone away, had been circumspect enough.

Even though I was living in a seven-thousand-dollar apartment I was unemployed, all but penniless, just recently dismissed for some unexplained reason, and now more than likely to be accused or at least suspected of theft.

This Letter Is Enough. It Exposes You for What You Are."

Yet only this very morning I had been taking an optimistic view of life. Delighted at having cut my living expenses in two, I had decided to take twenty dollars of the thirty-five I drew that day and add it to the one hundred and eighty dollars I had in the savings bank. I would mail a registered letter to my mother and reduce my indebtedness to her. On my way to business I stopped at the bank and drew out every penny I had there. It was my intention to go to the post office at lunch time to register the letter. Just before twelve, Mr. Wood, the head of the firm, had sent for me.

"Mr. Nelson," he had said wrathfully, the minute I entered his office, "here is your week's salary. You will leave our employ at once."

Stunned both by his manner and his words, I gasped out something about not understanding what he meant. I knew of no reason that would warrant my discharge.

"I can't put it in any plainer English, can I?" he roared at me. "Get out!"

I held my ground.

"Surely I am entitled to some explanation," I protested. "If there's been anything wrong with my work—"

"Your work's all right," he bellowed. "It's this," he cried, waving at me a letter that had been lying on his desk. "This letter is enough. It exposes you for what you are."

Dumfounded at his amazing statement, I demanded to see the accusing document. Angrily he refused.

"You know as well as I what's in it."

In vain I protested. Every word I uttered only seemed to add to his wrath. In the end he almost hustled me out of his office. Blindly I found my way to the street, still clutching in my hand the week's pay he had rudely thrust on me.

That letter to which he referred—who could have written it? What could have been in it that had so inflamed my employer against me? I racked my brains in vain, puzzling to account for it. I had not been aware that I had an enemy in the world, yet who but an enemy could have written a letter that would have such dire effect?

The mystery of my dismissal was too great for me to solve. The one thing I felt thankful for was that it had come before I had sent off my money. At least I had two hundred and fifteen dollars in my pocket. Under my present mode of life that would last me quite a while, surely until I found another position. Well, there was nothing to do but make the best of it.

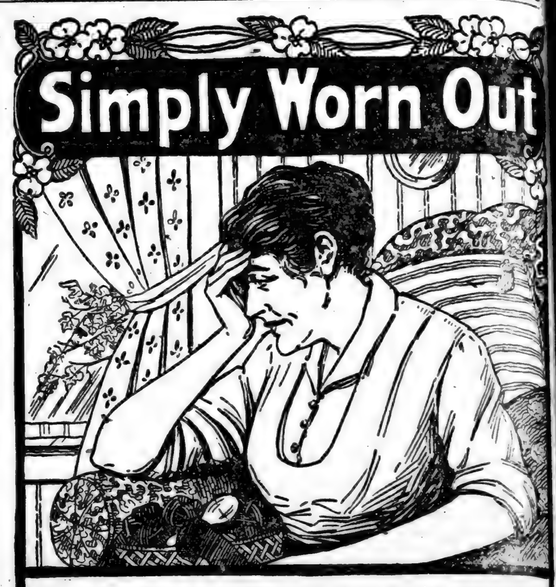
Simply Worn Out



How Many Women Are Like This?

Can anything be more wearing for women than the ceaseless round of household duties? Oh! the monotony of it all—work and drudge; no time to be sick; tired, ailing, yet cannot stop. There comes a time when something "snaps" and they find themselves "simply worn out," and to make matters worse, have contracted serious feminine disorder which almost always follows the constant overtaxing of a woman's strength.

Then they should remember that there is no remedy like Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound—the experience of these two women establishes that fact:

Cedar Rapids, Ia.—"After the birth of my last child I had such painful spells that would unfit me entirely for my housework. I suffered for months and the doctor said that my trouble was organic ulcers and I would have to have an operation. That was an awful thing to me, with a young baby and four other children, so one day I thought of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and how it had helped me years before and I decided to try it again. I took five bottles of Vegetable Compound and used Lydia E. Pinkham's Sanative Wash and since then I have been a well woman, able to take care of my house and family without any trouble or a day's pain. I am ready and thankful to swear by your medicine any time. I am forty-four years old and have not had a day's illness of any kind for three years."—Mrs. H. Kornig, 617 Ellis Blvd, Cedar Rapids, Iowa.

Sandusky, Ohio.—"After the birth of my baby I had organic trouble. My doctor said it was caused by too heavy lifting and I would have to have an operation. I would not consent to an operation and let it go for over a year, having my sister do my work for me as I was not able to walk. One day my aunt came to see me and told me about your medicine—said it cured her of the same thing. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and used Lydia E. Pinkham's Sanative Wash and they have cured me. Now I do my own housework, washing and ironing and sewing for my family and also do sewing for other people. I still take a bottle of Vegetable Compound every spring for a tonic. I recommend your medicine to others who have troubles similar to mine and you can use my letter if you wish."—Mrs. Paul Papenfuss, 1325 Stone St., Sandusky, Ohio.

HIS DESTINATION NO OBJECT

As Example of Perfect Freedom From Care, Colored Boy Would Be Hard to Beat.

Sitting in the rear end of a day coach on a jerkwater road in Texas, my end of the car being a smoker for white passengers and the front end being reserved for the accommodation of colored persons. I—looking through the open door of the dividing partition—saw the conductor stop in the aisle alongside a half-grown negro boy who had boarded the coach at a flag station.

"I ain't got no ticket, cap'n," I heard the darky say. So saying, he hauled a handful of silver dollars out of a pocket and extended the hand, its palm covered with coins.

"Well, then, where do you want to go?" asked the conductor.

"Cap'n, it don't make no difference," quoth the boy. "Jes' you tell me, please, sah, when dis yere money is done ridden up an' den I'll git off effen I lak de looks of the place, an' effen I don't lak it I'll give you some mo' money fin' keep on a-ridin'."—Irvin S. Cobb in the Saturday Evening Post.

The blushing girl leaned over her father's chair and put her arm around his neck.

"You dear old papa!" she cooed. "You've been very good to your little girl since her engagement."

"I'm always glad to make my sunbeam happy," murmured father fondly. "I want you to think sometimes of your foolish old father and remember that he did everything he could to make home pleasant for you before you left him in his lonely old age."

"Oh, you dear, sweet man! What would you say if I didn't leave you, after all?"

"Eh!" exclaimed the startled old man.

"How can I be so selfish after you have been so good to me, and done everything for me?" said the girl tenderly. "I don't care so very very very much for George. I'm going to tell him it was all a mistake, and that he can find somebody else, for I'm always going to stay at home with you. . . . And then you can always give me nice things!"

How Old Is John?

What is the Truth about Old Uncle John Shell, of Greasy Creek, Kentucky? Is He "The Oldest Living Man" or Only a Youngster of 95 to 100 Summers?

Facts vs. Fiction

"JOHN SHELL is without doubt the most remarkable centenarian I have seen, and he is about the eighth I have met," says our investigator. "His memory is wonderful. The nearest that he and his family can come to his age is 112 years. His family has never claimed him to be over that age. The tax records that were burned in the court house at Harlan gave the date of his birth, as near as they could make it out, as September, 1808. He also counts from the age of his first wife, who died at the age of 107.

"John Shell cannot read or write, but for many years he was an expert maker of flint-lock rifles. John Shell rifles, marked with his private mark just behind the lock, are prized by collectors.

"In order to get a consensus of opinion as to his probable age, I thought it best to secure statements and affidavits from members of the family and neighbors, who have known him for many years. I therefore secured such statements from Judge A. B. Cornett, T. H. Howard, attorney-at-law, and W. B. Kelly, ex-United States marshal, and others. These are among the most substantial and reliable men of Kentucky."

Extracts from their Statements are given below:

OVER 100, SAYS W. B. KELLY

I have known "Uncle Johnny" Shell for years, in fact, stayed with him a good deal, about 16 years ago. From the age Mr. Shell claimed to be, when I stayed with him, and the time that has elapsed since, I would judge him to be a good deal over 100 years old.

W. B. KELLY,
Ex-United States Marshal.

E. F. BOGGEN, Notary Public, Harlan Co., Ky.

SHELL FAMILY RECORD SAYS 112

My Aunt, Mrs. Martha Garrison, says that the date in her Bible, containing grandpa's age, was September 15, 1808. I have every reason to believe that she speaks the truth. My father, W. C. Shell, says this is the truth so far as he has ever known; also my uncle, A. B. Shell.

A. H. SHELL.

Subscribed and sworn to before me this 26th day of April, 1920.
G. W. HOWARD, County Court Clerk.

AT LEAST 110, SAYS T. S. WARD

I will be 81 years old the 10th of July, 1920. I was born and raised in Harlan County, Kentucky. In 1863 I met Johnny Shell, who was called "Uncle Johnny" then. I was dodging the Confederate army and met "Uncle Johnny." He was too old then for service in the Civil war. I am satisfied he is at least 110 years old, as he is a much older man than I am. Most every one in Harlan County knows me and will take my word for anything I say. I would not make a statement unless I believed it to be true.

T. S. WARD.

Subscribed and sworn to before me, this 23rd day of April, 1920.
M. G. SMITH, Notary Public, Harlan, Co., Ky.

ATTORNEY HOWARD SAYS OVER 100

In different conversations with John Shell, he often told about coming to Kentucky with his father in the summer of 1816, and that they camped where the town of Harlan, Ky., is now located, and that at that time he was 12 years old. In abstracting old land papers I found one where an entry was made by S. Shell (John's father) in the year 1816, in the neighborhood where he now lives. I have every reason to believe John Shell is a good deal over 100 years old.

T. H. HOWARD, Attorney at Law.

Subscribed and sworn to before me, this 23rd day of April, 1920.
M. G. SMITH, Notary Public, Harlan Co., Ky.

OVER 100 AND AN HONEST MAN

I have known Johnny Shell for about 50 years. I have sold him goods for 40 years. W. B. Kelly told of a man Smith. He and Shell grew up together, about the same age. If Smith had lived he would be a little over a hundred now. Richard Wilson, who was raised a few miles from Shell, says Shell has turned 100. I talked to Shell last year. He knew me and talked to me as intelligently as I ever heard him. I have always found John Shell an honest man.

S. C. HOWARD.

JUDGE CORNETT SAYS ALL OF 108

I have know "Uncle Johnny" Shell for 30 or more years. I have known of him as an old, old man. From all reports from the few who lived here when he said he came here at the age of 13, he is now at least 108 years old, and I believe older. I have talked with him in the last year and he seemed to be intelligent and just as rational as I ever saw him.

(Judge) A. B. CORNETT, Harlan, Ky.

"OLDER THAN MY MOTHER, 104".

I have known "Uncle Johnny" Shell all my life. I am almost 68. I would place his age at 106. Johnny Shell was older than my mother, and she would have been 104, had she lived till now.

F. G. LEWIS.

In justice to John Shell and his family, it should be said that neither he nor they have ever claimed the extreme old age that was given in some of the reports published in the daily press. A story of the kind grows in the telling, and the desire for something startling to make good reading is no doubt the cause for the interesting fiction (founded on fact) that has been published about old "Uncle" Johnny Shell.

Facts, however, in many cases, are just as interesting as fiction, and we have endeavored in this article to give the facts as we have been able to find them.

THE CHATTANOOGA MEDICINE CO.

INVESTIGATOR'S REPORT

THE age-old puzzle, "How old is Ann," is now put into the shade by the question lately agitated in the public press as to "How old is John?"

Old "Uncle" Johnny Shell, the Kentucky mountaineer, who paid a visit to the Kentucky State Fair at Louisville last fall, has become famous over night as a result of this controversy.

Such papers as the "New York Herald," the "Literary Digest," and other periodicals of national circulation, have printed his picture, with comments on the question at issue.

So much interest has been shown in the matter, that a special investigator was sent to Greasy Creek, Kentucky, by The Chattanooga Medicine Company (whose medicine—Thedford's Black-Draught Liver Medicine—had been used in the Shell family for many years) in order to get more information on the subject.

The investigator's report is given on another column of this page. The result of this investigation seems to show, on testimony of friends and neighbors, that John Shell is about 112 years old, that his health is good for a man of his age, and that his mind is clearer than that of the average centenarian.

A statement from his grandson (A. H. Shell) regarding the use of Thedford's Black-Draught, by John Shell himself, is given at the foot of this page.

The beneath picture shows Uncle John Shell's home at Greasy Creek, Kentucky, where he has lived for 55 years. His first wife died here, at the age of 107 years.

Now Living at Greasy Creek, Kentucky.
Was thought by some to be 131 years old, but a full investigation does not disclose any reliable records going back so far.

Statement by John Shell's Grandson

A. H. Shell, aged 45, of Chappell, Kentucky, grandson of John Shell, whose picture is shown in the group at top of this page, authorized publication of the following statement:

"My grandfather has lived to a remarkable age. When a young man, he took very little medicine. Of late years he has needed medicine and my wife has looked after it for him. . . . He needed something as a laxative and to keep his liver acting, so she sends to the store for and makes him a tea from that and it keeps him in splendid shape."

COX FOLLOWS A REPUBLICAN PRECEDENT BY PROMISING A 'DIRT FARMER' OFFICE

Governor Cox thought he had made a hit with the farmers when he said if elected president he would appoint a real "dirt farmer" Secretary of Agriculture.

The democratic candidate for president thus criticized the Wilson appointees to the position of Secretary of Agriculture. This has made cold chills run down the spine of the Wilson Democrats who have been boasting of the great achievements of the Wilson administration. Secretaries Houston and Meredith have been two prize officials of the Wilson administration.

Yet, this is not all. Governor Cox forgets that the Republicans for many years had a real "dirt farmer" as Secretary of Agriculture. Senator Harding calls attention to this by saying:

"For sixteen years, under three Republican administrations, we had a real farmer from a real farm as Secretary of Agriculture—'Uncle Jim Wilson' of Iowa, who made the department the greatest of its sort in the world. He ran it for the farmers made it an instrument to fight for the farmers and to serve them in a thousand ways. When the Democrats did come into power they brought a university president as Secy of Agriculture and after him a publisher."

The many frends of Mr. H. C. Collins of Coosa County were glad to see him at the county singing convention at Clanton on last Sunday.

W. A. Blackmon of Birmingham was a visitor to Clanton a few days the past week.

Chas. T. Walker of Lawley, our next county commissioner from the Third District, was in Clanton Wednesday.

PUBLIC NOTICE

State of Ala., Chilton County:

The Commissioners Court of this County will meet at the court house Monday, July 26th, 1920, at 10 o'clock a.m., for the purpose of hearing appeals of tax cases.

L. H. REYNOLDS,
Judge of Probate.

CLANTON BAPTIST CHURCH

Owing to the absence of the pastor from the city in a series of meetings, there will be no preaching services next Sunday. The members of the church are urged to attend the meetings now being held by the Presbyterian friends.

The revival services at our church will begin on Sunday, August 1st, and continue for two weeks including the Third Sunday. The Rev. W. F. Frazier, of Springfield, Mo., will assist in the meeting and will have the assistance of a good singer and musical director. Bro. Frazier is one of the Home Mission Board evangelists, and is strongly recommended to us by Dr. L. C. Woolfe, who thru sickness and future engagements, can not be with us this year.

The B. Y. P. U. will meet as usual next Sunday night at 7:00, p.m. and will be led by the president, Prof. J. L. Johnson. All the members of the church are urged to work and pray for a great meeting, and a large inrushing of lost souls into the kingdom of God. Further particulars will be announced later. The meeting will be held in the court house.

P. G. CARTER, Pastor.

THREE STILLS IN ONE WEEK

In the last week there have been three wild cat stills brought to Clanton by the officers. Last Wednesday Sheriff Gore, in company with U. S. Revenue officers found a big 75 gallon outfit about three miles northeast of Jemison. It was not in operation, and no arrests were made. On last Friday the same officers crossed the river about a mile below Lock 12 and found another big outfit just a little way from the river up the McSwain Branch about a half mile. On Tuesday of this week Sheriff Gore went into the western part of the county near Macedonia church and found a 25-gallon copper still in Turner Campbell's smoke house. Campbell is a well-to-do negro farmer, who owns 200 acres of land, a gin and some other property. He confessed to the operation of the still and was brought to jail to await action of the court.

The workmen of the Alabama Power Company have completed the wiring of the streets of Clanton and are moving to another job this week. They have perfected a very neat job of our wiring in Clanton, having connected up all the houses and street lights in splendid shape.

Prof. J. Leonard Harris of Birmingham was in Clanton Sunday attending the session of the Chilton County Singing Convention at the high school.

FORD SWITCH KEY—Somebody left his Ford Switch Key in the Jones Hardware store last week. Owner can get same by paying for this adv. at the Union-Banner office.

LAND FOR SALE—145 acres, 40 acres in cultivation, a good dwelling, tenant house, good barn, smoke house shop house, and good orchard, good hog lot sod with bermuda grass, poultry yard, two good wells; 55 acres in pasture joining to barn with lasting water. Owner, R. F. Littleton, 7-22-20 Clanton, Ala., R. 8.

Mr. John Patterson and two of his sons and Mr. Gip Downs spent last week in Escambia County, near Atmore, looking over the country with a view to locating there. Mr. Patterson says it is a fine farming country and he expects to buy property there if he can sell his property in Chilton County.

POSTMASTER EXAMINATION

The civil service examination for postmaster at Clanton was held in Montgomery Wednesday of last week. The following applicants took the examination:

J. L. Wilson, J. J. Pickens, J. M. Parrish, Grady Harris, Walter Martin, A. D. Maddox, Frank Thomas and Willis Lowe.

Prof. R. A. Smith of Sayre, Ala., was here Sunday attending the singing convetion.

Mr. John Cobb of Jemison was in Clanton Monday to get himself a new set of teeth. He says prospects in his part of the county point to a good crop, and he wants to be prepared to do his part of the eating this winter.

Zack Lowery says that if his cotton holds out a few more days he thinks there will be enough to give the boll weevil all they want to eat.

Commissioners court was in session here Monday for consideration of the matter of building a steel bridge across Yellow Leaf Creek east of Thorsby. In the morning the members of the court went to the bridge site to receive bids, and later held a short business session at the court house. There were no bids submitted on the proposition, and the court adjourned till a future date to take the matter up again.

VARIOUS FOLKS

Various folks we meet in life,
Some peaceable, some full of strife;
Some are noble, others proud,
Some are lovely, others loud.

With painted face and braided hair,
Try to be beautiful in despair;
With dainty feet and shapely form,
With dress galore, themselves adorn.

Some are funny, full of jokes,
Others are grouchy, carrying yokes;
Some think it is a sin to smile,
While others happy, smile a mile.

Some are greedy as money they hoard
With humanity's needs are not bored;
Others are generous, kind and true,
Try all the good they can do.

Some jog through life as best they can
Caring for neither God nor man;
Some seek to make the most of life,
Living for others, do the right.

Many who die are soon forgetten,
As in the grave their bodies rotten;
Others though dead, yet do speak,
Lives that were humble, useful, meek.

The choice of yours which you will be,
To live for self or eternity;
To live in sin, poverty or shame,
Or the crown of righteousness to gain.

But as for me, I will confess,
The latter choice I deem the best;
With noble deeds and victories won,

FORMER SERVICE MEN ELIGIBLE FOR FREE SCHOLARSHIP

In order that ex-service men of this County may lose no time in obtaining the benefits offered them by the Y. M. C. A. through its free scholarship plan, the following men have agreed to serve on the local Educational Service Committee, whose duty it be to receive and pass upon applications from men of Chilton County at Clanton, Ala., and Mr. Jno. A. Thomas or Mr. F. B. Collier, will be glad to furnish more detailed information to any ex-service men who need and desire assistance in completing his education.

The plan provides for any kind of educational courses offered in schools of recognized standing, including business or commercial, engineering, mechanical, professional, academic courses in technical schools and colleges, and where no available school conducts the desired courses of study, standard home study correspondence courses are offered. This wide range of course makes it possible for men with little or no elementary education to participate in the benefits of the plan on an equal basis with those more fortunate in the matter of education.

Any man with an honorable discharge from some branch of the service, or any son of a man who died in the service, is eligible for one of these scholarships. The amount of money available for men of this county is substantial, but not unlimited and men who desire to share in the fund should make application at once, to Mr. Jno. A. Thomas, Chairman of the Educational Service Committee for Chilton County.

Those unable to get in touch with the local committee and desiring further information, will please write J. W. Holmes, State Educational Supervisor, Y. M. C. A., 1412 Jefferson County Bank Building, Birmingham, Ala.

The Educational Service Committee for Chilton County are: Jno. A. Thomas, Chairman, Clanton; F. B. Collier, Secretary, Clanton; E. E. Upchurch, Clanton; Guy Higgins, Clanton; C. R. Foss, Thorsby.

Jease Jones had a demonstration of workings of his Ford attachment at the Mullins and Popwell Gin in Clanton last Monday and invited several fellows down to witness the working of the outfit. He hitched it up to the corn shelling machine of Mr. Popwell, and shelled twenty bushels of corn in fifteen minutes. The Ford pulled it very successfully, with about the same effect on the motor as if the car had been going along a good graveled road at about fifteen or twenty miles per hour in high. We believe this attachment is something worth while for the farmer who owns a Ford, and would suggest that all who might be interested in it, call on Mr. Jones for demonstration. He will be glad to show you.

Mr. R. O. Headley who is now working in Montgomery spent Saturday and Sunday at home with his family in Clanton.

Mrs. Delia Merwin and daughter, Clara, of Maylene, Ala., are spending a few days with friends in South Clanton this week.

NETTIE DENNIS

Nature awoke one morning in spring,
Early, so early, with gladness to bring;
Triumphantly smiling with beauty and grace,
Truly and wonderfully I spied her bright face.
In colors transparent, bright Nature was dressed,
Entracing was her style, so beautifully blest;
Dotted with violets and daisies so white;
Encircled were their arms 'round Nature at night.
Nothing more lovely have mortals here seen,
Now was her lining all scented with green.

BAPTIST LADIES AID

The members of the Baptist Ladies Aid held a very enthusiastic meeting on Monday afternoon at the residence of Mrs. G. C. Harris, who made a splendid hostess to the company present. At this meeting it was decided by the ladies to sell ice cream in the interest of the new building enterprise each Saturday afternoon, beginning next Saturday and continuing until October. All the money raised by this effort will go towards the new building.

The ladies of the Clanton church are a splendid company of good hard working people and deserve and will heartily appreciate your patronage.

Next Friday week, July the 30th, an interesting concert will be given under the auspices of the Ladies, and under the management of Miss Beverly Hester, who is an accomplished musician. The funds raised by the concert will be given to the building fund. Watch the papers for further particulars.

AUTAUGA COUNTY PULLING FOR BIG STATE HIGHWAY

There were a bunch of good road enthusiasts from Prattville and Autauga County in Clanton Tuesday in the interest of a state aid road from Prattville to Clanton. Or in other words their efforts are being bended toward getting the main Birmingham to Montgomery road to pass through Prattville.

The people of Autauga County claim to have the most feasible route by way of Prattville for that part of the highway from Clanton to Montgomery. It is what we know as the Mt. Pisgah Road south out of Clanton down the ridge route by Enterprise and Oliver Town, entering Autauga about seven or eight miles west of Marbury. It is a fact that this route will meet with practically no obstructions as to drainage or grading, and passes through a thickly populated section of both Chilton and Autauga Counties, where practically all the farmers are white people and operate their own farms.

And the biggest advantage of this route to Montgomery from Clanton is that it is the nearest route that has yet been suggested.

It would be a distinct advantage to both the cities of Prattville and Clanton to have this projected road come into a reality under the state bond issue plan, for it would make us easily accessible to a great number of farmers who have neretofore been handicapped in getting to market by bad road conditions.

Those who were here from Autauga County Tuesday were: H. S. Doster, Editor of the Prattville Progress. C. W. Smith, Chairman of the Autauga County Board of Revenue, John Carpenter, a nominee for the office of county commissioner, Spigener McDonald, G. N. Mitcham, Engineer of the third division of the State Highway Department.

We look with much interest on the progress of Prattville's claims to a place on the Birmingham-Montgomery Highway, and if we can help her to get there we shall be glad to do so.

LAND FOR SALE—Four-horse farm, 155 acres, located 1-4 mile of Poplar Springs Church, four tenant houses, good pastures, lasting water. For particulars see John W. Patterson, Clanton, R. 2. 7-22-4t

Miss Melba Wilson of Palos, Ala., has been spending a few days with her mother, Mrs. Cora Mims, and other relatives and friends in the Maple Springs settlement.

DEMOCRATS FIND PHILLISTINES IN OWN CAMP WHILE PEACE PERVADES REPUBLICANS

Say what they will, the Democrats are hopelessly divided already. The nominee of their convention was the choice of a faction. He is unacceptable to the Wilson contingent which planned to nominate either former secretary McAdoo or President Wilson himself.

The convention took over the covenant of the League of Nations issue from President Wilson, but now finds the party with a candidate unwilling to be chained to the Wilson Chariot of Immortality.

Not to assume the burden of Wilsonism was to court defeat. To assume it is to court defeat. Defeat by either route. The Democrats are now hopelessly divided.

The Republican party, on the contrary, is united and enthusiastic. It has only one leader, Senator Harding, while the Democrats have two—President Wilson and Governor Cox.

Old Republican wounds have been healed. The so-called conservatives have come to realize that there is a great virtue in sane progressive laws. The so-called progressives have come to realize that there is no such thing as a reactionary. Progressives and Conservatives have reached a common ground of safe and sane liberalism.

Facing a re-united and militant Republican party, the Democrats expect nothing but a complete wreck of their hopes in the coming election.

CONTRACT LET FOR BUILDING CLANTON GRAMMAR SCHOOL

The contract for the erection of the additional story on the Clanton Grammar School building has been let to Sid Plier of Clanton. The amount of the contract is approximately seven thousand dollars. The building is to be completed by the opening of school the first of September. It is to be built by funds raised by the recent city bond issue of seven thousand dollars for that purpose.

Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Glenn of Salem were in Clanton Tuesday. Mr. Glenn brought a load of fine water melons to town, and was kind enough to present The Union-Banner force with the pick of the pile. Our thanks were fully expressed in the smile it brought while we were eating the luscious fruit.

Mr. Walter Poole of Route 2 was in Town Tuesday and more than that he presented the Banner with a nice sack of peaches.

INTERNAL REVENUE

Birmingham, Ala., July 1, 1920.

Hon. J. L. Gore, Sheriff,
Clanton, Ala.

ARMY WORM UNDER CONTROL

Agricultural Commissioner Believes Crest of Campaign of Destruction is Passed.

Montgomery.—C. B. Rogers, chairman of the board of control and economy, and W. F. Feagin, state warden general visited Jacksonville, Fla., to inspect the new state prison, which is about to be completed there. Mr. Rogers stated that he wishes to see this prison before officially adopting an architect plan for the new Alabama state prison at Speigner. The new state prison at Speigner as planned by Mr. Rogers and Mr. Feagan will cost not less than $250,000, exclusive of convict labor the state expects to furnish, and a large quantity of material, such as sand, gravel and lumber. It will be divided into three sections, it is understood, one building being devoted to men, one to women, and the third occupied by a hospital, the whole to be surrounded by a lofty concrete wall. This prison when completed will be the most modern institution of its kind in the United States.

Army Worm Under Control.

Montgomery.—It is the belief of I. T. Quinn, secretary of the state agricultural commission, that the crest of the army worm's campaign of destruction has been passed, and that farmers are now rapidly bringing the pest under control. He says that he has received very few reports of further damage to crops through the activities of the army worm, during the past few days and he believes the worst is over.

Women's shoes will be prettier than ever this fall, but just as expensive as at present, Frank P. Meyer, president of the Illinois Shoe Retailers' association, said in addressing the organization's annual convention at Chicago. The price of men's shoes also will continue high, he said. He declared the association planned to fight profiteers and the luxury tax on shoes and thus reduce prices.

Mrs. James S. Pinkard of Montgomery, Ala., president of the Southern Women's Rejection league, wired Gov. P. W. Clement, of Vermont, congratulating him upon the stand he has taken in refusing to call a session of that state for the purpose of ratifying the Susan B. Anthony amendment to the federal constitution.

HOME TOWN HELPS

FINLAND BOASTS MODEL CITY

Helsingfors Could Give Lessons in Cleanliness to the Majority of Towns in America.

Helsingfors, Finland, might give lessons in the municipal amenities to almost any American city, although it is tucked away in the North, in a bare little land of rock and lakes and birch trees, in the latitude of the southern end of Greenland, writes Arthur Ruhl in the Outlook.

I do not happen to know of any American city so consistently clean and well built. They post no bills in Helsingfors. They tie them around posts with strings, and when they have served their purpose they disappear, strings and all. Every morning there is a market on the broad quay at the end of the esplanade; fish, flowers, meat and vegetables—even Oregon apples, which contrive, in spite of distance and almost prohibitive rates of exchange, to cross the sixtieth parallel. A few minutes after noon you would never know a market had been there. Stalls fold up, rubbish disappears, street cleaners turn on the hose, and presently the quay is as clean as a tennis court.

The Helsingfors gas tanks are not the dismal contraptions that disfigure most of our water fronts. The tank itself may the same, but they build a neat brick house for it—a sort of monumental roundhouse, with stone wreaths around the top by way of frieze, quite in place among buildings intended for politer uses, and not without some suggestion of the Castle of St. Angelo in Rome.

IMPROVING THE HOME YARD

Low-Growing Shrubs at Walk Intersections and Corners of the Lot Should Be Provided.

A well-planted home yard with shade trees, flowering shrubs and perennial flowers surely is more valuable and more enjoyable than a barren, unsightly yard of weeds, ashes, tin cans and rubbish. Perhaps the principal reason why we find so many poorly improved home yards is because a lack of knowledge along these lines is everywhere apparent.

A well-planted home yard should provide for the following ornamental features: The yard should be joined to the street by the planting of low-growing shrubs at the walk intersections and at the corners of the lot along the sidewalk.

These should all be low-growing shrubs such as Thunberg berries, snowberries, Japan quince, rosa rugosa and golden bell. These when planted in groups, from three to five feet apart, will give an informal treatment, and where every home along the street is planted in this way, the entire street is given a boulevard appearance.

If a formal effect is desired along the sidewalk, the treatment calls for the planting of a hedge. For this purpose the Ibota privet, white mulberry, Thunderborg barberry or honeysuckle marraiwli should be used.

Productive Ornamentation.

Any back yard at all can be made both attractive and productive.

Grapevines make a good porch trellis when space is not available for an arbor. A high fence or back porch may be used as trellis for blackberry plants. In a decorative border a few clumps of the brilliant red giant rhubarb will not look out of place. As for hedges which will be both decorative and highly productive, no plants of a useful variety will be more satisfactory than raspberries, gooseberries and currants. They are hardy, will take little care and will supply fruit for each season.

Plant Memorial Trees.

Planting of memorial trees is becoming a popular custom throughout the country, many cities and communities setting them out along streets and roads. A notable example of this is to be found at Tampa, Fla., where the Rotary club is spending $7,000 in planting trees along a "Road of Remembrance," while at Chattanooga Tenn., the National League for Women's service is lining the Dixie highway out of that city with memorial trees. The South is setting a fine example before the rest of the country in this work.

Sickly Community Handicapped.

You frequently hear a man say: "I am not in business for my health." Well, he should be, for if he loses his health on account of his business, the money generally goes with it.

Good health, that is, bodily health and vigor, lies at the bottom of economic prosperity. A sickly community cannot carry forward commercial enterprises and make them big financial successes.

Unique Reason for Theft.

A. G. Barron, a rancher near San Mateo, Cal., recently lost three bales of hay, and a neighbor of his, Henry Ehlig, lost a 200-pound calf. Barron found this notice nailed on his barn door: "We stole three bales of hay [illegible]

A CHAPTER ON SANDWICHES.

As this is the glorious time of year for outings, camping, boat trips and picnics, the sandwich will be the most common article of food. The following may be suggestive, although one may make sandwich filling or soup out of almost anything that is palatable:

If watercress is obtainable, there is nothing more snappy and refreshing for a sandwich filling. Season with lemon juice, olive oil, salt and pepper, with a pinch of sugar, or simply salt and sugar.

Pepper Filling.—Chop green peppers that have been seeded and the white pulp removed and simmer for ten minutes in a tablespoonful of butter. Season with salt and set aside to cool. Spread on buttered bread.

Dutch cheese, made smooth with cream and seasoned with chopped chives, or green pepper, nuts or both.

Grated horseradish with cream spread on buttered bread.

Tongue, cooked, spread with mustard, cut in thin slices.

Swiss cheese cut in very thin slices. Rich American cheese grated and mixed with cream, spread on rounds of bread and fried on both sides in a little butter.

Watercress with hard-cooked eggs chopped and mixed, or hard-cooked eggs chopped, seasoned with melted butter, a pinch of mustard, salt and a dash of cayenne. Eggs mixed with grated cheese, chopped onion or chopped cucumber.

Thin slices of banana dressed with oil and lemon juice.

Corned beef spread with mustard cut in thin slices.

Chopped dates and nuts, flavored with a pinch of cinnamon and cloves.

Drained and boned anchovies pounded to a paste with butter. Or anchovy paste may be purchased. Chopped egg mixed with anchovy is good; also cream cheese.

Thinly sliced radishes, sliced cucumbers seasoned with mayonnaise placed on slices of buttered bread just before serving, so that they will be crisp.

"In all places, then and in all seasons,
Flowers expand their light and soul-like wings,
Teaching us, by most persuasive reasons,

SEASONABLE FOOD.

When asparagus becomes too tough to serve as a fresh vegetable, use it in soups for it is one of the most healthful of vegetables. Cook the tips, put them through a sieve and add to the pulp the liquor in which the asparagus was cooked. Prepare the soup as for the usual cream soup.

Scalloped Cauliflower.—Cook the cauliflower until tender, then drain and place a layer in a buttered baking dish; on top of the cauliflower place a layer of grated cheese mixed with a white sauce. When the dish is filled with alternate layers of the vegetable and cheese add a layer of bread crumbs which have been buttered. Brown in a moderate oven fifteen minutes.

Walnut and Salmon Salad.—Take three-fourths cupful of salmon, one-half cupful of walnut meats, three-fourths of a cupful of shredded cabbage. Separate the salmon into flakes, cut the walnut meats into small pieces; crisp the cabbage in cold water. Drain and mix the ingredients, add one cupful of salad dressing and serve on lettuce.

Orange Velvet Cream.—Boil without stirring, one cupful of sugar and one-half cupful of water until it threads, pour this over two stiffly beaten egg whites; beat until cold. Add one cupful of orange juice, juice of a lemon and a pint of double cream whipped until firm. Freeze slowly and serve in sherbet glasses sprinkled with minced, candied orange peel.

Baked Almond Pudding.—Break six macaroons and six ladyfingers into small pieces, pour over a cupful of hot milk and then let stand covered for half an hour. Beat to a cream a third of a cupful of sugar, the yolks of three beaten eggs, a teaspoonful of vanilla and a half cupful of blanched, shredded almonds. Fold in the stiffly beaten whites of the eggs and bake in individual ramekins. Serve with a fruit sauce.

CAMP RECIPE.

For a single ration of hoecake stir up a cupful of meal and water just as you do for dodgers. Cotton in Day of Herodotus.

The earliest mention of cotton was by Herodotus, who spoke of it as tree wool, the name it still bears in German and other continental languages.

—R. Kipling.

SUMMER LUNCHEONS.

During the summer months, the lighter more delicate meats are more acceptable, such as sweetbreads, chicken, veal and lamb; while eggs, mushrooms and all kinds of fresh vegetables will be used abundantly.

Chicken Salad.—Mix cold cooked chicken with twice the quantity of diced celery, add a half cupful of shredded almonds and enough mayonnaise to moisten. Serve on lettuce garnished with slices of hard cooked eggs.

Sweetbreads Salad.—Parboil in acidulated water a pair of sweetbreads, drain and dip into ice water to chill. Remove all membrane and pipes and cut in fine pieces; add an equal quantity of celery cut in dice and serve with a rich, highly seasoned boiled or mayonnaise dressing.

Curried Chicken.—Prepare creamed chicken using one cupful of white sauce to one cupful of finely minced or diced chicken; add a shredded green pepper, one-half cupful of canned tomatoes and heat thoroughly. Season with salt, pepper, and add a teaspoonful of curry powder.

Chicken Croquettes.—Use the remnants of cold boiled or roast chicken, or combine with roast pork or veal finely minced; add boiled rice or mashed potato. Bind with well beaten egg or with a thick cream sauce; season, shape into croquettes, dip into beaten egg and crumbs and fry in deep fat. The canned, boned chicken is very good to make croquettes.

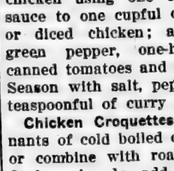
Deviled Chicken.—Make a sauce of salt, pepper, dry mustard, paprika, grated lemon peel, lemon juice, Worcestershire and a few drops of tabasco sauce. Add a lump of butter when the sauce begins to boil. When very hot, add cubes of cold chicken and cook until heated through. Cold cooked veal or roast pork may be used in the same way.

Chicken Saute.—Cut up a chicken and pound the pieces with a potato masher until they are flat. Season, dredge with flour, fry in butter or bacon fat until brown.

To cultivate the sense of the beautiful is one of the most effectual ways of cultivating an appreciation of the divine goodness.—Bovee.

PICNIC DISHES.

At this time of year when the lure of the woods and stream calls us to pack our lunch baskets and hie us out into the open, a satisfying lunch is one of the necessities.



Stuffed Eggs.—Hard-cooked eggs cut in halves lengthwise, the yolks removed, are mixed with creamed butter, pepper and salt, a bit of mustard and cayenne, then the whites are filled rounding them well with the mixture. They may be filled and put together in halves, wrapped in waxed paper twisted at the ends.

A salad is always a welcome dish for a picnic. Potato salad seems to be the one most often served. Take cold, boiled potatoes, cut in cubes, add one small onion, a cucumber, both cut fine, salt and pepper to season and a handful of blanched almonds shredded. Add a little French dressing to the potato to marinate it. Let it stand for an hour or two, then add a rich, well-seasoned boiled dressing or a mayonnaise. Chives may be used instead of onions if preferred.

Giggers.—Cream one-half cupful of butter, one-half cupful of sugar. Add one well-beaten egg, one tablespoonful of milk, one cupful of flour, a pinch of salt, a teaspoonful of baking powder and one-half teaspoonful of vanilla. Beat well and drop by teaspoonfuls upon a buttered sheet. Decorate with blanched almonds cut in strips.

A small cake which is always liked for outings is this: Prepare any sponge cake mixture and bake in gem pans. When cold split open and remove some of the crumb. Fill with crushed strawberries and sweetened whipped cream. The better way is to carry the filling and finish the cakes just before serving. It takes but a few moments.

Fads And Fancies Of Fashion

THIN FROCKS FILL THE STREETS.

THE shop windows and the streets are furnishing a panorama of enticing things for midsummer wear, with dresses of sheer cotton fabrics the outstanding item in the display. Women have returned to fine and practical fabrics and are using the simpler methods for decorating them, as tucks, frills, ribbon borders and narrow lingerie lace. For the street, voile is in the lead, either plain or figured, embroidered or printed. Chiffon taffeta is its closest rival and is often made up with georgette crepe. Georgette also redeems satin and makes it midsummerish by supplying satin frocks with sleeves, tunic or other details in their composition that make them look cool.

For dressier frocks organdy and voile are both used and St. Gall swisses with embroidered dots are reappearing at prices that are somewhat lower than they were earlier in the season. Wide tucks are in great favor in voile and on organdy dresses, while frills seem the natural order of things for both swiss and organdy. The latter material is much used for collars, cuffs, bands, sashes, fichus and frills on dresses of other materials.

In the picture above there is a dress of white organdy at the left and one of China blue voile at the right. The organdy dress, worn by Irene Castle will help to uphold that talented lady's enviable taste in the selection of clothes. Frills of lace make the medallions and other trimming in the skirt and rows of the same lace form the deep cuff. The long sleeves and collar high at the back are late innovations in summer styles. A wide tuck headed by a frill of lace calls attention to the distended hip line and even the crushed girdle is of organdy with a little frill of lace running along the center of it. The slender type will do well to study this dress

The pretty dress of plain voile at the right has a skirt covered by tiers of narrow, scant flounces and a plain short sleeved bodice, ending in two ruffles at the natural waist line. What makes this simple affair so chic is the ribbon that borders all edges. It is cleverly managed, showing the borders of the flounces finished with loops and ends, on alternating flounces, at both sides, small bows on the sleeves and in the back at the end of the shirring about the waist line. It suits its youthful wearer and is calculated to make her toy sailor boy leave his happy nursery and break his wooden heart when she discards him.

THE SUMMER HOSTESS

SUMMER vacations bring visits and return courtesies to the members of nearly every family, with their responsibilities resting on "the lady of the house." In these servantless days the problem of entertaining without being overburdened is going to test the abilities of many a hostess whose strength hardly matches her hospitality and her ambition to make guests have a good time. There are hardly any rules that can be laid down which will insure so desirable a result, but one thing is certain: the thought that a hostess is overtaxed and worried will spoil the visit of any intelligent guest. Therefore in the circumstances it is best to plan things that will keep one's visitors in the open and allow them to amuse themselves as much as possible.

Week-end house parties are about the pleasantest events that our summers record on memories that like to dwell upon them. They are recommended to the mother who wants to entertain for her young people. One can fill two or three days with happy times for youths and maidens, especially if there s a river, lake or the sea within easy reaching distance. Water sports, fishing, beach parties, picnics an hikes take care of the days. Camp fires, story telling, dancing and tableaux are recommended for evenings. Both the girls and boys are just as happy when they are required to make themselves useful about the house in the morning as when they have no tasks. The hostess, entertaining a house party of young folks, should provide them with a substantial breakfast and if she has no help, let them assist with straightening up the house. A picnic lunch for the middle of the day is the best way of disposing of lunch, and a hearty dinner, rather early in the evening, makes way for three or four hours for pastime afterward.

A wide porch and a graphophone are the best of aids to entertaining. Youthful guests will stand a good bit of letting alone, for like children they are easily amused for a short time. Costume dances and parties provide a lot of fun and of these the Japanese and Indian parties require little in the way of preparation. Expeditions into the woods for flowers entice town and city-bred guests and everyone enjoys boating, singing and dancing.

Stripes Supersede Plaids

Just at present there is a decided leaning to striped fabrics as against plaids; but fashion changes are so frequent that no one can say from day to day what the major demand will be. Striped skirts are now active rivals of the big gay plaids that have held the center of the stage for so long, and both hair-line and the wider and more conspicuous stripes are featured. Knife plaiting is also being accorded a great deal of favor, as against the accordion plaiting, because only an expert can replait the accordion plaited models once they are out of shape, and the process is an expensive one.

Take Care of Your Shoes.

By the exercise of a little care, says the Thrift Magazine, the life of leather shoes may be considerably prolonged. It is a well-known fact that if a wet shoe is placed too close to a fire, the interior of the sole is sometimes utterly ruined before the surface of the leather shows appreciable signs of injury. Wet shoes should be dried slowly and shoe trees inserted to prevent their losing shape and becoming uncomfortable. It is economy to keep at least two pairs of shoes, wearing them in rotation. Some shoe manufacturers claim that two pairs of shoes worn alternately will outwear three pairs of shoes worn consecutively.

REDUCE COST OF MANY GARMENTS

Bulletin Teaches Methods of Preserving Life of Various Pieces of Wearing Apparel.

CLEANLINESS IS AID

Eliminate Necessity of Spending Large Sums to Replace Wardrobe by Giving Immediate Attention to Rips and Tears.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Men as well as women can help reduce the high cost of clothing. A little care on the part of the wearer will do much to preserve clothing already on hand, and thus eliminate the necessity of spending large sums frequently to replenish the wardrobe. This is brought out in a recent publication of the United States department of agriculture, Farmers' Bulletin 1089, Selection and Care of Clothing.

Immediate attention to rips, sewing on loosened buttons and hooks, reworking worn buttonholes, and "preventive" darning are recommended as means of prolonging the life of a garment. The latter repair measure consists of reinforcing a worn place with rows of fine stitches or by laying a piece of cloth under it and darning it down with raveling of the material. The heels and toes of stockings and socks especially may be treated this way before a hole is entirely worn through. Shortening sleeves or trousers a little to do away with a worn edge, or putting new cuffs and collar or new trimming on a dress may often add months to the life of a garment.

To keep clothing looking "as good as new" as well as actually preserving and lengthening its life, it is necessary to keep it clean. Brushing with a stiff brush for woolen clothing and with a softer brush for velvet or silk, is necessary to remove dust, and spots and stains should be carefully treated with cleaning preparations as soon as possible. In most cases this can be done at home, but it is more economical to have professional cleaners handle very delicate garments, Farmers' Bulletin 861 gives detailed information on the removal of stains from different kinds of textiles.

Pressing Preserves Garments.

Preserving the shape of a garment lengthens its service. Almost anyone can learn to press clothing neatly. Woolen clothing should be covered with a thoroughly dampened cloth and pressed with a moderately hot iron until nearly dry. If the cloth becomes absolutely dry, shine is likely to appear on the garment. Silk garments should be pressed very carefully; in fact, sometimes hanging a silk dress over a tub of steaming water will remove wrinkles without actual ironing. Washable white silk garments should be washed and rinsed in lukewarm water, wrapped in a towel, and pressed with a warm, not hot, iron. Handled in this way they will not turn yellow.

Shoes, more than many other articles of clothing, need to be thoroughly aired after wearing, to prevent perspiration from rotting the lining. Keeping shoes on shoe trees or stuffed with paper when not in use preserves their original shape, and is especially necessary if the shoes have become wet. Intense heat is likely to crack leather; therefore wet shoes should never be dried under the stove or on a register or radiator.

Cleaning Hats and Gloves.

A hat that is worn day after day needs special care to keep it looking neat. Careful brushing or, in the case of straw hats, wiping with a cloth dipped in denatured alcohol will remove dust and freshen it. A new band on a man's hat may postpone the necessity of buying a new hat for months. Trimmings on women's hats that become loosened by wind or wear should be sewed into place as follows: Thread a long needle with coarse thread or silk of an inconspicuous color. Draw the needle from the wrong side through the hat beside the loosened trimming, leaving 2 or 3 inches of thread on the wrong side; pass the needle up and down around the trimming and back to the wrong side of the hat; pull the thread through, tie the two ends securely and cut them a quarter of an inch beyond the knot.

One method of cleaning kid gloves is to rub the soiled parts with cornmeal, moistened with enough gasoline to keep the meal from scratching the gloves, then dry thoroughly in the air.

The bulletin mentioned treats also of ways of economizing in the selection of clothing, how to test textile goods, and gives other suggestions of value.

DO NOT THROW AWAY PARTLY STALE BREAD

Different Ways of Making It Quite Appetizing.

Good Plan to Cut Off What Is Needed at Meal and Place Slices in Hot Oven—Croutons Are Made of Odds and Ends.

Toasting is the most common method for making stale or partly stale bread attractive, but it is by no means the only one. If partly stale bread is put into a very hot oven for a few minutes it grows softer, probably because the heat tends to drive the water from the crust back into the crumb, food specialists of the United States department of agriculture say. Such warmed-over bread is not as soft and springy as fresh, but most persons find it very appetizing. A good plan, therefore, when bread has lost its freshnesss, is to cut off what will be needed at a meal and place the slices in a hot oven for a few minutes just before serving. In this way bread can be used on the table which would ordinarily be considered too stale.

"Twice-baked bread," which is cut bread placed in the warming-oven or in a pan on the back of the stove and allowed to dry out slowly until it is slightly brown and crisp throughout, offers still another way of making stale bread attractive. If desired, this twice-baked bread may be crushed with a rolling-pin and used like the ready-to-eat breakfast cereals. In some localities this dish has long been known under the name of rusks.

The little fried cubes of bread called croutons, which are served with soup, may be made of odds and ends of bread. To save time, bread simply broken into small pieces may be fried either in deep fat or in a pan (sauteed) and used for the same purpose. Sometimes bread crumbs fried in a pan are used as a seasoning or sauce for meat. French cooks frequently put pieces of stale bread in soups just long enough before serving for them to soften; the well-known one, "crust in the pot," (croute au pot), is simply a thin soup with bread in it.

There are many ways of using stale bread in cooking. Almost every good cookbook gives directions for preparing soft and dry crumbs for use in scalloped dishes, bread puddings, etc. The soft parts of bread may be used in place of flour or cornstarch for thickening soups, sauces, gravies, stewed tomatoes (either fresh or canned), etc. Bakers often use stale bread and dried, finely ground cake in place of part of the flour in making fancy breads, cakes and cookies. The housekeeper can often avoid waste by using them in this way in griddlecakes, cakes, cookies, etc.

MOPS FOR POLISHED FLOORS

One May Be Made of Old Stockings or Any Discarded Woolen or Flannelette Material.

For oiled or polished floors an oiled floor mop is almost a necessity. Several makes can be found on the market, or one may be made of old stockings or any discarded woolen or flannelette material. In a Farmers' Bulletin on "Farm Home Conveniences," obtainable free from the United States department of agriculture, the following directions for making such a mop are given:

The material is cut into 1-inch wide strips, which are sewed across the middle to a foundation of heavy cloth. This is fastened to an old broom handle or used in a clamp mop handle.

The mop, when finished, is dipped into a solution made of one-half cupful of melted paraffin and one cupful of kerosene, and then allowed to dry. To keep it moist it is rolled tightly and kept in a paper bag away from stoves of lamps.

CHEMICAL EFFECTS OF FOOD

It May Be Literally True That "One Man's Meat Is Another Man's Poison"—People Differ.

Different persons are differently constituted with respect to the chemical changes which their food undergoes and the effect produced, so that it may be literally true that "one man's meat is another man's poison." Every man must learn from his own experience what food agrees with him and what does not.—United States department of agriculture.

"Trail's end" (Cox's home) suggests "lost in the woods."

A single tax will not be enough to pay for Democratic extravagance.

It is said that Mr. Wilson has a double. He may look like him but that's all.

Senator Lodge says that "no Democrat living can win the election next Fall." He is right.

The Democratic administration has been sufficiently like a menagerie without introducing the Tammany Tiger.

Postmaster General Burleson's request for a million dollars to pay for lost mail was a personal tribute to his administration.

It seems that a tongue-tied man would have suited Mr. Wilson better as the leading candidate on the San Francisco ticket.

Gov. Cox's Dayton News disagrees with the Wilson notion that the United States entered the war to reform the world.

It is being remarked that if Henry Ford should be elected president "tin Lizzie" would become the "First lady of the land."

Most of the coments of those returning from the convention in San Francisco is about the beauty of the hall and the glorious climate.

What will President Wilson tell Gov. Cox and Boss Murphy, and Boss Taggart, when they present their reservations to the Wilson sacrosanct Covenant?

Washington query—Did Governor Cox do President Wilson "dirt" when he said he would appoint that kind of a farmer head of the Department of Agriculture.

"Columbus discovered America, America made Columbus and Columbus made Cox," says the Washington Herald. That's so, and San Francisco undid him.

Chairman Cummings boasted at San Francisco that with all the revelations of waste, extravagance and graft in the conduct of the war no democrat had been put into jail—Wait.

"Do give us a campaign that is constructive," urges Mr. Franklin K. Lane in his congratulatory telegram to Governor Cox. Mr. Lane is a recently resigned member of Mr. Wilson's cabinet.

WHAT COUNTY IS LOCK 12 IN?

That is a simple question, but if you will spring it in a crowd you will soon find that it is not so easy of solution, for it has more sides than one, and there is pretty apt to be somebody to argue all of those sides.

It doesn't matter so much right now which county the big power plant is in, but when the time comes for the operators of the big works to begin to pay their annual taxes it will be rather an important phase of the question as to where and in what county the taxes will be paid. The amount of those taxes will be enough to make it worth while, probably, for one county to contend against another for possession of the plant.

Just ask the question, "In what county is Lock 12 located?" next time you get into a crowd, and see how many different theories you can find as to what constitutes the boundary line between Chilton and Coosa.

LIMBERING UP

Candidate Cox is already evincing his predilection for straddling issues. On the liquor issue he states that it is up to the people to change, repeal, or continue the present law, or, if they see fit, to wipe out the constitutional prohibition amendment. That is a mere platitude. The question which has been put up to him is simple: Is he for a wet regime or is he for a dry regime? That question can be answered by one word of just three letters, but the candidate persists in begging the question.

He is reported as urging the ratification of the league of nations and treaty, and declaring for no modification of Article X, and then in the same breath proclaiming that nothing in the treaty is to be construed as to surrender the United States of its (Congress's) war-making power, and this in itself absolutely negates Article X, and the spirit of the treaty thereby attempting to meet the wishes of the Wilson internationalists as well as of the majority reservationists. It is predicted that before Mr. Cox completes his campaign he will be doing the split, and that is neither a dignified nor a practical way to enter the White House door.

Governor Cox will have some difficulty in convincing President Wilson that any man except Woodrow Wilson is the leader of the Democratic party. Others have tackled that job and have failed ignominiously.

Senator Harding says that if the Democrats had followed the policies of the Republicans in the agricultural department, many of the problems connected with the high cost of living would now be solved.

Senator Harding will have Vice-President Coolidge sit in his Cabinet meetings and take part in administration deliberations. The joke will be on Vice-President Marshall who sent a telegram of sympathy to Governor Coolidge.

Senator Kenyon announces that he will move to repeal the appropriation granted the department of justice to fight the high cost of living on the ground that it was used primarily to boost Attorney General Palmer for the Democratic nomination for President.

It would not have made much difference with the Declaration of American Independence if it had been launched from a front porch or a car platform but the people will prefer to hear it understandingly expounded this summer around the piazza in Marion, Ohio.

Raymond Robbins, one of the leading 1912 Progressives and an ardent supporter of Senator Johnson in the primaries says: "Senator Johnson's declaration in favor of the Republican candidates and the platform pointed the way for all Progressives to flock to the G. O. P. standard."

The editorial correspondent of the Portland Oregonian, writing from San Francisco, says: "The true explanation of the nomination of Governor Cox is that the Democratic party has been delivered to the forces of Bourbonism. The present-day Bourbonism of the party is both political and alcoholic."

BOTH FEET ON FRONT PORCH

It is said that Senator Harding is receiving a hundred appeals each day urging him to abandon his front porch campaign and make a tour of the country. But he made his decision and intends to stand by it. There have been those who sought to create the impression that the Senator is a weak candidate, easily led by his own friends. The manner in which he has withstood the enormous pressure to lend personal presence and influence to local campaigns in cities and states proves that vicillation is absent from his make-up. He will seek the advice of the leaders of Republican thought and sentiment in his administration of the executive office, but once his judgment has been formed as a result of those discusions it will not be altered.

OUT OF THE DEPTHS

Senator Harding has announced that, if elected, he intends to ask Vice-President Coolidge to be present at Cabinet meetings. In other ways the Senator has let it be known that with him as President the Vice-Presidency will be lifted from its present position of comparative obscurity to the place in our government that its importance entitles it. Under the constitution the Vice-President is the presiding officer of the Senate, and in that capacity maintains a close association with the legislative branch of the government. In the event of a tie vote he even has the privilege of casting the deciding ballot. By inviting him to attend the Cabinet meetings the President creates in the Vice-President a sort of liaison officer between the executive and the legislative branches, which will make him invaluable in bringing them into close co-operation, a relation that has been so conspicuously lacking under Wilsonism.

Irving S. Cobb, the well known writer, giving his impressions of that Democratic National Convention, penned these words July 4th: "Elsewhere throughout this broad land of ours, independence is being celebrated, but here the Democratic National Convention is still in session making the world safe for Republicanism."

There was a great howl at the democratic convention because some people at the other one may have spent their own money at the primaries. Nothing was said about the horde of postmasters, revenue collectors, U. S. marshals and other democratic job holders in attendance whose salaries and expenses came out of the peoples' treasury.

It is up to the Democrats to show how the Wilson covenant programme will "bring peace to the world" and improve the international situation of the United States. It will not do to simply say: "Le's try it. It may not do any harm." The burden of proof is on the Democrats. Will they accept the job? Already candidate Cox is hedging.

The New York World thus comments on the action of the Wilson administration in permitting trade with Soviet Russia: "Trading with people whose first principle is tthe denial of all private rights in property seems to be on its face a contradictory and impossible proposition." Yet this is an act of the Wilson administration. If a Republican administraton had done this thing, the World would have had a spasm of ridicule or abuse.

"It is said that thousands of Republicans voted for Cox when he was on the ticket. That speaks mighty well for a fellow."—The Centerville Press.

Yes, sir, boss, it speaks mighty well for a fellow when Republicans vote for him; they don't vote vote for any but good men. But they do not have to leave the Republican party to find a good man to vote for. They will stay in the party this time and vote for our own candidate, Mr. Warren Harding.

Ben Duke of Route 4 was in Clanton Tuesday and brought us the cantelopes he promised us last winter. They grew from the seed he obtained from a planter in Colorado. They are the finest variety of cantelopes we have seen around here. Mr. Duke says the unfavorable seasons this summer have caused him to lose out considerably on the yield, but he will have quite a few of them. Those who are interested in growing cantelopes would do well to get some of the seed as they are a highly tested and improved melon.

SESSIONS-MURRAH WEDDING

News of the marriage in Birmingham last week of Mr. Willie G. Sessions and Miss Mottie Murrah, the popular clerk in the County Tax Office, came as a distinct surprise to the many friends of the contracting parties in Clanton and in Jemison, where Miss Murrah lives. The bride has been holding the position of clerk in the tax office for a number of years, and has by her charming manner, won the respect and admiration of a very large circle of friends and acquaintances throughout the county. The groom is a young traveling man whose home is at Montevallo. It is not yet known where they will make their future home.

We extend best wishes and congratulations to them.

AN ORDINANCE

An Ordinance entitled "An Ordinance to prescribe the rate to be paid for water supplied by the Town of Clanton, to the consumers, and to repeal all other conflicting ordinances."

Whereas, the water works department of the Town of Clanton, is not on a paying basis, and said Town Council desires to put the said department on a paying basis,

Now, Therefore, be it ordained by the Town Council of Clanton, Alabama, as follows:

Section 1—That the Town of Clanton charge and collect the following amounts of water furnished by it:

The House of Whispers

By WILLIAM JOHNSTON

Copyright by Little, Brown & Co.

"I AM IN TROUBLE."

Synopsis.—Circumstances having prevented Spalding Nelson, clerk, from joining the American forces going to France, he is in a despondent mood when he receives an invitation to dinner from his great-uncle, Rufus Gaston. On the way to the house he meets, under peculiar circumstances, a young girl, apparently in trouble, to whom he has an opportunity to be of slight service. She lives in the same apartment building as Rufus Gaston, and he accompanies her to the house. Gaston and his wife are going to Maine for a trip and want to leave Nelson in charge of the apartment. He accepts. Gaston and his wife tell their great-nephew of mysterious noises—"whispers"—which they have heard in the house. On his way to the Gaston apartment the next Sunday Nelson again meets his accidental acquaintance of a few days before, Barbara Bradford. She urges him not to allow the fact of their being acquainted to be known. At the apartment Nelson meets the superintendent, Wick, and instinctively dislikes him. In a wall safe he finds a necklace of magnificent pearls, worth a small fortune. Meeting Barbara in the hallway she passes him without recognition. Dining in a restaurant he is conscious of the unpleasant scrutiny of a stranger, but a man whom he had seen before. Next day Nelson finds the pearls have disappeared from the wall safe. His first idea of informing the police is not acted upon because of peculiar circumstances. He has been discharged from his position without adequate explanation or reason, and feels himself involved in something of a mystery. He decides to conduct an investigation himself.

CHAPTER III.—Continued.

I dined in a little restaurant in one of the side streets and walked home. Immediately on entering the apartment I decided to put my money in the wall safe. There would be less temptation for me to spend it if I carried only a little in my pocket. As I opened the safe by means of the combination I made the astounding discovery that one of the jewel cases had disappeared.

And now I stood hesitating at the telephone. Self-protection bade me notify neither the superintendent nor the police. Yet I must do something. The jewels entrusted to my care had been stolen. The thief must be found and the pearls recovered.

Why should not I myself play the detective? I had abundant leisure now. My great-uncle had informed me that there was something wrong in the house and had charged me to discover what it was. Here was the opportunity for me to fulfill the trust he had imposed on me.

The thought flashed across my mind, too, that perhaps the crafty old gentleman had deliberately planned the disappearance of the gems. Perhaps he had devised an elaborate test to see if I was honest, if I was of the right caliber to be his heir. Maybe he and his wife had not gone to Maine at all. They might even be quartered in another apartment in this very house, surreptitiously entering when they knew I was absent. There really had been no necessity for them to give me the combination of the safe. They need not have told me anything about the pearls. I wondered if they themselves might not have taken away the jewel box just to see if I would discover the loss and to ascertain what I would do about it.

Another theory suggested itself. My aunt evidently prized her jewels highly. After they had started she might have repented having left them behind and have sent the old colored butler back to get them. He of course would have a key to admit him, and they would have supplied him with the safe combination, as they had me. Probably he had been told to leave some message for me and had forgotten to do so. More than likely in a day or two I would receive a letter from old Rufus that would explain everything.

I was glad now I had not notified the superintendent nor the police. My second theory surely was far more logical than the first. It seemed preposterous that they would risk hundreds of thousands of dollars' worth of gems just to test my honesty.

Still, I determined to make a thorough investigation. If they had been stolen, I would set about in a scientific way to discover the method of the theft and to bring about restoration. I would keep my investigation secret, and if it turned out that the pearls were safe, no one would know of my fright about the matter. I began outlining my work as a detective.

First, I would examine the safe knob for possible finger prints.

Second, I would interrogate Mrs. Burke. I would watch her carefully for any appearance of guilt. I would try, without arousing her suspicions, to ascertain if she had let her key out of her possession.

Third, I would insert an advertisement offering a reward for the return of the jewels, so worded that only the thief and myself would understand.

Fourth, I would try to locate the Gastons and would question the hall boys and telephone girl as to whether they had surreptitiously entered.

Fifth, I must try and discover what was in the mysterious letter that had fallen to my discharge. While this did not seem to have any connection with the other affairs that were troubling me, if I was to remain in New York and become better acquainted with Barbara Bradford, as I fondly hoped, I meant to have nothing hanging over me.

I was about to get into bed, had turned out the light, in fact, when I recalled the errand that had led me to open the wall safe. I had more than two hundred dollars in my trousers pocket and I purposed putting it where it would be safe. With the feeling that if the jewels had disappeared, so might my money, I pressed the light button in the sitting room and looked about for a hiding place. Recalling a custom of my mother's, I stepped over to the bookcase and taking a Macaulay's History, Volume Three, from the shelf, placed between the leaves all of my money except fifteen dollars. No burglar was likely to find it there.

I extinguished the light and in the darkness stepped back into my bedroom, and stopped stock still.

From somewhere in the room there came three distinct taps. Instinctively I crouched in an attitude of self-defense and strained my ears to listen. My first impression was that there was someone in the room, probably the burglar. I hesitated about turning on the light. If he were armed it would give him all the advantage.

Breathlessly I listened. Once more there came three distinct raps, this time apparently from somewhere outside the room. I wondered if it had been sounds like these that had so terrified the old couple.

Perhaps it was the echo of someone pounding in another apartment, the noise being carried along by a water pipe. The thought that it might be the crackling of some hidden steam or refrigerating pipe suggested itself. Both these theories I rejected. The sound, whatever it was, had originated close at hand.

It came again. This time I was certain that it was not due to footfalls as I had at first conjectured. I was able, too, to locate more closely the direction from which it came. The window at the foot of the bed stood open, and the sound seemed to float in from somewhere outside. I hurried over to the window and thrust my head out. At first I could see nothing, but even as I looked a white arm thrust forth from an adjacent window on the same floor. It held a riding crop and reaching out as far as was possible it rapped three times on the sill of my window.

As I Read It I Stood There Aghast.

It dawned on me at once that the window next must belong to the Bradford apartment. It must be Miss Bradford trying to signal to me.

"Hello," I called out softly.

"Oh, is that you, Mr. Nelson?" a relieved voice whispered. "I thought you would never hear. I must see you."

"Why didn't you phone me?"

"I couldn't. Someone might hear me."

"What's the matter?"

"I've had another letter."

"From those men in the park?"

"I suppose so."

"Tell me about it."

"I can't now. Can you meet me somewhere tomorrow?"

"Wherever you say."

"Do you ride?"

"Yes, indeed."

"I'll be in the cross lane that leads from McGowan's Pass tavern between eight and eight-thirty."

"I'll be there."

Whether or not she heard me I did not know. She withdrew quickly from the room as if someone had entered. I waited there in the window for a full hour in case she should wish to communicate with me again.

By and by the light in her window was extinguished, but even then I sat there at the window adjoining, hoping in vain that she would seek to renew the conversation.

When at last I got into bed I was in a jubilant mood. I had quite forgiven Miss Bradford for cutting me when she met me in company with her mother, and above. It was enough for me to know that when trouble again threatened her she had decided to trust in me and had sought my aid.

I fell asleep at last and slept for I do not know how long. Opening my eyes in the darkness I seemed to feel the presence of someone in the room. There was the sound of footfalls somewhere—muffled, seemingly some distance off. I was almost certain I could detect muttered words. In a curious detached state of mind I listened, wondering whether I was awake or asleep. The footsteps seemed to come closer, then recede. The whispering noise ceased. I sprang up, and hastily lighting up all the rooms, explored them thoroughly. There was no evidence anywhere of anyone's presence. As I lay there thinking about it, I decided that my illusion must have been a dream, due to my thought of spirit rappings when I first had heard Miss Bradford's signal.

I was still thinking about my experience when I awoke early the next morning. Springing lightly out of bed, I stopped in utter bewilderment. There, in the center of the room on the floor lay a small white folded slip of paper. It could not have been a dream, after all. I had heard footsteps and whispers. I had not imagined it. Someone had been in the room while I slept. There was the proof, the note they had dropped.

Wondering if Miss Bradford had found still another unusual way of communicating with me I hastened to pick up the folded paper that lay on the floor. On the outside it bore my name, in typewriting, "Mr. Spalding Nelson."

With eager fingers I unfolded the paper, wondering what message it contained. As I read it, I stood there, aghast. It ran:

"Why didn't you tell the police about the pearls?"

CHAPTER IV.

I had twice traversed the cross lane near McGowan's Pass tavern waiting for Barbara Bradford. Although it had been my intention to ride thither I was amazed to learn on applying at two of the stables near the park entrance to hire a horse that the few they had there either were owned privately or had been already engaged.

There was nothing for me to do but to go to my rendezvous on foot. I had almost despaired of Miss Bradford's coming when I spied her cantering slowly along the lane, followed at a decorous distance by a groom. She was looking right and left and when she saw me her face brightened but she rode a few steps past me with no sign of recognition. I was wondering what to make of this new slight when she suddenly reined in and allowed the groom to come up with her.

"James," I heard her say to the groom, "my head aches, and the riding is making it worse. Take the horses back to the stable, and I will walk the rest of the way home."

"Very well, Miss Bradford," he said, touching his cap, as he assisted her to alight.

She waited until he had vanished and then hastened to the bench where I was seated, one I had purposely selected because it was half hidden by a turn in the road and the branches of a wide-spreading tree.

She colored vividly as I rose to greet her with outstretched hand.

"Oh, Mr. Nelson," she cried, "I don't know what you will think of me, asking you to meet me here. I am in trouble. I must tell someone. I don't know what to do!"

"The only thing to do," I suggested, "is to begin at the beginning and tell me the whole story. I've sisters of my own. Just pretend you are one of my sisters and let me help you."

She looked at me thoughtfully, studying me as if questioning whether or not I was to be trusted, and apparently deciding in the affirmative, told me an amazing story.

"It's all about my sister, Claire," she began. "She's five years older than I. She's a lovely girl, but she's—that is, she used to be—impulsive, romantic, and headstrong. She and my mother never got along well together, and she was sent away to boarding school. One winter, it was six years ago, mother was in Europe and only Dad and I were at home . . ."

She sighed sadly. Evidently her words were bringing back to her moments of heartache.

"To make a long story short, Claire ran away from the school and married—married a French chauffeur employed by a family in the neighborhood. She took me into her confidence a week later, and I—well, I told dad. There was a terrible time about it all. Dad found out that her husband was already married, had a wife and child right here in this city. He had the marriage annulled and managed to keep everything out of the papers. He threatened Claire's husband with prison and made him go back to France. Dad was simply wonderful. No one knew anything about Claire's escapade except ourselves, the principal of the school, and the [illegible] down in Virginia. Dad kept mother abroad until after it was all over, and to this day she never has heard a word about it."

"Your father must be a wonderful man," I said enthusiastically.

"He was," she said simply. "He has been dead two years."

"Oh, I'm so sorry," I cried, "I did not know."

"If Dad were alive he would know what to do. You see, when he died, there was not much money left. We're really little better than paupers. We've been living from day to day on our tiny capital, and Mother has been working every wire to arrange a good match for Claire. I wanted to do something, to go out and earn a living for myself, but she never would consent. She insisted I'd be damaging Claire's prospects if I went into trade, as she calls it, and I promised her I'd do nothing until after Claire is safely married."

"And is she to be married?" I asked.

A troubled expression came into her face.

"She was to be, but now I don't know. She is engaged to marry young Harry D. Thayer, who is worth a lot of money, but someone has found out about her secret."

"How did they find out?" I asked eagerly. I understood now the mysterious meeting in the park that had brought me first into touch with Barbara Bradford. Some band of rascals was trying to blackmail Claire Bradford, and her sister was trying to save her.

"That's the greatest mystery of all," exclaimed Miss Bradford. "Before Dad died he turned over to me all the papers about the annulment of Claire's marriage. Somehow he seemed to rely on me far more than on either Mother or Claire. He explained to me the importance of always keeping them, in case the past should ever crop up, but he charged me to see that they always were safely put away where no one could find them."

"Where did you keep them?" I asked.

"In the wall safe in my sitting room."

"In the wall safe!" I cried, thinking in bewilderment of the coincidence that these papers should have had a similar hiding place to the Gaston jewels which had vanished so strangely.

"Yes," she answered, plainly puzzled at my bewilderment. "It was an excellent hiding place. No one but myself had the combination. I don't see now who could have taken them. I found the safe locked as it always was."

"When did you first discover the papers were missing?"

"Let me see," she pondered. "Claire's engagement was announced at a dinner three weeks ago last Thursday. The newspapers on Sunday carried a brief notice of it. Two days later the first note came."

"What note?"

She reached into the pocket of her riding habit and drew forth a folded slip of paper.

"I brought it with me to show you; here, this is the first one."

Like the mysterious note I myself had received only the preceding night, this one was not inclosed in an envelope. It was just a folded slip, addressed in typewriting to "Miss Claire Bradford." On the other side was this message:

"What if Thayer knew about your being married before? How much will you give to get those papers back?"

"Where did you get this?" I asked.

"I found it on the floor of my bedroom one morning when I got up late. I gave it to my sister without having read it, thinking she had dropped it there. She read it and screamed and fainted. Fortunately Mother was out of the house at the time. Naturally I read the note then. I went to the safe and found the documents gone. Claire has been nearly crazy ever since. She insists that it is all my fault. She says I ought to have destroyed the papers, but I couldn't, could I?"

"Of course not," I replied warmly. "You did quite right in keeping them. It was not your fault they were stolen."

"I couldn't destroy them. Dad had told me to keep them," she said simply.

"What did you do then? Did you tell your mother?"

Barbara has heard the whispers, too.

At That, Marine Showed Praiseworthy Willingness to Obey Orders Captain Had Given Him.

Army water carts differ from one another about the same as, say, one egg differs from another egg—namely, in size. The number of gallons which each car can contain is, therefore, stenciled on the top of it.

The captain of a marine supply company in France was inventorying his carts and totaling the figures.

"Wilkins," he called to an idle private who hadn't had the sense to get out of the way, "get me the capacity of this cart."

The captain ran his pencil down the column of figures for several seconds, keeping one ear open for the result of Wilkins' research.

But no reply came from Wilkins. The captain glanced up tofind all of Wilkins except the head protruding from the hole in top of the water cart. A desperate struggle with some unseen monster seemed to be going on inside the cart. Finally Wilkins' baffled head emerged.

"I felt all around the blamed thing, captain," he explained, "and I'll be hanged if I can locate that capacity anywhere."—Home Sector.
